Dentistry for Children

QUESTION

How should I prepare my child for his first visit to the dentist?

ANSWER

Try to make dental visits an important adventure for your child. Tell him the dentist is a friendly doctor who will help him keep his teeth and mouth healthy. Talk about the visit in a positive, matter-of-fact way as you would any new experience. It is important to prevent fear. Avoid statements that imply the visit may be unpleasant, such as, "It won't hurt." If you have anxieties about dental visits, do not let your child know. A good first trip will help mold your child's feelings for many years.

Sunshine Acres Seek Road Improvements

by Mike Wilcox

Residents of Sunshine Acres, a group of homes in the Mary Sue, Oak Park Road area, attended last week's Independence Township Board meeting to seek funding for road improvements.

They left with promises from board members to do all they could to support the project if and when the residents went through the necessary steps required by the Oakland County Road Commission.

The Road Commission, which has had two meetings with Sunshine and area residents is preparing actually two projects in the area -- one for the Sunshine area at a preliminary estimated cost of $317,000 and the other for Pine Knob Trail, estimated to cost $120,000.

Once the proposals are completed they will be presented to the residents. Fifty-one percent of the residents within the proposal's boundaries must sign a petition allowing the County to place a special assessment against their properties to finance the proposals.

The amount of the assessment depends upon whether the township participates in the funding procedure.

"It is general practice for the township to participate in 25 percent of the work," noted Supervisor James Smith. "That assumes of course there is availability of funds."

Residents voiced concern about the availability of revenue sharing funds and traffic created by the American Legion Hall at the south end of Mary Sue.

Earlier in the year the Township committed $30,000 of federal community development funds to road improvement, after residents of Pine Knob Trail attended a public hearing, held to earmark federal revenue sharing funds.

Sunshine Acres residents were dismayed to learn Pine Knob Trail had $30,000 already in their "kitty".

But township board members claimed that was not the case.

"I do not remember this Board saying that when you get the signatures (Pine Knob Trail) we will pay 25 percent. The money went into the road improvement fund. Given that fact, there are considerable stretches of road that need paving..." said trustee Dale Stuart.

The American Legion traffic has been a problem, claim residents, for a long time.

They asked the township to either put a stop to it or find another access to the hall.

Smith said that would be impossible, however. And he added, "It (Mary Sue) is a country road and we have no jurisdiction in blocking traffic down the road."

Treasurer Fred Ritter told residents to follow the guidelines set up by the Road Commission. That is the best way to get the road paved he said.

And Stuart applauded the residents in attendance. "This is the kind of initiative we need to encourage. It seems to me we should be able to come up with something to help."

Track Promises Sound Report July 6

Representatives of Waterford Hills Road Racing will present results of their sound study to the Independence Township Board at its regular July 6 meeting.

Waterford Hills, after pressure from the township board, commissioned a private Ann Arbor consultant to take decibel readings on May 8-9.

At first the racing officials had decided not to share the results with the township. But after the Board threatened to shut the track down (its license expires July 4) Waterford Hills reversed their decision.

In fact Waterford Hills President James McIntosh had planned to present the results at last week's meeting, but was unable to obtain them from the consultant.

Township Supervisor James Smith explained, "He (McIntosh) was suppose to be here with the report at 2 p.m. today (last Tuesday), but Professor Barnett (the private consultant) was unavailable. McIntosh was very apologetic and said he would have it here well before the next meeting."

Homeowners near the race track have long complained of the noise and safety hazards emanating from the track. They have attended several township meetings in an effort to force the track to reduce noise levels and be more safety conscious.

School Board Levies 31.29 Mills

by Mike Willcox

True to their word, Dr. Stephen Werner and Fernando Sanchez, introduced a motion to set the Clarkston Schools millage rate at 31.2921 at last week's School Board meeting. They were joined by Vince Luzzi and Addison Hubbard in passing the motion 4-2.

School administrators were seeking a higher figure, specifically 31.5225, which would result in a small tax increase over last year.

But at a public hearing held a week earlier, first Sanchez, and then Werner, spoke in opposition to increasing the rate.

"I feel keeping the same rate is appropriate in these times," said Dr. Werner. "And 31.291 mills would give the taxpayer an identical rate of what he paid in 1981."

Board Secretary Mary Jane Chaustowich disagreed. "I'm in sympathy with your sentiments, but I don't think we can afford not to levy the full amount."

She was supported by administrators and several members of the audience.

Assistant Superintendent William Neff said curriculum and building maintenance needs were tantamount. According to his figures the school district needs to buy $196,000 worth of textbooks and other educational materials. In addition building maintenance costs are staggering. Nearly $319,000 is needed just to repair roofs.

"I question how the community can turn its back and not collect all or most of the voter authorized millage," said Neff.

Clarkston Education Association President Al Bartlett pled before the vote, "We strongly urge the Board of Education to adopt 31.5225 mills tonight. To do less is going to create more of a problem for our educational system."

But the Board majority felt differently, and with the exception of Chaustowich, Board President Janet Thomas and Carolyn Place, who was absent, voted to levy 31.291 mills.

Holly Seeks Superintendent

Holly School District residents are encouraged to participate in the selection of a new superintendent for the district.

The Board of Education recently approved the procedure to be followed, which includes a specific time table for the recruiting and interviewing recommended by Dr. Carl Brautigam of the Michigan Association of School Boards. Dr. Brautigam is serving as a consultant to the Holly Board in its search for a superintendent.

Residents may participate in one of two ways (or both):

1. Dr. Brautigam will be available to hear residents' opinions about the type of person they would like to see head the school district of 3,400 students. Citizens are welcome to talk to Dr. Brautigam on July 6, at the Community Education Building, 111 College Street, Holly, from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

Dr. Brautigam will also be available at the Davisburg Elementary School, 12003 Davisburg Road, Davisburg, on Wednesday, July 7, from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

For further information, call Bruce G. Mitchell, Acting Superintendent, 634-4431.

EXTENDED COVERAGE

North Oaks

Insurance Agency

Most people recognize the need for some sort of life insurance protection -- yet, at most ages, there's a much greater chance of becoming disabled than dying. A 22-year-old is seven and a half times more likely to become seriously disabled than to die. A 35-year-old has one chance in three of serious disability before reaching 65.

Almost everyone has some disability protection through Social Security, but that only pays off in cases of severe, long-term (or life-threatening) disability. Your employer may have a disability plan, too.

Supplemental insurance is often advisable to meet your own physical and financial needs and complement the coverage you already have.

For your protection, choose a policy that is guaranteed renewable and noncancelable. Premiums will depend, to some extent, on the waiting period before benefits, the benefit period, and any special riders.

Waiver of premium is a worthwhile feature; it means you won't have to pay premiums while you're disabled.

How's YOUR disability protection? Talk it over with the experts at

SHOULD I TOUCH THE BODY?

In 17th century England, it was thought that merely touching a dead body would cure a variety of diseases. In Scotland, it was believed necessary to touch the body so as not to become haunted.

Such superstitions have long since faded away, but the question of touching the body of a deceased loved one remains. Though the practice is still common at some ethnic memorial services, some people are yet uneasy about it.

The decision should be based on how you feel at the time -- for example, when paying last respects during a funeral service. Listen to your own instincts and do what you feel comfortable doing. We each honor the dead in our own way.

Clarkston Can Be Proud of Its Accomplishments

150 years is a long time to be around, but the Village of Clarkston seems to have grown prettier with age.

No one can dispute that Main Street, Clarkston is a yardstick by which similar villages measure their progress. The large, beautiful home, and the quiet, tree-lined street bring words of praise from ogling motorists.

And the quaint shops, from the elegant Clarkston Mills to the stores along Main Street, have something for everyone, young and old, rich and poor.

But Clarkston is more than grand old houses and quaint little shops. For most of us, it's the people of Clarkston that make the town something special.

Many of these people are putting a lot of effort into making this year, Clarkston's 150th, the best ever.

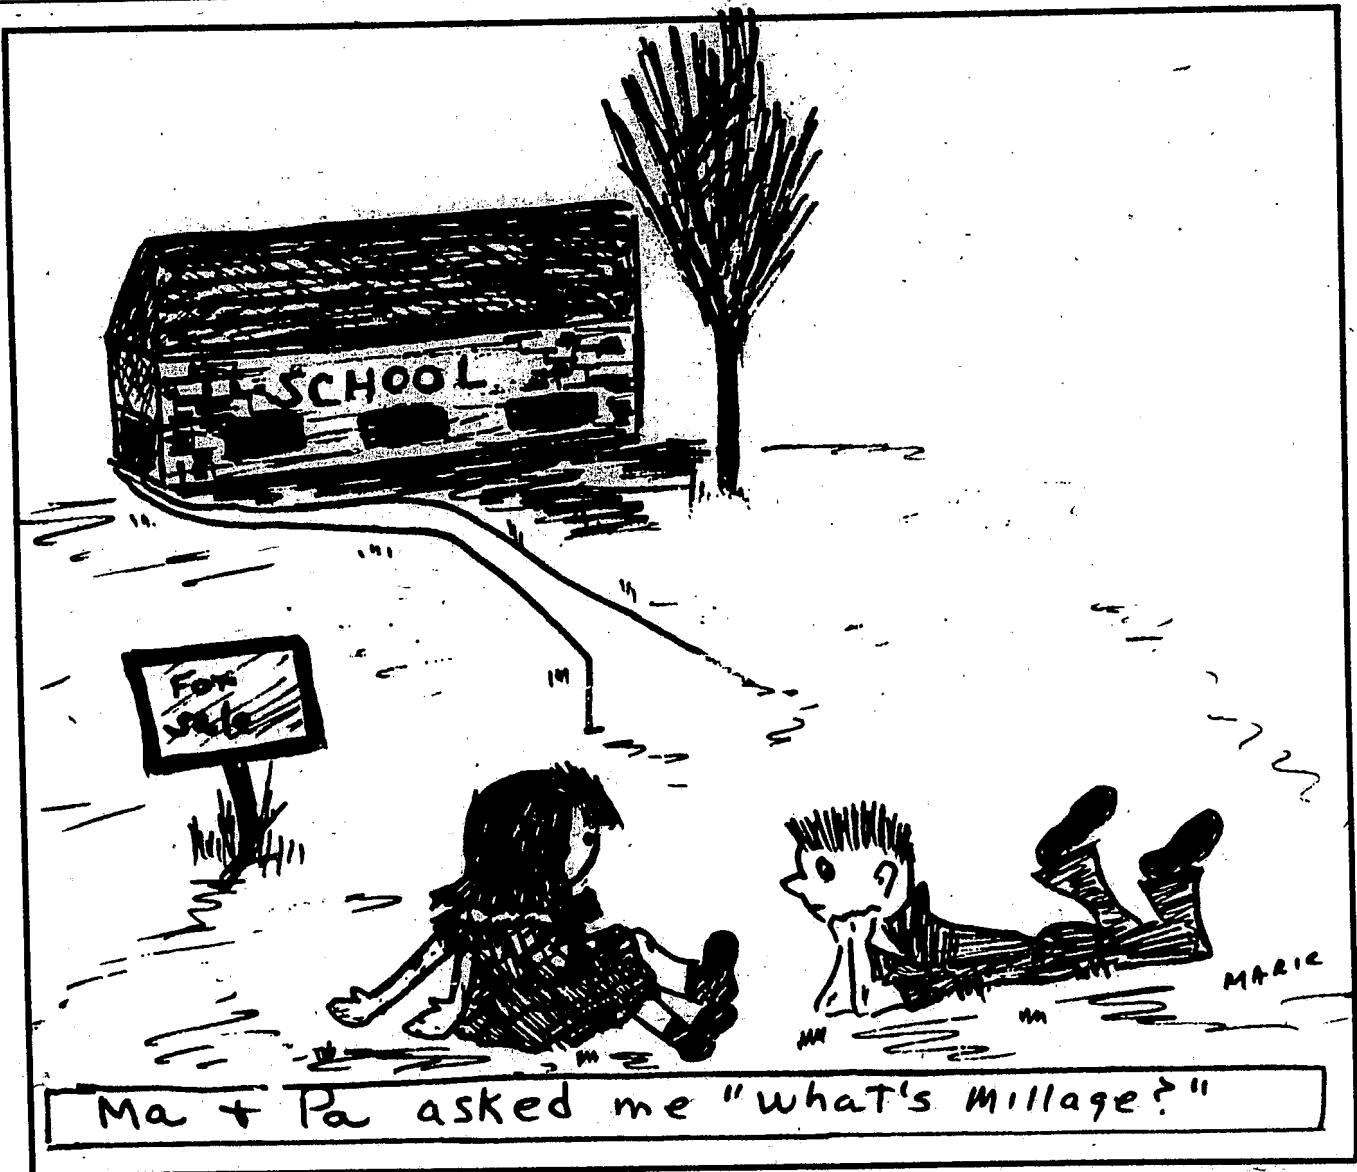

Although, activities noting the sesquicentennial have been taking place all year, the birthday celebration will really get underway during the July 4th weekend.

An assortment of activities, planned by dozens of fine Clarkston citizens will take place. There's the parade - a Clarkston 4th of July tradition. Immediately following is the God and Country Musical, as performed by 20 or so Clarkston singers. There's the Concert in the Park series, downtown sidewalk sales, and more and more and more.

Don't miss out. Pay tribute to the Village that has given so many the "best years of their lives." Attend as many sesquicentennial activities as you can.

And to help plan your sesquicentennial itinerary The Reminder and sponsoring businesses have published a calendar of events in this week's newspaper. We suggest you keep it handy.

Letter to the Editor:

Thanks to everyone who supported me in my bid for re-election. These are critical times for the Clarkston Schools, and the school board has had to make some very hard decisions both individually and collectively. I believe your support of me is a vote of confidence for the board team as well as a personal victory for myself.

Thank you again,

letters

Dear Editor:

This letter is to inform parents of students entering Clarkston High School this fall if they ever make a mistake of doing wrong while in school to lie their way out.

My daughter and a friend were suspects in a smoke bomb, firecracker incident. She admitted to the smoke bomb after realizing it was more serious than a childish prank. She apologized to everyone involved and accepted responsibility of paying for carpet damage.

This truth cost her:

Seven day school suspension, which resulted in the loss of 1/2 credit. This she could accept; what she couldn't accept was that the administration withheld her already paid for cap and gown, and denied her the right to participate at commencement. Since she still had 16 1/4 credits, they would let her pick up her diploma on 6/14, the day after graduation. After a week of pleading, we still received a flat no on the 6/13 commencement, even though this was her first trouble in thirteen years of school.

The happy ending to this is that she has many friends who stood by her and through the loan of a cap and gown, she surprised the C.H.S. administration by going all the way through commencement with her class. The only missing part was that her name was not announced.

On 6/14, when she went to pick up the earned diploma, these certain few administrators told her they lost it and she would have to wait until next fall to have it. This was a lie, because after some more pleading by her father she had the diploma.

Now my daughter is an eighteen year-old who made a mistake and admitted to it. These adult administrators who are acting like children are running our high school.

I would like the Seniors of '82 to know Pam was even accused of causing the throwing of confetti and caps at the end of commencement.

I hope no other parent ever has to have their son or daughter used as a scapegoat like I did.

TRIVIA

by Mike Morrow

Babysitting my one year-old nephew Andy certainly has taught me a lot. For starters it's taught me to say no the next time his parents ask me to babysit.

I'm just kidding. Now that I've figured out the one year-old's mentality and learned what to expect, it's not too bad.

Here are a few of the things I've learned from watching Andy.

1. There is no such thing as a diaper that "hugs". No matter how tightly you put a diaper on, stuff will leak out. Not even scotch tape will help.

2. A child with no appetite for his lunch will lunge at day-old dog food as if he hasn't eaten in a month.

3. Babies are magnetically drawn to electrical outlets, breakable objects, and cats that scratch.

4. The only time a one year-old is quiet is when he is doing something he shouldn't be doing like playing in the toilet or eating the contents of an ashtray.

5. Most one year-olds cannot hold a cup with three drops of water in it without drenching the entire room, yet all of them know how to toss their head back and swig down a whole bottle of pop without spilling a drop (unless you are dressed up and standing within twenty feet of them).

6. Children have a natural appetite for houseplants, especially Begonias.

7. A one year-old prefers a mouthful of dirt to a mouthful of vegetables anytime.

8. The more a parent wants their child to play with a particular toy, the less the kid will go near it, preferring instead to play with a bag of garbage that has begun to smell.

9. A one year-old never, never shows how cute he can be when you have company. When you have guests all you can expect your one year-old to do is fill his pants and cry.

10. Male babies always save one last "squirt" for diaper changing time. To add insult to injury, they usually find drenching you unbearably funny.

11. Nothing fascinates a one year-old more than anything he isn't supposed to have.

12. One year-olds have a great sense of timing. After driving you to the point where you would sell them to the gypsies for a nickel, they will let loose with just enough smiles and kisses to make you feel like a heel for getting mad.

The most upsetting thing Andy does is the one thing every baby is most sure to do, grow up too fast.

SMALL TALK

by Rebecca Roberts

Memories have a way of turning back into life, like flour in the bread dough.

There I am, in Gay's 5 and 10, buying candy from a skinny hawk-nosed lady behind the glass counter. I am ten. The candy is nougat with a white center. I pay my quarter and take my half-pound of goodies, roll the white sack tightly closed, and head for home.

It's a birthday present for my dad, the gift of gifts: something I want for myself.

At home, I give mom one privileged look: she admires and smiles and tells me how perfect my choice. I fly up to my room, straight to my dresser, and there, under an assortment of socks and underwear, is the perfect hiding place for my treasure.

It is several days before my dad's birthday. I want the gift to be safe.

In the days that follow, I open the drawer often, sometimes out of necessity, sometimes not.

The sack becomes flatter with each passing day, more finely wrinkled, fuzzy and worn. The day of the birthday comes. In the drawer, the sack lays empty.

Unable to confront my mother with the unadmirable fact that I had eaten my dad's present, I do what I believe under the circumstances to be the only alternative: I accuse my two unsuspecting sisters of swiping the candy.

Naturally, each thinks the other guilty, and worse, and coward for not owning up.

For years, I left it that way, compounding my felony, until adulthood put me safely out of reach of any revenge my sisters might dream up.

Time did buffer the truth, and when I finally told the real story, everybody shared a good laugh.

But there is a postscript.

I was out in Massachusetts not long ago, visiting relatives; and there, in one of those general stores with authentic wood-planked floors, hand-made brooms, and penny candy, in an oak-framed glass case, as if preserved and waiting, were nougats with white centers.

I was being given a second chance.

This time, I bought a pound.

This time, it was a brown sack.

I took it all the way to Michigan. Hid it in a cupboard.

Then, all the way up north, to my dad's.

Piece by piece, the sack was getting flatter and flatter. He got it not a moment too soon.

Victims Tell What Tornado Was Like

Garnet Garten uses ax to cut up tree that fell a few feet from their new home on Newberry Street.

Power lines dangled precariously in the air.

The tornado that briefly touched down in the Clintonville, Mann Road areas last week caused a gas main break, knocked down several power lines and sent trees and large branches sprawling all over houses, streets and cars.

Until clean-up operations prevailed, Clintonville Road was blocked off at two points.

Incredibly however, no one was reported injured. Nor were homes destroyed. The tornado that began at 5:40 p.m. Tuesday afternoon and ended five minutes later brought fear to many residents of the area, but the amount of destruction it brought was minimal.

The Reminder talked to several of the people in the area of the tornado, to get their reaction to what happened. Here's what some of them had to say:

Lee Howard of 2933 Mann Road lost a corner of his porch and part of his fence in the storm. "My fence was torn down and one corner of my porch was taken off and several trees were blown down across my driveway so I couldn't get in or out," said Howard.

He added, "I had to cut the trees up, and clear them away. The windows I was going to put in the porch were all broken, I think that some of my fence and porch ended up over there in that barn."

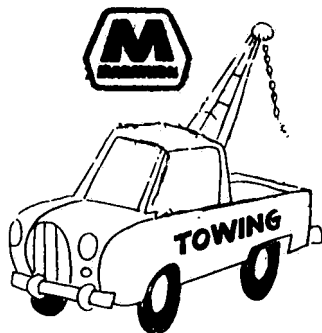

Delbert Wilson of 2640 Newberry saw his barn destroyed. "I thought my pony was dead because the barn had a tree straight through the building destroying it. It looked like Iran around here. Trees everywhere," recalled Wilson.

"I started pulling boards out of the way. I had a loft with loose hay and it was all down, so I started looking through the boards and hay. I finally got to the pony and I could swear she was dead. But when I reached out and touched her leg, she kicked. She was uninjured with the exception of a few scratches from nails," said Wilson.

Carol Wilson recalls what it was like before the tornado touched ground. "I have never been afraid of storms, but this one was really severe. It got really white and you could see the windows moving. There were leaves coming from everywhere hitting the doors and windows. All you could hear was wind."

Persons doing their shopping at the Clintonville Market also had a ringside seat for the tornado. Although it was in the heart of the storm, the market was not damaged with the exception of debris on the roof and overturned food shelves inside.

"It was really weird," said Carol Seffar, who works at the market her parents own. "All of a sudden we looked outside and it was white. You couldn't even see the cars that were parked right in front of the door. We tried to push our front door closed, but the wind was so strong it was impossible. And then it went away."

"There was no time to react. You look out and it's all white and the next minute or so and it's over," described Al Nay of 2881

Mann.

Isa Irby of 2605 Mann Road was petrified. "I heard a big crack from limbs coming off the tree. I was so frightened. I heard another crash and ran to the front door and saw another limb in another tree down. The front yard was completely covered with water just like a lake and it was running on my patio and I thought it was coming in the door."

"There was nothing I could do. The people on either side of me were not home. I didn't know what to expect next."

Victims Question Worth of Tornado Sirens.

Residents that experienced the tornado that touched down briefly near the Clintonville and Mann Road intersection expressed concern with the fact that Oakland County's tornado siren system did not activate until ten minutes after the tornado had left the area.

Carol Wilson was one of those bewildered residents. "It had been at least ten minutes before the siren went off at 5:50. Everything was all done."

"The last time they were right on the ball. We were alerted before the tornado went over the Pontiac-Oakland Airport. This time they had no idea anything had even happened out here. When I called the dispatcher even asked if we were sure what it was!"

Al Nay said he was already outside clearing with a chainsaw when he heard the siren and Carol Seffar and others shopping in the Clintonville Market almost panicked because they did not want to experience a repeat of what had just happened.

According to Paul Phelps, division manager of Oakland County Disaster Control, the only way the tornado sirens can be touched off is by a confirmed tornado sighting by a qualified person, or by receiving word from the National Weather and Oceanic Bureau in Romulus that they have confirmed a sighting on radar.

In this instance, two Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies saw the tornado, called their dispatcher, who in turn called Disaster Control. The National Weather Bureau was unable to confirm the sighting on their radar, but instructed the sirens to be sounded at 5:50, over ten minutes after the tornado had touched down.

A spokesperson for the Oakland County Sheriff's Department said the 123 Oakland

The VanDruska home on Mann Road received damage to the roof and TV antenna.

County sirens are activated only when a tornado is sighted. Their main concern is to warn people in the immediate vicinity to take cover. There is always the possibility of more than one tornado touching in an area.

The National Weather Bureau had issued a tornado watch at 1:35 that day. It was to continue until 8 p.m. A tornado watch means the weather conditions are favorable for tornadoes.

Another surprise feature of the tornado was the direction in which it came from. According to the National Weather Bureau, the normal direction of a tornado is southwest to northeast. Residents in the Mann Road area say their storm came out of the northwest and was heading southeast. All the trees in the area that were toppled were also found to be laying in the northwest to southeast direction.

Independence to Buy New Pontiacs

Independence Township played musical dealerships last Tuesday in an effort to decide from whom they would purchase new cars and trucks for township departments.

The Board finally decided to buy up to three cars from Quality Pontiac and to rebid the trucks.

But the decision wasn't all that easy. DPW Department Head, George Anderson, first recommended the Board purchase three cars (Citations) and three trucks from Rademacher Chevrolet.

Trustee Dale Stuart indicated the car earmarked for the Supervisor ought to be a more expensive model than the Citation because he officially represents the township and it is an attractive benefit for the Supervisor.

Thus discussion ensued on the merits of the Celebrity versus the Citation.

Trustee Laurence Kozma then brought the Pontiac J-6000's into the discussion. A short time later Clerk Chris Rose began discussing the merits of Milosch Chrysler's bid.

Finally Trustee William Vandermark made a motion to table the issue and have both the cars and trucks rebid separately. The motion died.

Stuart then moved to accept Rademacher's bid, with the exception of Smith's car. The motion failed 4-3.

Kozma then moved to rebid the cars and trucks separately. It died.

Treasurer Fred Ritter offered a motion to accept the purchase of up to three J-6000's from Quality Pontiac. It passed by a 5-2 margin.

The vehicles, most of which are earmarked for the DPW, are being purchased to replace current cars and trucks that are in poor condition, according to Anderson.

(b) Acceleration, deceleration and passing lanes or approaches are defined as those areas on either side or in front of a driveway of a use or proposes use providing access to and from a paved or gravel roadway which shall be designed and constructed as determined by the Township Engineers and set forth in Springfield Township Design and Construction Standards adopted by resolution of the Township Board and copies of which are available at the Township Offices, so as to provide for the safe movement of traffic to, from and past the use or proposed use.

(2) Requirement

All uses or proposed uses which are subject to the site plan review requirements of this ordinance as set forth in Section 16.07 (1) which have driveways providing access to and from paved or gravel roadways shall be required to provide acceleration, deceleration, and passing lanes or approaches prior to the issuance of a certificate of occupancy except where this requirement is waived by the Township Board as set forth below.

(3) Waiver

The requirement for acceleration, deceleration, and passing lanes or approaches required by this Section may be waived by the Township Board if the average daily traffic volume upon the roadway to which the use or proposed use has access, as determined by the Township Engineers is under 5,000 cars per day and/or the applicant verifies conditions or factors found in Article 17, Section 17.02 (3).

AMEND Section 16.07 (2) (b) to read as follows:

(b) There is a proper relationship between major thoroughfares and proposed service drives, driveways and parking areas and provision has been made for acceleration, deceleration and passing lanes or approaches so as to encourage the safety and convenience of pedestrians and vehicular traffic.

Stringfield Overcomes Obstacles

Now Owns Car Wash

"I read somewhere you don't measure success by the amount of money you have but by the obstacles you overcome in life."

Johnnie A. Stringfield, Owner of Johnnie's Carwash in Drayton Plains can attest to that. He's overcome a lot of obstacles to get where he is today.

Stringfield started out working for $1.45 an hour after arriving in Pontiac from the hills of Tennessee. He had just quit school after the 10th grade, but was willing to work if someone would hire him.

That same summer his mother died and Stringfield went to his boss to get a $750 loan to bury his mother. He not only paid but took Johnny into his home after Stringfield had finished digging his mother's grave.

Well one thing lead to another and Stringfield worked his way up the car wash ladder until he was able to purchase his car wash at 4379 Dixie Highway in Drayton Plains.

Johnnie's Car Wash offers the normal exterior wash as well as cleaning white walls, vacuuming, air freshening, window cleaning, mat washing and towel drying.

The store speciality is professional Simoniz waxing for which Stringfield charges $18.95.

Stringfield said, "This car wash has been in the area for ten years. It used to be known as Lew's Car Wash. I purchased it April 1 and since then have made many changes to meet each individual's needs and wants."

As a grand opening special, Stringfield is offering a free car wash with no obligation on the 1st of July.

The car wash is open from 8-6 Sunday-Thursday, and 8-8 on Friday and Saturday.

Carr Announces Candidacy

Former congressman Bob Carr announced this week his candidacy for U.S. Representative in the 6th District, including Clarkston.

"The people of Michigan are suffering like no other state in the current recession. Our economy needs revitalization the most, yet we get the least return on our federal tax dollars of any state. Our state has tremendous resources and potential - if only we can fight the federal policies limiting or destroying that potential," Carr said.

Carr, a practicing attorney in Lansing, served the people of the 6th District for three terms in Congress from 1975 to 1980. For 1982, he pledged an "issue-oriented, aggressive, person-to-person campaign" in his announcement statement.

"My job in the campaign will be to listen to and then voice the feelings, frustrations, and hopes of the people. I'm looking forward to meeting and talking with the people of Clarkston."

Carr, 39, served on the House Armed Services, Interior and Judiciary Committees while in Congress. He was an advisor to the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT II).

WWI Auxiliary Captures State Publicity Award

Clinton Valley Barracks Number 2803 Veterans of World War I and Auxiliary got together for their monthly "Potluck" dinner on Saturday, June 12th, at the Springfield Township Hall. The birthdays of President Minnie Schnelle and Barracks Chaplain Louis Hanson were celebrated with cake, ice cream and strawberries.

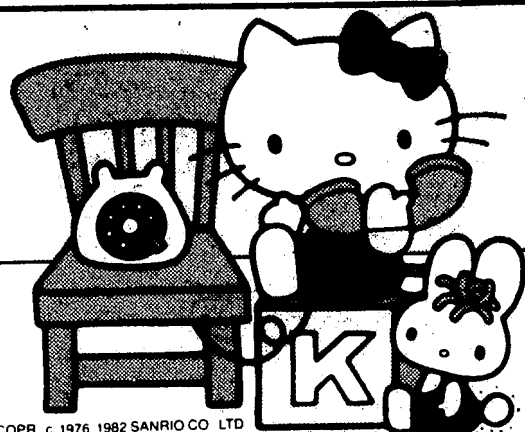

Secretary-Treasurer Lucile Gries, who attended the Department Convention in Kalamazoo this past week gave her report. First place award went to the Auxiliary for the "Publicity" book and Honorable Mention was given to the Scrap Book. A Citation was given to Lucile Gries for reinstating six members.

A report was also given by Lucille on the opening of the branch of the Arlington Cemetery at Fort Custer on Memorial weekend. Next year it will be dedicated.

June 29th the Barracks and members of the Auxiliary will travel to the Methodist Home at Chelsea where Dr. and Mrs. Hazen Atkins now reside for the presentation of the flag that flew over the Capitol Building in Washington, D.C. will be given to the Home.

The formal meetings for the summer are over but they will be having a picnic each month, the first one being at the home of Alice Rioux at Rioux Acres on Davisburg Road on July 10th.

Sesqui-Centennial Calendar of Events

Masonic Temple Open House

SATURDAY, JUNE 26 - One of Clarkston's older buildings, the Masonic Temple (see map on back page) will be open all day for the public to walk through and talk to F & AM, and OES officers about their organization and the building. The F & AM is recognized as the oldest service club in Clarkston.

Sidewalk Sales and Concerts

FRIDAY, JULY 2 - The Clarkston Village Business Association is sponsoring a series of summer band concerts produced by Jim Morris and featuring members of the Pontiac Musicians Union. The July 2 concert begins at 7 p.m. and features music that is appropriate to celebrating Clarkston's Sesquicentennial.

The concerts are paid for in part by a grant obtained from the Pontiac Federation of Music and by area merchants.

At the same time the concert is showcased in the Village Park (see map on back page for location), downtown merchants will be featuring sidewalk sales so that before and after the concert, patrons can stroll the downtown area for bargains aplenty.

Visit Downtown Clarkston

MONDAY, JULY 5 - Almost a Clarkston tradition, Job's Daughters will be preparing delicious pancake breakfasts immediately before the parade in downtown Clarkston.

MONDAY, JULY 5

The Independence Township Firefighters Association will be sponsoring their annual 4th of July parade, starting at 10 a.m. through the streets of downtown Clarkston. The parade will proceed down Church Street to Main Street, north to Miller Road (see map on back page).

The theme of this year's parade is "A Red, White, and Blue Salute to Our Independence". A $25 prize will be awarded to each of the following: 1. Most original float; 2. Best children's float; 3. Best theme float.

Parade organizers say floats, clowns, and fire apparatus will be plentiful as well as political hopefuls like Congressman James Dunn, former Congressman Robert Carr and County Executive Dan Murphy.

Parade and Musical

MONDAY, JULY 5

Immediately following the parade, the 4th Annual God and Country Musical will begin in the Village Park. According to Ralph Chambers, organizer of the event, about twenty people, dressed in old-fashioned, early American garb, will be singing traditional numbers.

This year the group has put together a 35-minute program that includes 10 songs and a dialogue. The dialogue begins when a young girl opens up an old trunk and finds pictures of Clarkston's past. It proceeds when the girl's parents take the pictures to their parents to learn more about their heritage. Later, the great-grandparents are brought in to find out even more information.

An ice cream social is being held in conjunction with the musical. Sponsored by Clarkston Farm and Garden Club and located in the Village Park, the social will feature delicious ice cream and an assortment of baked goods.

Heritage Family Recognition

THE HERITAGE FAMILY RECOGNITION which was originally scheduled for June 27, has been postponed until later in the year. Denise Symons of the Clarkston Historical Society said the postponement will give the society a little more time to gather entries and research their authenticity. The purpose of the project is to honor those families that have lived in the village for 150 years or have 4 generations that have lived in the village.

Old Fashion Fair

COMING UP IN AUGUST AND SEPTEMBER — Concerts in the park every Friday night in August sponsored by the Clarkston Conservatory of Music; Labor Day Parade and Old Fashion Fair in the park; A Rotary sponsored Corn Roast; The Historical Society's Annual Crafts and Cider Festival in September.

Western Band Concert & Barbeque

FRIDAY, JULY 30 - The Fifth Band Concert in the park will feature a western theme. Shopkeepers will again be displaying merchandise on the sidewalk.
