Our Readers Say Hang 'em If They Are Guilty

by Mike Wilcox

By a margin of 95 percent to 5 percent, those people responding to a Reminder survey on the cover of last week's edition, voted in favor of reinstating capital punishment.

The number of survey responses represents a record. No other questionnaire presented by The Reminder has ever received so many responses. In a three-day span, 54 people wrote to The Reminder, to give their opinion on this apparently volatile issue.

And the totals, unlike statewide public opinion, are an overwhelming yes for reinstating capital punishment. Fifty-one people voted yes, and many supported their vote with statements indicating why they voted as they did.

Here's what some of the respondents had to say:

Absolutely: However in our permissive society, it probably would never happen anyway. Us taxpayers would have to foot the bill for the legal battles as well as room and board the murderer. That's justice!!!! Our Society thinks it knows more than God does.

It is definitely more cost effective for the taxpayer - why subsidize crime?

The crime has reached epidemic proportions. We are hostages for the criminals. S.O.S.

People will think twice before committing a senseless killing. Someone who commits cold blooded murder should be put to death.

If there was capital punishment again, maybe people would think twice before committing a crime, also there just might be fewer crimes committed. Also, these idiots that plead insane, seem to use that for a good excuse, then get back on the street like nothing ever happened.

I strongly feel that capital punishment should be reinstated for all premeditated murders. If the murder was because of a family argument, then it should not necessary be CP.

Why do we kill people who kill people, to show that killing people is wrong.

I think capital punishment should be reinstated to put a stop to innocent people from being murdered, for kicks, robbery or whatever, it's a sick society today, no one feels safe anywhere.

A life for a life many be the wrong tactic; however, if criminals have capital punishment hanging over their heads, perhaps a few of them would think twice before committing murder. As things are now, they have nothing to worry about.

Capital punishment is scriptural! Whoso sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed: for in the image of God made He man.

Genesis 9:6

I moved here from California two years ago. In the early 1960's California did have capital punishment. By the mid 60's it was removed. Then came the murders of Sharon Tate and Bobby Kennedy to just name a few. If capital punishment had still been on the books, I feel that their murderers might would have thought twice before committing their crimes.

I believe capital punishment would greatly reduce the senseless murders committed in this state. It's a proven fact that many of these convicts who, are out on bail or "good behavior" end up committing the same crime over again. Thank God for Mr. L. Brooks Patterson.

editor's note

Should Michigan reinstate capital punishment? That was the question posed to our readership last week, and in record numbers they responded with a resounding "yes".

The survey "idea" came on the heels of Ronnie Water's conviction of first degree murder. He cold bloodedly shot Deborah Porcelli, supposedly because her husband refused to give him a "light" at the Miracle Mile Drive-In.

It also came on the heels of Oakland County Prosecutor, L. Brooks Patterson's petition drive to reinstate capital punishment. He has been speaking to area civic groups for over a year now, in an effort to get enough signatures to have the issue appear on the 1982 ballot.

If our survey is any indication, Mr. Patterson ought not to have any trouble getting those signatures. Apparently, with the exception of taxes, capital punishment is the biggest social issue in this area.

The Clarkston Wolves ended their basketball season last week by almost pulling one of the biggest upsets of the year. Truly out-manned both in size and talent, the Wolves bowed in district tournament play 40-37 to the eventual district champs Pontiac Northern.

Without 6'11" Tim McCormick, the Wolves had a hard row to plow this year. But they again ended on top of the GOAL and went the distance with Northern, before losing in the final minute.

Coach Gary Nustad and his players deserve a lot of credit for their inspirational play this year.

Eliminate School Overhead

To The Editor of The Reminder:

Eliminate overhead in the Educational System. When I went to school in our county we had one duly elected Superintendent over all schools in the county. Elected by the voters and one principal hired at each school. You don't need all the various positions of overhead and school boards for each school. The students of those days got a better education than they do now. The Educational System is like our government too many positions of overhead. All it does is break the taxpayers' backs. It's time the voters stick together and use their authority. This is a sure way to cut cost.

Property Tax Must Be Changed

Dear Editor:

Antiquated tax assessments of Michigan property is creating legitimate protest from taxpayers. Michigan's economy is sick and weaker than in almost any state in the union. But instead of giving financial shots in the arm of tax rebates, incentives, and the like - our outdated property tax structure is "bleeding" the patient to cure him of his ailments.

We had a chance to breath new life into this system last November, but the voice of the people was so divided on which method of tax reform to use we lost the opportunity to make any change at all. One thing is certain we want and need a change.

Considering the decline in the real estate market as a whole over the last two years any assessment increase at all is outrageous. The only thing increasing the "value" of our homes and businesses is the cancerous interest rates. The small percentage of real estate sold at bloated prices due to interest rates that a loan shark would have charged two years ago, is being used as a fiscal base for assessment increases. This is blind indifference to the current economic situation.

We need to act affirmatively now as never before. Lets have this special vote on May 19. But let's get dead serious. Limit the proposals to two or three basic plans for change and let the simple majority win. We can't afford a "no contest" draw again. A change has to be made and it should be retro-active to the beginning of 1981!

A recent article in the Oakland Press on property assessment contained a quote from Highland Township Assessor, Charlotte Brosseau and I quote: "If we look at the history of property tax we can see that years ago a person's property was a good measure of their ability to pay. But today our society is different. For example, there are people on fixed incomes whose property increases in value at a different rate than their ability to pay." I would say not only people on fixed incomes, but people on unemployment and people on depleted incomes due to the lack of business of any kind in our state.

There is a lot that needs to be changed in order for economic growth to again provide a healthy climate for all the people of Michigan. This has to be the first order of business. Property tax assessment has been outdated and unfair for years. We can't wait any longer. We must change now.

Five Reasons Opposing Capital Punishment

Dear Editor:

Reasons for opposing capital punishment

1. It makes it harder to get first degree murder convictions. Many jurors won't vote to convict if they know defendant will die as a result. Would they have voted to execute Jean Harris, for instance?

2. It legitimizes vengeance-taking. There's a mentality that says "If it's OK for the state to kill people, it's OK for me to do it, too."

3. It doesn't deter any more effectively than life imprisonment. Patterson contends that Ronnie Waters wouldn't have the guts to kill Mrs. Porcelli if he would have faced the possibility of execution. Yet he killed her knowing that he'd face imprisonment for life with society's most dangerous men. He also faced the loss of all personal freedoms, including contact with the outside world. None of this stopped him. Besides, as mentioned above, he might never had been convicted on first degree charges if capital punishment had been the law.

4. Patterson may deny it, but there's always the possibility of a wrongful conviction - based on forged evidence, misconstrued circumstances, or something else. It's happened before; it can happen again.

5. Two wrongs don't make a right.

M. Fisher

Hang 'em if They're Guilty

Dear Sirs:

When a man is tried for a crime in front of 12 citizens jury and found guilty there should be no appeals by his lawyer. To allow this is an affront to the jury and the court and costly to the taxpayers. If he is found innocent then under this system the prosecutor should be allowed to jump up and appeal.

The Do Gooders say the Bible says "Thou shalt not kill" but are forgetting there are several other places in the Bible about putting people to death.

I am 70 years old now but when I was young, guilty meant guilty and a life sentence meant life. Ask any guard who has been working at a penitentiary.

Hanging a guilty man ends the costs of keeping him and stops the breed. Today it only crowds the court dockets and is a racket for the lawyers.

Yours truly,
Thomas C. Chester

Dental Dialogue

HEALTHY, WEALTHY, AND WISE

Q. Besides checking for decay why is it important for me to see my dentist every six months?

A. The person who keeps regular check up appointments has the best means of retaining his teeth for life. Dental problems can be corrected more easily and with less expense in their early stages. Also, because some of their symptoms appear in the mouth, systemic diseases are often detected at the check up appointment. Some of these diseases are: cancer, diabetes, and certain blood disorders.

This valuable diagnostic aid can help save your money, your teeth, and even your life.

This column is presented in the interest of better dental health. From the office of Dr. Gary R. Ushman, 35 S. Main St., Clarkston, Michigan 48016. Phone 625-2066.

With Low Wint
Funeral Director

HOW SHOULD I CHOOSE A PERSONAL REPRESENTATIVE

The choice of a personal representative is one of the most important decisions you will ever make. Consider some of the duties of a personal representative. Among other things he must:

1. Locate your will.
2. Carry out the funeral arrangements, if no pre-arrangement has been made.
3. Probate the will and be appointed personal representative.
4. Keep accurate records of all estate transactions.
5. Open the safe deposit box, if any.
6. Assume control over all personal property.
7. Do whatever is necessary to liquidate or to carry on the business.
8. Determine the debts due the estate and see that they are paid.
9. Arrange for the collection of all insurance payable to the estate.
10. Pay all taxes and other expenses of the estate.
11. Have all property, real and personal, appraised for tax purposes.
12. Defend the estate against any suits.
13. Submit a final accounting to the court.

Obviously, this is a substantial job requiring skill, patience, experience, judgment and intelligence. Making a will, getting your affairs in order, and pre-planning the funeral will make your personal representative's job easier.

You should consult your attorney before making a final decision on whom to choose as your personal representative.

It made me sick to see 2 convicted murderers talking to John Kelly on TV as tho' nothing had happened. No sympathy was shown for the victims.

Maybe some of these people will learn to think twice before killing or raping. After seeing some of their buddies swing they will not think it's a joke to kill and get off on bond and parole as they do now.

Don't build prisons. Buy a hot chair. Will help inflation.

Strap the bastard in a chair with nothing to eat. And let water drip drip drip until he is dead. All other prosecutions are to good.

As of this day and age crime has been steadily worse because they know their punishment is never going to be severe enough for the crime.

I'm sick of hearing about prisoners' rights, when in many cases they have deprived someone not only their rights but their lives. And so what if it doesn't deter crime, that's one that can't kill again.

mike morrow's trivia

In the past few years there has been an explosion in the popularity of self-help psychology books. People have quickly adopted them as the new gospel. There is only one problem with these new placebos. The authors created a new language that no one really understands. But like a beacon of light here I am with some clarifying definitions and explanations of the silliest language since Esperanto.

Where are you coming from? - This phrase has many derivatives such as, "I can see where you are coming from" "Do you know where I am coming from?" etc. The phrase is used quite often in these books but has no true meaning unless you are coming from a place, like, "I'll get there at noon, I'm coming from Toledo."

I need some space - This is by far the most popular of the pseudo-psychological phrases. It has many meanings, all of them silly and out of place except when it applies to a bus seat next to a fat person.

I can really get into that - This one is most popular with people going through empathy training. It is the most dangerous phrase. One time I saw a trainee misunderstand the phrase and take it literally, he tried to climb into his patient's mouth.

I'm getting my head together - Only applicable when one has had brain surgery and the surgeon has misplaced part of it.

Life is a game - This term was coined by a crazy shoemaker from Peoria, Illinois who wrote his way to fame and fortune with a book called "How To Be A Happy Idiot". If life is a game then all I have to say is it's played on a warped board. The only people that use the phrase life is a game are independently wealthy country singers from Colorado who wear glasses and sing songs about bears.

These and many other phrases are explored in-depth in my new book called "I'm ok, you're the pits". In it I also deal with such provocative topics as, "Is Werner Erhard for real?" and "If Dr. Wayne Dyer is so smart why is he bald?"

Independence Rifle Ban Creates Mixup

An Independence Township ban on the discharge of rifles within the boundaries of the township remains in incubation after nearly a year while township officials, the DNR and the Oakland County Sportsman's Club try to establish what it would prohibit and what it would allow.

At issue is an exemption the Sportsman's Club is seeking from the ban which would allow them to operate a rifle range on their property along Waterford and Pelton Roads.

The township, while not standing in opposition to range use exemptions, wants the Sportsman's Club range and any other range in the area to meet certain specifications for safety.

But so far no one has been able or willing to establish satisfactory guidelines.

And until the guidelines are formulated and submitted to the DNR for approval the ordinance cannot be implemented.

Last Tuesday the Independence Township Board pondered the question for an hour without coming to any firm conclusions.

At a previous board meeting trustee Larry Kozma had suggested the township request an inspection from the Oakland County Sheriff's Department to determine if the Sportsman's Club range was safe.

But on Tuesday the board learned that the Sheriff's Department does not have its own guidelines and will conduct inspections only in accordance with guidelines set down by the requesting body.

It was also learned that the DNR itself has not established any range specifications which could be used by the township and that, at least in the near future, they don't intend to.

Reluctance in both cases is partly based on the fear of possible liability that might be incurred if a sanctioned range was later the site of property damage or injury.

Supervisor Jim Smith suggested representatives of the Sportsman's Club sit down with trustee and fellow member, Dan Travis, to draw up a proposal for specifications based on some suggested ones from the National Rifle Association and return with them to the board.

In the meantime, the Sportsman's Club is in no danger of losing its range since the township cannot implement its ban on rifles or issue exemptions without a DNR certified ordinance.

Community Center Almost on Drawing Board

Work continues apace on a conceptual study for an Independence Township Community Center with site, floor plan, artist's rendering and construction proposals expected to come from a Citizen's Task Force in the "near future".

Chairman of the Task Force, Bruce Shull, said that he expects to give architect Mike Micuda a go-ahead to draw up the plans within the next week or two after final consideration is given to possible locations of the center.

Shull said that property adjacent to the township's Clintonwood Park has been the first choice of the citizen's group since its formation three years ago.

But that property is also part of an 80 acre land dispute between the township and the Edward C. Levy Co.

The Levy Co. purchased the parcel as part of its proposed 400 plus acre gravel mining operation and Shull is concerned that the township's condemnation proceedings could drag on for years.

He said the Task Force is considering property held by the schools in the same general area as an alternative site.

The community center, he said, would need to be situated on from 7-12 acres.

Even when the plan is finalized and presented to the township board, the biggest question of all -- financing -- will still have to be addressed.

Shull expressed concern over administration cutbacks in the funding of federal grant programs, the vehicle by which many community projects have been financed in the past.

The community center, when and if it is constructed, is expected to become a focal point of community activity. Shull said it could include meeting and activities rooms, athletic facilities, a swimming pool and possibly the township government offices.

Dust Control Prices Inflated

The Oakland County Road Commission announced last week the fee schedule and application dates for its dust control program and guess what? The price has gone up.

The cost of contracting for the application of calcium chloride to public gravel roads in the summer of 1981 will be 22 cents per foot. That's up from 16 cents last year.

Action by the township boards in both Independence and Springfield will offset most of the increase to homeowners.

In Independence, the board unanimously approved a motion to up the township's participation from 6 cents to 10 cents, leaving residents with a 12 cent per foot share.

The township intends to finance its portion, approximately $25,000 with Federal Revenue Sharing Funds.

In Springfield, the township board decided to pick up the entire increase, making themselves responsible for 12 cents of the 22 cents.

The county will apply for treatments of the solution. The first by early June, the second in mid-July, the third before September 1st and the last by the middle of October.

Springfield to Become "Rescue Ready"

Rescue service operations conducted by the Springfield Township Fire Department will take on a new look sometime this fall when the department receives delivery on a "Rescue Ready" Emergency Medical Service

(EMS) vehicle authorized by the township board on March 4.

The board decided to accept a bid for $17,340 for the EMS vehicle from Scientific Inc. of Saginaw on the advice of fire chief Marlan Hillman. Hillman said Scientific's bid was "more than in the ball park". A ball park that included estimates as high as $25,000.

Hillman also said that the "Rescue Ready" was the vehicle which most closely met the needs of the department.

Both Hillman and Supervisor Collin Walls pointed out that the fire department was not, by purchasing the EMS unit, attempting to enter into the ambulance service business.

Walls said that ambulance needs in the community would continue to be served by the Holly Volunteers, Fleet and Riverside.

The new vehicle will serve for rescue operations only.

All of the $17,000 purchase price will come out of previously allotted Community Development Act funds.

Smith Appoints Cable Television Task Force

Independence Township's citizen committee on the study of Cable Television has been "recharged" by Independence Supervisor, Jim Smith, as one of his "Citizen Task Forces".

Originally appointed in January of 1980 to examine the future of cable television in the area, the group has never made a formal report.

Smith, in making the new appointments, said, "This will be a complex and time consuming study...and we should be guided by the findings of other communities."

Waterford Township has only recently completed work on an ordinance regulating the relatively new industry and awarded a contract to WPON for the township cable franchise.

Under state statute local governing bodies are authorized to adopt ordinances and enter into contracts with cable TV companies.

Smith said the task force would be charged with the responsibility of reviewing ordinances, collecting data and making recommendations.

"I think what the task force should do is come up with what we want and then let the companies come to us," said Smith.

Appointees to the Supervisor's Cable TV task force are: Peter Ohrnberger, Chairman; James Schultz, William Genshaw, Michael Spillum and Carol Balzarini.

Time is Right for Heating Repairs, Replacements and Alterations

February and March are traditionally the slower months for heating and cooling companies. Heating contractors, during these slower months, have a little more time to better serve their customers whether it be replacing that old furnace, cleaning and checking a good operating furnace, installing a vent damper, or installing that humidifier or electronic air cleaner the doctor prescribed for your health and comfort.

The price of equipment, parts and materials continue to increase at unbelievable rates. To hedge against inflation, call now for the best prices of the year on any of your heating needs before the busy season starts.

Christmas Planning Starts Early in Davisburg

The first question that comes to mind is, "Why are forty people gathering at the Springfield Township Hall in the last days of February to discuss a crafts show that will be held in December?"

The organizers of a winter olympics hardly start that early.

But the answer is soon forthcoming.

The First Annual Davisburg Crafts Fest, scheduled for December 5 at Springfield Oaks, is no ordinary set up your wares and see what the suckers will buy crafts show.

It is, instead, an attempt directed by the Davisburg Scotties to create an old town "atmosphere" where crafts people, civic groups and professionals will be participating in a community-wide get-together.

There will be crafts, yes. But in addition there will be: scholarship fund-raising, prizes for the booth decorated in the most authentic oldtown fashion, Christmas trees for sale in the parking lot, entertainment and a Santa Claus for children, music from a half dozen instrumental and choral groups, a variety of concessions, drawings every half hour and whatever else the energetic Scotties can come up with between now and then.

If their efforts to date are any indication they may end up moving the whole affair to the Silverdome.

There really isn't much danger of that, however. It would run contrary to the central theme of the Davisburg Crafts Fest, which is strictly "hometown".

The Scotties hope that booth occupants will be inspired by their efforts to assemble a miniaturized replica of a turn-of-the-century Davisburg.

At this stage they are even allocating space on a Davisburg area first basis. Hoping that area service groups and craftsmen will work to make the festival a truly Davisburg event.

As Helen Vergin, speaking for the Scotties, says, "We are going to try to get all the organizations working...it's going to take a lot of teamwork and it's never been done before."

"If it works there will be all sorts of things coming out of this Fest that are going to be beneficial to the whole community."

And if the Scotties, a homemaker's group associated with the Oakland County Extension Service, continue to inspire interest at the rate they have so far, the Davisburg Crafts Fest is destined for success.

As Mrs. Vergin says, "This group can really work."

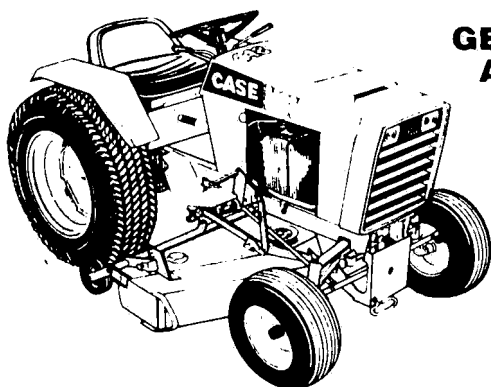

(Editor's Note -- Mrs. Vergin was right. This story got held up for a week before publication and in that time the First Annual Davisburg Crafts Fest became a sold out affair. All 52 booths for the show are taken. Efforts will now be concentrated on developing the theme of the Fest and making arrangements for what promises to be a big time small town celebration.)

Poll Indicates CHS Trend Away from Drugs

With a new decade beginning an obvious shift in teenage lifestyles can be observed. Although an attempted poll of Clarkston High School students failed to yield percentages, a noticeable change from marijuana and chemical substance abuse to beer and alcoholic beverages has been detected.

Many students were hesitant to have their names and responses recorded, but thought nothing of making anonymous remarks.

New trends seem to indicate that fewer teens are experimenting and/or regularly using chemical substances such as mescaline or speed, two drugs that in the past seemed to be favorites.

Many students surveyed stressed the fact that, as a majority, the school population looks down on those students that do turn to drugs. One explains, "When we first came to high school, drugs were prevalent and it was not considered extraordinary to experiment with a few types of drugs. Now it seems as though more and more students are turning towards sports and their peers to help with their problems."

Another student sees it as, "Everybody wants to be considered a 'jock'. The jock image with teachers is easier than having them (the teachers) think that you're burnt."

In the past, being a "jock" meant somebody that participated in sports. Now this term applies to athletic participants as well as their friends, and sports fans.

It was also accepted that jocks were "straight". Implying that they never went to parties, or indulged in substance abuse.

With the increased consumption of alcohol, this is one idea that must be labeled a myth. Jocks number high in the alcohol consuming portion of the school population.

Some students attempt to justify the use of alcohol by pointing out that while they are too young to be legally drinking, it is more easily accepted than smoking marijuana or taking other drugs that are totally illegal.

One positive factor is that the total number of students involved is down from previous surveys. More and more students seem to be able to handle their problems, and spare weekend time, without feeling the need to join the drinking crowd.

As one student put it, "It doesn't matter what activities the majority is leading to, I'm happy without abusive substances."

Another said, "If we all started drinking now, who'd be left to celebrate their first drink on their 21st birthday?"

Springfield Discusses Twice Yearly Tax Collection

The Springfield Township Board considered making the township's school property tax collection on a twice annual basis at their March 4 regular meeting.

Discussion was prompted by a request from the Holly School District, which has experienced serious cash flow problems under the one-time-only collection now in service in the township.

The Holly district comprises about 40 percent of the total assessed valuation in Springfield. But any change would have to be made on a township-wide basis.

Larry Graber, Business Affairs Coordinator for Holly, told the board that the district was forced to borrow $2,087,000 in June of 1980 to meet operating expenses. Interest on that loan came to $92,000.

"That's money that could be used for other things," he said, "including teacher's salaries and supplies."

The Holly schools, like other area schools including Clarkston, now receives its share of property taxes in a three month period, roughly December through February, as the townships make collection.

Under the proposed change collection would take place in both mid-winter and mid-summer, thereby, according to the schools, allowing districts to meet financial obligations as they come due without borrowing.

Graber said that although the district had recouped the potential interest losses this year through re-investment "the rate for next year will be 11 or 12 percent...there's no way we're going to make (that) back."

The Waterford School District has had a bi-annual collection in place for two years. But Graber said that Holly, in approaching other townships within their district, has not been well received.

Supervisor Collin Walls told Graber that he would anticipate similar reluctance from Springfield Township taxpayers over the proposal.

Both Walls and Township Clerk, J. Calvin Walters, said they would not be in favor of instituting the change without an advisory ballot from the electorate.

Walls also said he would be hesitant to start dunning the taxpayers again so soon after they had made their full payment in December. To provide the schools with the requested relief would mean a collection (of 1/2 the annual school tax) in June following a regular, full collection in December.

"If it starts in June," said Walls, "that's gonna hurt."

Lorraine Woods, of 11771 Davisburg Road in Davisburg, was even more outspoken.

"(The schools) need to learn how to budget their money to last the whole year," she said.

"It might be better for the school to borrow money and pay the interest as the senior citizens borrow money to pay their taxes."

Walls suggested the question might be added to the June ballot, when school board elections take place.

The Holly schools will be seeking for their financially troubled system more directly on April 13 when two millage proposals will come before the voters. They are asking for a 2 mill renewal for 5 years and an additional 4 mills over 5 years of operations.

Northern Eliminates Wolves from Districts, 40-37

Clarkston's basketball Wolves will have one less crown to defend when the season gets underway next year. The co-champions of the Greater Oakland Activities League (GOAL) fell in district tournament play last Wednesday to Pontiac Northern by a score of 40-37.

Northern went on to claim the district title with a two-point victory over Waterford Kettering on Saturday.

But they almost missed the chance of taking their 19-2 season record past Clarkston as the Wolves, playing a deliberate slow-down game, kept within four points the entire way.

Northern was fresh off an emotional, first in thirteen years, tournament victory over arch-rival Pontiac Central and coach, Dick Hall, said his team was not "up" for Clarkston.

And the Wolves, to their credit, demonstrated what their coach Gary Nustad had been saying all year long, that no one could afford to take them lightly.

The Wolfpack came into the game as decided underdogs in a bid to defend their 1980 Tim McCormick-led district title.

But they showed considerable aplomb in dictating the tempo of the game, disrupting Northern's high-powered offense and concentrating on doing what they do best.

That is, getting the ball to All-County 6'5" senior forward Scott McKoin. McKoin finished with a game high 21 points and 13 rebounds.

Most of McKoin's points came from inside where he battled on more than even terms with Northern's own all-county hopeful Chris Howze and Louis Rainge.

But overall PNH had just a little too much depth for the Wolves.

Senior guard, Kim Earl, hurt them repeatedly with medium range jumpers and slick lay-ups. Earl led Northern with 16 points.

Clarkston stayed close and actually had a chance to tie things up with one minute remaining. But a charging foul and subsequent free throw from Darryl Threlkeld provided Northern with a final three point margin.

Also scoring for Clarkston in their final game as seniors were Greg Lane and Brad Beattie with six each and Craig Schnabel with 4.

The Wolves finished 1980-81 at 11-9. And Coach Nustad faces a considerable rebuilding job next year after losing starters McKoin, Lane, Beattie, Schnabel along with senior guards Ric Schebor and Scott Weaver. His only returning regular will be sophomore center, Ray Kubani.

But for this year's squad Nustad had nothing but high praise.

"I'm extremely proud," he said. "They showed a lot of heart, they would not be defeated. They kept coming back and coming back."

Ground Water Method Can Help You Save Heating Dollars

by Dawson Bell

How do you take ground well water at a temperature of 52 degrees F and use it to keep a home at 65 to 70 degrees in the middle of a Michigan winter?

The answer, according to area sales representative for the Thermal Energy Transfer Corporation (TETCO) Dan Mattingly, is not by magic but the wonders of a technology that operates on the same basic principle as a refrigerator.

As Mattingly, and area distributor for TETCO Bob Posch, describe it the operation of a geothermal heat extractor is fairly simple.

The unit (about the size of a stand-up freezer) is installed in the home's basement and hooked up to the water supply.

"You just push that old oil burner right out of the way," says Mattingly.

The groundwater is pumped over a sealed refrigerant (Freon) which draws the heat out of the water and becomes gaseous. Then, under compression, the Freon is heated to 180 degrees F and passed through a heat exchanger where it heats air blown through ordinary ductwork.

Presto! A warm house, no oil bill or source supply worries.

Mattingly says an oil user paying $1000/heating season in fuel costs now could expect to spend only $250 on his system, the cost of the electricity used for the pump, compressor and blower.

And that is not to mention the savings available (up to 80 percent says Mattingly) in the central air conditioning system automatically makes available.

In fact, the principle on which the air conditioner is based is ever more basic than the heater. In the summer the user simply channels the groundwater directly into the "heat" exchanger and the 52 degree water brings down the temperature of the air.

In reality the system is not quite that simple nor is it perfectly well suited to everyone's needs.

It uses a lot of water -- 5 or 6 gallons per minute. And, although Mattingly and Posch say that is less than other geothermal heat extractors and not enough to require in most cases an extra pump, it's probably more than someone on city water would want to start using.

The heat "extracted" is available at about 100 degrees F (compared to 140 degree in a furnace) and therefore increases the need for good insulation.

The water from the TETCO system also has to be recycled out of the house and back into the ground via an additional dry well or septic field.

Have you compared the cost of oil to the cost of well water for heating purposes?

It is also not well suited for use in all sections of the United States. In the South groundwater temperatures are considerably higher and major energy consumption is in the air conditioning area. Hence, the savings would not be as great.

But Mattingly and Posch are convinced that TETCO is perfect for rural areas of the upper Mid-west.

Mattingly ticks off the reasons:

- The system is eligible for government energy tax credits
- It is cleaner and safer than gas and oil
- No chimney, no toxic gases
- No moving parts ("You'll have to get a system like this fixed about as often as you get your refrigerator fixed, which is almost never," says Posch.)
- And it can be financed for less than the cost of a customer's currently monthly fuel bill.

No question about, Mattingly who as a builder once tried to talk a customer out of putting in a geothermal heat extractor, is completely sold now -- and selling himself.

Mattingly will be hosting a demonstration of the TETCO heating and air conditioning unit at Wally's South in Grand Blanc on March 18.

CHS Band Pulls an All-Nighter

The 2nd annual Clarkston High School Bandathon, eighteen hours of non-stop jamming, shown here in its waning moments last Saturday morning.

The musical marathon began at 4 p.m. Friday and went straight through as members of the high school's Jazz Band, Symphonic Band and Wind Ensemble fulfilled their "pledge" to play for pay in raising money for new band uniforms.

Area band supporters contributed an estimated $1,500 in pledges.

The players also received fortification from local restaurants -- Big Boy, McDonald's, Little Caesars, Jo Angela's, Calabrese's and Dunkin' Donuts -- to keep the energy levels high through the night.

EZ-DUZ-IT Opens With 23 Washers

Banks are fine. But a lot of people have more use for a laundromat. So when Michigan National purchased the Clarkston Clothing Care center at the corner of M-15 and Dixie area residents who didn't own in-home facilities were up a creek.

Now, thanks to Marilyn and Chet Hensley, that is no longer the case. As of Wednesday last week their new Clarkston laundromat, EZ-DUZ-IT, was open for business.

Located at 6507 Dixie, a half mile south of M-15, EZ-DUZ-IT, is equipped with 23 washers, 10 dryers and two dry cleaning machines. Former patrons of Clarkston Clothing Care will feel right at home too. The Hensleys bought some of their machines from Clarkston Clothing Care and brought along several old employees who will handle the laundromat's drop-off service.

For do-it-yourselfers who bring the children along, EZ-DUZ-IT offers a lounge area with games and TV.

And if you need change the bank is right up the street.

Elston's Hair Studio

Elston's Keeps on Expanding

Elston's Hair Studio in the Clarkston Emporium has a lot of things going for it. Things like expanded facilities, color capabilities, and the addition of a facial salon in late 1981 has and will make Elston's one of the best salons around.

But one of the most important aspects of their business, according to Laurie Plumbley and Susan Winston owners, is their friendly personal service. Part of their routine before doing anything they say is talking with their clients, listening to what they want and then offering suggestions when appropriate.

Elston's, in business for 5 years in the Emporium location, is a full service salon. They service customers from pre-school age to ninety, male and female.

And now with expanded facilities, particularly floor space that nearly doubles the size of the salon, serving their customers has taken on new dimensions.

One of those new dimensions is color capabilities. "It's an exciting new concept in hair coloring," claims Ms. Winston. "The product we use, new on the market, promises truer, more natural shades. Those who wish to disguise their grey can be guaranteed of complete coverage and much less fading. Also, for those adventurous souls, we now have Fantasy Color for special occasions -- like a bit of Irish (Kelly green) for St. Patrick's Day."

A second dimension will arrive late in the year when Laurie and Susan will add a facial and skin care specialist to their staff. Plans are already underway to stock that niche of the salon with the most up-to-date supplies for manicures, make-up applications, and facials.

Elston's motto is "True Sculptors of Hair Fashion -- Become A Work of Art." To that end, Laurie and Susan spend much time keeping up on current hairstyles and learning the finer aspects of running a successful hair salon.

They say, "The era of blow dry styling is so much more practical in a world of fast pace. We specialize in that technique and are always happy to show you how to correctly blow dry your own personalized style."

"We take great pride in our ability to create a special hair design for you," they said.

The unisex salon is open 6 days a week. Monday-Friday it is open 10-7:30 and on Saturdays from 10-3 p.m. For an appointment, call 625-8611.

Laurie and Susan Specialize in:

- precision hair designing
- blow dry styling
- stylized permanent waves
- custom hair coloring for men & women including hennas, illusion tints, glows, luminizing and Fantasy Colors!
- unisex salon

PAIN

DOESN'T TAKE SUNDAY OFF...
...EITHER DO WE!

Why Suffer Needlessly? CLINIC OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

Many have been told, "Your trouble is nerves, just nerves, that's all." Nerves are too important to the body to be dismissed so easily. Nerves make possible all movements, nerves transmit all sensations to the brain. Nerves make possible sight, smell, taste and hearing. Nerves control blood pressure, stomach action, blood flow, speech and breathing. Nerves make the bowels move. Nerves make it possible to swallow. In fact, all functions taking place in the body are under the control and coordination of the nervous system, and when any of the 11 Danger Signals listed begin to appear in your body it is usually the forerunner of a serious condition. Tension or "pinching" of spinal nerves robs your body of vital energy, thus causing the 11 Danger Signals to appear, which in time, if not corrected, is the underlying cause of disease.

Falls, stresses, strains, sprains, slipping, scooping, stooping, shaking, jolts, jars, tension, poor posture, tugging, stretching, twisting, turning, pushing, jumping, sudden impacts, lifting, bouncing, blows, athletic injuries, exertion, stumbling, and bouncing up and down on tractor seats all day long can produce spinal pressure and tension on sensitive, delicate nerves. These nervous system short circuits slow down normal nerve energy flow, and rob your vital organs of their proper controlling force.

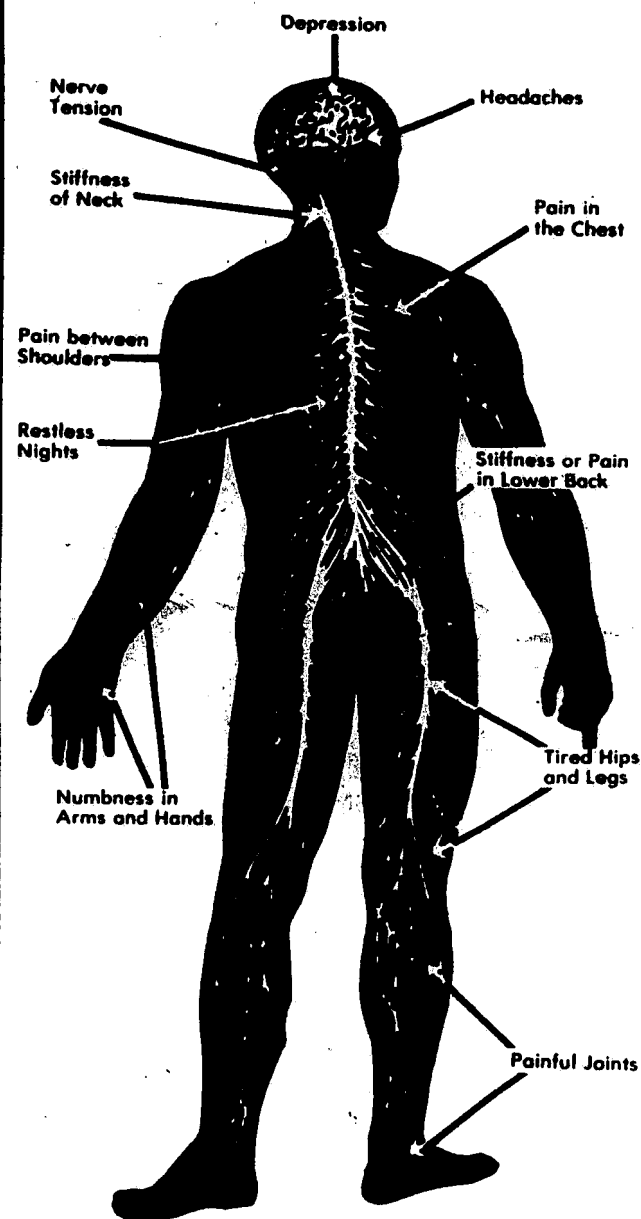

Regardless of the health problem you or any member of your family may have, it is entirely possible that your family chiropractor can replace despair and sorrow with glowing health and happiness. Spinal pressure and tension on sensitive, delicate nerves may cause many diseases. (See list below.)
