They've got school spirit

Bailey Lake Elementary School students give Clarkston Board of Education members the "Bulldog paw pat" at the Oct. 14 school-board meeting. The students were on hand, along with principal Chris Turner, to talk about some initiatives they are undertaking related to school pride. Every Friday they recite the Bulldog Pledge, which covers such topics as respect for each other, safety and following directions. They also have a school cheer and the fisted handshake known as the "paw pat." Board members grinned as the students made the rounds at the meeting in their matching school T-shirts.

Joint venture may save theater

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE Clarkston News Staff Writer

It looks like the Clarkston Village Players may be buying some curtain time at the Depot Theatre.

According to CVP vice president Melissa Breckenridge, members of the 36-year-old theater troupe met with Buckeye Pipeline and Continental Machine Co. last week to discuss the crucial situation of Canadian National Properties selling the land the three groups lease.

A portion of the 1.3 acres CN wants to sell holds the northernmost portion and parking lot of the tiny theater, formerly a railroad depot. The rest of the building sits on the railroad's right-of-way.

In August the Players were told of CN's plans to sell the land for $78,000, or $1.50 per square foot—something the little theater group couldn't afford, Players president Al Bartlett said before the meeting.

But the good news is that when the three groups sat down to talk, they decided to each chip in a third of the total cost. That means the Players will now only need to raise between $20,000 and $30,000, Breckenridge said. The three are expected to make their collective bid this week. The deadline CN gave the leasees was Oct. 21.

三十二十二年,安徽一年,安、安、公、司四、司司

Though she declined to name the person, Breckenridge said a patron and benefactor of the theater has agreed to loan the Players the money, or the condition that it's paid back in a year.

Even so, she added that it would still be difficult for the Players to raise that amount, unlike the other firms.

"For them to come up with $20,000 or $30,000 is a drop in the bucket. For us it's kind of stiff," she said. Still, with the benefactor's generosity, "it will help us get off our feet for a year until we can come up with another alternative." Breckenridge said there could be fundraising activities to generate funds.

The CVP has a bank account which was considered as a fund source, "but we don't want to deplete all out assets to pay for it," she said.

The Players sent out a letter to their patrons, asking for pledges. So far, they've received $2,000 to $3,000 worth of commitments. "That will lower the debt a little bit also," said Breckenridge, referring to the reduced interest if some cash is paid up front or if they gather enough to make a down payment.

Though things are definitely more optimistic, the future remains sketchy.

Breckenridge said the sale won't necessarily guarantee the theater's security because CN says it needs the land under the rest of the building for its right-of-way. "We're in a kind of Catch-22," she admitted.

"We're looking for some kind of a long-term commitment from the railroad. If we buy the parcel, will (they) let us continue there so we can continue to do business as usual. If they can't guarantee we can

School bond issue on Dec. 9 ballot

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY Clarkston News Editor

It's now up to the voters.

With the approval of the Michigan Department of Treasury, the Clarkston Board of Education voted unanimously Monday night to call a bond election for Monday, Dec. 9.

The ballot proposal will ask voters for permission to borrow $52.5 million to build a new elementary school, add on to and remodel existing elementary schools, remodel both middle schools and prepare the high school to become a middle school, as well as purchase technology.

The action was expected to be taken at the Oct. 14 regular meeting. However, the required approval from Treasury did not arrive on time and the motion had to be delayed to a special meeting Oct. 21.

"Hopefully we're going to bring this cycle to closure," said board treasurer Kurt Shanks, who chaired the last bond issue, that for the new high school. "As a board member I'm very pleased to bring what I consider a high-value issue to the public for a vote."

The election is seen as Phase III in the district's long-term building campaign which has been spurred by continuing population growth. Phase I, Springfield Plains Elementary School, opened two years ago. Phase II, a new high school, is under construction on Flemings Lake Rd.

Phase III will allow the district to build new elementary classroom space in order to eliminate portable classrooms and bring back specialty rooms, such as art and science, that have been lost due to overcrowding. The proposal also includes remodeling existing elementary schools to provide educational equity for all students. Both items were recommended by a citizen committee.

"Not only are we adding space we need, we're also looking to remove the portables that have been housing our children for over 20 years, that were supposed to be temporary," said trustee Sheila Hughes.

Phase III also includes remodeling Clarkston Middle School for use as a community education building, and work on some problems at Sashabaw Middle School. Some modifications are also planned at the current high school for its conversion to a middle school, and technology for all the affected buildings is included as well.

Because the district already has so much bonded indebtedness and the state puts a limit on how much debt millage a district can levy, Phase III will only add

The news in brief

Chance for public to test new voting apparatus

The City of Clarkston plans to hold a public accuracy testing session for its new voting system which will be used in the general election this November. City manager Art Pappas said he, Mayor Sharron Catallo and resident Alma Goldner will be tesing the machines to make sure they work properly. The public is invited to try their hand as well, Pappas said.

Most people are already familiar with the system which is used in township and school elections and was in the August primaries, he added. The session will be held Friday Oct. 25 at 1 p.m. at City Hall, 375 Depot.

Help needed election day

Two hundred volunteers are needed to help out on election day so the Kids Vote program can work in Clarkston.

Speaking at last week's Clarkston Area Chamber of Commerce meeting, Independence Township Clerk Joan McCrary said since her workers will be very busy election day, volunteers are needed to make sure children get to vote, just like their parents.

The Kids Vote program is designed to get more parents out to vote by allowing them to bring their children to the polls. Kids will also be able to vote electronically, just like mom and dad.

To volunteer, call coordinator Sherry Regiani at 625-5222.

Friend of theCourt gets tough with deadbeats

This week the Oakland County Friend of the Court will order the most deadbeat moms and dads to appear in circuit court.

The FOC says it currently has 7,200 bench warrants, representing $67 million in unpaid child support, outstanding. The 400 top offenders were ordered to show up in court this week to make arrangements to pay off their arrearages or face the prospect of prosecution. Anyone who fails to appear will have an arrest warrant issued within 48 hours

The effort, dubbed the "Pay Up Round Up," is a cooperation between the court, sheriff's department, county executive and the board of commissioners. During the week of Oct. 28, the sheriff's department will actively seek those who failed to annear.

"We want to send a loud and clear message that the payment of child support is one of the highest priorities," said Oakland County Chief Circuit Judge ProTem Barry Howard.

Halloween begging hours set

The City of Clarkston and Independence Township approved trick-or-treat hours during their respective board meetings recently. Halloween begging will be held from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m., Oct. 31, in both municipalities.

The next downtown?

Sashabaw Corridor is planner's first model for future township development

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE Clarkston News Staff Writer

Think beauty. Think convenience. And, most of all, think compatibility.

When he met with fellow 2020 Vision-aries at the last steering committee meeting, township planner Dick Carlisle told them the careful creation along Sashabaw Rd. was "a rare opportunity to establish an area of excellence ... and apply it everywhere."

Indeed, the stretch from Maybee to I-75 is Carlisle's painted mental picture of what the rest of the township will seek to emulate in development standards once the corridor's completed.

The mixed-use plans provide something for everyone. There are safety paths for carrying home groceries and walking the family dog. A teen center for kids who need a place to call their own. Homes for stayers, apartments for those who will move on. Offices, clubs, a park and a school. And maybe future restaurants for those who want more choices.

The so-called Sashabaw Corridor "is where the

'(The Sashabaw corridor) is a rare opportunity to establish an area of excellence ... and apply it everywhere.'

Township planner Dick Carlisle

most immediate attention is being paid right now," said Carlisle during an interview last week. It has been called the next downtown.

"The approach that we are taking to the Sashabaw Rd. corridor is to try to integrate those elements that will create a vibrancy of mixture in land uses that are compatible with one another. They are interconnected, with both pedestrian and vehicular access. They are enhanced with a greenway (open-space) system. And they have certain common design elements."

Pedestrian access and mixed use are important points, adds Carlisle, because they will create "a more neighborhood feel." And the period-style design in architecture and areas like lighting and signage will preserve the well-tended history that's so dear to Clarkston hearts.

In addition, Carlisle's crystal ball shows a proposed limited boulevard in the middle of Sashabaw when it becomes a five-lane roadway, now proposed for 2001. That too will blend, but Carlisle doesn't want it to be a stand-out feature, but rather one that will mix with the rest of the uses.

"It's an integral part of the design concepts we are trying to achieve ... Let's try to apply the same kind of attention to the road," he said.

In the Independence Township Vision 2020 Draft Strategic Plan, which he recently presented to steering committee members, Carlisle states that "the Sashabaw corridor area has been identified as the core for new economic development and community identity with the township."

The town-center feel he hopes to achieve includes parking in back of businesses to alleviate negative visual impact, well-designed landscaping in addi1-Waldon Research/Office Park: vacant, master-planned for a research office park with limited light industrial and some offices.

2-Office Service: designed for offices as part of Waldon Village Towne Center's mixed-use development.

3-Single-Family Attached: designated for single-family homes in the Towne Center 4-Multi-family: planned for multi-family dwellings in the Towne Center

5-Greenway: a wetlands system that will create a man-made pond for both stormwater and aesthetic purposes; a "multi-objective approach," Carlisle says 6—Public/Semi-Public: vacant land owned by the township

7-Multi-family: Bridgewater Apartments 8—Commerical: Independence Towne Square shopping center

9---Commercial service: planned for See CORRIDOR, page 15A commercial uses for the Towne Center.

Clarkston El. has a new principal

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY

Clarkston News Editor

After a lengthy and sometimes frustrating search, Clarkston Elementary School has a new principal.

The Clarkston board of education approved the hiring Oct. 14 of Mike Kehoe, an assistant superintendent for instruction with Hartland Consolidated Schools, a 3,500-student district in Livingston County. Kehoe will make $78,957 per year.

A resident of Fenton, Kehoe was an elementary principal in Hartland for four years, and at a private school in Lansing for four years as well. He was also a middle school counselor in Goodrich for four years, and taught middle school for four years in Ionia. He attended the University of Michigan and received his educational specialist degree from Michigan State.

According to Duane Lewis, Clarkston's assistant superintendent for personnel. Kehoe wanted to leave central office and get back in closer proximity to the

"It's a little unusual," Lewis said. "We talked to Mike a great deal about that. What he told us was he really wanted to get back working with the kids. The job he now has almost completely removed him from that."

Kehoe is one of two people who made the final cut in the second go-round of interviews for the job. The first round of candidates produced no one who was a consensus choice, Lewis said earlier. This time, Kehoe, who did not apply the first time, and one other person were the subject of site visits, where Kehoe's references were "overpowering," Lewis said.

At Monday's board of education meeting, superintendent Al Roberts said Kehoe's colleagues de-

"I've been missing the contact with students," Kehoe said

In his current job, Kehoe had district-wide responsibility for the Michigan Educational Assessment Program tests, and coming to a school that is highachieving on the tests is an enticement.

"That's one important measure of many, and I think it's a plus," he said. He isn't concerned about how he'll continue to make such a successful school improve. Rather, he plans to do a lot of observing and listening and getting to know students, staff and parents

Board votes to sell bad investments

First sale shows a $450,000 loss

> BY EILEEN McCARVILLE Clarkston News Staff Writer

Independence Township will now rely on a Birmingham money manager to deliver it from a bad investment portfolio.

Before the township's Board of Trustees voted to sell all four of its collaterized mortgage obligations (CMOs) as well as a Lord Abbott Government Securities mutual fund during its meeting Oct. 14, a long, detailed presentation of the what, how and why was presented by three different experts.

Ken Carroll, investment advisor of Aileron Ltd., showed the board a ten-year treasury note history and recommended the investments be sold. The four CMOs in question today carry a $2.4 million market value and a 4.3 percent interest yield, he said. The original purchase price for all four was $5.3 million. The first he downside risk to holding them was larger than the upside advantage of holding them. For every point the interest rate goes up, the value of the investments goes down four times.'

Township supervisor Dale Stuart purchase was made in early 1993, township supervisor Dale Stuart said.

A few months ago, Munder Capital Management investment manager Peter Root recommended selling two risky, long-term securities to reduce the overall portfolio's duration from 7.4 years to 3.4 years. A third investment, the Lord Abbott mutual fund, was also recommended to be sold as soon as possible, thereby reducing the duration even further, by .75 years. The Lord Abbott fund has underperformed for the last eight years, he said.

At the meeting, Root recommended all four CMO securities be sold and presented three options to the board: sell everything at the current levels of performance; sell them over a six-month time frame one third now, one third in three months and the rest in six months; or sell the four at stop loss levels while keeping an eye on the market to get the best rates. In addition, he recommended selling the Lord Abbott fund immediately. His recommendation was the second option, selling all over the six-month time frame. Root said it would take nine years for the township to earn back the original investment.

Sell-these, reinvest the proceeds ... You know what the outcome is and you have an opportunity to earn back the gap you lost," he said.

Responding to Root's recommendation, trustee Jeff McGee said he didn't want Root to be "handcuffed" in selling the securities at the given times.

"We've hired your firm based on your expertise. You're the market timer; you're the expert who should sell these," he said.

Township supervisor Dale Stuart said he didn't think Root was saying he had to be locked in. "I think we need to provide the flexibility to Mr. Root. If it takes nine months, that's acceptable too," he said.

Root recommended he "pull the trigger" and liqudate. "Let's begin that process. Let's start. Or else we, or our successors, could be sitting here in five or 10 years, saying 'What are these bonds?'"

A final presentation was made by township auditor Jeff Mengle of Plante & Moran, who showed the effects of the investments upon the township's various fund areas and departments.

Different funds in the township, like the DDA, for example, owned percentages of the investment. The townhip will need to account for the reduction of their value in the portfolio, Mengle said.

The board voted to give Root the authority to sell the four CMOs when he deems necessary, but stick to the time frame as close as possible. They passed two separate motions: to sell the CMOs; then to sell the Lord Abbott mutual fund. Both passed 5-1 with trustee Dan Travis absent and Lutz dissenting.

Lutz, who purchased the investments on the township's behalf, told the board that, while he would not vote in favor of the sale, he would not interfere.

"I will not give (you) a hard time," he said.

Later, Lutz was asked why he voted no. "It was the wrong time to sell. It was all political," was all he would say.

Monday Stuart said the largest of the CMOs had been sold for $1.256 million. Originally it had been purchased for $2.48 million. "It looks like a loss of $800,000 but, in reality, it's $450,000 because of the return of the interest and principal," he said.

He said the affected township funds can be handled several ways. The funds will be adjusted by taking a reduction in the value of the investments' selling prices, he said.

Stuart said the township will not know the exact loss on the investments until all are sold. He agreed it

Dana Fortinberry has been endorsed by the Oakland County Sheriff 's Department Command Officers Association and the Oakland County Deputy Sheriff 's Association because she is the ONLY candidate for 52/2 District Court who has experience fighting today's crime. Some of our members have ctually been told by criminals that they come to our community to commit their crimes because they know that the current 28-year incumbent District Judge will not hold them accountable for their illegal actions. It's time to elect a District Court Judge who will set a tough new standard for law enforcement in northern Oakland County!

As both an Assistant Prosecuting Attorney and Magistrate at the 52/2 District Court, Dana Fortinberry has championed the rights of crime victims by holding convicted criminals fully responsible for their crimes. As experienced law enforcement professionals who patrol your streets every day, we know that she will send a long overdue new message to criminals that their illegal actions will meet with swift and certain punishment in the 52/2 District Court. Please help us fight crime in your community by joining us at the polls on November 5th to elect Dana L. Fortinberry as our next District Court Judge!

by Annette Kingsbury

We get what we deserve

One day last week I caught Pierre Salinger, journalist and advisor to presidents, on a Canadian TV show. While that might sound like a snoozer, it was really quite interesting.

Those old enough to remember the Kennedy years will remember Salinger as a young man working for a young president. In the intervening years he has gone on to great assignments as a correspondent for ABC news, notably from Paris, and to work as an advisor to French President Jacques Chirac.

Salinger talked about this year's American presidential election, and how he expects a new low in voter turnout—around 40 percent. He pointed out that in the Kennedy-Nixon election, 75 percent of the voters turned out. It's been falling ever since.

It was Salinger's opinion that such a low turnout could hurt President Clinton, because voters who are not enamored of either candidate but would vote for him might be apathetic enough to stay home. Perhaps President Clinton understands this; in the last few days he's been talking about not taking re-election for Salinger said he never pays attention to polls except in the last few days before an election. Once when he was covering a British election for ABC, he called the election as the polls showed it at 11 p.m. London time. Two hours later, the vote count proved him wrong. So much for polls.

However, there are two indicators, he said, that seem to foreshadow a Clinton win. Referring back to 1946, Salinger said Democrats won big in Congress while President Truman was re-elected, just two years after losing big in Congress in the off-year election.

And then there's my favorite prognostication of all. Apparently, the Yankees have made it to the World Series five times in presidential election years. In each case, when the Yankees won, the Democrats lost. Pointing to the rebounding Atlanta Braves, Salinger said it looks pretty good for the Dems this year. Ya gotta love it.

On a more serious note, Salinger was asked by his interviewer whether President Clinton is a "flawed man for a flawed time." It's the same question, more or less, that I've been wondering about lately.

Why doesn't it bother me more that the White House looked at Republicans' FBI files? If this were the '70s and Nixon was in the White House, it would have bothered me plenty.

And when and where did we shift to becoming a nation that says heck with morals, what have you done for me lately? When did our pedestals, so comfortable for hoisting heroes up on, cease to exist? When did all our heroes become athletes?

If we were looking for the guy with the highest morals, the cleanest record, we'd all be voting for Ralph Nader this year. Yes, he's running for president. No, you probably won't get any campaign flyers or see any half-baked TV spots. He isn't even giving interviews, last I heard.

He may be the perfect candidate-hard-working, squeaky clean, no-nonsense. But don't look for his name atop the leader board election night. Despite all our denials, we like our presidents to have some sexappeal. And that may be what bodes worst for Dole,

Letters to the editor

A Great Asset

To the editor:

The second-grade students and teachers of the Clarkston Community Schools have been fortunate to have financial and informational resource assistance from the Clarkston Historical Society in two social studies curriculum projects.

Over a year ago the Clarkston Historical Society funded the writing, illustrating, and publishing of "Our Children's Heritage." This book, about Clarkston, is written for our second-graders and is the basis for our social studies curriculum. Our school district's curriculum council and the school board approved this book so all our second-graders would have the opportunity to learn about their community.

Recently, all second-grade students and teachers received desk maps of Clarkston. This project was totally funded by the Clarkston Historical Society. The children will learn basic map skills using the laminated desk maps which show The City of the Village of Clarkston on one side and the village in relationship to the various townships which surround it on the other side. This is an excellent resource. The children will identify historical landmarks, geographical features, streets, etc., prior to taking their walk to see these places.

We are so fortunate to have the caring members of the Clarkston Historical Society in this community. Without their encouragement and support these projects would not have been accomplished.

I hope every community member has an opportunity to view "Our Children's Heritage" and the desk maps. The Clarkston Historical Society membership has provided a valuable learning experience for our children.

> With thanks, Rosemary Lewis

Vote for Hogan

To the editor:

Matt Hogan is a candidate for Oakland County Sheriff. He has impressed me as a career law enforcement professional who is honest and reputable.

At 78 years old, it's time for Sheriff Nichols to retire. It's time for a new sheriff who will provide integrity and restore morale to a department lacking both under the current leadership.

Lydia Hirsch

Irresponsible

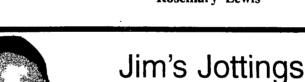

During an election year, without even picking up a paper or turning on the television, I can tell when an election is upon us. In less than a month, we will be casting our ballots for a president, state representative, judge, county executive, sheriff, prosecutor, and many other local, state and congressional representatives.

I can hardly wait until the elections are over, so I can see the remnants of the November election "litter" still gracing the area. Why is it that people who are promising to look out for our community cannot take it upon themselves to clean up the mess they created? They could start by removing the campaign signs from street corners, vacant lots, electrical and telephone poles.

Just yesterday, I spoke to a civil service employee who removed a Jon Coon sign from a telephone pole during the previous week. For those of you who are not aware, Jon Coon ran for state representative in 1992.

Thank you for letting me voice my opinion.

Sincerely, Michelle L. Birdwell

By Jim Sherman

I'm reaching, but not touching

Doesn't anyone answer the phone any more? I mean live person?

An actual voice?

I had three phone calls to make this morning. One to Canon's regional office in Illinois, one to Michigan Bell and one a birthday wish to a friend.

The first two were very upsetting and time consuming experiences . . . experiences we hope they get subjected to early and often.

The "Punch one, punch two, punch three" are popular for only two reasons: 1. Those receiving calls want to screen who they talk to, and, 2. Telephone companies can quadruple their profits by our having to listen through all the commands while paying long distance rates.

The call to Canon was double troubling. The first call at 8:40 to Itasca, IL seemed to last longer than my wife's first pregnancy, at the end of which the recorder said, "Our office hours are 9:00 a.m. central time ..."

I didn't even get a live person to ask if Itasca, IL is where the Itasca motor home is built.

Thirty minutes later, on my next call, when the ringing finally stopped in Canon's microfilm printerreader repair department a recording gave me an excuse for their being absent from the bench.

The first recorded voice on the Michigan Bell call told me they were Ameritech. I knew that. It says so under Michigan Bell in the phone book "See Ameritech Pages Plus."

I had looked in the phone book to get the number of their public relations department. It isn't listed. So I had to call long distance to get Michigan's public relations recording, which, like Canon, gave us a stall on why they couldn't "go live" as those in the tv-radio business say.

Bell, excuse me, Ameritech, has done a great job convincing too many people that call waiting and recorders are just what they need to better communicate with friends, family and customers.

Personally, I find a busy signal and no answer to be more informative. A busy signal at least means there is a live person on the othersend of the line.

No answer means, of course, no one's at home and I'm not being charged long distance rates to hear someone say they are capable, willing or available to answer their phone at that time, but chose not to.

I know I'm invited to "leave a message at the beep," which I do. It's a click.

THE OUR DURY BEAUTY

A look back

15 YEARS AGO (1981)

This year's typical Independence Township property owner will pay $1,879 in taxes. That's the word from township assessor David Sherrill, who estimates the typical taxpayer has property assessed at $40,000 or one half the market value of $80,000. The county's figures are still termed tentative, Sherrill says, because the commission hasn't officially approved the numbers. But they're "99-and-nine-tenths sure," he says.

The $600 scholarship, medallion, plaque and title of 1982 Clarkston Junior Miss belongs to Sonya Funck, who receives the honor Saturday night from a panel of five judges. Eighteen contestants take part in group routines for physical fitness, poise and appearance and solo in a talent presentation and interview before the judges.

The rain was falling, the cold was penetrating and the field was a pool of mud—but inside the Clarkston High School junior varsity football team's bus, where chants of "We're number one!" were heard, the sun was shining. The Clarkston Wolves wrap up a fourth straight Greater Oakland Activities League Championship—four straight titles without a single league loss along the way, thanks to a 13-2 win over Waterford Mott this week.

25 YEARS AGO (1971)

About 75 residents turn out for a public information meeting on public safety. They hear a SEMCOG official outline ways of obtaining public safety needs, as well as a county official "offer" police protection to the township and a former public safety director relay the advantages of a consolidated police-fire department.

The Clarkston Wolves seem to attract the rain, or is it the rain seems to attract the Wolves? No matter—the Wolves have been plagued by rain the most important two games in the season. The Wolves are totally creamed in a 22-0 loss to the West Bloomfield Lakers Friday. By the first quarter's end, the playing field is transformed into a mud puddle and West Bloomfield has an 8-0 advantage.

50 YEARS AGO (1946)

Halloween festivities set for Clarkston feature a show and dance with the Goodwill Barn Dance and Show entertainers who have been with WJR the past two years. Square dancing will follow at 9 p.m. but, as the next day is a school day, the dancing will be brought to a close somewhat earlier than usual. Also included are prizes, refreshments, a parade, bonfire and song fest

Playing at the Drayton Theatre are Gary Cooper and Ingrid Bergman in "Saratoga Trunk," Bette Davis in "A Stolen Life" and "Wild Bill" Elliott as Red Ryder in "Sheriff of Redwood Valley." Featured at the Holly Theatre are Robert Lowery and Barbara Britton in "They Made Me a Killer" and George Brent, Lucille Ball, Vera Zorina and Charles Winninger in "Lover Come Back."

Specials at the Village Market include young beef liver, 32 cents a pound; Spic & Span, a package for 21 cents; Chicken-a-la-King, a jar for 54 cents; Tenderoni, three packages for a quarter; Pla-Safe Matches, six boxes for 24 cents; and Gerber's Baby Foods, four cans for a quarter.

60 YEARS AGO (1936).

A meeting of the Independence Republican Women's Club is held in the Clarkston Town Hall with a very good attendance. Election of officers for 1937 takes place and the following women are elected: president, Miss Wilma Doebler, vice president, Mrs. Floyd Andrews, secretary, Mrs. Iva Miller and treasurer, Miss Nell Barry. The group votes to send dues to the Oakland County federation to become a part of the working group. Speaker for the afternoon, superintendent of Clarkston schools D.W. Winn, talks about the four amendments to be voted upon next Tuesday. If passed, two of them will mean the school budget will be cut so low that educational standards will be sacrificed.

Featured at the Holly Theatre are Lew Ayres and Gail Patrick in "Murder with Pictures," Gary Cooper and Madeleine Carnoll in "The General Died at Dawn" and Dick Powell and Joan Blondell in "Stage Struck."

Specials at Rudy's include hamburger, two pounds for 29 cents; sausage, two pounds for 35 cents; pure lard, two pounds for 29 cents; Chocolate Drops, a pound for a dime; and cheese, a pound for 19 cents.

Halloween blues

The deep-auburn mass is good in the winter for keeping the wind from chapping my cheeks, but that same hairy-growth plays heck with trying to come up with a Halloween costume.

This is especially true when the yo-yos throwin' the party choose a theme which is not noted for its beard-wearing celebrities. The theme chosen for this monster bash is the 1950s.

Ta-da!
Great fun, lots of grease, leather, jeans, cigarettes and big hair. No beards.

I've spent countless hours (okay, moments) trying to come up with the quintessential, 1950's bearded character. Nobody -- except Burl Yves, a few million Russians, and the East German swimming team -- grew beards back then. The 1950s was cool, neat-o-kean, crew-cuts, curls and sideburns.

I almost decided on Burl Yves. I was going to make myself into the Snowman from "Rudolph The Red Nose Reindeer." Of course that would mean I'd have to find some mistletoe and walk around all night singing "Holly Jolly Christmas." That might be more frightening to the Halloween babes than bloodylimbs and other gross stuff.

Like I said, I almost did the Burl-thing -- almost is the key word in this scenario. I almost did the Burl thing until I started asking folks younger than me if they knew who Burl was. It is an amazing thing to see otherwise intelligent, young beings get blank, "whothe-heck-are-you-talking-about" stares on their face. I had to explain the snowman bit, to which they politely smiled and hurried away.

I imagine I could shave the beard and go as Ralph Mouth from the television series "Happy Days." Or shave my beard and grease my hair, don the leather and go as a semi-red headed greaser. (Did any greaser ever have sort-a-red hair?)

I guess I could shave my beard, leave the side burns, dye everything in sight glossy black, find a six-string guitar and go as Elvis. But, I have worked so danged hard on the beard. It finally is looking good -- if you like beards.

Good costume. Save the beard. Why is life full of such hard decisions?

of such hard decisions?

I suppose I could keep the beard and go as Rin
Tin Tin or Lassy, but that seems pretty maintenance intense. How about keeping the beard and going as Michael Landon's character in "I Was A Teenage Werewolf."

H-e-e-y! That might work -- any ideas?

McNally Well Qualified

To Whom it May Concern:

I was a deputy sheriff in Oakland County for 14 years before I left the department to practice law in 1987. Since then, I have appeared in front of Judge Gerald McNally hundreds of times as an attorney and as a public defender. Whether it was in my capacity as a police officer or as an attorney, I have always been impressed with the fair, honest and impartial manner that Judge McNally performs his judicial Judge McNally's judicial demeanor and temperament should not be confused with being soft on crime. He does, however, recognize that incarceration is the most expensive form of punishment and has almost no potential for rehabilitation.

Judge McNally is tough on crime in his own way. For instance, he developed his "First Step" program for drinking-related offenses. He requires defendents convicted of alcohol-related offenses to attend. The program is put on once a month, in the evening (for the convenience of the public and at no additional expense to the taxpayer) and attempts through a series of presentations to help the defendant recognize the total consequence associated with alsohol use.

When necessary, Judge McNally will not hesitate to send someone to jail. I have argued without success, on more than one occasion, to keep a client out of jail. Furthermore, when a prosecutor presents competent evidence supporting a criminal charge, he always binds the more serious criminals over to Circuit Court and sets bonds appropriate for the circumstances surrounding the offense.

It was with that background that I was honored to accept an appointment as a magistrate in Judge McNally's court.

I have practiced in courts throughout the State of Michigan and in comparison to all of the other judges that I have had exposure to, Judge McNally is exceptionally qualified.

The largest tax increase in American history, $250 billion dollars, was passed in 1993. Bill Clinton proposed it, and our current ninth district congressman, Dale Kildee, voted fot it. Thanks to their efforts, Americans today are paying the highest percentage of their income in taxes in the peacetime history of our nation - 38.2%. More dollars are being taken out of our paychecks for taxes than at any other time in our history. Don't believe that these taxes just hit the rich. The Clinton/Kildee tax increase hit all of us. Senior citizens earning as little as $34,000 per year had taxable portion of their Social Security increased 70% percent.

Our current congressman has been in office for more than 20 years. He has been a part of the tax-andspend mentality during his entire career in Congress. He has voted to increase taxes each year he has been in office. In 1995, the National Taxpayers Union gave him a rating of 17, which means that he voted to decrease, or not increase, spending only 17 % of the

It's time for

Nichols to retire

Dear Sir/Madam:

Since John Nichols won't, its time for the voters to make a change in the Oakland County Sheriff's Department. I was John Nichols' undersheriff from January 1, 1985, until my retirement in July of 1993. Often, during that time period, John Nichols said that he wanted to beat Andy Baird's record for remaining in office.

Andy Baird was the Wayne County Sheriff from 1940 until his death in January of 1963, at age 83. During his final years in office, Andy Baird was ill and out of touch with the day-to-day operation of his department, as evidenced by a Detroit News editorial:

"and by the way, note who presented the department's budget request: Undersheriff Ryan - as is customary. Where was the Sheriff of Wayne County, Andrew C. Baird, candidate for his 11th term in his 83rd year? Who can recall the last time Sheriff Baird truely represented his department instead of Ryan.

"It's customary in County government to shrug and say that Ryan runs the shop well. We're not sure he doesn't, but we're far from convinced that he does.

"And if he does, the situation is still preposterous. And Baird's renomination in the Democratic primary is a travesty on the electoral process." - Detroit News, August 20, 1962, page

John Nichols has been in law enforcement since 1941. He was 66 when he was elected to his first term as Oakland County Sheriff, in 1984. He is now 78 and in poor health. He maintains oxygen bottles in his home, his car, and his office. He is seldom seen in public for any period of time due to his health.

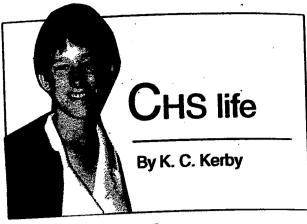

A top command officer recently told me that Nichols is out of touch with law enforcement, out of touch with the department, and out of touch with reality in general. And another command officer has told me that the sheriff is very forgetful, a situation that can have grave consequences when you're in charge of a department with a 65 million dollar budget.

John Nichols has all but abdicated the responsibility of the day-to-day operation of his department to two employees: Pam Newsome in Administrative Services and Anne Russell in Corrective Services, neither of which is a sworn officer.

I was with the department for 35 years and 9 months. During that period, it grew from 50 swom personnel and 230 inmates, to 681 sworn personnel and an inmate population of over 1,500, with numerous satellite facilities. I was proud to be a deputy and the fine men and women who are still there deserve much better.

The Honorable Roman Gribbs had to fire Nichols as Commissioner of the Detroit Police Department in 1972 because Nichols didn't know when it was time to leave that organization. It is now time for the voters of Oakland County to tell Nichols that you were good in your day, but now it's time to go.

> Sincerely, Billy J. Nolin Undersheriff, Retired

Alphabet soup

At least once every year, I begin my frantic search for a number 2 pencil and slowly go crosseyed from filling in the little round bubbles on an answer sheet blanketing my desk. This year is no different. I am once again taking a standardized test.

I've been taking the same test under different names since second grade, and I'm destined to take a lot more before I see the end of them. This year it's the DAT, for Differential Aptitude Test. I took the same thing in third grade, I think, but there is an alphabet soup of annoying acronyms out there that make it impossible to keep all these tests straight. So far, I've heard of the MEAP, CogAT, DAT, SAT, PSAT/NMSQT, ACT, GMAT, and CTBS, and there are probably hundreds more. My question is, how can all these claim to standardize people, when everyone is different?

Let's face it. People are not statistics. They can't be herded into little groups that are organized by a test score, then stacked away in a file cabinet for future reference. People have personalities, and no test can measure that (although some of them try). Besides, some personalities wouldn't fit in a file cabinet.

I understand that tests like the MEAP are a way to compare one school to another, find out what schools don't teach and where they need to improve. One test could do that as well as seven, though, and it would leave more time for the school to catch up on what it hasn't taught yet. Each test can mean weeks of wasted time, because teachers spend so much time preparing students for tests that the students sometimes miss out on things they could have learned.

Personally, I think learning is more important than testing what I already know. For the last week, I've SAT and done DAT when I wanted to ACT. Granted, some people do like tests: they think of them as a break in the normal day. I used to think that way, too, but I can only take so much of it. CHS wasn't built to be a testing facitlity. It's a school, and that means people go there to learn.

Candidate's manager responds to letter

As campaign manager for the Fortinberry for District Judge Committee, it is necessary for me to respond to the totally untrue statements made by Michael L. Odette and published by your newspaper on October 16, 1996. I urge voters not to rely on the description of Dana Fortinberry invented by Mr. Odette. Not only is he a criminal defense attorney who benefits often from Judge McNally's lenient treatment of his clients, but he is also a member of Judge McNally's campaign committee. I am shocked that The Clarkston News chose to print his obviously biased statement without also noting his allegiance to the current judge.

Instead, I urge voters to examine the thorough and very factual responses given by Dana Fortinberry to questions which were posed to her by The Clarkston News in its candidate survey. Unlike the rantings of Mr. Odette, those survey responses quite accurately reflect her judicial philosophy. They are to be published by the newspaper on October 30, 1996.

Mr. Odette's assertion that Ms. Fortinberry does not believe in second chances is not a statement which has ever been made by Dana Fortinberry. In fact, it comes directly from the mouth of Judge McNally. Dana Fortinberry does, however, believe strongly that convicted violators of the law must receive punishment in order to prevent them from reoffending, thereby protecting the law-abiding citizens of this District. It is Ms. Fortinberry's firm belief, however, that each case must be judged on its own merits, which is exactly what she did when she served for over three years as Magistrate at the 52/2 District Court. Contrary to Mr. Odette's assertion that Dana Fortinberry is "young and inexperienced," it was Judge McNally himself who recruited Ms. Fortinberry from the Macomb County Prosecutor's Office, where she had been a nationally-recognized sex crimes prosecutor for eight years. When Judge McNally hired her to serve as magistrate at the 52/2 District Court in 1992, he in fact told her he had done so because of her outstanding skills and experience as a trial attorney and her impeccable reputation in the legal community. (Incidentally, as you can tell by her extensive resume, Ms. Fortinberry is not all that young. In fact, she will turn 41 one week after the election.)

Mr. Odette's scandalous accusation that Dana Fortinberry has broken the law in parking a fully licensed campaign vehicle on private property with full permission of the property owners is simply ridiculous. Will he next tell UPS that they can't park their trucks on their private property because they have their company logo on them? Furthermore, our committee's one tiny box truck hardly compares to the semi-trailer bearing Court of Appeals Judge Saad's name which has been parked in front of Bordine's on Dixie Highway. Our truck is in fact a working campaign vehicle which is used to haul campaign signs and literature. I wonder if Mr. Odette would care to give his opinion to Judge Saad that the Judge is violating the law? I doubt it. The political sign ordinances, which Mr. Odette clearly didn't take the time to find and read prior to expressing his uninformed legal opinion, apply only to political signs posted in our yards and in front of our businesses. Judge McNally himself is aware of this because his request of sheriff's deputies that they ticket the Fortinberry vehicle was turned down by those deputies because they had no grounds for ticketing a fully licensed, legally parked vehicle.

Lastly, Mr. Odette was careful to omit the source of Judge McNally's "outstanding" rating and Dana Fortinberry's "qualified but not recommended" rating. It was in fact Mr. Odette and his colleagues in the old-boys network of the Oakland County Bar Association who made such an assessment. These are attorneys who have everything to gain by keeping a judge who is proud of the moniker "Gentle Gerry" on the bench, because they know that when Dana Fortinberry is elected, she will hold criminal defendants accountable for their actions. Understandably, they don't like that prospect very much. That is why 10 of the 13 incumbent judges rated by the Bar Association received "outstanding" ratings, while only 3 of 23 challengers did, all of those in races where there is no incumbent judge. These guys really know which side their bread is buttered on.

Let me tell the voters of this district just how much of a stake the criminal defense attorneys have in keeping Judge McNally on the bench. On September 24, 1996, Judge McNally adjourned sentencing until December 23, 1996 for a convicted drunk driver. The defendant in that case had been arrested on February 2, 1996, and had pled guilty on June 10, 1996. He has five previous convictions for drunk driving on his record, in addition to other convictions for driving while license suspended, disorderly conduct, criminal sexual conduct-first degree and criminal sexual conduct-second degree. He is still driving on the temporary license which was issued to him on the night of his arrest in February - over eight months ago! So why would the judge adjourn sentencing on such a case until after the election? Because the convicted repeat drunk driver's attorney is a member of Judge McNally's re-election campaign committee, and the judge can slap the defendant on the wrist and send him back out on the road to drive after the election is over. That's why.

In a much more unbiased rating, which Mr. Odette conveniently omitted from his letter, Dana Fortinberry was the ONLY candidate to be rated "well qualified," the highest possible endorsement of the Republican Committee of Oakland County. In addition, Dana Fortinberry has received the unanimous endorsement of the Oakland County Sheriff Department Command Officers Association and the endorsement of the Oakland County Deputy Sheriff's Association. We think the Deputy Sheriff's Association endorsement is particularly significant because Judge McNally's own son is a member of that organization. In all, Dana Fortinberry's candidacy has received the unqualified endorsement of over 10,000 police officers.

The informed voters we talk to every day have told us that they will be voting on November 5 for the candidate who has the solid support of the lawenforcement officers who work in this community, rather than for the candidate who has the solid support of all the criminal defense attorneys who want to continue to have an easy time representing criminals at the 52/2 District Court. We urge all voters to take a strong stand for our community and against crime by casting their votes for Dana L. Fortinberry. Don't let crime win!

Very truly yours, Charles L. Fortinberry Campaign Manager Fortinberry for District Judge Committee

Experience Counts

On election day, we have the opportunity to reelect Judge Gerald McNally. As a retired police officer, I have worked with all the fine district courts in Oakland County. Here in the Clarkston area we have one of the most dedicated hard working judges in the system. He and his staff handle one of the largest district court case loads in the 52 court district. Judge McNally is a member of our community and strives to make it a better place to live. He receives the highest marks from his peers. Judge McNally has earned your respect, and deserves your

Need Experience

Dear editor:

The 52-2 District Court located in Clarkston has jurisdiction over six northwestern Oakland County townships. The people in these townships are indeed fortunate having an experienced, intelligent and exceptional incumbent Judge, Gerald E. McNally.

Judge McNally is being challenged in this upcoming election by a person with little experience. The challenger's campaign seems to say that all who appear before her will be found guilty.

It is the duty of a judge to determine the rights of parties according to the rules of law and the principles of equity. This is what Judge McNally has been doing for 25 years. It would be unfortunate to replace Judge McNally with an inexperienced, unpracticed

Supports Hogan

As an Oakland County business owner, and an employer who has employees working 24 hours a day, 7 days a week throughout the county, I have become increasingly aware of safety and lawenforcemet issues.

I have listened to both candidates for sheriff speak, and have read articles about them published in various newspapers.

Based on what I have heard and read, there seems to be only one logical choice for this important, responsible position.

I'm voting for Matt Hogan for Oakland County Sheriff, and hope all voters will look at the facts and make the same decision.

Kinder-Kapers

The first days of kindergarten can be a little scary, but these kids were doing well in Kristin Sprague's and Sharon Thomas's classes at Bailey Lake Elementary.

Maybe it's because the message from educators these days is so positive.

"Our main goal is that we want to value the kids for what they know and not penalize them for what they don't know," said Sprague, who is in her second year of teaching at Bailey Lake.

Thomas, who has taught at the school for 20 years, agreed. She said children have to adjust to a myriad of new situations the first year: "thinking skills, academic skills, being a part of the group, they learn to cooperate ...

"What I hope they learn most is that school is an OK place where you can learn to take some risks. That's how we grow."

Of course, the kindergarteners came equipped with some know-how already --- like math skills which showed they were up on current inflation rates. For example, Sprague noted that Lindsay Petku had lost a tooth over the weekend.

"Lindsay, did you get any money?" Eric Leichtnam

"How many dollars did you get?" asked another kindergartener.

"Oh, boy! Oh, boy! Oh, boy!" The best part in the alphabet song is the jumping. Just ask Brittani

Bond issue on Dec. 9 ballot

1.36 mills to a property owner's bill. For a home with a market value of $150,000, that would amount to $102 per year. The total debt millage will rise from the current 5.64 to 7.00 mills. (A mill is $1 for every $1,000 of taxable property value.)

No site has yet been announced for the proposed new elementary school. The bond issue would cover the cost of acquiring and developing property, if necessary, although the district owns two parcels of land which might be suitable.

After Monday's board meeting, a second meeting, this one of people interested in working on the bond campaign, was held. The group will only have seven weeks to make its case to the public. Already, the district has set up a hotline for residents to phone in questions. That number is 620-7350. Superintendent Al Roberts will attempt to answer the questions in future columns in The Clarkston News.

In other board action

The board also discussed the process it will use to choose an architect for Phase III.

The firm of Greiner Associates, architects for Springfield Plains Elementary and the new high school, has prepared the preliminary drawings for the remodeling and expansion work. However the board and administration said Monday night they plan to invite any interested firm that does school work to bid for the project.

"We're not recommending tonight any architect nor are we selecting any process," said Roberts. "We are trying to get a feel for what the board would like."

With the approval of the board, the district will send out a Request for Qualifications to architectural firms. It will then present these qualifications to the board so it can move forward as soon as the bond issue is approved. Interviews will be conducted at public board meetings.

"We're in a position now where we really make this process a priority," said Craig Kahler, the district's Director of Business. He said he'd like to get the RFQs out as soon as this week.

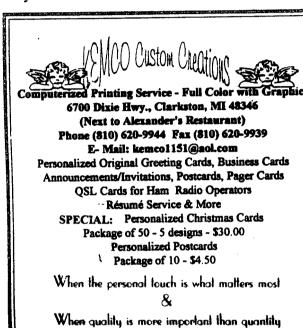

"What the administration is trying to do is be proactive," said Roberts. "So on December 10 we don't spend a couple of months (deciding on a process)." Interviews would not be conducted until after the bond issue passes.

Kahler said he has already been contacted by 10 firms interested in the project. "I feel it's in the board's best interest to open it up to all comers," he said.

Shanks, as treasurer a member of the board's finance committee, said the move does not signal any dissatisfaction with Greiner.

"Greiner only did some of the work," he said. "They did it because they were convenient and already on board. They are welcome to submit a bid.

"We just want to make sure we have the very best every time. Greiner understands that. They hope they are the ones."

Pine knob posts record numbers for sellouts, attendance

Pine Knob Music Theatre has enjoyed another record-setting season by registering the most sellouts, highest per-show attendance and highest total attendance in its six summers under ownership and management of Palace Sports and Entertainment.

The successful Pine Knob summer should make the venue a front-runner to remain the country's busiest or highest grossing venue, an honor it has held the last five summers in various entertainment trade publication polls.

"The strength of this summer's schedule was certainly its variety," said Tom Wilson, president of Palace Sports and Entertainment. "I think we did an outstanding job offering something for every taste in entertainment, so a wide-range of concert-goers could enjoy our venues."

Pine Knob's season saw a total of more than 805,904 guests, the highest in the organization's six seasons by more than 53,468. The outdoor shed's 72 events averaged 11,193 per show, also an organizational best.

A record of 27 sellouts contributed to the attendance records including a venue mark of seven capacity crowds in eight days including Ozzy Osbourne (July 10), Ted Nugent with Bad Company (July 12), James Taylor (July 13), The H.O.R.D.E.

Festival with Blues Traveler, Lenny Kravitz, Rusted Root and Natalie Merchant (July 14 and 15) and Hootie & The Blowfish with John Hiatt (July 16 and

Other Pine Knob full houses included Jimmy Buffett & The Coral Reefer Band (May 30), Tim McGraw and Faith Hill (May 31), Sarah McLachlan

most dangerous way is to do it yourself. The asking price is, by far, the most important part of the selling process. You need expert input.

We offer a Comparative Market Analysis (CMA) to help evaluate your property. We walk through your house with you, perhaps making suggestions about selling points that should be emphasized or minor changes that will enhance the sale.

Then we compare your property with others similar in size and character that are on the market or have been sold recently. In effect, the local market determines the price.

The plan for the whole corridor is to "develop esign guidelines in order to ensure architectural comatibility and consistency but not monotony," he says within the draft. Carlisle plans an "overlay district" which he says is a special zoning technique "whereby we maintain the base zoning ... but (put in) a few common restrictions that would promote the design of the entire area."

The overlay concept will be used in the development of Waldon Village Towne Center, a good example of how common design parameters can be used for an entire project, he said.

The Sashabaw Corridor Target Plan is the first of several areas aimed for Vision 2020 development. Coming soon are plans for Pine Knob, White Lake Rd., the M-15/1-75 Interchange, the Northwest Area and a stretch along Dixie Highway north of White Lake Rd.

The Sashabaw corridor will change the way traditional development has been done in the township, Carlisle said.

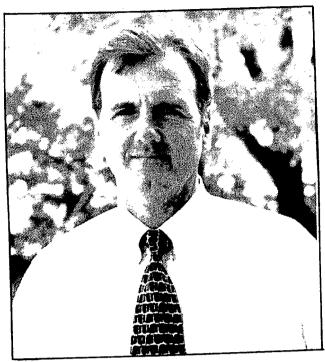

'The point of this is, we've done so much in our suburban development to separate kinds of uses into little boxes. But this is a way to design an environment that provides for an integration of land uses that are compatible and work well with each other."

Carlisle's firm, Carlisle/Wortman Associates, which has served Independence and Springfield townships for over 15 years and Holly Township for 10, recently received an "Outstanding Planning Project Award" from the Michigan Society of Planning Officials for participating in the Ann Arbor Rd. Corridor

The similar development project was a joint effort between the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township, Carlisle's firm and planners McKenna & Associates of Farmington. Judges cited it as a "cooperative effort between two communities to solve a practical problem.'

Though it's similar to what Carlisle hopes to do here, the project also differs because most of the area was already developed. Therefore, much of the planning was "remedial," he said.

A man who obviously enjoys his job, Carlisle referred to the brainstorming which took place between planners, design experts, architects and the community services director as "refreshing ... to spend a whole day planning, that's all we did."

But Vision 2020 presents a whole new challenge. This is the largest effort he's ever been involved in "to turn the planning process upside down." In Vision 2020 the collective brainstorming has expanded to include so many people from all walks of life - residents, local government officials, business persons, developers and have the theater, the 1.3 acres is of no use to us."

"That's what's been so much fun about it," he said.

The 1.3-acre parcel which houses the three entities is already smaller than township policies allow for its industrial zoning. CN never applied for a lot split or a rezoning.

But at least the sale "will give us a time frame to figure out what to do for long-term theater operations,"

Other options have included looking for a new home for the Players, but Breckenridge said it would probably be impossible to move the building because of was important to sell now because interest rates climb according to inflation and, if held, the investments could adversely affect the township.

"Given the current climate in the market, the downside risk to holding them was larger than the upside advantage of holding them. For every point the interest rate goes up, the value of the investments goes down four times," he said.

Trustee candidate Neil Wallace sat busily tracking figures during the presentation. At one point he leaned back and noted, "If we get back to the interest rates we were at when we began, we still lose $1.2 million."

In other board action:

A rezoning request to change two lots in Townsend's Subdivision from C-1 (local commercial) to OS-2 (office) passed unanimously.

 A request to extend a moratorium on cellular antenna tower construction and processing in the township for an additional 60 days was

The board turned down a tax abatement request from Premarc Corp. by a vote of 5-1, trustee Mel Vaara dissenting. Representatives of the corporation said they hoped to locate a plant on White Lake Rd. where they own property. Vaara dissented, saying he felt the abatement could have been a good source of new revenue for Clarkston schools. Stuart said the township has never granted a tax abatement. If it grants one, it becomes more difficult to tell the next corporation no, he said.

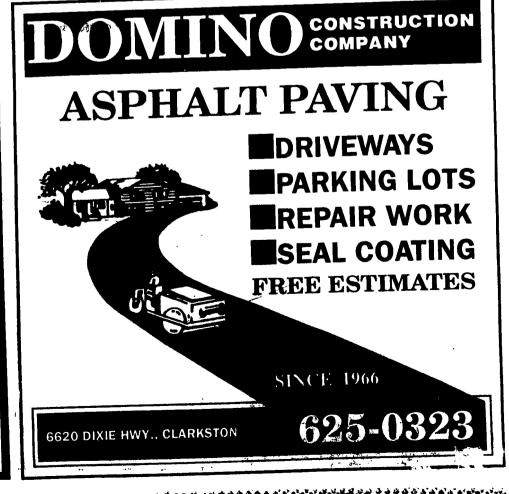

Finishes for new high school displayed

Members of the public as well as Clarkston schools staff got to look at and comment on some of the proposed finish materials for the new high school Monday.

Samples were provided all day at the administration office, with consultants from the school's architect, Greiner Associations, on hand to take comments and field questions.

At Monday night's board of education meeting, school superintendent Al Roberts said the turnout was good. He stressed that no decisions have yet been made. Which materials will be used will have to be decided as bids for that phase of work are presented to

Halloween safety tips

The Michigan Academy of Family Physicians and AAA Michigan urge everyone to make Halloween safe by taking a few common-sense precautions.

"There's no trick tohaving a safe Halloween," said Jerry Basch of AAA. "All it takes is some careful planning for kids to have a magical and safe Halloween night."

Costumes

Wear only flame-retardant materials. White and light colors are best. Avoid wigs, which are not fire-resistant, and use make-up instead. Remove your mask when walking from one house to the next. Wear costumes that are easy to walk in. Attach reflective tape to amke them more visible to motorists.

Walkers

Walk on the sidewalk or grass. If you must walk in the street, make sure you're facing oncoming traffic. Cross only at corners or crosswalks and never dart between parked cars. Don't forget the usual traffic precautions; obey traffic signals and look both ways before crossing. Use a flashlight Do's and don'ts

Be familiar with the curfew and begging hours in your area. Travel with friends—never alone, and stay in your own neighborhood. Go only to homes which are well lit, and never go inside.

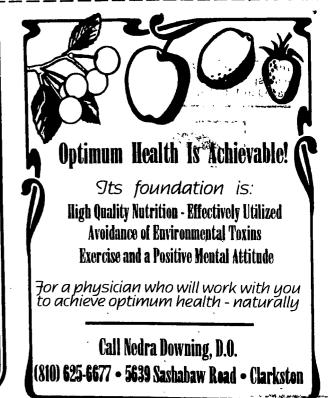

Parents should check all candy before it's consumed.

NEED A CHANGE? Come live where the horses roam. Totally remodeled home on 3 acres in Clarkston. Just move right in, home has been prepared for a quick sale. Fantastic. $224,900. (CN6050-S)

This garden's no secret at Depot

Senior couple beautifies City of Clarkston's park

BY EILEEN McCARVILLE Clarkston News Staff Writer

Bob Pursley admits most of the guys at the DPW thave green thumbs.

Which is why, when an employee told him a nd could lend a woman's touch to the gardens in tot Park, his interest bloomed.

For years that employee, Al Hale, a senior citizen o's also the school crossing guard at Waldon and ain, has taken care of general maintenance tasks for arkston's Department of Public Works.

"He does a lot of work ... He mows the grass kes care of the garbage, repairs equipment ... He sically does everything we do. He's kind of an extra nd," says Pursley, DPW supervisor.

Enter the "lady friend," Willa Taber (He doesn't ke to call her a girlfriend, Pursley says), whom Hale et after both lost their spouses. Pursley agreed with lale's idea to have Taber work off some credit hours n the way to earning her master gardeners' certification at Oakland University.

And work she did. From spring through summer, 'She weeded, replanted, refurbished—the whole nine yards," Purlsey says, with obvious admiration. "It's all volunteer work. She doesn't get paid for it."

Hale — sort of Taber's first mate of gardening — says he's been learning a lot because he's been helping her right along. The two have pulled out masses of pop bottles and cans, pruned, planted, weeded, mulched, separated overgrown clumps of bulbs, moved plants and trees, and generally beautified Depot, paying special attention to the various planters throughout the park.

They even stop by after church, changing from their Sunday-go-to-meeting threads to work clothes.

"I'm starting to learn a weed from a flower," admits the gruff-but-gentle Hale, who's 69. "Ten hours, six days a week. She got on my case about pulling up flowers instead of weeds," he chuckles. "I got a little more educated now. But she sure knows her flowers, I'll tell ya."

Taber, 65, says she's always loved flowers. Her interest piqued after she took a master gardener class at Michigan State two winters ago. She's never thought of herself as having a green thumb, "but just about everything I put in grows." In addition to her work at the park, she's done some gardening at the Independence Township Senior Center.

A GM retiree, Taber says she just bought a new home in Milford, and though it's not landscaped yet, she soon hopes to make it come alive. "I'll have time to plan the dirt," she laughs. A recent retirement party garnered her no plants, but a birdhouse.

"It says, 'Retirement Retweet," quips Hale, who lives in Clarkston.

Instead of browsing at the mall, the couple likes to check out all the plants and gardening apparatus at Bordine's. Hale says Taber doesn't like him to bring money because he's a sucker for spending it on anything that strikes his fancy.

But the two will soon have money to burn — er, plant? —because the City of Clarkston plans to give them a check to Bordine's for $100, as suggested by Pursley.

Hale says they have gotten a lot of feedback from others who remark about the park's improvements. He shares a Main St. employee's comments.

"She said, 'I want to give you an atta-boy. This park really looks nice.' And it makes you feel good because we put a lot of hours in on it."

Radio technology helps kids hear better in school

BY ANNETTE KINGSBURY Clarkston News Editor

The 27 second-graders in Carol Campbell's Clarkston Elementary School classroom were reading "The Wolf's Chicken Stew." Like all kids, some spoke louder and more distinctly than others. But in this classroom, such differences no longer matter.

Thanks to a parent who wanted her son to succeed in school, Campbell is pioneering a new technology for Clarkston schools. Consisting very simply of a microphone and a speaker box mounted on the ceiling, the system, called the FM Sound Field Amplification System, used FM radio frequencies to make it so everyone can hear, no matter where in the room the talker is located.

Campbell and parent Becky Meyer presented their experience with the system to the Clarkston board of education Oct. 14 at the urging of board treasurer Kurt Shanks. Shanks had heard about the technology and wanted the board, which has a few dollars left over from a previous bond issue, to know about it.

Meyer is an audiologist whose son Jon, a member of Campbell's class, has a problem screening out background noise. She said the technology has generally been used for special populations, but research shows it can have results just as good as putting hearing-impaired students into special pull-out classes. Even better, students with normal hearing have shown improvement in spelling with the technology, she said.

Meyer said her son used to be shy and unwilling to speak up in class. "Now he will jump up to read in front of class with a smile on his face," she said. "I feel he best thing is they can hear each other . . . They are able to share their ideas with each other, which is just as important as hearing ours.'

Carol Campbell 3rd-grade teacher so strongly about it, I feel every Clarkston child should have a chance at this impressive and cost-efficient technology."

Meyer and Campbell said the unit cost about $900. For this initial trial, money came from the building, the PTO and Special Services.

Campbell said of the new device, "I love it. It doesn't matter where you are in the room, you hear them clearly. The best thing is they can hear each other. Whenever they are speaking to the whole class we use it. They are able to share their ideas with each other, which is just as important as hearing ours."

At the meeting, Shanks made the point that the technology was better than the new cordless microphones the school district is using, and he was right. As adults fiddled with the new gadget during the school board meeting, turning it up and down, blowing into it and having a difficult time avoiding unwanted noises, the students in Campbell's class had no such problems. Their volume was comfortable, not load enough to be heard outside the room, but load enough to be heard anywhere inside it.

School superintendent Al Roberts said he visited Campbell's room and could tell the difference. "Our kids are of a multi-media generation and that sound is important to them," he said. He also noted the children's willingness to use the microphone as a plus.

He also pointed out that the teacher has to be willing to work with the system for it to work. "One of the reasons it worked so well in the classroom is we had a teacher who was committed to it," he said.

"I don't mean to suggest this is a panacea for all the problems in the classroom," Meyer said. "But it works, for very little effort involved."

Campbell's class has become used to visitors checking out the new system. On Monday they weren't too shy about reading in front of one visitor, although one boy lost his place when a flash went off in his direction. The whole class heard his explanation.

"We're had lots of visitors," Campbell said. "We're famous. Who knows? Maybe next it'll be Mr. Clinton."

She will retire when this school year ends, after driving a Clarkston bus for the past 31 years. She has three children who all graduated from Clarkston High. When asked what she does for fun, she replied," I still play and coach womens softball." Loretta hopes to baby-sit in retirement, "for little ones you don't have to chase." She says.

"I like driving a bus and teasing the kids." I have made many friends with students and their parents during my runs in the school district. Every day is challenging and rewarding. All the drivers stress safety to the children while they are on the bus. We also teach our younger students how to properly get on and off the busses.

Radon is our nation's second leading cause of lung cancer and is the leading cause among nonsmokers. Radon exposure is estimated to be responsible for thousands of deaths each year. It is projected that 12 percent of Michigan residents have potential radon problems.

Radon is a naturally occurring, colorless and odorless gas. It can enter your home through cracks in the foundation, service openings (sewer, water and sump pumps) and other openings in the structure (crawl space). Exposure to high levels of radon can lead to an increased risk of lung cancer.

The American Lung Association of Michigan urges you to protect yourself and your family from lung cancer by testing your home for radon. Radon testing is easy and inexpensive. Like a ghost, you cannot see or hear radon. Don't let radon haunt your house - test for radon!

October 20-26 is Radon Action Week. Take advantage of this week to educate yourself on the dangers of radon. For additional information about radon, call your local American Lung Association of Michigan office at (800) LUNG-USA or the Michigan Department of Environmental Quality at (800)Radon-Gas. You may call your local health department to see if they carry radon test kits to purchase. Test your home for radon today.

Car/deer accidents

OCT. 16: Sashabaw near Stickney.

MONDAY, OCTOBER 14, a car was impounded on Dixie Highway after deputies observed a 28-year-old Clarkston man walking nearby around 3 a.m. The man gave deputies two bad names before his correct name was found on some papers in the car, which showed he had been discharged from the Florida Department of Corrections. He had an outstanding warrant and was arrested. The car was impounded because the ignition had been punched, it had no papers, the license plate fell off and it could not be located in the police computer.

Malicious destruction of a window at a construction site on St. Andrew.

A phone was stolen from a 1995 Pontiac parked on Mann.

A bow and a pair of boots were stolen from a Pontiac parked on Mann.

の事を

A mountain bike which had been chained up outside a White Lake Rd. business was stolen after the chain was cut.

A car was scratched on Mann.

A blower stolen from outside a Wellesley Terrace home back in April was spotted and positively identified inside a Waterford pawn shop. It had been at the pawn shop since April.

A phone was stolen from a 1990 Dodge parked on Oak Grove.

An 18-year-old Waterford man was charged with making a false police report after he admitted his report of a theft of speakers and an amplifier from his truck was false.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 15, larceny of $16 in gas on Dixie.

Larceny of a phone from a 1996 Toyota parked on Mann Rd. The owner found the car door open and the phone gone.

A Waldon Woods resident reported a pair of $4,000 diamond earrings were missing.

Assault and battery on Clintonville. The two women involved declined to prosecute.

A pager stolen from a garage on Mockingbird was found at the substation after deputies apprehended a runaway. The pager was found on the floor of the substation and returned to its owner.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 16, a window was broken on a backhoe parked on Dixie overnight.

THURSDAY, OC-TOBER 17, a 1995 Mustang convertible was walked on, doing considerable damage. The responsible party, a 24-yearold Waterford man who had been drinking, was arrested at the scene and taken to jail.

Two cars were vandalized on Mann by scratching and putting sugar in the gas tank. Two golf carts were also missing from one of the cars. One of the cars, a 1995 Sunfire, had also been vandalized earlier.

A 13-year-old girl told her mother she woke up around 1 a.m. and found a man looking at her. He fled.

A car travelling on Sashabaw was hit by a tire which flew out of the open tailgate of a nearby truck. No injuries.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 18, a 22-year-old Lake Orion man who was denied the purchase of beer at a Clarkston Rd. store because of his ID became angry and allegedly threw a 12-pack of beer at the clerk. The man denied the charge and said the clerk attacked him. Deputies could not sort out who started the fight so no one was charged.

A White Lake man said $120 was stolen from his locker at a Sashabaw gym. Other missing items were found in another locker.

An Ortonville man who ran out of gas on White Lake Rd. ended up with his car on fire. The man said after he put gas in the tank and tried to start the car the engine caught fire. He threw his coat on it and shut the hood, but by the time the fire department arrived it was fully engulfed. The fire department had to close White Lake Rd. temporarily to put out the fire. The car was impounded.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19, larceny of over $1,000 worth of tools from a garage on Paula. The resident returned home to find the garage door open.

The window of a 1993 Pontiac was smashed and a box of cassettes stolen on Sashabaw.

Three people were ticketed for alcohol-related offenses after a deputy saw a car weaving in traffic on Maybee. The driver, a 23-year-old Orion man, was ticketed for violating his restricted driver's license, having open intoxicants in the car and no proof of insurance. His driver's license was confiscated. Two passengers, 20-year-old men from Flint and Davison, were ticketed for drinking. In the car was a half-case of beer

A fax and two phones were stolen from a construction site on Sedona.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 20, a 1986 Olds parked on Clintonville had a window shattered and the windshield hit with a BB.

Two windows were broken but nothing stolen from a 1985 Buick parked overnight on Parview.

Larceny of $45 worth of Halloween decorations from a home on Independence Drive overnight.

Deputies called to the site of a 911 hang-up call on M-15 ended up arresting a 28-year-old Clarkston man on an outstanding warrant.

Gridders beat Rochester; Troy up next

BY BRAD MONASTIERE Special to The Clarkston News

The uniform changed, but the player inside stayed the same.

Junior tailback Brad Phalen sent the message there was much more to the Clarkston varsity football attack than passing, as he rumbled for 193 yards and two touchdowns in the Wolves' 35-12 win over Rochester Friday night.

Phalen, who had to don uniform number 40 late in the third quarter because his number 32 jersey was torn, scored both of his touchdowns in the quarter, when Clarkston (7-0 overall, 4-0 in the Oakland Activities Association) blew open a tight contest. His runs of three and 57 yards helped to turn a tense 14-6 game into a 35-6 advantage by the time the third quarter was over.

Clarkston coach Kurt Richardson said Phalen

The club is again asking for donations of toiletries for Lighthouse Clarkston. A similar request was made for the Sept. 27 game and fans were generous. The club is doing it again for anyone who forgot. Collections will be accepted at the gate.

"When he can get it going, it allows us to open the game up with the pass," he said. "Once again, the guys up front did a great job. They're the ones who helped Brad out."

Of the Wolves 405 total yards, 264 came on the ground, a departure from the team's normal passing-based offense. But after an inconsistent first quarter, junior quarterback Dane Fife also found life running the ball a good alternative.

Fife found his way into the end zone twice, each play coming on a bootleg, where he faked a handoff, whirled around and ran in the opposite direction. Both scores came after Fife knocked down more than one defender, either by running over them or using a stiff arm.

Girls win close one, 38-34

BY MARALEE COOK
Special to The Clarkston News

Girl's basketball coach Larry Mahrle said last Thursday's game against Lake Orion was "hard fought." The Wolves led in the first two quarters, but lost that lead in the third. They overcame a four-point deficit to win the game 38-34 in the fourth quarter.

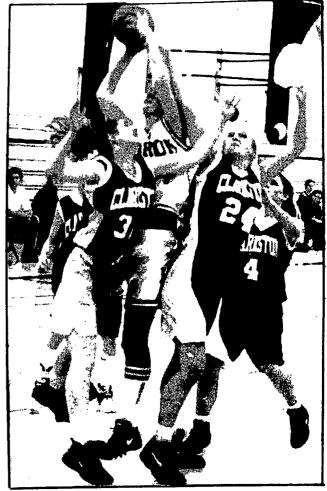

Tiffany Honey scored 13 points for the night, followed by Georgia Senkyr at 9. Kammy Powell and Sue Naboychik contributed 5 points each, and Naboychik also produced 7 assists and 5 steals. Allison Richards scored 4 points and Candace Morgan scored 2.

The Wolves were at Bloomfield Hills Lahser Tuesday, and host Rochester Thursday at 7 p.m. Marhle said the team will be facing Division I opponents for the rest of the season, and with Division I the best in the county, they can expect very competetive games.

Adams 60. Wolves 37

The Wolves fell to a powerful Adams team October 15. Coach Larry Marhle said the game was dominated by Adams' Diana Sorentino and Mari McClure. "We had a hard time controlling either one of them."

Candace Morgan scored a game high 10 points, followed by Tiffany Honey and Georgia Senkyr at 6 each; Sue Naboychik with 4; Abby Wiley and Carin Kirk, each with 3; Jennifer Bauer and Aimee Geroux each with 2; and Kammy Powell with 1.

Girls win league meet, title

BY MARALEE COOK Special to The Clarkston News

The girl's cross-country team won their league meet last Thursday, just as they did in '95 and '94, only this year the stakes were higher - an OAA Division I win instead of Division II. Senior Kristen Maine won the race in a time of 19:30.2, her personal best and only six-tenths of a second faster than Rochester Adams' Laura Hayden. The two ran together for much of the race until Maine, who is already fielding inquiries from college track and cross-country coaches, outkicked Hayden toward the Junior Megan Plante finished third with her personal best time of 19:59. Junior Elizabeth Cook, who has been hampered for four weeks with a stress fracture in her right fibula, finished sixth in 20:09, followed by sophomore Jennifer Rooding, 15th in 21:03; junior Shannon Carry, 24th in 21:46, a personal best; sophomore Lissa Lukens, 25th in 21:48; and junior Gretchen Pitser, 27th in 21:54.

These seven girls will compete at regionals Saturday at Springfield Oaks County Park in Davisburg. Coach Debbie Zonca said it looks promising for the team.

"Rooding (in her first year in cross country) has been a nice surprise," said Zonca. "She's been consistent as our number-four girl." She added that Carry's time should boost her confidence and Pitser and Lukens have each shaved several seconds off their times.

Plante, whose promising start as a freshman was derailed by a broken leg and was further stymied last year by asthma, has been able to put it all together this year to enjoy a good season.

"Megan is so determined," said Zonca. "She has a good athletic attitude. She puts both the bad and good behind her and looks to the next race."

Boys take 4th in league

BY MARALEE COOK Special to The Clarkston News

Although the boy's cross-country team did not do as well as hoped at the OAA Div. I league meet at Bloomer Park, finishing 5th for a 4th-place standing in the league, the top six runners met a challenge from coach Mike Taylor and ran the race in less than 18 minutes.

David Sage came in 5th in 16:54, followed by Jeff Deevey, 17th in 17:24, a personal best time; Matt Haver, 20th in 17:32; Curt Brewer, 24th in 17:39, a personal best; Chris Weber, 26th in 17:48, a personal best; Jayson Scheiderer, 27th in 17:58; and Dave Dixon, 29th in 18:12.

"I'm happy for Sage," said Taylor. "He's only going to get tougher."

Taylor also said he's expecting his team to place in the top six at Saturday's regionals at Springfield Oaks Park in Davisburg.

Big night for Impact soccer

Youth Soccer Night provided a free opportunity for Independence Township soccer players to watch three games at the high school athletic field. On October 8, the Clarkston Wolves hosted Country Day, a top-ranking, Class B soccer program, and even the cold, wet weather didn't dampen the spirits of those in attendance.

The event began at 4:15 p.m. with an exhibition game between two Independece Township select soccer teams, the Under 12 Clarkston Impact, coached by Lee Gardner, and the Under 13 Clarkston Impact, coached by Mike Dougherty. Although scrimmages against each other have gone both ways, this match belonged to the Under 13 team, with a final score of 2-0. The game official was Brian Fitzgerald, the high school JV coach. Linesmen were Independence Township soccer players Craig Verlinden and Robert Bryan.

The young players were thrilled with the sounds of their names and play-by-play booming over field, thanks to the announcers. Fans enjoyed the spirit and talents of the CHS cheerleaders and pompon. Dan Fitzgerald sent several varsity players into the stands during the JV half-time to distribute 200 donated hot dog coupons to excited young soccer players. In addition to the regular game-night roster, special programs included official signals and basic rules of soccer. Other contributors to the success of this event were athletic director Dan Fife and CHS principal Brent Cooley. Both the CHS Blue and Gold Club and Student Council contributed signs and helped promote the event, along with efforts from some high school staff and soccer parents. The Athletic Boosters did a great job of keeping up with the appetites of hungry fans and players, despite the unusually large crowd.

The youth exhibition game was such a success that it prompted a second match between two Under 10 teams that played prior to the CHS vs. Brandon games on October 11. Tom Welbourn coached his Under 10 Light Blue team in a competition with the Under 10 Royal Blue team, coached by Dan Thomas. The Royal Blue team came away with a 4-2 win, and it was hard to tell who was more excited, players or parents, as the announcer acknowledged the efforts of all of the players during the match.

Youth Soccer Night was a successful opportunity for youngsters to showcase their talent for high school players, coaches and fans. For many, it was a new experience watching soccer being played at a higher skill level. The passing, power kicks and moving the ball down the field from head to head prompted cheers and comments from the youngsters.

Zonca comes to coach CHS runners, brings title with her

BY MARALEE COOK

Special to The Clarkston News

Debbie Zonca, Clarkston's new girls cross-country coach, just celebrated her third OAA Division I league championship—and the first for Clarkston High School.

Zonca is in the middle of her eighth year as a head coach. She spent the last seven years coaching Troy Athens' boys and girls track and cross-country teams, where she coached the girls cross-country team to state championships in 1994 and 1995.

Zonca was also named Michigan InterScholastic Track Coaches' Association Class A Coach of the ear for 1994 and 1995, and Michigan High School Coaches' Association 1995 Coach of the Year for the state of Michigan.

Already a math teacher at CHS, Zonca switched her coaching allegiance because she wanted to teach and coach in one place. With her first season winding down, she said the transition has been easy, mainly because of the girls.

"This year has really been a pleasure," she said. "It's been a smooth transition. We had so many new people come out (for cross country) at the beginning of the season and now it's like a big family.'

Zonca has been a runner since she joined her seventh-grade track team. She continued to run crosscountry and track at Sterling Heights Stevenson High School and earned a scholarship in both sports to Western Michigan University, where she earned a BS in math and a secondary teaching certificate.

Zonca volunteered as a coach while student teaching, and was an assistant coach until assuming the head coaching duties at Athens. There are some similarities between Clarkston's and Athens' teams, she said.

"The girls are all dedicated and work hard through the summer, but the Clarkston group seems to be a closer-knit bunch. They go out together and there are no cliques on the team."

Zonca has a specific philosophy about the sport. "Cross country is more mental ability than anything else. Unless you have mental toughness, you can't be at

The coach said she has matured over the years and has developed more patience. "I try to get better each year. I look back at the things I can improve. I'm a big believer in goal setting. We take the season apart and rank the races in importance. I'm also a believer in knowing your opponent and how to beat them."

With Clarkston's first Division I championship behind her, Zonca is looking toward Saturday's regionals at Springfield Oaks Park. If the girls place in the top three teams, they will go on to the state finals. "It looks promising," she said.

After that, Zonca is looking ahead to next spring when she will be an assistant track coach, and beyond that to next fall's cross-country team. She said there were a lot of first-time runners this year. She would like to help them develop some goals and set a mileage base (for running) for the summer to prepare for next season.

Richardson credited Fife with running the ball effectively, saying it only makes him more dangerous with the pass.

"When he runs the ball like that, it poses problems for people," Richardson said. "It makes it hard for the defense to come up to stop him because he is so good throwing the ball."

Although he didn't have his best game statistically, Fife was still very effective, completing 10 of 17 passes for 141 yards.

The Wolves started the game slowly on offense, but the defense gave the team a lift, coming up with key sacks and late-down stops.

Clarkston opened the scoring early in the second quarter, when a Fife to Jason Frack pass helped set up junior Jeff Long's one-yard plunge to put the Wolves ahead 7-0.

That opened the floodgates, as the Wolves scored touchdowns on four straight possessions. Phalen took the opening kickoff of the second half down to the Falcons' 39 yards line, where the offense took just 2:19 to score from there on Phalen's first

A little more than two minuutes later, Fife rumbled over three Rochester defenders on a bootleg to make the score 28-6. Just four plays into Clarkston's next drive, Phalen scooted upfield, making cuts past defenders for a 57-yard touchdown that put the

This week's long-anticipated showdown against Troy lost a tiny bit of its luster when the Colts were upset by Rochester Adams 17-14. But this Friday's game at Clarkston still matches the top two teams in the OAA's Division I and is one Richardson has been waiting a long time for.

"This is what the competition is all about," he said. "The kids can finally focus on this game and they will be ready."

Richardson said Troy's biggest strength is its defense and the way it can pull out wins.

"They just find a way to win," he said. "It's something those kids know from the ninth grade on and we'll have to be ready."

Golf

The JV golf team ended its season on a positive note, beating Andover 169 to 179.

The Wolves had a busy last week of playing Troy Athens and West Bloomfield on Monday. The golf team shot a 192 team score against Bloomfield and Athens, but it was not enough to beat them. Athens and Bloomfield both shot a 188.

However, last Tuesday the Wolves turned the tide, beating Andover. The top scorers for that game were Brian Anderson, Mark Churay and Joe Owens each with a 42. Dave Benner rounded the scores with "Andover was our best meet of the year," said coach Tim Kaul.

Golf season ends

BY MARALEE COOK

Special to The Clarkston News

The boy's golf team ended their season with a third-place finish at the final OAA Div. I meet October 15, for a fourth-place standing overall in the league.

The Wolves shot 325 over 18 holes, finishing behind West Bloomfield and Rochester. Junior Bob Schultz tied for 6th place with a score of 79, and senior Jeff Cumberworth shot 80 for 9th place. Junior Bryan Haggard shot 81 and Tim Klimek shot 85 to round out the top four finishers. Sophomore Ben Ness shot 86 and senior Mike Gray shot 91.

Coach Jim Chamberlain said the team scored better than last year's, and had the third best average overall in his 20 years as head coach at CHS. He also said Klimek is looking to play golf in college - for Cumberworth it depends on which college, but that neither team member had made any decisions yet. Chamberlain, who has been part of the CHS golf coaching staff for about 27 years said he is looking forward to another season.

PAPERS-2 WEEKS-$8.00

10 WORDS (30¢ EACH ADDITIONAL WORD) (Commercial Accounts $7.00 a week)

Get The Word Out! Guaranteed . . .

Our pledge to you: if after 30 days you don't get any inquiries on your want ad, we'll refund your money (less a $1 service charge).

We guarantee it.

Here's how it works.

1. Run your want ad with us for at least two weeks and pay within one week of the start date.

2. If no one contacts you within 30 days after the ad's stop date, fill out a refund application and mail or bring it

3. We will refund the cost of the ad (less the $1 service charge) within 7 days of receiving your refund application.

Or, we'll run that ad again for the original number of weeks. The choice is yours, a win-win situation all the way

(We can only guarantee that you'll get inquiries -- not that you'll make a deal.) This guarantee applies to individual (non-commerical) want ads. You can pick up a refund application at any of our offices. In Oxford, at 666 S. Lapeer Road. In Lake Orion, 30 N. Broadway Street. In Clarkston, 5 S. Main Street. The refund must be applied for between 30 and 90 days of the ted to a little extra School bus drivers were TLC Monday at Andersonville Elementary School, and elsewhere in the Clarkston school district, in honor of School Bus Safety Week in Michigan.

But behind the applause, behind the giant cookies shaped like yellow buses, was a serious message: bus drivers literally have the lives of their young charges in their hands every day, twice a day.

Last year in Michigan, there were 1,423 accidents involving school buses, according to AAA. The results: 11 deaths and 566 injuries, mostly to occupants of other vehicles. Nationally, each year an average of 20 schoolage pedestrians are killed by school buses. Of those, 11 were caused by the school bus, nine by passing motorists who failed to stop as required by law.

Such numbers may have been behind Andersonville principal Bill Potvin's serious message to his kids.

"As you know, bus drivers have a difficult job," he told the assembled students. "All the rules are for

"A general rule is you can't do anything on the bus that will make the driver take his or hereyes off the road. When there's a noise in the back the driver has to look into the mirror, and then their eyes are off the road. An then there's a potential for an accident."

Potvin went on to talk about bus rules and th penalty for breaking them, all the time stressing the safety reasons why.

"Really and truly, they have your lives in the hands . . . and they take their jobs very seriously," !

At Andersonville, the drivers were treated to breakfast of muffins, bagels, fruit, juice and coff after they dropped off their charges Monday morning A short time later, at an assembly, they each received certificate and a big yellow-frosted cookie on a stick shaped like a school bus.

The Andersonville drivers ranged in experien from two years to 30, from young to old, men a women. Loretta Graham, who'll be retiring this y after 31 years on the road, said she's stuck aroundyears on the "big bus," the last 15 driving spec education kids, because she likes the work.

"I've always liked to drive, I've always liked kids," she said. "It's a good job." She's now seeing children of earlier students she drove.

After 30 years cooped up with kids, Grah seems to be used to the noise. When she walked into Andersonville gym Monday, with the kids not settled down, she said, "Hey-it sounds just like bus. Only quieter."
