Parent Therm Nichols studies intently.

Editor's Note: The Reminder asked Judy Nichols, mother of two high school children, to take notes and write a story on her experiences as a student at Clarkston High School's "Switch with a Parent Day" (SWAP).

SWAP, held April 29, was instituted so that parents could experience the daily routine of their sons and daughters. Students were encouraged to stay home if they could be replaced by a parent or guardian.

by Judy Nichols
It's Wednesday evening, the night before

(S.W.A.P.) Switch with a Parent) Day at Clarkston High School. I feel like it's the first day of school for me at a new school. What am I going to wear? Will I be able to find my locker, and if I do, will I be able to work the combination? And the classes tomorrow—oh, Lord, please let me look intelligent in front of the other students and parents.

My kids think it's funny -- mom's nervous about going to school instead of them! I finally decide what to wear, I lay it out and go to bed. Guess what -- I can't sleep. This is

With Lew Wint Funeral Director

IS PRE-PLANNING REALLY NECESSARY?

Some people, particularly younger people, are skeptical about the value of pre-planning for funeral services. How can we plan, they ask, so far in advance of when such services might be needed?

We encourage people, even younger people, to pre-plan now for funeral services, for three reasons. First, pre-planning makes the funeral choices more sensibly made without the personal stress that a death may generate. Second, pre-planning enables one to make his or her wishes Known in advance. Finally, there can be no disagreement among family members as to what to do and how much to spend when everything is planned in advance.

Simply put, pre-planning takes the burden off the family at the time when they can least be capable of bearing it-when a loved one

We do not suggest that all decisions be made in advance. The family should not be totally deprived of their part in the planning. All the arrangements are made with our trained funeral directors who will help you make your choices wisely and without pressure.

As a community newspaper, The Reminder offers several means by which people and organizations can get their information, announcements and opinions to the general public.

We are often told, after the fact, that a person or organization hasn't utilized our newspaper because it's too much of a hassle or they don't know how to write well enough.

The Reminder, perhaps more than any other area newspaper, asks for your participation in several areas. We devote a page each week to a Special Events Calendar, that details coming events in the area.

We publish letters to the Editor, on any subject and of any reasonable length. The only qualification we have is that you sign your name (we will not print your name if requested).

We offer generous space to newlyweds, engagements, birth announcements and the like. Ditto for poems, club news and important accomplishments.

All this free of charge.

We don't have many qualifications, either. We do maintain the right to edit any and all copy. If you don't want your copy edited then we suggest you take out a paid advertisement. We do request that it be in our hands by the Friday before publication. And we do suggest that your copy be typewritten, but, legible handwriting is acceptable.

Our offices are conveniently located on Dixie Highway, between Maybee Road and Waterford Hill, in Clarkston. Our address is 6569 Dixie Highway, Clarkston, MI 48016.

No excuses now. Next time something of importance is coming up in your life let us know!

No Nukes

Dear Editor:

It is an extremely unfortunate, depressing, inhumane situation one faces when approaching the subject of Nuclear Warfare. One who can seriously consider Nuclear Warfare, or any other means of violent combat to be an effective means of solving international differences, is extremely disillusioned in his overall mental state.

We are not only American Citizens, but citizens of the World and components of the Human Race now face the most serious threat ever imposed upon us. It is our responsibility to take action now to stop production of Atomic bombs, Nuclear Missiles and the like. We must impress upon those destruction happy political figures the fact that we value our lives as uncontaminated human beings! We must have mutual support on both sides. It is not only our Washington people we must reach. Just because we put a freeze on Nuclear materials, doesn't mean the Russians will do the same.

With the ever looming threat of Nuclear Warfare growing closer to being a reality, it is utterly ridiculous and next to impossible to believe in and trust our World Leaders. The bombs they are producing surely will the purposes intended; crippling or destroying opposing nations. However, do they not realize that they will rapidly be on the track to abolishing their own nations and themselves?

America has always served as a model to the rest of the World; an example of freedom in every aspect, prosperity, equality of opportunity, political democracy, capitalism...the leader in aid to the under privileged...and fair humane existence. Now we are having to deal with a nearly wrecked economy, an almost complete lack of morals and a warped sense of national political leadership. Under the effects of 'reagenonics', an increased, ghastly defense budget, we as American Citizens are finally being forced to succumb to the pressures from outside. For 206 years we have lived independantly in this nation. It is becoming apparent that our society is now falling close to being a dictatorship. In order to save everything we have worked so hard for from becoming a complete travesty and our nation from disaster in every sense, it is imperative that we the citizens act now, act positively, and act effectively! The constitution guarantees us the right in essence to govern ourselves. The longer we wait to exercise this right, we move one step closer to ultimate destruction.

I am seventeen years old and the thought of Nuclear Warfare scares me to death! I refuse to believe that I am one of a few who wish to live my life to the longest and fullest extent, safely! Maybe the older generation now running our World aren't as concerned with a longer life. They won't have to deal with their mistakes twenty years from now. It is we, the young adults of today that will be deprived of liberty, justice, the pursuit of happiness and ultimately life! We will have to rebuild, if possible and deal with the fiasco of today's leadership. Since I am not legally "of age", I strongly urge the 'adults' of today to exercise their rights. Impress upon them (the political leaders) the fact that you value human life. Urge them to consider the grave, deadly consequences of Nuclear Warfare. And pray. Pray to God that he will forgive man. In Christ's words on the cross, "Forgive them, for they know not what they do.'

The ultimate effects of Nuclear Warfare will most definitely resemble that of Noah and his ark. However we will not face drowning in Heaven sent rain. We will face burning from the inside out from radiation, choking from poisonous gases and the like. The World in a sense, is not even ours to destroy. The World and Human life is a gift to be protected and cherished. I urge you to be realistic about the state of the World. Take action now!

I appeal to you! Don't let them blow us up literally! The movement for a peaceful World started a long time ago. Every individual must now do his part to continue that march before it's too late! In the words of Andrew Jackson, "One man with courage makes a majority!" No effort is too small! And in the end, if we who have managed to keep and uphold a few morals and values cannot effectively see the light, pray to God that we will be on that next ark!!!

Sheriff Chastises Executive for Investigation

To the Editor:

I am sure most of you are aware by now that the Attorney General's Office, after several thorough investigations, has cleared me of all allegations put forth by the County Executive.

The County Executive owes a public apology, not only to me and the Department, but -- more importantly -- to the members of this Board, the citizens of Oakland County, and last but not least to my family and frien-

The cost of personal aggravation, departmental frustration and unwarranted taxpayers' expense forces me to ask of those who have personal vendettas, how much longer must we...the citizens, and the members of the Sheriff's Department, bear the cost of these vendettas, thinly veiled as investigations? How can I convince you of the potential for positive social impact that exists within the Oakland County Sheriff's Department?

Oakland County, obviously, has been hampered and unable to focus on County objectives and goals, including law enforcement. Government, management, law enforcement and also the media, have pursued their own goals, fighting each other every step of the way for individual objectives -each hoping for a bigger piece of the pie (whether action, power, or economic pie) -which we quickly learn does not come in a continually expanding size.

We all have a challenge in Oakland County, and that is to recognize that, indeed, we are in a crisis both of the economy and crime. The time has come in this County for us to recognize it and recognize it quickly.

Government, management, law enforcement, and the media have got to start, right now, to work together and define our County goals and objectives and go after

The men and women of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department, and I, as Sheriff, feel that we represent in a very positive way, the government of Oakland County to the people we serve and protect. Can you imagine our frustration and bewilderment when time and time again we see manpower and funds spent defending our Department from the very governemental body we feel we represent.

The citizens of Oakland County and a fine Oakland County Sheriff's Department are dealt a blow every time a worthwhile program is turned down in a spirit of retribution.

We can continue the costly, ineffective path of antagonism, but it is the citizens who elected you who suffer. For it is the citizens' money spent in these investigations, and it is the citizens' safety and services that are impaired when we fail to make this County and the Sheriff's Department all that they could and should be.

If this County wants to flourish and continue to move forward, we can do that; not through government spending, not through a waste of human resources on unproductive jobs and unwarranted investigations, but through a unified pursuit of the elimination of waste and mismanagement and to do so in a spirit of cooperation.

The bottom line is that all of us in our whole system had better learn quickly that we are here for the same cause -- to work together in the best interests and in the protection of the citizens of Oakland County.

I hope now that we can get on with our jobs here in Oakland County and that we can join together and work together in the service and interests of our County's citizens.

Sincerely, Johannes F. Spreen Sheriff

Parent Exchange Day Earns an "A"

Dear Editor:

We want Mr. Mauti, Miss Gabier, and Mrs. Kirchgessner to know how much we appreciated the opportunity to participate in Clarkston High School's "Parent Exchange Day" last Thursday. It was a great experience because of the cooperation and enthusiasm of everyone involved - students, teachers, administrators, and parents.

With education seemingly under attack from all sides these days, it's so important to let people know what's right with education rather than what's wrong with it. "Parent Exchange Day" is one good way of accomplishing just that.

Thank you, Clarkston High School, we enjoyed our day with you.

Planning a car trip? Here's how to make it safer:

Make sure your car is in good shape. Check tires, brakes, battery, etc. (You'll get better service from your own mechanic than from a stranger on the road.)

Plan the trip in advance. Reserve motel or hotel rooms (it's less expensive away from large cities or top resorts).

Drive during daylight if possible. Keep your car door locked. Check the gas gauge Take rest breaks. Wear your seat belt.

No hitchhikers. Ever.

If your car breaks down, put on your flasher light, raise the hood, and tie a white cloth to the antenna. Stay in the car with doors locked and windows up and wait for the highway patrol. If another driver offers help, ask HIM to summon the police.

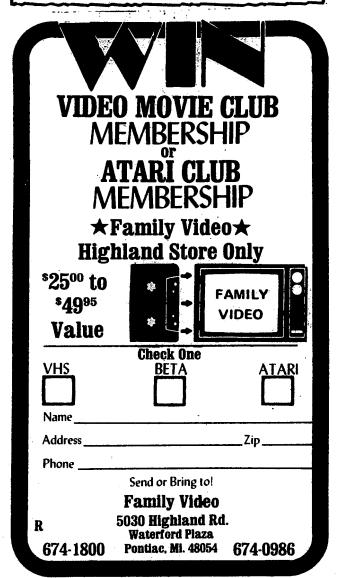

Before you go, be sure your auto insurance is adequate for your needs.

"The splitting of the atom has changed everything save our mode of thinking, and thus we drift towards unparalleled catastrophe..." Albert Einstein.

Nuclear disarmament is not an issue. It is the issue:

Within the issue, the media has spawned phrases that supposedly capsulize the myriad factors that make up the nuclear disarmament issue: First bilateral/unilateral, nuclear parity, nuclear freeze -- all of these are meant to inform and enlighten; but once we become used to the words, they begin to take on the effect of a dripping faucet. The meanings behind the words no longer penetrate.

Catch-phrases like the above can be dangerous in the context of the nuclear issue, because if ever we needed to pay attention, it is now.

For instance, what about the phrase 'nuclear parity?' What does it really say? It says, in the current political fastballs being thrown around Washington, that the U.S. and the USSR must be equally stocked with nuclear weapons before any talk of disarmament can take place. It'll never happen.

Unfortunately, nuclear arms are not apples, or walnuts, or M & M's. They cannot be divvied up to make fair fair. Fair can never be fair in the nuclear arena.

And the U.S. and Soviet Union each have enough nukes to blow us all up several times over. In light of that thoroughly documented information, nuclear parity becomes not a goal for us to achieve in order to forgo a nuclear disarmament treaty with Russia, but a verbal barbituate to convince us of something unconvincing.

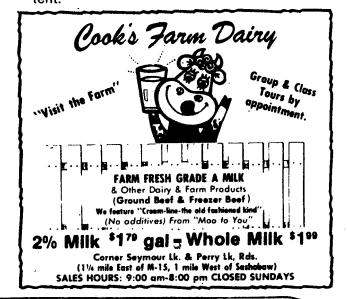

We need a new language to deal with this, a new bunch of words. Einstein said our thinking has not changed to confront the enemy of nuclear power. He said that decades ago. Still we digress.

In order for our thinking to change, words have to be invented to protect the fragile wires on which we all stand. Words that are hushed and careful. Words that recognize human beings in the face of nations. Words that conquer fear. Small slow words that speak of peace and reach out in trust toward that end.

It is a risk, this new language, this new way of thinking. It means abandoning forever the comfort of hate; it means extinguishing words that embattle us. Words that separate and alienate us from others who inhabit with us this sphere which Buckminister Fuller has called "spaceship earth."

We need to pay close attention now, to the words, wary of quick phrases that numb us to the reality of the nuclear threat. We need now more than ever our individual imaginations, to discover, each of us, a way of seeing that can imagine a world not perfect, but one, at least, without suicidal in-

Dentistry for Children

When should I take my child for his first dental visit?

Fifty percent of two-year-old children have one or more decayed teeth. In view of this, it is recommended that you take your child for his first dental visit before his second birthday or at least before all 20 of his primary teeth have erupted. The earlier you begin, the better chance your dentist has to prevent problems, if a child younger than two has a cavity or his teeth are injured in an accident, he should, of course. be taken to a dentist for examination and whatever treatment

FRIEND OF THE COURT

by Roland C. Fancher

The Oakland County Friend of the Court has a staff of thirteen Domestic Relations Investigators who perform a variety of functions in connection with divorce cases. Generally, if no significant problems regarding custody or visitation are present in a divorce, parties will have no occasion to meet with the investigator assigned to their case. However, where problems occur, the investigator performs a valuable role.

It is the Domestic Relations Investigator who assesses each contested matter to assist the staff attorney in making a recommendation to the Court as to which proposed custodial arrangement is in the "best interests" of the minor children. In this process, the investigator will usually interview all interested persons, including the children if they are of sufficient age to express a preference and provide useful information. Often, consultations will occur between investigator and teachers and school administrators, social service workers. police officers, baby sitters, and such other individuals who can provide valuable information in a particular case. After assembling as much relevant information as practicable, the investigator applies these facts to the factors of the Child Custody Act of 1970, as amended, (discussed in an earlier article in this series) and makes a recommendation. The report is then reviewed by a staff attorney and sent to the Judge for the scheduled court date.

The role of an investigator in handling visitation complaints can vary with the practices of a specific court. However, all investigators are willing to discuss visitation problems with you and/or your former spouse. Many times, the investigator can help both parties work through their immediate problems and reach an acceptable solution for future visitation. A consultation with an investigator is also the first step required before enforcement can be initiated by the office of the Friend of the Court.

An additional service of investigators is the provision of a wide range of information. Although they may not be able to help you with your specific divorce related problem, they can often direct you to the assistance you require.

If you need to determine the investigator assigned to your case, you must first know the name of the judge to whom your case is assigned. If you contact the office of the Friend of the Court by phone, mail, or a visit to the office, you will be given the name, telephone number and office hours of that investigator.

This writer would like to acknowledge the assistance of the Domestic Relations Investigative staff in the preparation of this article. If you have any questions concerning the operations of the Oakland County Friend of the Court, address them to Roland C. Fancher, in care of The Reminder. Questions regarding individual cases should be sent to the office of the Friend of the Court.

ridiculous I tell myself. I finally fall asleep and morning is here sooner than I'd like.

My husband, Therm, and I have breakfast and look over each other's schedule. He's swapping with Jim our 10th grade son and I'm swapping with Stacy our 12th grade

We see we probably won't run into each other during the day. I tell him too bad we won't be able to hold hands in the hall! He says he wouldn't be able to anyway, he'll probably be walking our son's girlfriend to class!!! I give Stacy instructions on getting her 8 year old brother Andy off to school and then we're off to class.

I get to my locker and believe it or not I get the combination to work. Then on to first hour -- College writing. As I'm going into the Student Mark Heil and parent Wilda Moshier enjoy lunch.

Into class I go. Oh good there's some other parents, and I even know them. My Pastor is one of them. I may need him before this day

"Today we will be analyzing poetry," the teacher, Mrs. Medlin, says. We read a poem about winter and discuss it. Pretty soon the bell rings.

Between classes (five minutes) the halls are filled with parents clutching books and maps of the school, hoping to make it to their next class on time!

I find my class -- American Government. Congress is in session. Speaker of the House Brad Collins is presiding. Bills from qualifications of Senior Citizens driving to abortion are discussed, passed, defeated, or sent back to committee. Eight other parents are in this class.

Now it's third hour, but before that I stop in the office to watch Scott Siple and Ron Wagner Senior give the morning announcements. Ron Wagner Junior usually gives them, but today his dad is filling in.

Then it's on to music theory for me with Mr. Cliff Chapman. Sure wish Stacy was here. I'm totally lost as Mr. Chapman quickly figures out. This is a very involved technical class.

Next is fourth hour. Madrigal Singers. Miss Grayce Warren is the teacher. There are five or six parents here. We practice "The Star Spangled Banner" which the Madrigals will be singing at Tiger Stadium on May 22. It will be televised!

Now comes fifth hour. (I'm getting hungry!) This is Speech II with Mrs. Barb Gibson. The assignment today was to read a children's book aloud. Phil Haase's mom reads a book about baseball -- is this a coincidence in Mrs. Gibson's (mother of Tiger's Kurt) class!

Then we go to lunch. Speech is a split class which means you go to part of the class, have lunch, and return to finish the class.

I chose the salad bar for lunch. I'd say that was the best buy in town. $1.25 for salad, roll and butter, and milk. It was very good. After 35 minutes we return to class.

Now it's my turn to read. I chose "Alexander and the Terrible, Horrible No Good Day" by Judith Viorst. Everyone seems to enjoy it.

The bell rings and now I have a free sixth hour -- or so I thought. My husband wants me to take our son's sixth hour class so he can run home and make a few business calls. Lucky break for me. His class is Artful Cooking with Mrs. Beverly Bronson. Their assignment yesterday, bake a pie. Their assignment today -- eat the pie! Sure I'll fill in dear!! Mrs. Bronson evaluates our pie, we

Now it's last hour, Music Theatre. I'm there for a while, but soon Stacy is there. Tonight is opening night for "Paint Your Wagon" and there are many last minute details to be done. I walk home, rather tired, but having a better understanding of what my daughter's school day is like.

Library Corner

An Autograph Party will be held Saturday, May 8, 11 a.m.-2 p.m., at the Holly Township Library, 1116 North Saginaw, Holly.

This is a chance for all parents and children to meet with and talk to Jim Johnson, author of childrens short stories and poems. With Jim, will be his two sons. Twelve year old Jimmy Johnson and nine year old Joe Johnson are the illustrators of Jim's books. The Johnsons, formerly of Flint, have been residents of Holly for nearly ten years. Jimmy and Joey are "B" students at Holly Elementary School, wrestle for the Holly Roughriders and are Alter Boys at Holly's Saint Ritas Church.

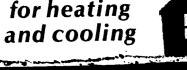

Jim, a former employee of General Motors (in Flint), has been writing for several years. His stories are aimed at boys and girls through grade three. He tries to "teach a lesson" in each story, such as obeying your parents, cooperation, courtesy or sportsmanship, while at the same time keeping the story interesting and fun to read.

Each book, published by Holly Oak Enterprises (a Holly publishing company) contains one story and from three to five poems. They are pocket size paperbacks trade marked as "Four Dime Novels", as each book sells for a mere forty cents. It is the belief of the publisher and the author that all children should be able to buy a good book even in these hard economic times.

A bright colorful circus face is in store for each child attending the Independence Township Library clown session on Saturday, May 15, at 10:30-11:30. The first 50 boys and girls to register will be the lucky particpants for this activity to be held at the Church of the Ressurection directly across from the library. The sign-up sheet is at the library for early registration. The Crittenton Clowns will tell about clowning and apply make-up in many colors on each attendee of this event.

Inquiries may be made by calling the library at 625-2212.

How the Superliner of a Bygone Era Became an Obsession

by Dallas Keffer, Titanic Historian

1982 is Dallas Keffer's tenth year as a historian of a ship built at the turn of the century that was to be the most fabulous thing ever assembled by the hands of mankind. April 15 of this year marked the 70th anniversary of the sinking of that ship; a tragedy unsurpassed in peacetime marine history.

The "unsinkable" Titanic sailed from England on her maiden voyage to New York City to make history. Unfortunately, the Titanic achieved a spot in history that was not the one her owners had in mind when she set sail. Just a little over half-way across the Atlantic, while steaming proudly over a perfectly calm sea, she met with disaster. An iceberg was sighted in her path, but too late to avoid a collision.

On that dark, cold Atlantic night, hundreds of miles from the nearest land and over a thousand miles from her destination, the Nearly three quarters of a century has passed since that fateful night. Few people live today who are old enough to remember the disaster, yet the story is as well known now as it was in 1912. As time passes, the saga of the Titanic grows ever more fabulous and renowned. Besides inspring scores of books and dozens of films, the Titanic is presently making history a second time in one of the most elusive and exciting expeditions of the century; a search to find and possibly salvage the sunken behemoth.

Keffer was eight years old when his interest in the Titanic began. It was a warm summer day in 1972 when his mother told him a good movie was going to be shown on Bill Kennedy's television show. She told him it was about a great ship that struck an iceberg and sank many years ago. "I had heard of the Titanic before in school and around home, but had never seen a movie on it," recalled Keffer.

Keffer continued, "Needless to say I was guite excited about seeing the movie. The fact that a huge ship would sink in the film attracted me even more -- disaster films have always had a universal appeal among almost everyone, I suppose because of the spectacle.

I remember being very impressed by the film even before the Titanic struck the iceberg. "Is that really a ship;, I kept asking my parents. I just couldn't believe the colossal and magnificent ballrooms and dining halls I saw were actually on a vessel sailing across the ocean. It looked more like a grand high society hotel or mansion of a hundred years ago.'

Inevitably, in the movie and reality the Titanic met up with a huge iceberg. An attempt was made to turn the ship away from a crash, and above the water it looked as if this had been successful. But forty feet below the surface a shelf of ice protruded from the berg and as the Titanic glided quickly by it tore into her steel hull, leaving a gash 300 feet long. The ship was doomed.

The Titanic sank a short time later with a terrible loss of life. "Naturally, I was moved by the well-acted scenes of dispair and tragedy. But, most of all, the film left an impression upon my mind that changed the course of my life. I became infatuated with the "unsinkable" Titanic and everything about her," said Keffer.

Keffer is not alone in this world as a lover of the Titanic. There is an organization, the Titanic Historical Society, based in Indian Orchard, Massachussetts which has 3,000 members from all parts of the world. There is another, the Oceanic Navigation Research Society, which is devoted to the Titanic and the company that owned her -- the Oceanic Steam Navigation Company, commonly known at that time as the White Star Line. (White Star ceased to exist long ago when, because of the world depression, they were forced to sign a merger and became part of the Cunard Steamship Company. The two combined names for a while, but then Cunard bought White Star's remaining shares in the firm and the latter faded away into history.)

Just a little over two years ago, Keffer founded an organization for young people interested in the Titanic, the Titanic Junior Historical Society, which, at present, has 20 members, most of whom live in the Clarkston area. This is basically the same type of club as the Titanic Historical Society, only on a smaller scale and aimed at children between 5 and 14 years of age.

"MacBeth Did It" Offers Look Behind the Scenes

Dave Brock and Pam Novosel help seat Judy Rood while others comb the stage for a contac lens.

Ever wonder what goes into producing a community theatre play? The opportunity to get that rare look behind the scenes is here in "MacBeth Did It", the upcoming comedy production of the Clarkston Village Players opening this Friday, May 7, at the Depot Theatre, White Lake Road, Clarkston.

'MacBeth Did It" focuses on the hilarious antics and problems that arise when a theatre group tries to put on "MacBeth".

Dave Brock stars as the play's director, Larry Rencher, who must handle the politics of casting Lady MacBeth with a Southern accent, dealing with a somewhat scattered but good natured near bilingual Mexican handyman played by Denny LaLone, and the egos and quirks of an odd assortment of actors hopelessly attempting to do serious Shakespeare.

There is Mary Lou Steiner, played by Pam Novosel, who seemingly is the only cast member who can act, but who would prefer to take over the directing and the director.

Sandy Sanford is Jill Sears, the director's assistant and girlfriend until Mary Lou enters the scene and puts the move on Larry.

Judy Rood plays the eccentric and demandingly pampered Dolly Dibble (Lady MacBeth) who dotes on Rock Hudson, her dog, played by Picot Arend. Bob Arend plays influential Emerson Dibble who often is under the influence.

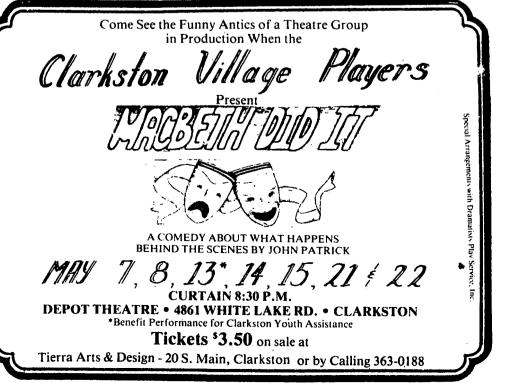

Other cast members adding to the affected antics are Pat Thomas, Pete Rose, Debbie Morrison, Greg Wilson, Derrick Sorles, Mike Weber, Vera Johnson Lee Ann Woolcox, Larry McGee and Gale Hallock.

Tickets are on sale at Tierra Arts and Design, 20 South Main, Clarkston and reservations can be made by calling Marlene at 363-

Marlene Sewick is directing and Denny Colwell is producing "Mac-Beth Did It" which runs May 7, 8, 13, 14, 15, 22 and 23 exclusively at the Depot Theatre, 4861 White Lake Road, Clarkston. Curtain time

The public is invited to share in an afterglow with the cast and crew following the May 7 opening night performance for complimentary refreshments.

The Thursday, May 13, performance is a benefit for the Clarkston Youth Assistance.

At one point after noticing a crowd of people over on the corner of the stage, Hagar put down both the mike and his guitar and crawled around the amps to talk to the people. "Can you people see ok? I guess if I just stayed at centerstage you could, huh?" With that, he shook a few hands and bolted back to the center, "So they can see from over there!"

Sammy Hagar

Capturing the Concerts Ramones Disappointing, but Hagar Shines

by Lyndsay Chase

As far as concerts last month, I'd have been further ahead to cover the hockey playoffs.

The Ramones played their only Michigan date March 17 at the Grand Circus Theatre. Unfortunately the band got into town late, and in the rush to set up and get on stage, the press requests were overlooked.

So, for anyone who was at the show; How good was it? Did they cover the older material, or concentrate on the last lp "Pleasant Dreams"? Don't you think "I'm Affected" sounds like early Alice Cooper? Do you remember Rock and Roll radio?

David Johansen has always been a favorite around town. Ask anyone who saw him open for the Clash a couple of years ago at the Masonic. Or anyone lucky enough to see him at Nitro's last summer. Or those who saw him with Pat Benatar at Pine Knob last fall.

But don't ask anyone who went to the Royal Oak Music Theatre on March 26. Ticketholders were surprised to find a nice note on the locked doors informing them that "the David Johansen show has been cancelled, not to be re-scheduled".

Rikki Lee Jones, whose latest album "Pirates" has been getting rave reviews from everyone from Musician Magazine to People, was scheduled to appear at the ROMT on April 7, the same night the Police with Joan Jett were playing the Crisler Arena in Ann Arbor.

Having just seen the Police a couple of months ago, and Joan Jett several times last summer (pre - "I Love Rock and Roll"). I opted to take the Rikki Lee show.

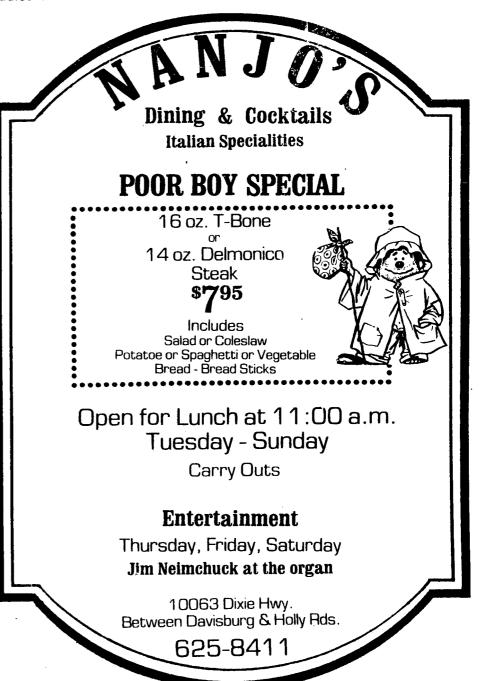

But my lack of luck was still holding out, and the Jones show was postponed until August 19. Seems that Jones and band were snowed out of Detroit

By April 10 I wasn't the least bit surprised to hear that the Sammy Hagar show was threatened by a stage workers' union strike.

Apparently someone did some fast thinking, because although the sound check was sacrificed, the stage was ready by showtime.

Getting the show off to a slow start was Canadian rocker Aldo Nova. Nova's new Ip entered the Rolling Stone chart at number 81, and has been getting more than its share of airplay, but onstage the absence of the elaborate production was sorely missed.

Looking very New York Doll, Nova went through the most popular Ip tracks, "Fantasy", "Foolin' Yourself", and "Heart to Heart", but failed to get the crowd's attention

One bright spot in the short set was guitartist Kevin Carlson, obviously a recent graduate of The Ron Wood School of Style. Unfortunately, not even Carlson could generate more than a mild excitement as the band went into "Plan B: Play-Something-They-Know". In this case "Footstompin' Music". Still, it all came out sounding "very Canadian", and nobody seemed to notice when they left the stage.

Sammy Hagar saved the day, and the month, and this column from being a complete washout

Hagar has always been one of the country's most underrated performers. When one thinks of guitar heroes, Eric Clapton, Keith Richards, and Jeff Beck are easily named. The U.S. has contributed very few guitarists of that caliber. Ted Nugent is an accomplished player, but it's getting him to settle down and play that's become a problem.

Hagar is not only an enjoyable player, but a skilled songwriter as well. (This guy knows how to use a hook.) And onstage Sammy Hagar puts on an explosive perforance.

Taking the stage through clouds of smoke and a taped intro of "Heavy Metal", (the closest thing to heavy metal on the soundtrack), Hagar took over with a live version and set the pace for the evening. It was going to be a Rock and Roll weekend after all.

Every song was an encore, from the recent single "I'll Fall In Love Again" to 1977's "Turn Up The Music". Switching between a cordless mike, which enabled him to go from one side of the stage to the other, and the center mike, Hagar's energy was matched only by his personality. At one point after noticing a crowd of people over on the corner of the stage, Hagar put down both the mike and his guitar and crowded around the amps to talk to the people. "Can you people see ok? I guess if I just stayed at centerstage you could, huh?" With that, he shook a few hands and bolted back to the center, "So they can see from over there!"

If I had to pick out a highlight it would be Hagar's version of the classic Janis Joplin song "Piece of My Heart". On vinyl, the song impressed me, but seeing him do it live was one the best covers I've seen performed by anyone.

Great Pitching Extends Wolves Win Streak, 7-0

by Ron Wagner

"Our pitching has been outstanding," explained coach Carla Teare. She named this as the prime reason for her softball team's success thus far. The team has extended its undefeated streak to 7-0 after three wins this past week.

On Monday, Annette Ulasich was the starting pitcher, but was relieved by Lanette Whitehead, who was credited with the win over Rochester, 10-4. Whitehead also went 2-4 at the plate. Sandy Mason was 2-3 and had an RRI

The team beat Lake Orion on Wednesday with Ulasich as the winning pitcher. She pitched a 4-hitter and got three hits herself. Mason hit a two-run home run and Whitehead got an RBI.

On Friday, the girls shut out Waterford Kettering 5-0. Whitehead gave up only two hits and one walk and got six strike outs. She aided her own cause by getting one of her team's four hits. Mason got two hits and Denise Gretz got the fourth. The team was walked eight times. All three of last week's games were played at Clintonwood and were league games. The team is 3-0 in G.O.A.L. and will face West Bloomfield on Monday to determine the current first-place team.

Thinclads Lose Two, Despite Hecker's Record

by Ron Wagner

The Clarkston Boys Track team didn't fare too well this past week. They had two meets, both away, and they came up on the short end each time. On Tuesday, they traveled to Lake Orion and on Thursday, they went out to Oxford. During the Oxford meet, senior Tom Hecker tied the school record in the pole vault with a jump of 13 feet.

On Saturday, the team participated in the Lake Orion Invitational Relay Meet. The distance team finished second in that meet.

Poor Hitting Dooms Wolves; Lose 3

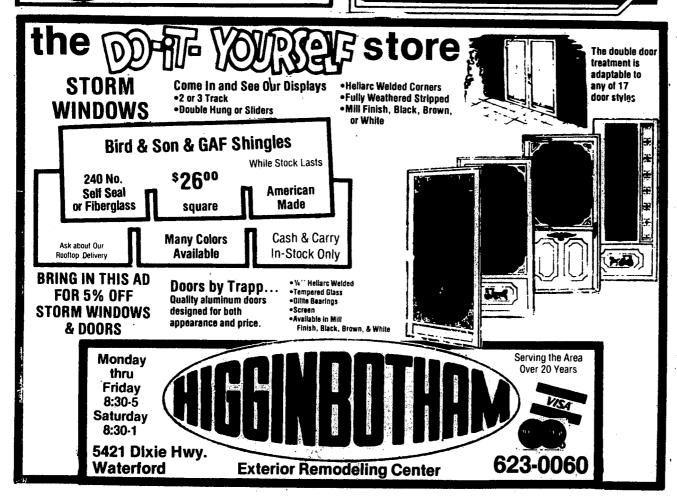

If Roy Warner could get his team to hit well and pitch well at the same time, they could be fantastic. Instead, two days of 3-hitter pitching and one day of good hitting combined to give the team a rather dismal week of three losses.

On Monday, they lost to Rochester 2-1 at home. Mark Piazza pitched a 3-hitter, but was backed up by only one run. In the fourth inning, Pete Carpentier got a hit that allowed Bill Weeks to score. Wednesday's game was played at Lake Orion and the score was 3-0 in favor of the Dragons. Shawn Mosele was the losing pitcher.

Clarkston's hitting in Friday's game at Waterford Kettering was highlighted by a second inning home run by Rob Mortimore. The Wolves scored two more runs in the seventh, but it wasn't enough to beat the Captains and they lost 7-3. Klaus Orhnberger was charged with the loss. Next week, the team will play seven games in six days.

For Amateurs Parks Sponsors Photo Contest

Amateur photographers can capture the first signs of spring and submit their best find to the Oakland County Parks spring photo contest.

The Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission will award cash prizes for the best photos taken at any of the nine Oakland County Parks.

The spring photo contest follows fall and winter competitions during the past two years. In 1981, nearly 600 entries were submitted.

"Because the previous contests have been so successful in encouraging people to visit the parks, we've decided to sponsor a spring contest in keeping with our 'Around the Year...We're Right Here' theme," said R. Eric Reickel, manager of the parks commission.

The contest is open to amateur photographers of all ages. Categories include black and white prints, color prints and color slides. There is also a special category for children 14 years of age and under.

A grand prize of $200 will be awarded to the overall winner. Additional cash prizes of $100, $50 and $25 will be awarded in each category. Winner of the children's category will receive $50.

The deadline for submitting entries is midnight, Tuesday, June 1.

Entry forms are available by writing to Spring Photo Contest, Oakland County Parks and Recreation Commission. Watkins Lake Road, Pontiac, Michigan 48054 or by calling 858-

Rupprecht Attends Science Frontiers

Holly Rupprecht from Clarkston High School in Clarkston was among those attending the 25th Anniversary Frontiers in Science Program held at Oakland University April 21 under sponsorship of the Michigan Chemical Council.

A highlight of the program was a madcap science demonstration by Dr. Hubert Alyea, professor emeritus of Princeton University. Dr. Alyea travels throughout the country with science "tricks" that can make science teaching more interesting in the classroom.

As part of the special day, researchers from area industry came into the high schools. They lectured to students about careers in science while the teachers themselves were at the OU program.
