Funeral Director

SHOULD I MAKE MY FUNERAL DECISIONS ALONE?

Occasionally we hear about people who have considered arranging in advance for their funeral services but did not because they didn't know how to broach the subject to their spouses. It's difficult to talk about death, they say.

Well, sometimes it is. But we, as funeral directors, believe that openness is still the best policy. You need feel no embarrassment in talking with your husband or wife about final arrangements. Chances are that he or she will also have thought of it.

And talking over with us your plans for services will make sure everyone -- you, your spouse, your clergyman, and ourselves -- understand exactly your wishes. That's important to you and to us.

Please call us or stop by if you would like more information on Pre-Planning. Your comments and questions are invited.

Tubby Visits Library

"Tubby the Magic Clown" will be at the Springfield Township Library (10900 Andersonville Road, Davisburg), Saturday, July 10th from 1 to 2. The show is free for all ages. For more information call the Library at 625-0595.

Welcome Wagon to Meet

The Welcome Wagon Club of Waterford-Clarkston is planning two outings for the month of July. The Club will be meeting at the Pine Knob Hamburger Mansion on Thursday, July 15 for lunch.

The Club is also planning on visiting the Ann Arbor Art Fair on Thursday, July 22. Call 623-6546 for information.

All new residents in the Waterford Township, Clarkston and Union Lake areas are invited to attend. Phone 673-1028 for club information.

North Oaks

Insurance Agency

Here are some more of the special words used to describe life insurance variables:

- Permanent Life Insurance (also called Ordinary, Straight, or Whole Life) covers the insured for his lifetime. Premiums remain the same, and may be paid for the lifetime or for a specified length of time, depending on the policy.
- Level Term Insurance is in effect for a certain number of years; when it is renewed (and the best term insurance is renewable), premiums go up because they are based on the age of the insured.
- Lapsed Policy is a contract no longer in effect because the premium was not paid.
- Nonforfeiture Option is an alternative to letting a policy lapse; if there is a cash value, it can be withdrawn or used to buy either a certain amount of term insurance, or a reduced amount of paid-up permanent life insurance.
- Contingent Beneficiary is the person who will receive a policy's proceeds if the primary beneficiary is no longer alive.
- Agent is the person who sells life insurance and services the contracts (sometimes called a life underwriter).

EDITORIAL

You can sure tell it's an election year. Candidates are teeing off on incumbents. Governor Milliken and President Reagan are taking a lot of heat.

Some of the criticisms are chalked off as campaign rhetoric. But others are real. So real they're frightening.

Take for instance our foreign policy. When Alexander Haig resigned last week it was quickly tossed into the limelight.

I'm concerned because I'm not sure our country has a well-thought-out foreign policy. We can't control things in the Middle East, our NATO allies are on our backs, and we're committed to spend more and more money on arms buildup.

And then there's Reagan's domestic policies. How long are we to wait for this economy to turn around? Efforts to balance the budget, particularly with the huge military increases, are a farce. Interest rates remain out of sight and unemployment only gets worse.

At the State level things are even worse. The State has severe financial problems, bordering on the brink of insolvency.

Who could believe the revelations this week that the State had even bumbled the layoff of state employees? Because of a complex "bumping" system, thousands of employees will not be laid off because no one seems to know how to legally do it.

Everyone knows the business climate in this State is pathetically poor. Yet the nation's most liberal unemployment benefits continue to bulge the welfare roles and chase business out of the state.

To pay for the excessive public assistance and the thousands of state employees the State robs from money earmarked for education. Each year the percentage local schools receive from the State declines drastically.

Where will it all lead?

Mike Wilcox

TRIVIA

by Mike Morrow

By now everyone knows that cigarette smoking is bad for your health. Just how bad depends on how much you smoke. Like most of the fun things in life, the more you do it, the worse it is for you.

I devised the following quiz for smokers so they can test themselves to determine if they are smoking a little too much, much too much, or more than a pile of burning tires.

All you non-smokers are excused. You can go do whatever it is that you people do with your spare time.

1. I will stop smoking when:
A. I no longer enjoy it.
B. I'm good and ready so leave me alone.
C. Life as we know it, ceases to exist.
2. I smoke my first cigarette of the day:
A. With a cup of coffee.
B. With my first breath of the day.
C. In the shower.
3. Smoking is:
A. Nervous habit
B. One of the only good things about being a grown-up.
C. My reason for living.
4. I smoke:

- A. Too much.
 - B. Not enough.
 - C. Like an out of control grease fire.
5. Nicotine:
A. Stains my teeth
B. Gets on my car windows
C. Should be considered one of the four basic food groups.
6. If I find myself without a light for my cigarette I:
A. Borrow some matches
B. Burst into tears.
C. Go into a coma

If you picked C as your answer for any of the above you will probably have a very hard time quitting smoking. Believe me, I know, C was my answer in every case and I have had a really hard time quitting every one of the 472 times I've tried. My latest attempt had to be the worst. I had gone three hours without a cigarette (a record for me). Then I made the mistake of going into a store that sold cigarettes. Without going into the messy details, let's just say I snapped and had to be carried out, but not before I was able to eat three entire packs of low tar menthols. They were delicious.

SMALL TALK

by Rebecca Roberts

There is something unsettling about the sight of a mailbox, the flag twisted and snapped like a brittle branch, the door hammered and crumpled.

The story goes something like this:
It is 12:30 a.m. Quiet at last. The kids and husband are asleep, the house rare in its silence.

She is working late at night, as she often does, blessedly free from the persistent disruption of four rambunctious kids.

She is rinsing the day's dishes, putting them in the dishwasher, when she hears a loud clatter, or a rapid knocking.

She stops short of putting a plate in, her hand in mid-motion. Involuntarily, her breath catches. She listens. Goes from window to window, straining to see. Darkness. No movement. Dogs barking. Nothing. She waits. It's nothing, she decides. Relieved, she continues her work, filling the dishwasher.

Morning. She opens the front door, then starts to push open the storm door, but it won't go. Something is in the way.

She looks down at her Free Press box lying on the porch.

At the curb, the mailbox has been mangled.

She calls the police.
There are questions, speculation. Who did it? Who would have reason to do it?

Nobody knows. But the fact is, somebody, maybe more than one person, did do it. With deliberation, somebody destroyed something of another's.

An act of vandalism that will be repeated this summer many times over.

A senseless profitless act of aggression, an act too insignificant, certainly too commonplace, to be news.

It's a small thing, after all, a mailbox.

FRIEND OF THE COURT

by Roland C. Fancher, Esq.

In divorce actions, joint custody arrangements are more frequently being considered as an alternative to the traditional arrangement where one parent is awarded sole custody. However, many people are unaware as to what is meant by the term "joint custody". Some definitions are probably helpful, as such terms as "joint custody", "shared custody", and "split custody" are often used interchangeably, though their meanings differ.

Joint "legal" custody involves a situation where both parents share responsibility and authority with respect to the children, and involves parental discussion on major decisions regarding the children. These decisions could include such things as education, religion, financial support, medical and psychological care, and extracurricular activities. Legally, the parents assume an equal role in this decision making.

Where joint "physical" custody is involved, the children live with each parent on a shared or part-time basis. Each parent then makes the day-to-day decisions as to the children when they are residing with that parent. This arrangement can also be referred to as "shared custody".

Parents may have joint legal custody (decision making) and "split custody" or "divided custody" whereby one or more children live with the mother and one or more children reside with the father. Joint legal custody is not necessarily present in this arrangement, though it may be appropriate. Split custody without joint legal custody is the traditional sole custody arrangement with the children divided. Each parent has complete custody of one or more children.

The court will not award joint custody if the parties are incapable of communicating as to the "best interests" of the children. Joint custody without proper communication is a fallacy. Before it can work, the parents must both be mature and reasonable enough to place the welfare of their children above any distrust or animosity that they harbor against each other and have the ability to cooperate for their children's benefit. Implicit in this arrangement is the assumption that the parents share similar values, as serious diversity in lifestyles and attitudes will result in repeated disagreements between the parents and create instability for the children.

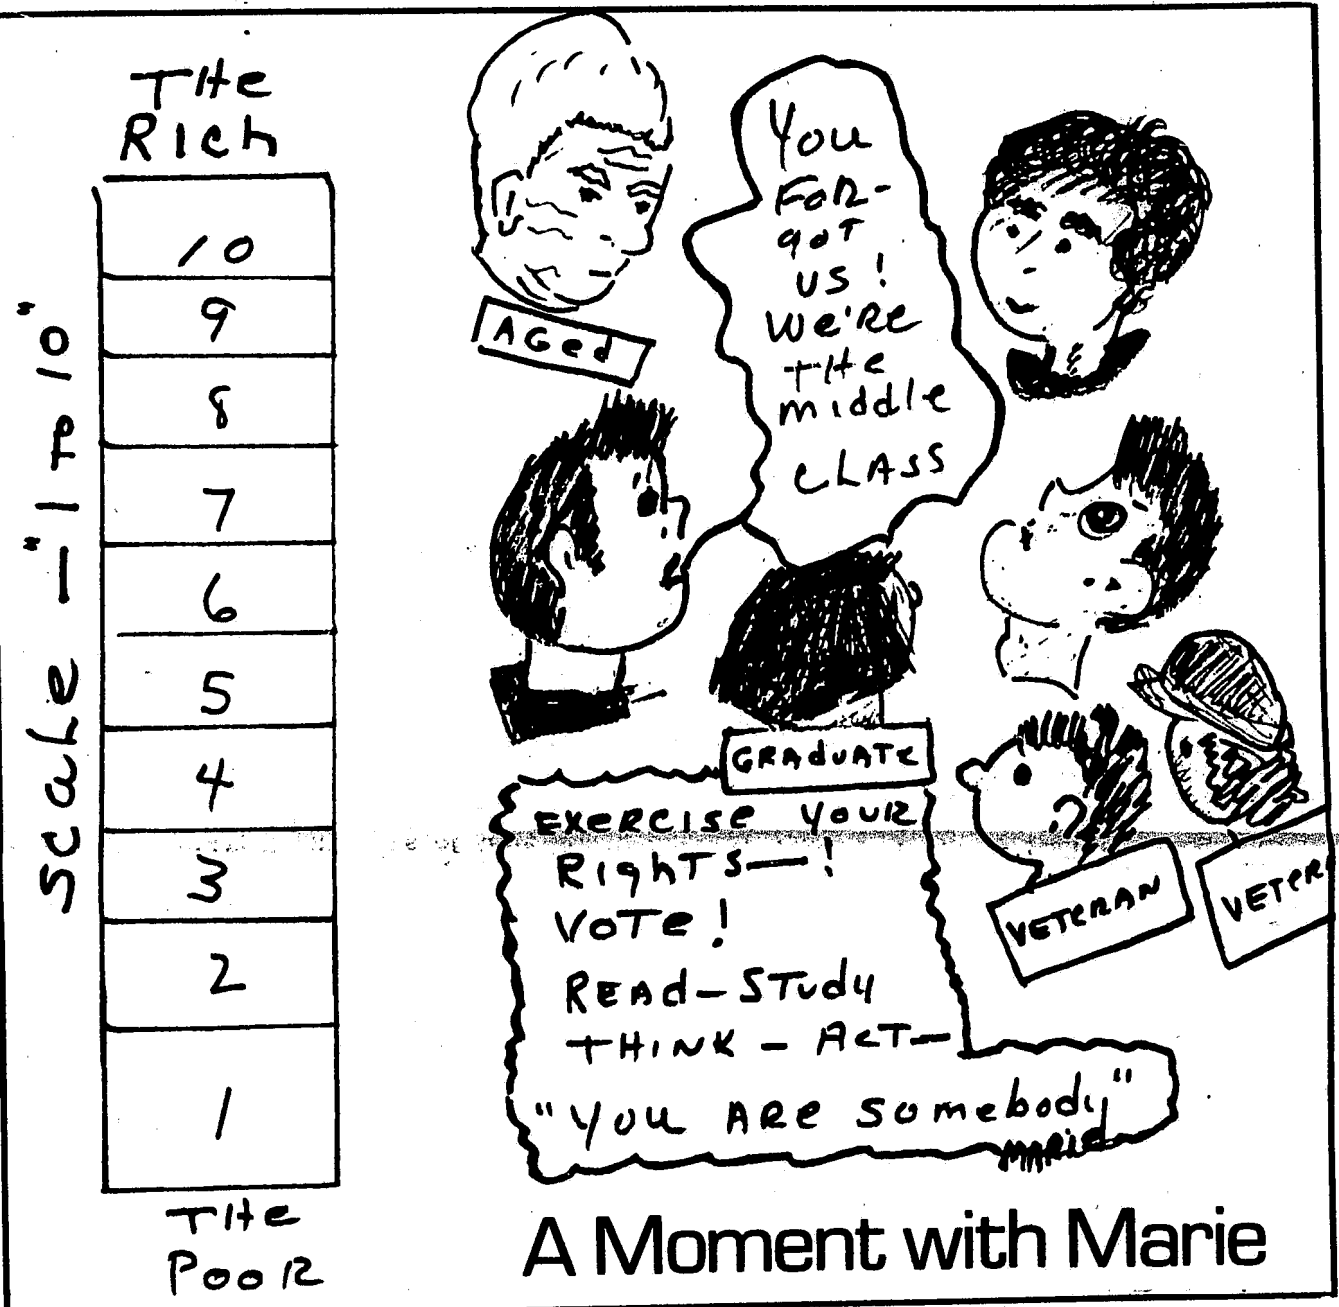

Michigan's statute as to joint custody is found in Michigan Compiled Laws section 722.23 (6). If the parents agree on joint custody, the court is directed to award it, unless it can be shown by "clear and convincing evidence" that this arrangement is not in the best interests of the children.

Shared custody does not mean that child support will not be ordered. The court may order support for a portion of the housing expenses, even during a period when the child is not residing in the home of the parent receiving support. An award of joint custody, in and of itself, does not constitute grounds for modifying a support order.

Springfield Council Plans Farmer's Market

by Mike Wilcox

One of the first activities sponsored by Springfield Township's new Community Care Council is a series of farmer's markets scheduled for several Saturdays this summer.

The markets will be set up at Davisburg's Mill Pond Park and will be supervised by three area food coops. The first will be held July 17. Booth space will be provided free.

"With the economy like it is we thought why not let people bring their extra produce in and sell it," explained Helen Vergin, CCC spokesperson.

She said the group would welcome all types of food booths as well as flea market types. The only stipulation would be that booth participants must live in the immediate area.

"We're trying only to help the immediate area. No outsiders will be permitted in," said Mrs. Vergin.

The farmer's markets concept was unanimously approved at the CCC's June 28th meeting.

In other action, members of the CCC, which make up representatives from various Springfield organizations, voted to elect a five-member board at their next regular meeting. Once the board is elected, they will be expected to meet once a month.

Springfield Township Supervisor Collin Walls informed the group that their name, "Community Care Council", was unacceptable to the State, and that the group would have to come up with other suggestions in order to become registered with the State.

A list of five possible names were chosen including Neighbors for Neighbors, Care & Share, Care to Share, Communities for Each Other and Reaching Aid. Walls will submit the list to the State in an effort to get acceptance of one of the names.

It was also agreed to rotate the council's meeting sites between the Springfield Township Hall, Indian Springs Nature Center, Rose Township Hall and the new Springfield Township Fire Hall.

Another project receiving considerable support was the establishment of a community calendar. Talk centered around a community newsletter in which the calendar would appear. Nothing, however, was decided.

Several members suggested the council should look into coordinating activities for area teenagers.

The CCC began meeting three months ago as a group to coordinate activities between area organizations. The group established a list of goals and projects which includes publishing a newsletter and sprucing up downtown Davisburg.

The next meeting will be held on the last Monday in July at 7:30 p.m. at the Rose Township Hall.

A World's Fair Primer

Long Lines, Fascinating Exhibits Await You

by Ron Wagner

The 1982 World's Fair has been criticized for being crowded, hot and expensive; but no one has ever suggested any ways to try and cope with the masses of people or given any hints on what to do to get around the lines.

It is true that the fair is crowded and there have been as many as 100,000 people on the grounds in one day, but it is still possible to see a good part of the fair in one day, even though it could take up to a week to see everything.

The day should start between 8:30 and 9:00 a.m. by getting to the grounds and purchasing tickets, which cost $9.95 for adults and $8.25 for children 4-11. After getting in, one should head directly for the China pavillion to wait in line. This exhibit is by far the best of the fair, although it contains nothing about energy, the theme of the fair. It is as if the best from every cultural museum in China was brought over and put on display. There are beautiful rugs, lengths of silk cloth, paintings, ivory, stone and gold carvings, and other artistic creations.

The pavillions do not open until 10 a.m., and if the line seems to be more than two hours long; it would be better to come back to the line at about eight or nine in the evening. After the China pavillion, choose between the Canadian, Japanese, Australian, and Peruvian pavillions. All have equal appeal and equal lines of 45 minutes to two hours. The Egypt pavillion has a long line also, but unless viewing statues in the semi-darkness is pleasurable, skip it.

Somewhere in-between these pavillions or while waiting in line, lunch is usually nice. There are many booths with fast foods available, reasonably priced. The food to be found is as diverse as all of the Hart Plaza ethnic festivals combined. Many people send one of their party for food while the others wait in line.

In the heat of the afternoon, when everyone starts to get a bit cranky, the kids may want to take an hour to visit the amusement park. This is the only place in the park where there are no lines. This is due to expense, some of the rides cost up to $1. A book of twenty-five tickets costs ten dollars. Adults may want to sit for a while and Tennessee Amphitheatre is a good place for that. Free, open-air concerts are given at two or three hour intervals by everything from symphonies to choirs to soloists.

The Federal Express pavillion is something that should not be missed. Its slide show, movie and laser exhibition are one of the most interesting things of the fair.

Now it is time for dinner. The Mexican restaurant is highly recommended. It is run by a family from Mexico City and has a warm friendly atmosphere as well as good food. There is one draw-back in that one must wait in line and go through the pavillion first. If Mexican food is not your style, there are a few beer, pizza and spaghetti houses; along with a fine Irish pub-type restaurant.

After dinner, one is thoroughly sick of standing in line, but feels guilty about just standing around. The European pavillions come in handy now. None are very spectacular and all contain nearly the same things about energy, but at least one is not wasting time without looking at something.

At about 8:30 it is time to head for the US pavillion. The line dies down drastically by then, but one should be sure to be able to get through by 9:30, the time of the last showing of the US movie. After the movie, a fireworks display is usually put on and is worth staying for. Everything closes up then and everyone files for the gates to go home. Dress for hot weather, wear comfortable shoes, and if possible take a small folding stool for the waits in line. The World's Fair is large and crowded, but can be a wonderful experience if one is prepared.

Independence "A" Softball Moe's Continues Alpha Domination

by Ron Wagner

The Herk's Auto/Moe's Sporting Goods softball team easily retained their first place standing in the Independence Township Men's Alpha Softball League Thursday with a mercy win over Hamilton 17-4.

Herk's started off the game with three runs in the top of the first, due to two back-to-back triples. Hamilton got on the board for the first time with two runs in the bottom of the second, to make it 3-2, the closest it would be for the rest of the game.

In the top of the third, with one out, Marvin Gross hit a two-run homer off the top of the fence for Herk's. After another out, Herk's had a string of six hits that ended in Clyde Duncan's two-RBI triple. In the bottom of the third, Bennet hit a solo home run for Hamilton and Herk's led 10-3 after the third inning.

Herk's garnered seven more runs in the next two innings and allowed only one other in the bottom of the fifth to win in five innings. Manager Larry Dean was the winning pitcher for Herk's and hit 3 for 4. Dave Burhans also hit .750 for the night for Herk's. Their record is now 9-1.

In the USSSA Tournament, Herk's beat the top ranked team in the state. They also won the Little Caesar's Memorial Day Tournament in Waterford and have earned a berth in the Regional Tourney in Kentucky. On July 24, and 25, they will sponsor the 6th Annual Herk's Auto Invitational in Pontiac. The tournament will have three categories, Men's B, Men's C-D, and Women's B-C-D. There is an $85 entry fee and all teams that are interested should call 625-6690 or 628-5797.

Wildwood Leads Beta

by Ron Wagner

Hard hitting and Dennis Hoffman's wrist-flick style of pitching combined to give Wildwood Inn a 15-5 mercy win over Scuba Center Thursday night at Clintonwood Park.

Wildwood scored first in the bottom of the first with one run. In the top of the second, Scuba Center took the lead with three runs. Those were answered by seven runs by the Wildwood team, and the score was 8-3 at the end of two.

Wildwood outscored Scuba Center 6-1 in the third to put the score at 14-4. The inning was highlighted by a three-run homer on overthrows. Scuba Center scored one run in the top of the fifth, threatening to send the game to seven innings, but a single by Mark Foyt with one out provided the necessary ten-run margin for victory for Wildwood.

Foyt hit 4 for 4 to lead his team. John Harrell, Mike Baker, and Mark Schatz all hit 2 for 3 and Burl Hillier connected for a home run in the second. The team is now 8-0.

Author, Author-Kids Make the Movie

by Mike Wilcox

This began as a review of Stephen Spielberg's supposedly heartwarming E.T. But like hundreds of others over the weekend, this critic was unable to make it to the ticket counter, before hearing those two dreadful words, SOLD OUT.

Thus, the glowing review of E.T. has to be postponed. Instead, I chose to see a more down to earth comedy in the Kramer vs.

Kramer mold called "Author, Author".

Now "Author, Author" hasn't exactly sold out the house. Nor has it received rave reviews. In general the press has panned it. And that's hard to do considering it stars Al Pacino and is directed by Arthur Hiller.

But, I've learned to disregard critic's reviews over the years. They've made successes out of some of the worst (ala "Atlantic City") and sunk some of the best.

"Author, Author" is not one of the best, but it is very cutesy and entertaining for the most part.

As in "Kramer vs. Kramer" the father Al Pacino gets dumped with the kids, five this time, when mother Tuesday Weld decides life's more exciting with her accountant boyfriend.

Playwright Pacino, who is trying to put together a hit on Broadway, besides babysitting with five youngsters, lands a famous movie actress Dyan Cannon to play the production's lead. As you might expect Pacino becomes involved with Cannon.

The movie's funniest moments are provided by the children. Eight-year-old Geraldo keeps the audience roaring.

Too bad, however, the adults were unable to match the kids. Pacino should leave comedy to the comedians. He's one of the best dramatic actors on the screen today, but he isn't funny. And Weld and Cannon. They've always been good to look at, but as actresses they've never made the grade. Their performances in "Author, Author" won't get them any Oscars.

But don't let the acting stop you from seeing the movie. What with E.T., Poltergeist, Star Trek II, Megaforce and all the other science fiction movies flooding our theatre screens, it's good to take in a good, down-to-earth family flick once and a while.

Now Showing

Death Wish II - R - Charles Bronson finally returns with a sequel to one of his classics. The plot is basically the same as the original Death Wish, only the setting is Los Angeles instead of New York. Loaded with violence.

Hanky Panky - PG - Gene Wilder plays an architect who falls in love with Gilda Radner, while becoming involved in a web of international intrigue. Directed by Sidney Poitier, Hanky Panky is funny at times.

Poltergeist - PG - Steven Spielberg and special effects are synonymous. This time he attempts to scare viewers by conjuring up a restless spirit who terrorizes the family that occupies his home. Unfortunately, Spielberg, at times, gets too caught up in his special effects, and worries too little about the developing plot.

Rocky III - PG - The saga continues. Sylvester Stallone as Rocky, this time is matched against a new opponent in an effort to regain the title he lost. Same plot, same cast of characters is beginning to make a mockery of what was once a great movie.

Star Trek II: The Wrath of Kahn - PG - Early reviews indicate this sequel to be better than Star Trek I. Captain Kirk and crew must do battle with the evil Kahn, ably played by Richardo Montalban, who is bent on destroying the Universe. Also stars William Shatner, Leonard Nimoy and DeForest Kelley.

Annie - PG - After breaking most box office records on stage, the hit musical "Annie" comes to life on screen starring Albert Finney and Carol Burnett. The screen adaptation is not as strong as the stage play but is still worth the price of admission.

Author, Author - PG - Al Pacino portrays a playwright who must take care of five youngsters when his wife (Tuesday Weld) walks out on him in this comedy. Kids provide a lot of laughs. Pacino, Weld and Dyan Cannon are less than spectacular.

More Movies

Blade Runner - R - From Indiana Jones to the Blade Runner, Harrison Ford's stock takes a nosedive as he plays a detective who must track down the deadly humanoids in this futuristic drama. The weak plot is supported by strong visual effects.

E.T. The Extra-Terrestrial - PG - Steven Spielberg has again made the hit movie of the year as E.T. is breaking box office records everywhere. This science fiction flick is about a young school boy who befriends a being from outer space.

Firefox - PG - Clint Eastwood changes gears slightly as his mission in Firefox is to steal a Soviet jet. This time he plays a down and out pilot instead of a down and out cop.

Grease 2 - PG - The sequel to Grease just doesn't measure up to expectations. The musical that centers around high school students at Rydell High Circa 1961 is certain to put you to sleep.

Megaforce - PG - Here we go with another super hero. This time it's Ace Hunter played by Barry Bostwick. His crack military-like unit take on a variety of evil forces in this adventure film.

The Thing - R - John Carpenter knows how to scare people and in this remake of the 1951 classic, introduces a variety of special effects to make your heart skip a beat every five minutes. Definitely not for those of us with weak stomachs.

Conklins Open Stop Smoking Center in Rochester

Keith and Mary Conklin of Clarkston have opened a Stop Smoking Center at 945 South Rochester Road in Rochester, Michigan. The center is affiliated with over eighty other centers throughout the United States.

The program is based on a combination of behavior modification and aversion therapy which has been researched and tested over the last fifteen years at a cost of over six million dollars. It is proven safe and medically accepted. Many of the Stop Smoking Center's clients are referrals from doctors, dentists and other medical practitioners.

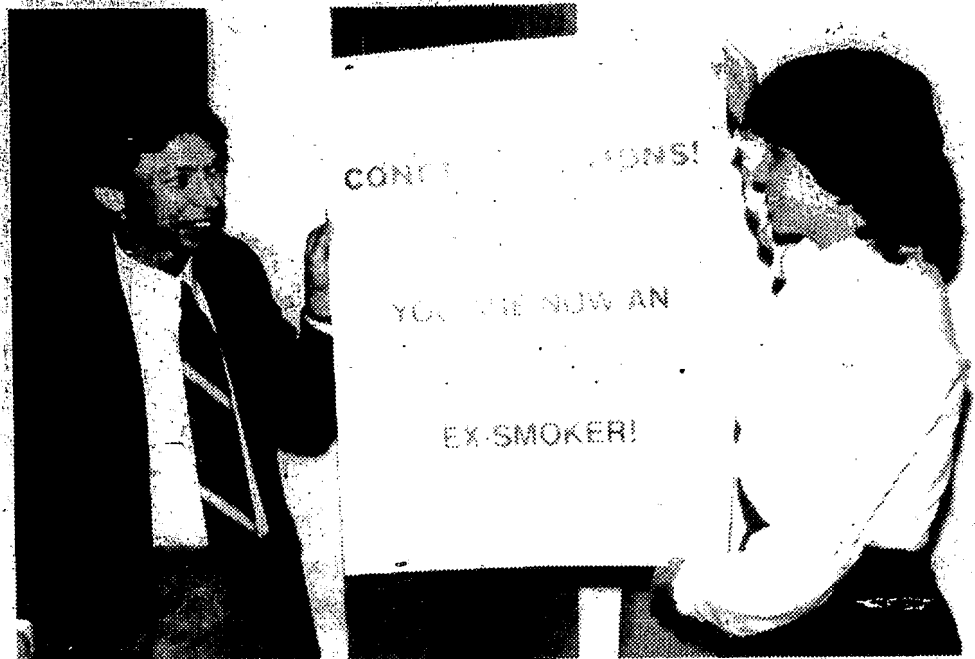

Most smokers know all the publicized harmful effects of smoking, yet most are unable to quit on their own. Statistics show that 85 percent of all smokers want to quit, but only 3 percent are successful without help.

One drawing card of the Stop

Smoking Center is that the results take only five consecutive days of one hour sessions. The program offers a full money-back guarantee as well as free weekly follow-up sessions. The center boasts a 96 percent success rate at the completion of the program.

The center holds free weekly informational seminars which are open to the public. They also have appointments for application interviews. The free interviews are held to be sure the applicant really wants to quit smoking and can follow the required 5 day program. "We will not accept anyone for therapy," says Conklin, "who we feel is not going at it for the right reasons. People stop smoking more easily with this program if they can and will follow directions. I know, because I was a smoker myself."

Interested persons can receive more information by calling the Stop Smoking Center at 656-0166.

Clarkston residents Keith and Mary Conklin teach people how to quit smoking.
