School Vote Monday

REMINDER SURVEY

How do you intend to vote in the June 8 Clarkston Schools millage election?

Millage Seems Assured of Passage

With the election less than a week away, Clarkston School District voters seem, if a Reminder poll is any indication, to be ready to approve a school board request for additional financing.

In an unscientific telephone survey taken last Saturday and Monday, an incredible 52 percent of the voters questioned said they intended to vote for the three mill increase.

Equally incredible was the low number of negative respondents, a mere 12 percent or 8 of the 68 registered voters queried said they would vote against the millage request.

Perhaps reflecting the fairly low profile millage campaign that has been conducted, an additional 36 percent said they were still undecided.

Also surprising was the increase in support for a millage over a similar poll The Reminder conducted in mid-February, when the school board first expressed its intention of placing the question of additional support before the voters.

In that poll, which was also of 68 voters or approximately one-half of 1 percent of the total registered voters in the district, 44 percent were in favor of increasing the school's operating millage. 38 percent were opposed.

by Dawson Bell

On Monday Clarkston School District voters go to the polls to decide the fate of a school board request for three additional mills (or $3/$1000 of state equalized valuation) to be levied for ten years.

According to projections drawn up by school administrators and the board, voter approval of the millage will partially offset what would otherwise be a real deficit of $1 million at the end of school year 1981-82.

If the millage fails Clarkston would lose (in cuts already approved by the board) --

- Three administrators, director of athletics, Paul Tungate, and director of vocational education, Marvin Hess, and one elementary school principal.

- Twenty-eight teachers, sixteen in elementary education, and twelve in secondary education.

- Two social workers and six special education classroom aides.

- Six janitors and one busdriver.

- $222,378 in scheduled supply purchases.

- All extra curricular activities, sports, band, etc.

According to the administration, the basic educational program would remain intact. But class sizes would increase, there would be a reduced number of course offerings in some areas and the complete elimination of a few courses which do not attract large numbers of students.

The cuts outlined for implementation so far would save the district $988,000 and allow for a solvent operation until the end of school next year.

The Millage: Critical to Sustain Status Quo

But because part of the deficit spending for 1981-82 would be made up with $1,130,000 in equity the district presently has on hand, further cuts the following year are to be expected, according to superintendent of schools Milford Mason.

He projects Clarkston would outspend its revenues by a margin more than $875,000 in 1981-82 even with the budget cuts.

The increasing imbalance in revenue and outlay has forced the board to implement a program of only partial restitution if the millage passes.

At a meeting last week they adopted millage approval measure which will reinstate --

- Possibly one half administrator; Paul Tungate would assume half time duties as athletic director; Marvin Hess would not be reinstated; Ruth Purslow is retiring and will not be replaced.

- Three teachers in elementary education and seven in secondary education.

- One social worker.

- One janitor.

- $64,500 in supply purchases.

- The athletic and extracurricular activities programs.

In drawing up the proposals for millage approval, the board hesitated to restore all programs to their current level until after the financial picture becomes more clear.

They are still fearful of further executive cuts from the Governor to K-12 education. And word came in only last week that increases in the cost of Blue Cross/Blue Shield insurance protection would be up 40 percent for next year, eliminating $125,000 in anticipated leeway.

It is also to be noted that some of the cuts laid out previously (especially in the area of teacher layoffs) are not entirely contingent upon the fate of the millage.

Because of declining enrollment in the district as many as ten of the elementary school teachers would have been cut anyway.

The effect of millage passage on individual tax rolls is, too, less than crystal clear. Much of the pro-millage campaign has focused on the effect of "circuit-breaker" state income tax credits for property owners with limited incomes.

Millage backers say the effect of the three mill increase on homestead property owners who qualify for the credits would be nowhere near as significant as they appear on the surface.

The circuit-breaker applies to all homestead property owners. It limits the increase in property tax to a maximum of 40 percent of the full rate on anything over 3 1/2 percent of income. For senior citizens the circuit breaker eliminates any payment over 3 1/2 percent of yearly income. The maximum credits allowable under the circuit breaker are $1200.

For instance, a homeowner with an income of $17,000/year and property with state equalized value (SEV) of $20,000 would qualify for the 60 percent reduction on the entire three mill increase. The net effect of passage would be an increase (on this hypothetical taxpayer) of $24/year, rather than $60/year on a straight three mills. For a senior citizen with similar income and property value the increase would be entirely offset by the circuit-breaker.

Millage backers claim the circuit-breaker removes the burden of a millage increase from those most in need of property tax relief.

About The Reminder Election Poll

While last week's edition of The Reminder zeroed in on the question of school financing, this week's edition concerns itself with a more immediate problem -- like whether or not voters of the Clarkston School District should approve an additional three mills to run the school system?

As has been our policy for the last couple of years, The Reminder has taken a sample poll of the electorate to try and determine what their preference may be. Depending upon what side of the fence you sit, you may find the results to be quite surprising.

Keep in mind, however, as you study the results, we, in no stretch of the imagination, consider the poll to be scientific. Voters were chosen randomly from the Clarkston Community Phone Book and then called last Saturday and Monday. Also keep in mind that the calls were made 8-10 days before the actual election. A lot of minds can be changed within a week's time.

Also it's worth noting the results of a similar poll taken by The Reminder a couple of months ago. The poll which asked voters if they would approve approximately two additional mills and published on February 19 showed the issue would pass by a 44-38 percent margin.

Our latest results largely concur with those taken in February. As in February, there still remains a large undecided block that will likely decide the election. Thus it is critically important for those campaigning for the millage to put on a good final thrust during the last week of the campaign.

As of yet, we have seen no real thrust. As has been the tradition of Clarkston Schools, this campaign has been largely underground, so as not to rile the "no" voters. I for one disagree with this tactic.

As much information as possible should be available to the voter. Clarkston Schools has nothing to be ashamed of. Their financial spendthriftiness should be a positive campaign issue. So should their academic record.

I, as a voter and a member of this community, plead with the members of the campaign to make themselves and their information more visible during this last week. Forget your worry of attracting a large "no" voter turnout. There are too many undecided voters out there to do otherwise.

Also on the ballot is the election of two members of the Clarkston Board of Education. It's a crowded slate as nine persons are seeking the seats.

It's nice to see so many people willing to give of their time to seek and want a position that offers no monetary rewards. In fact being a member of the school board, in my opinion, is the roughest of all local political offices to hold.

It's rough because most every other office offers a salary of some type. And it's rough because school board members are required to attend at least two official school board meetings monthly, as well as several study sessions and special meetings.

We asked each of the candidates to respond in written form to three questions we thought would be important to interested voters.

All but two candidates gave their answers (see inside pages for their answers). Ann Glenn, who narrowly was defeated two years ago, and Gerald S. Harbaugh, for unknown reasons failed to respond to our questionnaire.

See you at the polls, Monday, June 8th.

Note: Ann Glenn did get us her responses after deadline. They are included in this edition.

Let Them Know You Care

Dear Editor:

Mark Monday, June 8, a red letter day on your calendar -- there have been slogans, ads, bumper stickers, P.T.A., coffees, teas, and gatherings too numerous to mention. But Monday is your day to let our children, teachers and administrators know that you really care and support them.

Let us give a lasting gift to the Class of '81 and that is the assurance that their school will always maintain the highest academic standards and that they can always be proud to say, "I'm from Clarkston Schools".

Sincerely,

James A. O'Neill, M.D.

P.S. We have an opportunity to place a new person on the board. I believe Stephen Werner, M.D. is an excellent choice.

Excellent Coverage

Dear Sir,

On behalf of Oakland County Council Veterans of Foreign Wars, I'd like to take this opportunity to thank you for the excellent coverage your paper gave to Loyalty Day. It was so refreshing to see how proud Americans celebrate the day instead of reading what they do in Russia.

We are proud to be Americans and very proud to show our patriotism on Loyalty Day. There were 3,200 other people who felt the same way in the Village of Clarkston on May 2, 1981 to show theirs also.

We are very proud of your paper for your patriotism and showing it by publishing our Veterans of Foreign Wars celebration. The Village of Clarkston is to be commended for their support.

Again, from Oakland County Council Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Ladies Auxiliary and the Loyalty Day Committee we thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

Yours in comradeship,
George D. Kosnich, Commander

Let's Give Children a Good Education - An Opportunity to Show Our Young People

Dear Editor:

Thank you, to the people of Schenectady, New York, that through the years of my public school life, you gave, that I might be educated.

You never knew me as a tall, skinny, shy kid that spent hours in the library at Pleasant Valley Elementary School back in the early 40's. You never saw me laugh as I enjoyed learning to march or square dance in the gym you so generously provided for kids like me. Uncoordinated kids that gained so much in self confidence when they were taught skills that other kids just seemed to naturally have.

I'll always carry happy memories because of my education in the Schenectady Public Schools. I can still remember reading on graduation day the motto above the stage at Mount Pleasant High School that said, "Enter to Learn, Go Forth to Serve". I like to think I've done that -- thanks to you and my parents of course.

Today I serve on my local school board and am a teacher -- education is my life. But my way of life is being threatened today. Threatened by people in my community, my state, my nation, who are good people, but who are totally fed up with increased taxes at every turn and feel powerless to halt the escalation except at the local level.

We know we have to find other methods for funding our schools besides property tax. We just had a proposal on the ballot that would have reduced property tax by almost 50 percent, but would have increased the sales tax from 4 to 5 1/2 percent. Many thought it was only a tax shift and the proposal lost by an almost 4 to 1 margin.

We're hoping pressure can be brought to bear on our Governor and the Legislature to make education in our state the number one priority. Hoping also for a new plan of financing public education that will be more equitable and adequate.

But until this happens our educational system is threatened. Threatened because of the need of a 3 mill increase just to try to maintain most of our present programs.

Unlike myself back in the 40's, my children never had the benefit of physical education in the elementary school. My two older kids never knew the fun of hours in the school library in their elementary schools.

All my children play instruments and music is an important, beautiful part of our lives. Would it be so, if you people of Schenectady had not provided kids like me an opportunity to take, not only band instruments but violin lessons starting in the 4th grade? How well I remember jolly Mr.

Malloy, our music man, and how proud when I made the Schenectady Student Symphony Orchestra in 7th grade.

Some people say those things are frills -- not basic to one's education. I say, to think and feel even as a child, that books and music are sources of pleasure is basic. Basic, not only to education, but basic to life itself.

I want the children in this community to some day thank us that we cared enough to give that extra measure for them.

Thank you people of Schenectady for giving me the gift of my education. I now willingly give on to others.

I pray that the people in my town will do the same.

Carolyn Place

More Realistic Portrayal?

Dear Mike:

As I discussed with Dawson Bell, last week's edition of The Reminder certainly did not do Springfield Township any good. I realize you are the editor and I am just a reader. However, a little bit of checking on your part might have resulted in a more realistic portrayal of our current situation in Robert Bruce Subdivision. As an example, one of the individuals that you quoted as having had 15 miscarriages in 12 years did not purchase their home until October of 1972.

My biggest objection, Mike, is your editorial comment, not the article itself. You said something to the effect that it is too bad people can't trust the County and State Public Health Departments. Your editorial appeared to put a great deal more weight on two private lab tests than the indepth testing done through the County and State labs. Yes, it is too bad, people don't trust, but do editors? What responsibility do newspapers and newspaper editors have for the lack of trust?

I must be honest in admitting that you and your paper are the least offenders; and, in my opinion, you generally do a very good job of reporting. As one of those who isn't trusted, I become increasingly frustrated by half-truths, innuendo, and just plain lack of indepth research that is done in the news media.

Sincerely,
Collin W. Walls
Supervisor
Springfield Township

Letter to the Editor:

Double Standard:

Hard work, dedication, spirit, inspiration, citizenship -- these are good things. We tell young people to be involved with healthy pursuits. We ask young folks to dedicate extensive time and energy to building character and a strong body.

Parents and the community look down on inactivity and laziness.

Talk is cheap.

On June 8, we will have an opportunity to show our young people that we really believe in the values we talk a lot about. Whether or not you have youngsters in school, the voting adult community of Clarkston has the responsibility to be moral leaders of the children of the community, and that leadership is expressed by matching our actions, and our pocketbooks, with the words we express so freely.

Good citizens and leaders begin in our schools. Students practice their citizenship and learn to be dedicated by participating in events provided along with basic education. The opportunity to dedicate hours and days to practice a sport, to practice music, to perfect a performance to be part of a team, to be part of a band, are provided in Clarkston within our school program at a dollar value that cannot be matched anywhere else.

Shall we hire a band to give us the thrill our Clarkston High shares with us at each community parade?

Should we put up money to support a professional basketball team in Clarkston to bring spirit to our community like the Clarkston High School basketball team?

We can't beat the dollar value that we pay in taxes to our school system for what our schools provide to the whole community of Clarkston. What is the cost of a "yes" vote? On the average, for less than the price of a daily newspaper we can keep our schools running at about their present level of student activity.

"Yes", the schools are cost cutting. "Yes", the schools are being extremely energy efficient. "Yes", the schools are slowly cutting staff by not replacing openings. "Yes", the schools are cutting supplies. "Yes", the

mike morrow's trivia

by Mike Morrow

There are several ways to start a fire in your grill.

1. One way that many people prefer is to use as little lighter fluid as possible, preferring instead to use 312,000 matches until the fire catches.

2. Others prefer to use one match and a bucket full of lighter fluid. This method works well but you do tend to go through a lot of picnic tables and eyebrows this way.

3. Still others choose self-starting charcoal that requires no lighter fluid but sells for the same price as gold on the open market and often gives food the same flavor as nail polish remover.

Whichever method you choose just remember that getting the fire started is the easy part. The hard part comes when you try to cook three different steaks to three different degrees of doneness on the same fire. As anyone who has ever cooked outside knows, this is impossible. You will be lucky if all three don't turn to charred chunks that look and taste like asphalt.

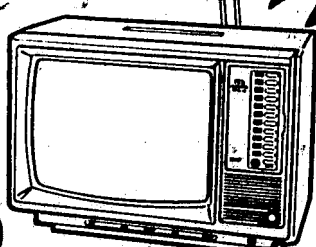

Some of the uninitiated will actually try to cook all three steaks differently; placing their faith in that little lever that raises and lowers the cooking rack. Most of us know better. Because as soon as you touch that lever, one side of the rack rises and the other lowers causing the meat to slide into the ashes (assuming it isn't already burned onto the rack in which case it will never slide off or be pried off for that matter). If the meat does slip into the ashes don't give up, although at that point I'm sure you'll want to toss the meat over the fence but just think of that hungry family inside armed with knife and fork and do what the rest of us do, rinse the ashes off with the garden hose and throw the meat back on the fire.

Eventually the meat will be as done as it is ever going to get on that fire, so square your shoulders, raise your plate full of burned on the outside/raw on the inside meat proudly and tell any of the grumblers these words of wisdom used by outdoor cooks world wide, "just shut up and eat, char-broiled meat is good for your teeth."

TRAFFIC JAM IS MOM'S CONCERN

Q. My child still has his baby teeth and his permanent ones are coming in crooked behind them. I know this is not normal, what should I do?

A. Don't panic. The situation may look terrible, but it is normal. Your child now has a gallon of teeth and only half a gallon of mouth. Given time, things will even out. But see your dentist, he may want to relieve the crowding by removing the crowded baby tooth or by referring your child to an orthodontist, a specialist who straightens teeth.

This column is presented in the interest of better dental health. From the office of Dr. Gary R. Ushman, 55 S. Main St., Clarkston, Michigan 48016. Phone 625-2066.

The Candidates:

Robert R. Clark, 54, 9765 Dixie Highway, Clarkston. Resident of Clarkston since 1931. Graduate Clarkston High School.
What is the single most important issue the board is addressing or should be addressing at the present time?

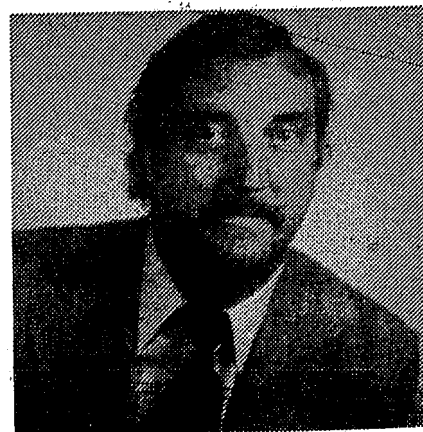

Funding of the schools is the top most issue at this time.

What should be done about public school financing?

Public school financing is a complicated issue, it will have to be worked out with the cooperation of the school boards throughout the state, the taxpayers, and the state government. The people will have to decide how much local control they are willing to relinquish. If there is state-wide funding, then the state will have the majority control. As now, money from the state and federal government comes with strings attached. The growers will not come overnight and may take years.

Q. Do you concur with the board's stand (retention of all programs) on the June 8 millage request?

A. Yes, retain all programs if the money is available.

Hadyn Cook

Hadyn Cook, 6241 Simler Drive, Clarkston. Educated in England. Process engineer for Pontiac Motor Division. Served 8 years on the Board of Directors of the Suburban Midget Football Conference; coaches in Waterford Recreation Department Soccer program.

Q. What is the single most important issue the board is addressing or should be addressing at the present time?

A. It is most important, obviously, to find a way to become a solvent operation. The proposed millage, if passed by the electorate, will provide funds to operate during the 1981/82 school year but with no solution for years following. Further cuts will be required and should be made, not on the grounds of which are easiest to implement, but on a priority system directed at areas which bring the least returns to the district.

in terms of academics and numbers of students affected. Failure of the millage will bring this position immediately, and the Board's plans should already be formulated for this occurrence.

Q. What should be done about public school financing?

A. An easy question to ask and almost impossible to answer. If I could give a quick remedy to problems of school financing I would be running for Governor of Michigan!! The situation in Oakland County is an example of a system which is inequitable at best, leaving some school districts in distress and others in their vicinity with too much money. Local funding of schools may have to give way to funding from County in order to minimize the varied incomes to school districts caused by local millages and by S.E.V.

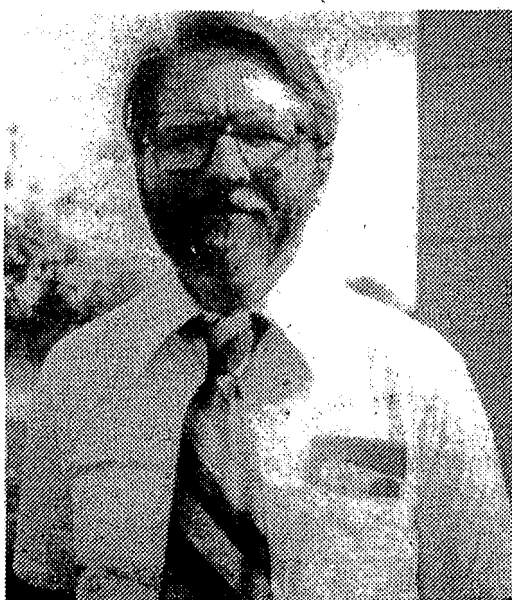

However, I can foresee all sorts of insidious happenings when larger governmental bodies get involved. County-wide bargaining with the teachers and maybe wide use of busing could follow.

Q. Do you concur with the board's stand (retention of all programs) on the June 8 millage request?

A. I don't believe that the Board has made a definite resolution to retain all programs if the millage is successful. A consensus opinion is apparent that this would be an objective, however, in the event of a successful millage vote there is still a responsibility to project some equity into the financial planning.

To what degree, this has to be decided obviously affecting the funding available for running the programs.

School. He graduated from Mott Community College. He is a Navy veteran, member of Clarkston United Methodist Church and is employed by GM Truck and Coach Traffic Department.

Q. What is the single most important issue the board is addressing or should be addressing at the present time?

A. To ensure the continued improvement of educational opportunities for all the youth in the district. To seek out concerns and desires of the community and to reflect these in the actions of the board. Assure the taxpayers the most for their tax dollars.

Q. What should be done about public school financing?

A. A complete overhaul of public school financing. State funding for education (K-12) should be a state-wide priority, above other agencies, in the distribution of the general fund. Local control must be maintained.

Q. Do you concur with the board's stand (retention of all programs) on the June 8 millage request?

A. If the June 8th millage is passed, the board should reinstate as many of the programs as possible. But if cuts in programs and personnel must be made they should be made across the board starting with the central office administration through non-instruction personnel.

Served two terms on Clarkston School Board; PTA officer 5 years; Girl Scout leader 5 years; Bottles for Building chairperson 10 years; Governor's Commission on Handicapped Concerns, 4 years; and current chairperson of Clinton Valley Center's Citizen Advisory Committee.

Q. What is the single most important issue the board is addressing or should be addressing at the present time?

A. The single most important issue the board is addressing is the passage of current millage request for 3 mills. We are all involved attending as many "coffee's" in individual's homes or other places as possible. Failure to pass this millage will set this district back educationally in ways that we may never recover from.

Q. What should be done about public school financing?

A. Until the problem of public school financing becomes the number one priority of the Governor and the Legislature and until local school districts state-wide can stand united and lobby for education - the public financing of education will remain under-financed by the state. I feel public school financing through property tax alone is not only unjust but also inadequate. Perhaps a combination of reduced property tax along with an income tax and small increase in the sales tax would generate the revenue needed and be more equitable. Certainly, an income tax would be based more on an individual's ability to pay.

Q. Do you concur with the board's stand (retention of all programs) on the June 8 millage request?

A. I fully concur with the reinstatement of all programs that would otherwise be cut if the millage fails to pass.

Carole Rausch, 37. Attended Oakland Community College and Mercy College of Detroit. Statistician for Selhost Real Estate. Former President of Clarkston Cooperative Nursery; former board member Independence Township. Fireman's Auxiliary and St. Daniel's Women's Guild.

Q. What is the single most important issue the board is addressing or should be addressing at the present time?

A. The single most important issue the school board should be addressing is whether public education in Michigan will survive. We are not the only school facing grave financial situations. The millage is necessary to maintain our schools, but is only a stop-gap measure. We must become actively involved in the development of political coalitions, inter-community alliances and more cooperation among educational organizations. Groups such as the recently formed C.U.R.E. should be joined and supported.

Q. What should be done about public school financing?

A. Most citizens agree that the lottery money should go to education, still we have seen the State budget for K-12 education shrink from 30 percent to 14 percent in a matter of a few years, while higher education still has a 20 percent share. Social services share of the budget has continued to increase at an alarming rate. Property tax relief must also provide alternative funding for public schools, which Headlee, Proposal A and Tisch have not done.

Q. Do you concur with the board's stand (retention of all programs) on the June 8 millage request?

A. I believe that retention of programs is imperative if we are to maintain our educational goals. The millage is the first general increase asked for in four years and is vital. A vote against the millage is also a vote to decrease your property values, as has been witnessed in the aftermath of similar millage defeats in Brandon and Waterford.

Douglas Roeser

Douglas L. Roeser, 39, of 52 East Church, Clarkston. Dentist. B.S. D.D.S. University of Michigan. President of Independence Land Conservancy; Treasurer of U of M Alumni Club of Oakland County; former members Clarkston Planning Commission; active in Boy Scouts.

Q. What is the single most important issue the board is addressing or should be addressing at the present time?

A. I believe the most important issue to be addressed by the school board should be how we can preserve our school's curriculums and activities as intact as possible in light of the financial crisis caused by reduced state funding of our school system.

Q. What should be done about public school financing?

A. I believe the state legislature must act responsibly to help us resolve the problems associated with financing public education. Funding for public education could be treated as an entity unto itself. This would allow the public to respond to its general dissatisfaction with certain governmental functions and expenditures without harming the development of our most important asset, our children.

Q. Do you concur with the board's stand (retention of all programs) on the June 8 millage request?

A. I support the school board's request for the June 8 millage. Passage of the millage will help avoid further reductions of staff, supplies, and programs which could harm the chances of a high quality educational experience for our students.

Currently serving on St. Daniel's New Church Building Committee and Operating Room Policy Committee, Pontiac General Hospital.

Q. What is the single most important issue the board is addressing or should be addressing at the present time?

A. The single most important issue the School Board is addressing is the quality of our educational program. To me, that issue was, is, and always will be the most important issue. Our public schools must provide a sound basic education for our children. Our students who go on to college should be prepared to proceed with their studies without remedial math or English. Our graduates who enter the job market should have the basic education to prepare them for life as well as some skills to offer an employer.

To achieve these goals, we must not just maintain the status quo. Our society demands ever-increasing levels of education for all walks of life. In industry and medicine, for instance, in the last twenty years or so, the number of job titles has doubled, indicating the need for higher and more specialized levels of education. Therefore, the school system and the School Board which determines its policies, must be willing to meet the challenges that our changing times bring.

Q. What should be done about public school financing?

A. With property taxes providing the bulk of the revenues for public education, we simply have to just raise our taxes to raise more money that the schools need. I get the feeling that some people think it's that simple. Unfortunately, we, as a community, just can't afford to keep raising our property taxes. With income tax, sales tax, gasoline tax, business tax and license fee, I think we're paying enough. I believe education needs a better share of our tax money without increasing our taxes.

Q. Do you concur with the board's stand (retention of all programs) on the June 8 millage request?

A. I do not concur with the School Board's request for 3 mills, in the face of Superintendent Mason's recommendation for 2.3 mills, which would restore an athletic program and important extra-curricular activities as well as provide for a good basic educational program. I believe that most of the School Board would have supported Mr. Mason's request for 2.3 mills except that two members insisted on 4.6 mills, and therefore a compromise of 3 mills was arrived at.

The community must realize that the school district desperately needs increased revenues. Our property tax increases this past year have been due to inflation of property values. Our operating millage actually decreased, from 29.047 mills last year to 28.488 mills this year. The net effect of last year's tax increase from inflation has been a loss of $80 of state aid per student, and an increase to the schools of only $100 per student.

As much as I would dislike a higher tax bill, I will vote for the millage. I've studied the figures, and I know how tough it will be for our school children without it.

Summertime, and the livin' is easy. Easy in more than one sense. Summer is the time when most of us find we have the inclination and, by virtue of daylight savings, the opportunity to put our homes in order. This special Reminder section is designed to put you and your dream home together. If you are already living in your dream home, the home improvers to be found here can help. And if you are looking for or are ready to build a home to suit your lifestyle the realtors and builders advertising in these pages can help you put it all together. Summertime, the best time to start making your livin' easy.

HOMES AND LIVING

A Reminder Special Section

14 Start making some progress on all those lawn and garden chores that are getting you down. MG Sales in Drayton Plains has everything the prospective amateur landscaper could ask for - garden tractors, lawnmowers, all the labor saving equipment you could ask for.

When the temperatures reach 80 degrees it's hard to be thinking about how you are going to keep warm next winter. Unless you are still making installments on that fuel oil bill from last February or you have been reading the reports about natural gas price increases. At Solley's, on M-15 between Ortonville and Clarkston, you will be introduced to money saving wood stoves and furnaces. Save with summer prices on the wood stove or furnace that will save your fuel bills next winter.

15 Home improvement always pays off...in resale value, in energy costs and in peace of mind. But if you've been putting off that big roofing or siding project because you thought it would be too much for your pocketbook, think Higginbotham's. These Waterford contractors have been in business long enough to know what it takes to make your home nicer to live in at prices you can live with.

Garrow-Parks, co-owners Bob Garrow and Bill Parks, is in tune with reality in real estate. These fine realtors know the market and they know the area. If you are looking for the finest in country living or the best in value for the dollar contact Garrow-Parks, part of Better Homes and Gardens, at their Goodrich office.

16 Barry Young has the listings. If you're in the market for a home or business property in north Oakland, call Barry Young. In these times of high interest rates he and his team of associates can make the deal that's right for you.

Energy costs money! And a quick check of your home is likely to show that a lot of that energy/money is going right out the window. If you've been putting off window replacement, reconsider. Wickes Lumber of Davison has double and triple glazed windows with insulating wood core and low maintenance vinyl exterior. And experts on hand everyday to show you how to do-it-yourself and save money.

21 Enjoy summer without letting insects in on the fun. Bryson and Sons of Oxford have the glass and screen patios that will make your outdoor fun a private party, no mosquitos invited.

Davison Lawn and Garden will help you get some things done and then have time to enjoy it. They feature a complete line of "Nothing Runs Like A Deer" power equipment: tillers, push and riding mowers. And when it's time to relax and fire up the barbecue, Davison Lawn and Garden is there with gas, charcoal and electric grills and insect lights to let you eat your meal in peace.

23 Central heating and air conditioning is something we all want, but can less and less afford. Dan Mattingly has the answer - geothermal heating and air conditioning units get the job done at a fraction of the cost.

Improve your landscape with some of the fine buys in decorative and security fencing from R & N Fencing. Visit their store and warehouse on Dixie Highway in Waterford for a first-hand look at what fits your needs.

No home-improvement project is free. But you can make things easier on yourself and your balance sheet with a low interest loan from First Federal Savings of Oakland. They can meet your banking needs.

24 Make things happen in your landscape with Bordine's Better Blooms. Bordine's two locations, in Rochester and Clarkston, carry the finest in nursery stock, from the largest caliper trees to beautiful interior flowering plants. And their huge staff of trained horticulturalists can put you in tune with nature. Think Summer! Think Green!

For residents in the springfield area, the name Hillman is a familiar and trusted one. Let Marlan and Elwyn Hillman introduce you to the pleasures of country style living in and around their home turf with a quality home from Davisburg Home Builders.

Student Built Home to be Showcased at Open House Sunday

Clarkston High School students in the building trades program were hard at work last week placing the finishing touches on this year's building trade's home for a scheduled open house June 6.

The three bedroom home, located at 6405 Waldon Road in Clarkston, was constructed over the course of the school year by twenty-five high school students under the supervision of builder and vocational instructor Dick Moscovic. Students worked in two shifts, mornings and afternoons, for credit towards graduation.

All phases of home building were covered in the project, from architectural design (in Larry Thibault's drafting class) through landscaping.

The Waldon Road home is the third to be constructed in the building trades program. And following the open house will be sold to the highest bidder by the school board.

The home features hand finished wood paneling, energy efficient fireplace, root cellar, cedar closet and a 450 square foot deck.

The students are understandably proud of their handiwork. Said one, "We want to be able to drive up here in ten years with our kids and say, 'We built this.'"

Moscovic is also proud of the finished product this year. He said, "This year has been an especially nice year, because I've had some excellent students."

He said the program provides some real, and immediate, benefits to the students. Two recent graduates are now on Moscovic's private construction crew working fulltime.

Many others have gone on to jobs in the building trades and, according to senior Jeff Sawyer, a two-year student in the program, most of the high school builders hope to enter one field or another related to construction when they graduate.

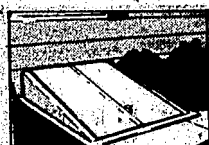

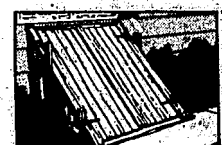

The open house will be held on Sunday, June 7, from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m., public invited.

Enjoy your home more ... with a Bilco Basement Door.

Whether you're going to build a new home or stay in your present one, a Bilco Basement Door will help you enjoy it more. It makes your basement just as useful, convenient and functional as the rest of the house - easy to furnish and safe for your family activities.

If your home was built without an outside door, adding one now will open up a whole extra floor of valuable space - space for recreation, hobbies and storage. It provides the wide, direct access you need for bulky articles, and puts an end to tracking through first floor rooms.

A Bilco Door is the modern replacement for a wooden door, too. Let us show you how its rugged, all-steel construction and trim appearance will add new beauty and security to your home. And it pays for itself over the years by saving repair and replacement costs.

Stop in and see our display. We'll give you free literature on how to do it. Or, we can suggest a contractor to install it for you.

schools are making the bus routes more cost efficient. "Yes", the salaries are on the low side -- on a county-wide average. "Yes", the money spent per student in Clarkston is the lowest in the county. In spite of tremendous inflation, the schools have stretched a three year millaged voted in '77 to four years. Now, in the fourth year, the school is asking for a very reasonable raise. "Yes", the schools need your support!!

Can the adult voting community of Clarkston ask for a hard-working, dedicated standard from our young people -- and then not support that dedication clearly present in many outstanding Clarkston students?

The adult community of Clarkston has a chance to show our children that hard work and dedication is respected and rewarded.

The adult community of Clarkston has the opportunity to express a single standard -- not a double standard. We care, we appreciate and we back moral behavior, as expressed in student dedication and participation in school work, athletics and the arts.

Opportunities will continue to be available in our schools because we support them with our words and our money.

HOW TO PLAY THE MARKET WITHOUT RISKING YOUR LIFE.

It used to be so easy. Risk some money in the market for growth. Keep the rest in the bank and buy a life insurance policy for security. Inflation has changed all that. A lot of people are risking that "security" today just to stay even with the economy.

There's a better way. John Hancock Variable Life. Like any whole life plan, it guarantees you the face amount of the plan you buy, but unlike most other plans, it also lets you invest in the market, with the opportunity to add to the value of your coverage.

Send us the coupon for more information. In uncertain economic times like these, an insurance plan that gives you an opportunity to help keep up with inflation could be the best plan in the market.

Dear Editor:

While talking with various people around our community about school millage, I discovered misinformation, misinterpretation, and rumor. Usually these distortions suggest money mismanagement in various forms within our school district.

To cite just a few examples, news reports stating township officials voted themselves raises was misinterpreted. This was extended to school board members who did not vote themselves raises; in fact, they receive minimal compensation for attendance at board meetings only. School administrators have offered to forego their raises. P.T.O. funds, not tax dollars as some people have heard, have purchased supplementary media supplies. The local school district is not unnecessarily providing paper, pencils, etc. for children; state law requires them to do so. Administration is not top-heavy as has been suggested; Clarkston compares favorably with other county districts. Some feel the pending cuts are disproportionate in that all extracurricular activities would be dropped; most of these would be reinstated if the millage passes while significant cuts in administration will not. Nor do our administrators currently make wasteful use of travel allowances.

Anyone who has familiarized himself with our school budget in recent years, knows that there is no waste. Without publicity, expenses have been trimmed over the last few years. For example, the growth in cost per pupil across the county this past year has varied from the lowest at $100 (Clarkston) to the highest at $628 (Lamphere). Clarkston has withstood rampant inflation over the last few years.

As a member of the Citizen's Advisory Committee, I had an opportunity to look closely at our school's financial allocations. There has been little money to provide a classroom space for every need, text books in numbers sufficient, for each child and lab materials basic to science experiments, to name a few. Clarkston schools have worked with tight budgets each year.

Anyone who has examined statistics rating the 28 school districts in Oakland County knows that in almost every area that compares each district in terms of financial costs per child, we rank consistently among the lowest few. Our district has always had, and still maintains a reputation for low cost basic education. While our district doesn't offer our children extras such as a community like Birmingham might, we do compare favorably on basic skills test (89-83) for approximately one half the cost per child. Three mills would simply maintain what we have.

Some of us might wish that more opportunities be provided beyond a basic education. That is a separate issue! The three mills requested is crucial to maintain a very basic American public school education.

Whether our incomes are directly connected with the auto industry or not, many of us do live with lower incomes than we enjoyed just a few years ago. We are upset and angry; we want to curb government waste in any way that we can. We've been presented with tax cut proposals which are inadequate to solve our financial difficulties. Unfortunately, the only route that now seems open to many of us is to vote 'no' on our local school millages. Such retaliation is misdirected...it touches children. It does not touch the waste that angers us...the waste we perceive in large bureaucracies, the funds allocated for unnecessary programs, 'convention vacations', top-heavy administration, inadequate distribution of taxes collected from us. These are not problems within the Clarkston school district.

Our right to vote carries the obligation to make informed decisions. We must seek facts, confirm the truth of what we hear. We must determine the consequences of our vote...learn what the actual cost is to us (the Homesteader's provision reduces, for most residents, sometimes to 0, the actual dollars paid on a millage), consider the significant effect local school reputations have on property values, weigh how education has enriched our lives and how vital it is for each child's fulfillment. Even if you and your family are already conserving energy, the Home Energy Analysis can show you how to save more.

For a $10 fee, you will get a complete inspection of your home by an energy specialist from your utility. You will learn how effective your present insulation, weatherstripping, caulking and other energy cost saving measures are, and you will be provided with information on specific things you can do to reduce energy waste.

You also will receive a written computer analysis giving you estimates on how much recommended improvements will cost and how long they will take to pay for themselves. Information on contractors who can do the work, details on financing, tax credits and Home Weatherization Grants for low income persons also will be provided. After the work is completed, you may have it inspected by your utility.

Some of the recommendations may cost very little or nothing at all. Some you may be able to do yourself. Others will require the services of a contractor. In any case, the Home Energy Analysis puts you under no obligation to carry out any of the recommendations. However, you probably will want to do at least some of these, because now you will know a great deal more about how to make your home energy efficient.

Whether or not you decide to have a Home Energy Analysis, please read the booklet that comes with your June bill or by a separate mailing. It lists many things you can start doing right now to save energy and money. The booklet also tells you about assistance you can get from your utility to help you make your home more energy efficient—with or without the Home Energy Analysis. Lists of contractors and lenders, as well as do-it-yourself information also are available from your utility.

You can sign up for your Home Energy Analysis by returning the postcard in the booklet or by getting in touch with your utility. The sooner you sign up, the sooner you can start reducing energy waste in your home.

The Michigan Residential Conservation Services program is conducted through the utilities listed below. You can select any one or more of which you are a customer to perform your Home Energy Analysis.

Oakland Schools The Second Millage: Compound Millage Ballot

by Dawson Bell

Clarkston voters have more than one school millage issue to face on June 8. In addition to the Clarkston school's request for three operating mills, they will be asked to tender a decision on two mills for special education from the Oakland Intermediate Schools.

Approval of the two mills would increase county funding to special education from its current level of one mill to three mills.

Millage backers say the measure is largely designed to decrease the load on local district's general funds for special education.

Director of special services in Clarkston Robert Brumback says the new millage won't increase the level of service offered in special education, but it will keep present programs intact and allow Oakland Schools to return more dollars to local districts for their own use.

Brumback says he would expect about one and one-half of the two mills, or about $400,000 to be returned to Clarkston.

He says the increased support is needed to make up shortfalls in state and federal aid, which has declined in recent years, while mandates for special education and the number of students participating in the program have increased.

Program costs have also increased, says Brumback, and the decrease in state support has been critical. The state is required by law to make up 75 percent of the extra cost for the education of students in special programs.

"Back in 1971-72 when I first started they (the state and federal government) were picking up almost all of it," says Brumback.

For the current year state and federal funding has fallen to 30 percent. And, for the first time this year, the county had nothing left over from its one mill to return to local districts.

Brumback says Clarkston will have to shell out almost $650,000 of the special services $815,000 budget this year. There are 651 Clarkston area students presently enrolled in special education locally and in county "center" programs. And because the district is facing an overall financial crunch Brumback has been ordered to cut $100,000 from his budget for 1981-82. That loss translates into the layoffs of two social workers and six classroom aides.

Brumback says it simply costs more to educate special students and that, even with the passage of Clarkston's local millage, he will be hard pressed to meet all the mandates.

"Most people don't see it (the Oakland Schools millage) as a general education millage, which it really is," he says.

But he recognizes the special millage faces an uphill battle. "Five mills is a lot to ask for all at once," Brumback says.

"There's just not enough dollars to do everything that should be done in education, so it causes everybody to push."

Ann Glenn, of Rattalee Lake Road, Clarkston. Attended Duke University and University of Utah. Served on Chittenden South School Board in Vermont from 1971-76.

Q. What is the single most important issue the board is addressing or should be addressing at the present time?

A. The single most important issue facing the board is how to squeeze more out of a dollar to prevent loss of valuable programs. It means we all are going to have to give more of ourselves; educators, parents, community. The problems are solveable. I believe I bring experience and resources to this position which will add dimension to the board. We must go beyond Oakland County to solve our problems, and create an atmosphere of solve not give us. Also the philosophy that the whole school system is here to serve the public must be nurtured. With present resources I feel we can meet individual needs better. We must stop the flight to private schools.

Q. What should be done about public school financing?

A. I wish I had the answer for what to do about public school financing. I am willing to work with the state legislature in this area. Certainly we must prevent future in formula schools from such sudden dollar losses from the state like we have experienced. We must educate the public about legislators and insist that our legislators have education as a priority.

Q. Do you concur with the board's stand (retention of all programs) on the June 8 millage request?

A. Yes I concur with supporting the millage and program retention. I believe in making programs like physical education in elementary schools. I believe this can be done with talent already in the building and volunteers -- at no further cost. It has been proven that physical education and mental development go hand in hand at the elementary level.

Administrators Hope to Curtail Pranks

Administrators in the Clarkston schools have initiated a program to put the lid on year-end celebrations among students which interfere with "safe and controlled" school closings.

Principals at the district's two junior highs and high school will be closely monitoring the presence of "disruptive" materials, including smoke bombs, shaving cream and squirt guns, in the final week of school, June 8-11.

The tighter control comes after last year's "fun" got out of hand and resulted in classroom and busride disruption.

"Basically what we want is a smooth, safe closing of school," said Clarkston Junior High assistant principal Doug Pierson.

"We'd like the parents to recognize that shaving cream and smoke bombs can be more than just fun; they can be dangerous."

A letter has been sent home to parents informing them of the school's intention of suspending any student engaging in disruptive behavior with the plea to cooperate by not sending kids to school armed with shaving cream, squirt guns, etc.

Pierson said they were especially concerned with the kind of behavior that broke out last year as school let out when students began to chase each other around outside school buildings and on school buses, including one incident in which a bus driver stopped the bus and unloaded students because the windshield was covered with shaving cream.
