Sometime in 1982 General Motors Orion Assembly Plant is expected to be complete, with a compliment of 6,000 employees. Above, construction is in full swing on the 3,000,000 square foot facility.

by Dawson Bell

An Industry in Transition

A Report on the Car Making Business in the '80's

Waiting for the completion of the new General Motors assembly plant in Lake Orion is a lot like waiting for the circus to come to town. You don't know what it will be like, but you know it will be exciting.

General Motors public relations men have swept into the area touting "THE SINGLE BIGGEST PLANT IN THE WORLD".

Laid off autoworkers go to sleep at night thinking about the 6,000 jobs the plant is expected to provide.

In terms of sheer physical size the project is nothing short of monumental.

General Motors officials say the completed facility, which sits on 500 acres, will occupy 3,000,000 square feet.

Public Relations Manager for the Detroit Region, Charles Oyerly, says it's hard to comprehend.

"Most people can conceptualize what 3,000, 4,000 square feet is like...a few bedrooms, kitchen and bath. But 3 million?"

"I didn't really believe the engineer I was talking to about this at first," Oyerly says,

"But this plant is going to be so long (1/2 mile) that the specs have to take the 'curvature of the earth' into consideration."

Anyone who has been by the Brown Road site off M-24 knows what Oyerly means.

Last fall, while construction crews were reshaping ground levels, there were over 100 heavy pieces of equipment, bulldozers earth-movers etc., working at one time.

A foreman from one of the companies said, "Michigan will never see anything like this again."

And no wonder. Widely circulated reports tagged General Motor's construction costs at around a half billion dollars. That's a lot of stockholder's money.

But more important for people in this area (after all it really isn't a circus) is the great hope that General Motor's investment will pay off on a local scale too.

The 6,000 jobs really aren't themselves the biggest consideration. Many of those slots

IS YOUR HOUSE IN ORDER?

No one really plans for his own demise. It is an untimely event at any time. A physical check-up annually is still a good idea. And so is a check-up financially.

Is everything in order TODAY, the way you would like it to be if you were suddenly to die? Is your will UP-TO-DATE, if you have one. And make one if you don't.

Have you appointed a personal representative? Is that person still capable and available?

Have you gone over your estate tax situation with an accountant? Your trust for grandchildren?

Is your life insurance coverage still adequate? Beneficiaries still named the way you want them to be named and to share in your death benefits?

Have you indicated to your family the whereabouts of very important papers, safe deposit box and key, and your wishes for a full-service funeral and what its costs should be?

You can make all of these arrangements in advance, including your specifying your funeral service and its cost. We can help you do that. We have Final Wishes booklets that may help, too. Call or stop by for copies. And have a health and financial check-up soon.

editor's note

This week's Reminder takes a localized look at the auto industry and what it's doing to the area's economy. Our Cover Story talks about the new Lake Orion General Motors plant, the speed in which it is being built and the size (the world's largest) that hopefully will put a lot of people back to work.

The Reminder also talks to a local Chrysler dealer and finds his outlook is upbeat...and to a small automotive manufacturer who says his type of business is going good.

So much for the good. We also talked to a couple, both laid off from Fisher Body, who don't feel exactly good about the way they have to live right now.

On the one hand, you can immediately sympathize with the plight of the typical laid-off American autoworker. It's tough when you're out-of-work and don't have the weekly paycheck at your disposal. You feel frustrated and sometimes second-rate.

On the other hand, being laid-off is a direct result of the lack of effort on the part of the American autoworkers. One of the major differences between Japanese built autos and American autos today is the public feels the foreign built car is of better quality. In other words, despite getting great salaries and superb benefit packages, the American autoworkers, on the whole, are not making the best automobiles they know how.

Thus, it really perturbs me to hear them crying to the government--asking for controls on foreign imports. This is suppose to be a free marketplace. If the Japanese or Germans can market a better quality car here in the States, so be it. We have to suffer the consequences and the American auto companies and workers must reassess their product and values. Whatever happened to the good old fashioned American work ethic?

Also of particular note in this week's Reminder is Robert Davis's end of the year Forecast wrapup; the beginning of Mad Money a new way to save at some of your local merchants; and a new full page advertiser--Dr. Paul Rumph, who will be bringing helpful information about chiropractic and what it can do for you.

letters

Dear Editor:

The Edward C. Levy Company still threatens to turn the green of Independence Township into gravel. They have applied to the D.N.R. for a permit to mine 400 acres adjacent to the Clinton River - (the geographic center of the township) from now to the next millennium - which is almost forever!

The township planning commission has already rejected this proposal as destructive to the river, the land, property values, and the future of the community.

Township residents have overwhelmingly voted a millage to save eighty acres of the proposed site that adjoins the township park.

A couple of skirmishes have gone our way but we still face the real battle. If we lose this one, Levy will over-run us with:

Heavy industry replacing rural beauty.

An avalanche of gravel trucks on two-lane residential roads.

Lowered quality in the Clinton River and our wells caused by the tearing away of the wetlands essential to the purity of the water.

Lowered flow in the river and the water tables.

Disruption of neighboring Clintonwood and Independence Oaks Parks.

Down-graded property values.

We may be known for the quality of our gravel instead of the quality of life in this area.

Let's keep the stones gathering moss by the headwaters of the Clinton River from rolling away in gravel trucks!

Let's keep gravel more than a stone's throw away from our parks!

Let's not let them drain our river!

Let's leave all these stones unturned for good!

Let's show our opposition to the mining proposal by writing to the D.N.R. at:

Land Resources Programs

Division, P.O. Box 30028

Lansing, Mi. 48909

And By:

Attending the public hearing on the Levy mining application

at Independence Township Hall on January 28, at 7:30 p.m.

We have to win this one or we'll all be driving in tandem with the endless gravel trains for years to come. It will, indeed, be a rocky road.

Janet McCord

guest commentary by U.S. Congressman William Broomfield

The critical state of our economy has to be the primary concern of the new Congress.

Nationally unemployment approaches double digits; the inflation rate refuses to drop below double digits; the prime lending rate has gone back into the stratosphere; and important economic indicators like housing starts continue to report bad news.

To bring this grim economic situation under control, several different approaches must be taken, including the cutting of excessive government spending.

However, key to our economic recovery is the stimulation of the private sector--the producing, gainfully employing part of the economy. In the past, our nation was built upon a strong private sector. Today, through government regulations and ill-conceived economic policies, we have sapped its strength.

On the first day of the new 97th Congress, I introduced two bills to help stimulate this important sector and encourage the accumulation of the investment capital that is desperately needed if we are to bring our economy back to its former health.

My bill, H.R. 154, would phase-in an accelerated depreciation schedule for businesses. The faster depreciation would allow companies to turn their money around more quickly and make further investments in new equipment and plants.

The bill would establish fixed depreciation periods for commercial and industrial buildings (10 years), equipment and machinery (5 Years), and cars and light trucks (3 years).

My other bill, H.R. 155, seeks to stimulate savings, one of the greatest sources of investment capital.

Today, our savings rate of 4.5 percent of our disposable income, long the lowest in the Western industrialized world, has dropped to its lowest point since 1949. This fact has seriously affected the amount of capital available to the private sector for investment purposes, and the cost at which it can be borrowed.

My bill would exclude from taxation up to $2,000 ($3,600 if married and filing jointly) of interest and dividend income derived from deposits in savings institutions.

The economic picture for the near future continues to look grim. Treasury Secretary-designate Donald Regan predicted in his confirmation hearing that we will have a renewed recession with rising unemployment and continuing high inflation for the first half of this year.

It took several years for us to bring our economy to a halt, and we will not get it going again overnight. But to get it going, we will need to stimulate investments.

mike morrow's trivia

I spent last evening in a "Class C" bar. That's the kind of bar with a sign on the wall that says: "Please Do Not Park Your Motorcycle On The Waitress."

Because it was my first (and last) time in a bar like that I took a lot of notes. Between dodging flying beer bottles I noted my observations down on the back of a cocktail napkin embossed with the telephone number of a local bail-bondsman.

I came to the following conclusions:

There are three basic types of bars. Class A which is the top of the line and very expensive. Class B is your average bar with live band on the weekends and Class C where reform schools hold their proms.

The three different kinds of bars have three very distinct ways of serving their customers. For instance, at a Class bar the drinks are served in expensive glassware. Class B bars serve their drinks in plain bar glasses while Class C asks if you want your beer bottle opened or if you would prefer to do it yourself with your teeth.

The wine list at a Class A bar is extensive. Class B usually has a few house brands but the only wine at a Class C bar is coming from the police siren in the parking lot.

To snack on while you drink, Class A bars have hors d'oeuvres. Class B has popcorn and peanuts for sale. Class C offers knuckle sandwiches.

The clientele and atmosphere differ greatly in the three kinds of bars also.

Most people go to a Class A bar for a couple of drinks before dinner or a show. People go to a Class B bar to dance and drink while people go to a Class C bar for a belt to celebrate their release from prison.

If you get too noisy at a Class A bar you will be asked to leave. You will be asked to leave a Class B bar if you get too drunk. You will be asked to leave a Class C bar if you murder your date.

In the restroom of a Class A bar you will find everything is color coordinated. In the restroom of a Class B bar you will find graffiti on the walls. In the restroom of a Class C bar you will find the sinks are chained to the wall.

Even though we left before the entertainment started (Mad Dog Joe was going to try to break the record for most people knocked unconscious with one pool cue) the evening wasn't a total waste. After all I got a column out of it and I left with all my teeth intact. What more could you ask for?

"While We're Out of Work They're Putting Up New Plants All Over the World"

by Dawson Bell

Government economists may not have designated the current economic crunch as a "depression". But that doesn't make very much difference to a Clarkston couple who are among the area's 16-20% unemployed.

"We're depressed. We haven't had any money for eight months," they say.

And it's not just a fiscal depression they're talking about but the "How do you tell your kids you can't afford to buy them shoes," blue funk depressed.

Because of the stigma attached to poverty these former Fisher Body employees didn't want their real names in the paper. But they didn't mind talking about it.

Both have been laid off for more than a year, with the exception of a few weeks last fall. They don't know whether or not to keep hoping.

"Everytime we hear about a callback, we get excited and start dreamin' again," says Sarah.

With good reason. The couple's combined paychecks back in early '79 amounted to a take home of $500-$600 a week.

Now they're trying to make do, feed a family of five, keep the lights turned on and make a house payment on about the $100 a week that the part-time jobs working for family and friends will bring in.

"Sure, we were part of the American dream. We thought when we'd been married for nine years we'd have some security."

It was security that prompted Bill to give up a job that he'd held for eight years in another industry.

"When I went into autoworking I thought I was set," he says. "But I've been at it for four years now and for two of 'em I've been laid off."

Disappointed? Disillusioned? Maybe a little.

"GM makes you feel like you're nothin'. They work you 9 hours and six days and then they come back the next week and lay you off," says Bill.

"When I was still working, (GM) built a new upholstery plant in Texas," says Sarah. "They took some of our work down there and gave it to non-union, illegal aliens and paid them minimum wage."

"You don't see any of those guys wearing the suits taking cuts."

What about the union or the government; how helpful?

"All the UAW wants is that TRA money back."

"The only programs they set up are supposed to teach you how to collect welfare."

Sarah even thinks it's possible the government has been engineering the whole thing.

"Carter was incompetent. We got TRA money because we lost our jobs to foreign imports. What about protecting us from imports?"

It's hard not to be mad at the world in a situation like theirs.

"Just ask us if it doesn't make us mad that people don't buy American cars."

Nevertheless, betrayed by their industry or not, abandoned by their government or not, Sarah and Bill seem confident that they will make it.

"There are people a lot worse off than us." "And we have family. Everyone's been real supportive."

"Still--it's not hard to give up movies, eating out...but it is hard to give up toothpaste."

GM Barnum & Bailey's Circus

are expected to be filled by transfers from the Pontiac Assembly Plant and Fisher Body, which will be retooled for other, less intensive, uses.

What kindles the imagination and what prompted Lake Orion voters to overwhelmingly approve the project for their community--is the anticipation of relief for an ailing economy.

Jobless rates in neighboring townships have doubled in the last year. The housing industry came to an abrupt halt over the summer. Businesses went through minor recoveries and major setbacks through most of 1980.

But just this one project seemed to restore people's faith in the future growth of the area. The company that had asked for and received the investment of thousands of working lives from people in Lake Orion, Pontiac, Waterford and Clarkston had, with a single act, re-aligned its future with theirs.

What's left now is the great imponderable, will it pay off?

Chrysler Pospects Improving -- So Says Dealer

While General Motors is spending a half billion dollars in Orion, one of its fellow automakers, the new Chrysler Corporation, is busy trying to get federal loan guarantees on the over one billion that it needs just to stay in business.

Chrysler officials, in the midst of negotiations with the loan guarantee board and the UAW, were reluctant to talk about the prospects for America's No. three automaker.

But, David Mills, sales manager at Hahn Chrysler Plymouth in Clarkston, says that from his perspective conditions are improving.

He sees the much publicized interest rate rebate program as a golden opportunity for Chrysler to recapture a viable portion of the car market.

"People are looking for a bargain," he says. "It's just a common sense for car buyers to come in and look at what we're offering when General Motors starts announcing new price increases."

Mills thinks that the biggest concern for consumers, that they might be buying a car from a company that's going out of business, has begun to dissipate.

"We haven't experienced (the same reluctance) this time that we had when the first loan requests were made. The general attitude now is that the government can't afford to let them go under because they've made so many guarantees."

Of course, other Chrysler watchers are not so optimistic. It has been widely speculated in recent weeks that officials of the incoming Reagan administration would be less inclined to "throw good money after bad."

But Mills thinks the only thing that can stop Chrysler now is continued depression in the overall marketplace. And even that, he says, will in some ways work to Chrysler's advantage.

"I believe General Motors dealers don't know what it's like to have hard times. We've been there. They're used to selling a lot of cars and they've got a lot of fat to cut out."

The largest plant in the world is a 1/2 mile long.

It's Not Tough All Over Take Armstrong Screw For Instance

by Dawson Bell

One way to avoid being hurt too seriously by the miserable state of affairs in the auto industry is to stay away from it as much as you can.

Tom Miller, of Armstrong Screw Products in Springfield Township, says his business growth may be slowed by the current economic uncertainties, but he has plenty of work.

The reason -- "I'm just not tied all that tight to automotive."

The work Armstrong Screw does do in the industry is mostly non-car related, for the Chrysler Defense Division and General Motors Truck and Coach in transit buses. They're "pretty stable" Miller says.

But "almost everyone in the area that is doing well is not tied to automotive," Miller says.

What area economists have been saying for years, that Detroit's fortunes were too vulnerable to ups and downs in car sales, seems to have had some effect on the machine shops that operate on Dixie Highway north of Clarkston.

Miller says all up and down the street things are going "great."

Another change in approach, he says too, is the new emphasis on quality control that is being required for the automotive work he does do. "Quality is really the thing now; they won't accept any make-do."

And for that reason, and because he thinks that cars are just too important a part of the American economy to be allowed to "go down the tubes", Miller is confident that the industry will recover.

For now though, he's just happy that Armstrong Screw Products doesn't live and die on auto production. It's certainly not his biggest worry.

"Now if you really want a story," he says, "ask me about the taxation on the small businessman..."

Clarkston Schools Still Concerned About Bangkok

Clarkston Schools remained open last week despite fears from parents that an epidemic of Bangkok Flu among students reached dangerous proportions.

Clarkston Junior High, which had been hardest hit with absentee rates hovering around forty percent early in the week, saw attendance on the rise Thursday. Administration officials said that another day or two of the forty percent rate would have forced closing.

Some of the district's elementary schools, however, began to show a greater percentage of students out with the illness. Andersonville Elementary, which opened the week with a twenty one percent rate, had climbed to thirty percent on Thursday. Clarkston Elementary absences also doubled (from 9% to 18%) during the week. Overall though, Assistant Superintendent Mel Vaara, said the worst seemed to be over.

"If Clarkston Junior High had stayed at forty one percent we would have closed that school down," he said, "But we had about a hundred kids come back (Thursday)."

With out a clear directive one way or the other from the County Health Department Vaara said the schools would remain open unless the absentee rate remained consistently high. The administration does have the option, he said, of closing schools on an individual basis.

three and a half hours.

After arriving at the offices at 6800 Dixie Highway, police called a friend of the man's from Grosse Pointe Farms to the scene. The friend was then able to convince the man to surrender the gun.

Police psychiatrist, Dr. Murray Johnson, met with the man for about two hours at Pontiac General Hospital Friday, and then released him.

The Sherriff's Department said it was not expecting to file charges in the case.

Court Order Stops Home

A House is not a Home, when it's only half occupied.

Independence Township received a temporary restraining order from Circuit Court Judge, John O'Brien, last Wednesday which prevents K-Jan Inc. from "completely" occupying an adult foster care home it hopes to operate on Timberidge Trail in Clarkston.

After licensing from the state Department of Mental Health, K-Jan had begun to move residents in to the home and a spokesman said they expected to have all the residents in place by the weekend of January 17-18.

But O'Brien ruled that further occupancy should be stayed until the matter was resolved in Circuit Court. The township suit charges that the home, a small group home for mentally retarded adults, would be in violation of zoning ordinances.

At the time of the ruling three of the expected five residents had moved in.

Circuit Judge James Thorburn, who is to hear the township's case, was out of town for several weeks on a ski vacation.

Man Despondent Threatens Suicide

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies were called to the offices of Walker, Watt, Veltman and McDonald in Clarkston early last Friday morning where an unidentified 59-year-old man was threatening to commit suicide.

The man, who police said was despondent over a break-up with his girlfriend, had a loaded shotgun and kept officers at bay for

Board Ends Sewer Cleaning Contract with County

Citing an increase in rates, the Independence Township Board has moved to end a sewer cleaning agreement with Oakland County and purchase equipment to run the operation out of the township DPW.

George Anderson, DPW head, told the board at their Tuesday, January 6, meeting that increases in the county service charge would up the quarterly payments for the township to $68,120. He said his department could perform the same function for about $38,000 once they had procured a sewer cleaning machine.

Anderson attributed the high county costs to charges for "fixed overhead" and a tendency to "pad their payroll" at the township's expense.

His proposal that the board terminate the county contract and consider the purchase of the high-pressure pumping unit necessary for sanitary sewer maintenance was approved unanimously. Termination will be effective in six months.

Anderson was given the authority to bid on one of a number of used machines that he had already priced in the $18,000-$28,000 range.

Chiropractor to Build Offices in Clarkston

Dr. John Cowan, Chiropractor of WPON, radio fame, has won approval from the Independence Township Board for a zoning ordinance amendment which will allow him to construct an office/clinic on Sashabaw Road.

Cowan, who owns property zoned light industrial near Sashabaw and Waldon, had requested the zoning for the property be amended to include office use.

The proposal had been will received by the planning commission and sent along to the township board with recommendation for approval based on the contention that the office use was both related to industrial use and, in general, more desirable than machine shops and auto repair plants anyway.

Trustee Dale Stuart, however, did not see it that way.

He argued that the amendment constituted a policy change that could lead to the elimination of the light industrial area altogether. Practically speaking "We're talking about changing limited industrial to office," he said.

The expressed concern that some future developer, who did want to set up a machine shop and could prove that the township had sacrificed all the available land to offices, might have grounds for legal action.

A compromise of sorts was introduced when an amendment to require the office use to be related to the industrial use was added to the original motion.

Trustees Stuart, Vandermark and Kozma were still not satisfied.

Nevertheless, the motion to pass the amended amendment was approved, four ayes to their three nays.

Stablex Concerns Fell on Deaf Ears?

A public hearing in Groveland Township over a permit request from the Stablex Corporation to allow discharge of storm water run-off into Swartz Creek was held last Wednesday.

But township officials seemed to feel that concerns expressed by residents and State Representative Claude Trim at the meeting fell on deaf ears.

Groveland Township has been involved in a year long battle to block the construction of a hazardous waste treatment facility by the corporation on a site off Dixie Highway.

Wednesday's meeting was held when township residents expressed interest to the DNR, whose responsibility it is to grant the permit, in how Stablex proposed to insure that the run-off water would not contaminate area water supplies.

Chang Bek, a permit coordinator for the DNR's Water Quality Division, said that discharge water must meet drinking water standards and that monitoring would be conducted by company and state officials.

But Groveland Supervisor, Donald Titsworth, was not satisfied.

"The people asked a lot of questions, and the DNR didn't have too many answers."

"I don't think it really served any purpose," he said.

The township's attempt to block construction of the plant was defeated in circuit court. But that decision is scheduled for an appeals hearing in March.

Clarkston's Labenz: Building a Better Manhole

by Dawson Bell

It's six o'clock in the evening, about 10 degrees too cold outside and you've been standing over a sewer manhole in Utica or Plymouth or somewhere you can't remember the name of for 10 hours lowering bricks in a bucket.

What are you thinking about? No, wait, don't answer that.

Instead, consider why Gary Labenz of Clarkston was thinking about under similar circumstances when he was working for Ric-Man construction back in the winter of 1978-79.

He was thinking--There must be a better way. A better way of constructing sewer channels, that is.

Sewer channels aren't something very many people live in direct, daily contact with. But they are something we all use regularly, and, indirectly by taxation, something we all pay for.

Labenz thinks he's found a better, cheaper and safer way to construct sewer channels and he's got a patent to prove it.

Their basic purpose is to provide access to the sanitary sewer lines that crisscross under metropolitan areas all over the country. So that when a line gets plugged or health officials want to make tests they don't have to cut pipes open. They're what's underneath thousands of manhole covers.

The traditional method of construction for sewer channels, and what Labenz was doing back in the winter of '79, is to build up the area on both sides of what will become the channel with bricks or concrete, forming a raised area for inspectors to stand on when they go down into the hole.

Unfortunately, for the employees of sewer line construction companies anyway, the channels usually lie about twenty feet below ground level in an area about four feet square.

Labenz estimates he was handling about 599-1000 bricks a day, piling 'em in a bucket and then lowering them to a co-worker at the bottom of the hole.

He figured the job would be a lot easier and safer if the bricks weren't so heavy. So he decided to replace them with styrofoam.

In that fashion, Channel Mate was born.

On the surface, one might think that approaching a patent attorney with an idea that is based on the notion that bricks can be replaced with styrofoam won't win any Thomas Edison Invention of the Year awards.

But Labenz has tried the idea and he says it works. And he has been gathering support for his contention. From Charles Rutherford, the Detroit patent attorney, who has completed filing with the U.S. Patent Office. From a couple of financial backers, who have supported his effort to put the idea into production. And from a Try marketing firm, which is presently negotiating nationwide for distribution and installation of Labenz Channel Mate.

Along the way Labenz has learned that it is one thing to have an idea and another for the world to start beating a path to your door.

Labenz has had to move a mountain of resistance. First from the attorney, who "gets calls everyday from some screwball or another."

Then in finding the money to push the patent through, usually a minimum three or four thousand dollars.

And finally in finding someone who will make the product, distribute it and sell it. Not to mention the fight to gain acceptance from various agencies and municipalities that have jurisdiction over materials used in projects funded by the government.

All of that has taken nearly two years. And final approval is still in the offering.

But Labenz is optimistic.

"I think it will go this year. I've talked to a thousand people and only received one negative response," he says.

"There's just a tremendous potential--By 1985 the federal government will mandate sewers in almost every populated area." When you're talking about a manhole every 300 feet on systems that are miles long and a savings of from $27. to $54/manhole..."

That's a lot of styrofoam--or, as Labenz would prefer, a lot of rigid closed cell, expanded polystyrene. And hopefully a lot of money to its inventor.

With that in mind it's not too hard to understand what Gary Labenz was thinking about in the winter of '79.

Emotionally Impaired Learn Skills at Springfield-Oaks

Emotionally impaired adults who live in group homes in North Oakland County have an opportunity to learn basic socialization and life skills at Springfield Oaks County Park Activities Center in Davisburg.

The Springfield Oaks Life Enrichment Coalition (SOLEC), a program operated by League Goodwill of Detroit, provides services for about 20 adult foster care patients, five days a week.

These services include adult basic education and an arts and crafts program.

Educational programs focus on clients' individual skill levels, said Joan Clements, director of adult basic education. Typing, money management, reading improvement and writing of the clients' monthly newspaper, "SOLEC Soundoff," are some of the activities.

The arts and crafts program gives participants a chance to work on projects such as soft sculpture, napkin holders and screen printed cards. A selection of these items are displayed at Springfield Oaks and sold to the public.

"We like to involve the clients in the community," said Clements, and to do this, a "Fun Day" is organized monthly. Participants can, for example, go bowling or eat lunch in a restaurant.

In the new year, the group hopes to develop a play to be performed around Easter. In preparation they hope to visit local theater groups to better understand drama production.

Springfield Oaks Youth

Activities Center is used by many area groups for exhibitions and meetings. Classes in a variety of subjects are also regularly scheduled at the Center.

"We're trying to make Springfield Oaks a life enrichment center for the total community," said Anne Clinton-Cirocco, supervisor of the activities center.

League Goodwill recently signed a contract with Oakland County Community Health Department allowing SOLEC to extend its present services at Springfield Oaks from 20 clients to 75, according to John Olesnavage, coordinator of the SOLEC program.

"This is probably the only program of its type in a rural setting," he said, "and it has received a great deal of community support which has made funding possible."

Clarkston Schools Begin Planning for Cuts

"We have to start planning for it by March," said Clarkston School District Superintendent Milford Mason at last Monday's Board of Education meeting.

"It" is a possible school budget deficit of $1,000,000 for the 81-82 school year.

Mason said he had to make a number of assumptions to arrive at that figure. Among them, how many students the district will lose next year (and subsequently how much state membership aid) and what kind of school aid budget will come out of a state legislature which has been increasingly hard on schools of late.

But Mason said that if his calculations are correct it "will effect teachers, administrators...every aspect of our operation where we have any opportunity to make decisions."

Other money-saving possibilities mentioned by the superintendent were 5 hr. school days or shortened weeks. Both are being studied, he said.

Short of program cuts, teacher layoffs etc. Mason said, "I think there's only one answer—that's a higher tax rate."

Board member, Robert Walters, suggested the voters might be asked instead to consider a rollback of the Headlee amendment, which has cost the district $566,000 in two years according to administration figures.

The district this year is operating on a budget with a deficit of $833,000, Mason warned that that figure could go higher with another anticipated state aid cut of 2% in April.

He estimated a possible year end deficit (in June '81) of $920,000, which would mean that declining enrollment and cuts from the state have effectively doubled initial 80-81 deficit projections.

Mason indicated that a $2,348,000 equity was the only thing that had allowed the district to avoid serious financial hardship up to now.

Solid Wastes Task Force Named

On January 6, Independence Township Supervisor James Smith named five members to a citizen task force on Solid Wastes, bringing to three the total number of task forces he has appointed in the first two months of his term.

Candidate Smith had promised to act quickly on the formation of the task forces, which he said were needed to assess the pressing problems the township faced. And he has, introducing a new task force roster at every meeting over which he has presided.

Smith's prompt action has not, however, won the unanimous endorsement of the board. Trustee, Larry Kozma, has been forthright in his criticism of the appointment process/board sanctioning pattern that Smith has pursued. Saying the position was compromised if they were expected to give their stamp of approval for appointments on which they were not consulted.

Kozma said he has had no problem with Smith's appointments, as long as they were clearly Smith's and not the boards. He said he would also like to receive more information on the scope and purpose of the task forces.

And, in that respect, Supervisor Smith seems to be willing to oblige.

In introducing the Solid Waste team, he said it would be their responsibility to 1) update the solid waste plan for the district, with an eye to examining possible "encroachment" into Independence by county and state planners and 2) to conduct objective research into the "collection and disposition" of garbage and rubbish in the township.

Appointed to the Solid Waste Task Force were township residents Dennis Kacy, William Basinger, Fred Hancock, Edward Thomson and Robert Vandermark.

forecast

BY Robert C. Davis

The biggest weather story in Michigan during 1980 was probably the tornado activity which devastated portions of Kalamazoo on May 13. Nationally, the major stories included the drought and heat wave in the southwestern states during the summer, and the questions relating to how our climate might be affected by the eruptions of Mount St. Helen. In our local area, some of the major weather events included a very snowy month of March, heavy rainfalls during the summer, and the flooding problems that many people experienced during an intense storm on August 5.

Precipitation during 1980 was above normal for nearly all of southeastern Michigan, accounted for mainly by our frequent and heavy summer rains. The total precipitation recorded at the eastern Clarkston station for calendar year 1980 was 33.75 inches, which is 3.67 inches above normal. The Clarkston area experienced 39 days during the year with thunderstorms, which is about normal for our area. The earliest thunderstorm day of the year occurred on February 22, while the last thunderstorm occurred on December 7. Those stations for which we have precipitation totals for calendar year 1980 are as follows:

Elizabeth Lake/Waterford Township - 44.54"
Detroit Metropolitan Airport - 37.24"
St. Clair Shores - 36.45"
Oxbow Lake/White Lake Township - 36.40"
Fenton - 34.20"
Eastern Clarkston - 33.75"

Bishop Airport/Flint - 31.85"
Northern Clarkston - 31.01"

Snowfall for the winter season 1979-80 at the eastern Clarkston station amounted to 45.4 inches, which is normal for the area. For calendar year 1980, total snowfall for Clarkston was 52.6 inches which is 7.2 inches above normal. Our volunteer at Elizabeth Lake/Waterford Township, who also collects snowfall statistics, measured a total of 57.8 and 59.5 inches for the 1979/80 season and 1980 calendar year, respectively our largest single day snowfall of the year was 7 inches which occurred on March 8. The greatest depth of snow on the ground during the season was 7 inches after that March storm. During the 1979/80 winter season, the eastern Clarkston station reported at least 1 inch of snow on the ground for 58 days, which is near normal for our area.

Temperatures during 1980 were a little cooler than normal. The eastern Clarkston station recorded a mean temperature of 46.0 degrees which is 1.5 degrees below normal. Our Elizabeth Lake/Waterford Township station recorded a mean temperatures of 47.3 degrees, which is 1.2 degrees below normal for that area, and Detroit Metropolitan Airport recorded a mean temperature of 47.4 degrees for the year which is 1.7 degrees below normal. In the Clarkston area, temperatures in 1980 ranged from a low of 10 degrees below zero on Christmas morning to a high of 92 degrees on July 15. Temperatures dropped to zero degrees or below on 13 days during 1980, but the thermometer was only able to break into the 90's once during the year.

I would like to thank all of those people who furnished data to my network during the past year. A special thanks goes to John Church, Dennis Cox, Jerry Kjerrumgaard, Neal Philpott Sr., and Suzi Pierce for their outstanding work in obtaining a complete record of precipitation data in 1980. For John, Dennis, Neal and Suzi, this was their 4th consecutive year of complete precipitation records - congratulations!

Lady Luck

I must have been an angel
In Centuries gone by -
I must have been a Joan of Arc
Or taught the birds to fly.

I must have been Madame Currie
Or Florence Nightengale -
Possibly I was the one who taught
Columbus how to sail.

I must have performed an incredible feat -
Been goodly, noble, true.
For God has seen it miraculously fit
To bless my life with you.

The feelings that I feel for you
My words can't even touch.
I only want to tell the world
I love you very much.

Though I cannot boast of a title
Like Catherine the Great,
To deserve you, in a former life
I must have been a saint!

This Week: frames by Marilyn

For four and one-half years now, they have travelled to Ortonville. They come from Lapeer, Gaylord and as far away as Ohio and always to buy frames from Marilyn Greve.

There is a right way and a wrong way to frame a picture Marilyn said. A frame must not only highlight the picture, but it must also complement the room in which it is to be placed.

For this reason, Marilyn is a member of the Professional Picture Framer's Association. She also attends classes annually to keep up with the new methods and ideas for framing.

Coming from Waterford, Marilyn first opened her shop on Mill Street nearly five years ago when she had difficulty finding frames for her home. At that time, only custom framing was available and there was no selection of frames offered to the customer.

Although she does not paint, Marilyn's love for her craft developed while watching her mother, who is a professional artist, paint.

Known as the house of a thousand frames, Frames by Marilyn outgrew its former home and is now located a few doors down on Mill Street.

In her new shop, Marilyn has more gallery space for displaying frames, prints and original oils.

Marilyn's specializes in limited edition print from artists across the country. In addition, the shop carries six of the limited edition prints of Dr. Leonard Wades, an orthodontist who devotes his artistic talent to capturing Michigan wildlife Marilyn's carries an entire line of artist supplies. Customers may browse through the gallery of frames or select prints from a number of books in the salon.

In-home consultation is also available for the customer seeking to coordinate an office, a room or an entire home.

Marilyn's also conducts semi-annual classes for local artists. Last October, a week-long workshop in oil painting was held at St. Anne's.

Beginning February 9, Paulette Woods, an artist from Flint, will conduct classes in watercolor at the shop.

A display of Woods' watercolors and oils will be shown at the grand opening of the new Frames by Marilyn.

Beginning January 22 through the end of the month, Marilyn's will offer a discount of up to fifty percent on frames, original oils and prints.

With a wide selection of frames, prints and oils, Marilyn's continues to draw the attention of customers miles away.

Private School Athletic Recruiting Under Scrutiny

by Dawson Bell

Clarkston High School Athletic Director, Paul Tungate, has had a couple of feelers recently from prep power Birmingham Brother Rice on the scheduling of the two schools for a football opener in 1982.

Don't be too surprised, though, if it doesn't happen.

Grand Blanc High School had made the same request and Tungate says he's leaning in their direction.

One difference between the two schools is that Rice is a private/parochial school while Grand Blanc is, like Clarkston, public. And there has been some speculation of late that, because the parochial powers have been recruiting blue chip athletes away from the publics, the publics might start cutting back on their private school scheduling.

Tungate says that isn't the only consideration in his case, but he does admit there is a problem.

"We had an athletic director's meeting in November and we went around the room polling the ADS's. Almost everyone related stories about athletes who had been approached by the alumni of parochial schools."

Out of that meeting came an unofficial resolution to limit scheduling to public schools when possible.

"The idea is why schedule schools that are stealing your own people and have them come back and beat you," Tungate said.

The matter was brought up before the School Board at last Monday's meeting by Rev. Robert Walters. It has been tabled for further study. But Walters said he thinks he may finally be getting some support for his year-old contention that public schools should not be paying the post-season tournament freight for parochial schools.

"What hurts is they (private schools) take the star athletes and it effects your revenue. Revenue is getting more and more important..."

Paul Tungate

"Just think what kind of an uproar we would have had around here if Brother Rice had been able to recruit Tim McCormick," he said.

The private schools, including nearby Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes, insist that they do not actively recruit athletes. Although, a student can attend the private school and live anywhere, they say that the basic decision is the parents who have to pay the additional educational costs for private schooling.

Tungate, however, thinks that it may be possible that some schools actually hand out athletic scholarships.

"What hurts," he said, "is they take the star athletes and it effects your revenue. Revenue (in the form of gate receipts) is getting more and more important."

"As a coach I was always opposed to the idea of separating the two. If I was going to be state champion, I wanted to be champion of the whole state."

One possible alternative to the complete separation of into public and private divisions that Tungate said is worth considering is the setting up of boundaries for the privates similar to public schools boundaries.

Private school administrators are bound to howl at a suggestion like that. Or, for that matter, at discriminatory scheduling and divisional playoffs.

But it is becoming increasingly apparent that they are going to be asked to make some concessions lest the "unofficial" sanctions become standard procedure.

McKoin Leads Wolves to Win

by John Huttenlocher

The Clarkston Wolves basketball team bettered their mark to 5-3 after defeating the Milford Redskins Friday 49-43. The Wolves are now 3-1 in the Greater Oakland Activities League.

Clarkston got off to a slow start going into the lead by sometimes as much as 10, only to have the Redskins shave the point margin to two. Sloppy rebounding hampered both teams. At times, it looked as if the two teams were playing volleyball under the net.

Scott McKoin was the Clarkston's Ric Schebor floors one defender, but a second rejects his shot. Brad Beattie looks on.

main spark for the Wolves. In the win he scored 23 points. Fifteen of those points came from free throws as McKoin went 15 for 18 from the charity strip. Brad Beattie was the only other Wolves in double figures with 12.

High scorer for the Redskins was senior Rob Sharpe. Sharpe put in 14 points in a losing effort.

This week the Wolves play the two tough Rochester schools. Tuesday Clarkston plays at home against Adams at 8:00. Friday the Wolves travel to Rochester High School to take on the skilled Falcons, also at 8:00.

Wolves Fall to Lakeland

by John Huttenlocher

The Clarkston Wolves, in the lead at one point of the game by 14 points, bowed to Lakeland, 56-54, last Tuesday. The Wolves took the lead early in the game 14-0 in the first period. But at the end of the period, thanks to numerous fouls and turnovers, the Wolves were in the lead by only eight. The eight point lead that the Wolves so cherished was soon blown away and the Wolves went from winning 14-0 to losing at the half 30-28.

Clarkston seemed to always be "one step behind" Lakeland all through the second half. Clarkston was down at the end of the third period 44-38. The Wolves couldn't quite pull it off, though. As time ran out, Clarkston was a couple of points short.

Despite the loss,

Clarkston had three players shooting in double figures. Scott McKoin was the game's high scorer with 14. Next in line for the Wolves was Brad Beattie with 12 points. Greg Lane, who has been doing an excellent job at guard this year, scored 10.

The loss was the Wolves third this season.

ANNOUNCING A Change in The Reminder's Delivery System

Due to the increasingly high cost of postal delivery, The Reminder is converting to a personal carrier system. Phased in over the next few months, this system will provide our readers with the same high degree of reliable service to which they are accustomed.

Our carriers will be, for the most part, responsible adults in automobiles. A few city routes will be served by newspaper boys and girls. The paper will be enclosed in a plastic bag and attached to a hook placed on the mail box post or delivered door-to-door.

We hope this system will help us continue to deliver the satisfaction you have come to expect from The Reminder-the Clarkston area's only full circulation newspaper.

PAUL C. RUMPH, D.C.

Dr. Rumph Says: NOW IS THE TIME TO PUT AN END TO YOUR SUFFERING!

Without PAIN! Without PILLS! Without SHOTS!

More often than not the story is the same. You have spent years suffering with pain and discomfort. The medical doctors have tried every known medication to cure your condition, but it was all in vain. The pills and medicines may have helped for a while, but the pain would return and you had to keep popping pills to feel good. You may even have had an operation or two, in a futile attempt to "cut out" the pain.

Now the doctors don't really know what to do for you. They keep experimenting with different drugs, hoping to find one that you haven't built up an immunity to. You're getting desperate. You have begun to accept pain and discomfort as "normal" conditions.

Then you receive a newspaper in the mail explaining the merits of chiropractic health care. Or perhaps a friend suggests you try chiropractic. With a defeated attitude you ask, "What can chiropractic do for me? That's only for bad backs!" In like manner you toss the newspaper in the nearest trash can.

And so you continue to suffer, unable to enjoy life to its fullest. For you, another dawn means another day of misery. Your condition is hopeless -- right?

Wrong!

If you had listened to your friend, or read the chiropractic literature with an open mind, you would have discovered what millions of people already know -- in case after case, sickness after sickness and disease after disease, CHIROPRACTIC PUTS AN END TO SUFFERING!

Contrary to the preconceived notion of many Americans, chiropractic is not only for sore backs. Chiropractic health care has proved invaluable to sufferers from allergies, anemia, acne, arthritis, asthma, bursitis, constipation, colds, deafness, epilepsy, diarrhea, rheumatism, gall bladder trouble, paralysis, indigestion, vertigo, liver problems, nervousness, neuralgia, sciatica, tonsillitis, high blood pressure, kidney disorders and many more ailments too numerous to mention. In fact, if you sit in a chiropractor's waiting room for any length of time you will hear testimonials from patients on how the doctor has cured everything from hiccups to heart disease. The truth is that any chiropractor who is "worth his salt" cannot and will not accept any credit for curing the patients' sickness. A disease is "cured" when the vital nerve impulses flow freely from the brain to all parts of the body, thereby allowing the body to heal itself.

Which brings us to the chiropractic principle.

Life exists in the human body and uses the brain as its headquarters and power plant. The brain generates powerful life-giving energy sending it down the spinal cord, which is housed by the spinal column or backbone, and out the spinal nerves to all parts of the body. These life-giving nerve impulses supply the energy required by the body to carry on its normal functional activities.

The body can function properly and will be healthy if its nerve channels are free and unobstructed. However, if the flow of this powerful, intelligent nerve force is altered, either in quantity or quality, by physical obstruction or negative mental qualitative interference, disharmony, imperfection and disease are the inevitable results.

Nerve interference is caused when one or more of the 24 movable vertebrae in the spine become thrown out of its normal alignment in relation to the vertebra above and below, putting pressure on the nerves that exit through openings in the vertebrae, or directly on the spinal cord. This misalignment is known as a subluxation and is the main source of disease in the human body.

The causes of subluxations are many. Any sudden jar or jerk of the spine can cause nerve interference. Even simple nervous tension can twist and contort the spine, causing interrupted flow of nerve

It is necessary for a chiropractor locate and eliminate these subluxations of the spinal column to allow the life force to flow unobstructed to every part of the body. When this happens, the body will return to a state of good health.

A chiropractor corrects subluxations by exerting gentle pressure on the misaligned bones, causing them to return to their normal position. This exerting of pressure, by hand only, is a spinal adjustment.

While other forms of therapies strive to cover up and treat symptoms, such as pain, chiropractic attacks the cause of sickness and disease. Pain is the body's way of letting us know that all is not well. It is a signal that there is a roadblock somewhere between the brain and the body -- a restriction of the flow of the vital life force that is required for all parts of the body to function normally. Drugs do absolutely nothing to eliminate the cause of disease.

So, if you are about to give up hope and accept pain as a normal condition, consult a chiropractor. He is an expert in his work. His profession has, from the very beginning, advocated spinal adjustments for the restoration of health. His methods are the most advanced of all the healing arts known to man. The choice is yours. Are you going to continue feeding your body drugs to treat symptoms rather than causes, or do you wish to improve your health with a drugless method that is well on its way to becoming the largest healing art in the world? You are the only one who will benefit or suffer with your decision. Please choose wisely.
