In addition to the regular graduates receiving degrees, approximately 50 persons from last January's cancelled commencement also took part in the ceremonies. Inclement weather caused cancellation of commencement in January.

The commencement address was given by Michigan Senator Robert P. Griffin, a CMU alumnus. Title of his historic was "Where Do We Grow From Here?"

Innocent and benediction was offered by the Rev. Lester B. Thomas of St. Andrews Episcopal Church, Grand Rapids. The Reverend Thomas also is a CMU graduate.

Woman, 71, Found Dead in Ice Box

A 71-year-old Novi woman was found dead Friday morning, squeezed into a small ice box in the basement of an historic Novi home in which she was living.

Novi police found the partly clothed body of Miss Mildred Wilson, 27757 Novi road, at approximately 9:30 a.m. Until the official medical examiners report is received, police are tentatively considering this a suicide case, but have not ruled out the possibility of death by accident.

The crack homicide bureau of the Michigan State police was called in to give assistance.

Discovering the body was Patrolman Robert Starnes, who, along with Detective Sergeant Richard Faulkner, had responded to a call, reporting Miss Wilson as a missing person at 9 a.m.

Mrs. Lella Munro, 80, who lived with Miss Wilson, reported her sister's absence after she and her step-son Burton Munro, a Novi resident, had made a preliminary check of the house and grounds without turning up Miss Wilson.

Mrs. Munro told police she first missed her sister at 7 a.m., upon awaking and not finding her in bed. She said she then called her stepson.

The last time Mrs. Munro saw her sister was at 5:30 p.m. Thursday, when Mrs. Munro said she left the house with her stepson. When she returned at 12 midnight, police said, she went directly to bed, not bothering to turn on the lights in the bedroom.

A proposed multiple housing development at the corner of Wixom and Chalmers roads ran head on into opposition.

The commission denied the request of Virgil Cornwell, a Wixom builder. He asked that about 28 acres, owned by Dr. Harold Gien, be rezoned from single family residential (RA-1) to multiple.

Reason for turning down the request was that the land involved was prime residential property, holding the highest residential classification in the city.

Action on Forrest Hubbel's request for rezoning for a trailer park was postponed until the next commission meeting, when more detailed plans are expected to be submitted.

Sought was the rezoning of about 40 acres, bounded by West Maple road, the C&O railroad and the west city limits, from residential (RA-2) to mobile home.

Before Miss Flint left the home, she was taken care of by Mrs. Munro, a cousin. The latter's sister then came to live with the two women.

The home was willed to the Novi Baptist church by Flint, but his sister continued to live there, as did the dead woman and Mrs. Munro, by permission of the church.

Novi Recreation Committee

'Shake Bushes' for More Kids

"Now we're going to shake the bushes."

That's the way Charles Comito, chairman of the Novi Youth Protective association's recreation committee, tabbed the committee's response to last weekend's dismal registration turnout.

Only 17 children registered at the Novi township hall, five Friday and 12 Saturday, for the new summer recreation program.

Believing that a need exists, the committee isn't throwing in the towel. Far from it.

In fact, efforts are being expanded. Letters were sent through the mail containing registration forms and a short, informative note to every home with children.

"We feel that two things are responsible for the disappointing response," Mrs. Hubert Farah, committee secretary said. "Lack of transportation and lack of widespread advance publicity."

Approximately 400 second-class letters were sent out Tuesday morning.

Furthermore, about 300 registration forms were hand distributed in the township office of Walter Lake.

Registration will also be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday at the Novi village hall.

Not until the number of youngsters indicating intent to participate has been determined can firm hiring commitments be made, Mrs. Farah stated. Already, there are three tentative employees, including two site directors

Village Manager Stricken

Harold Ackley, Novi's village manager and one of its most popular figures, was stricken Sunday apparently by a heart attack, and is now hospitalized at St. Joseph hospital, Pontiac.

Ackley was taken to the hospital Monday for observation and tests after an electrocardiogram revealed "a blockage" and fluid in the lungs. It was described as a possible coronary.

As of Tuesday, Mrs. Ackley said there was no conclusive diagnosis. He is able to get around, she said, but is being confined to his hospital bed. When he will be able to resume managerial duties is not known.

Ackley suddenly blacked out Sunday morning, shortly after mowing the lawn at his Walled Lake home. He can't recall whether he was sitting or standing. Mrs. Ackley said. She was not home at the time.

"He had a terrible pain in his shoulder and arm," she stated. After resting the night, he was taken to a local clinic before being hospitalized.

This marks the second Novi village official laid up by illness this year. Councilman Leo Harrowood, now fully recovered, suffered from blood clots and was listed in critical condition for a short time.

Chamber Sells American Flags

A flag in every home... With that idea in mind, the Wixom Chamber of Commerce launched its American flag sale this week.

The 3x5-foot flags, complete with staff, mounting bracket and main halyard, will be on sale at the Wixom General store, Aunt Jemima's Pancake House, Neal's Hair Fashions, Flowers by John and the Wixom Co-op. Cost is $2.95.

Highlighting the drive will be the presentation of 32 flags to the city at the June 27 meeting of the council.

Ex-Legislator Gets Northville Attorney Post

A former state representative was named Northville city attorney Monday succeeding Philip Ogilvie, who becomes municipal judge July 1.

Marvin R. Stempien, Democratic representative from 1964-66 in the 55th legislative district, was the unanimous choice of the Northville council.

A practicing attorney with offices on Plymouth road in Livonia, Stempien represented the Northville-Livonia area in the state legislature and served as chairman of the House Apportionment Committee and as a member of the committees on judiciary, education and state prisons.

He was defeated for re-election last fall by Republican Louis Schmidt.

Stempien will take over his new post officially July 1, but the council does not meet until July 17. The July 3 session was cancelled because of the holiday.

A native of Detroit, Stempien is a graduate of the University of Detroit high school and the University of Michigan.

First Outlay Set At $72,875 Here

The Novi village council approved its first water department budget Monday, amounting to $72,875 for fiscal year 1967-68.

Unanimous approval was given after minor changes in the budget, submitted by Duane Egan, water and sewer department superintendent.

Proposed salaries of $10,400 for the superintendent and $5,200 for Water Secretary Mrs. Evelyn Natzel were out back to this year's figures of $10,000 and $3,000.

Of the $2,600 lopped off, $750 was re-allocated for auditing, $350 for equipment purchase and $1,500 was set aside, pending the results of a blue ribbon salary committee study.

The committee was established during the recent village budget hearing, when policemen in force urged the adoption of a new salary schedule. Instead, the council at that time placed money in the reserve, to be distributed over all employees after re-evaluation of job classifications and pay.

Village ordinance demands creation of a separate budget for the water department. Sources of revenue are metered water ($22,000), hydrant rental ($16,000), tap-in fees ($18,375) and privilege fee ($16,000).

The latter two figures were based on a projected 75 new homes that will connect in 1967-68 to existing and proposed water lines. The tap-in fee is $245 and the privilege fee is $200.

Nearly all of the 75 new customers are expected in Orchard Hills and Meadowbrook Lake subdivisions, located adjacent to each other on Meadowbrook road. The department, created last year, presently has about 330 customers.

Expenses include cost of Detroit water ($12,000), repairs and maintenance ($8,000), salaries ($13,000), office supplies ($1,500), depreciation ($2,000), tap-in costs ($16,500), education, dues and fees ($500), bond interest and fees ($8,100), bond principal ($5,000), bond reserves ($5,000) and Auditing and legal, salary contingency and equipment purchase.

In other action, the council authorized Attorney Howard Bond to draft tentative sewer and water payback plans for ABC Photo, whose building is now under construction on Nine Mile and Novi roads, and for the Granville Construction company, builder of Orchard Hills subdivision addition now under construction.

The council also instructed Bond to delay channels open to Lawrence Helich, attorney for Dr. August Holcomb, whose show cause suit against the village is slated to be heard June 26 in Oakland county circuit court.

Because of increased business and need for a centralized approach, Branch asked that the council approach the township in an attempt to secure use of the second-floor office, now reportedly being used by the township treasurer.

The council also:—tabled consideration of a contract with Johnson and Anderson, Inc., for payment of engineering fees on the proposed Walled Lake-Novu sewer project until the July 3 meeting.

In Our Town

By JEAN DAY

SUMMER BEGINS the undercover season for most Northville club groups. While membership meetings officially are recessed until fall, board members and program committees are planning over ice tea or coffee.

Northville Woman's club program committee has been working steadily to plan a special Jubilee Year which will begin with a luncheon at Meadowbrook Country club October 6. Arrangements for this program to open the club's 75th year are under chairmanship of Mrs. Charles Yahn, Assistant to Mrs. E. M. Starkweather, Mrs. C. Harold Bloom, Mrs. H. F. Wagners and Mrs. A. J. Verschaeve. Mrs. Starkweather, Mrs. Bloom and Mrs. Wagners all are life members of the club who have 55 consecutive years of memories to draw upon.

NEW MOTHERS' club president Mrs. Donald Hamhaber convened her new board early this month and has committee appointments made. Part of her efficiency, she claims, is due to the fact that her husband has been on a business trip to Santiago, Chile, Venezuela, Buenos Aires, Lima and Mexico City. When he returns this week, SHE wants to be ready to make vacation plans.

NEWCOMERS NIGHT at Northville Downs tonight is a summer bonus meeting for club members that is a source of the moment inspiration. Mrs. Helen Astell expects about 50 couples to attend, many of whom will be visiting the track for the first time. They have box seats reserved.

Mrs. Astell, club president, says the response has been so good that this may become a yearly addition to the club's schedule.

A EUROPEAN TRIP was an early-season vacation for Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Rathert of Meadowbrook. They are just back from a flying trip to England, Germany and Switzerland.

With Mr. Rathert's 81-year-old father and brother of St. Louis, Missouri, they spent most of their time in Germany, taking the steamer up the Rhine and visiting Heidelberg, Frankfurt and Oberammergau.

In addition to visiting distant relatives, the Ratherts had the pleasure of visiting in half a dozen homes in England and Germany, including those of families Ken met while in World War II service in England and Germany. He was in Germany until 1946 with the military government.

BOTH DAUGHTERS of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene E. Entz of Beck road will be going abroad this summer on travel and study programs.

Sue, a junior at Alton college, is to leave for Tokyo June 30 to be gone for 14 months to 2 years. She is one of two exchange students from Alton participating in the program, which will begin with a "vacation" in the mountains at the Japanese language center.

In similar sessions Sue will be studying Eastern art, religious, politics and theology. She also plans to take course in Japanese music, judo and karate. She will be speaking and writing in Japanese. She also expects to visit Korea.

In addition to finishing her spring term studies at Alton and preparing for her overseas trip, Mrs. Entz reports, Sue has managed to find time to become a member of the Sarah Ann Cochran chapter, D.A.R.

Sue's sister, Patty, who will be a Northville high school junior this fall, will be among area students on an American Institute for Foreign Study program. The group will study and tour during July and August with headquarters being University of Durham in England.

JANE JEROME, Cary Becker and Sue Jones also are Europe-bound Northville students. They are to leave Friday to spend three weeks with the Musical Youth International group which includes a 50-piece band and a 150-voice chorus. They will appear in five English cities, in Wales, Vienna, Budapest, Innsbruck and in Western Germany. As part of the people-to-people tour program the youngsters will live with local families in each place.

more amusing the clipping culled by Councilwoman Beatrice Carlson from Original School Geography written by Judith Morse, father of S. B. Morse, dated October 28, 1784: "Since geography is a species of composition, which, of all others, is most liable to error, as it depends in great measure on the testimony of others. The author thinks proper to request his readers to favor him with friendly remarks and criticisms as well as every information which may tend to make this book extensively useful."

IN OUR TOWN now recesses until fall as Laurie, Robin and I leave for Montreal and Expo '67. We do plan to write a Days'-eye view of the fabulous fair.

During the summer Nancy Slattery, now home from her Michigan State University studies, will be at The Record office on a part-time basis to take women's club travel and student news. This will be her third summer at the paper. She also is enrolling for summer classes at Schoolcraft college.

She will welcome your calls at 349-1700. Happy vacationing!

3 Girls Leave On European Exchange Trip

Three local girls left this week for a summer in Europe under the Youth for Understanding exchange program. Janet Oetzel and Donna Tymensky left Sunday for Holland, while Karen Stefanski departed Monday for Sweden.

Janet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Oetzel of 525 Linden Court, will be living in Veendam, Holland with Mr. and Mrs. Rikhuiter and their three children. Her plans include vacationing with the Rikhuiter on an island in the North Sea for two weeks, taking other trips around the country and bicycling with the youth hosteling program.

One of her Dutch sisters will be coming to the United States in August as an exchange student in Clarkston. Janet will be a senior at Northville high school this fall.

Donna Tymensky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Tymensky of 26020 Whipple, Novi, will also be living with a Dutch family, Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Milburg and their nine children, in Dordrecht, Holland.

Her tentative plans include bicycling, camping along the ocean with her family, and perhaps visiting Belgium and Germany later this summer.

Donna graduated this June from Northville high and will begin her freshman year at Central Michigan this fall.

Karen Stefanski, daughter of the Fred Stefanski of 840 Carpenter, will be living in Kramm, Sweden with Mr. and Mrs. Tjernberg and their three children, Christina, 16, Yeva, 13, and Ian, 9. Christina will be an exchange student to Belleville this fall.

Karen's plans include visits to Stockholm, and trips around the country. She will be a senior at Northville high school this fall.

All three girls will return from Europe August 19.

The Youth for Understanding program is one of five exchange programs in the United States sponsored by the State Department. Its home office is in Ann Arbor.

The program was originated 12 years ago by the Ann Arbor and Michigan Council of Churches under the direction of Mrs. Rachel Andersen. Mrs. Andersen still directs the project, which will send 1800 students abroad this summer.

In exchange, students from Europe, South America, Japan and the Philippines will be coming to America in August to stay for the school year and live with American families. Students are selected for the program on the basis of scholarship, leadership and adaptability, and must be recommended by their school and minister.

The basis of the program is the belief that the best way to learn about a country is to live with a family in that country and live as they do.

Calendar Sale Starts in Fall

Sale of calendars by the Novi Band Boosters club will not begin until fall, officials revealed this week in noting an earlier report that orders had already started.

"We just want the people to know that the calendars are in the planning stage and that they can look forward to the sale in the fall," a spokesman said.

He Gets Degree From Harvard

William E. Boyd received a master of laws degree during the 318th commencement exercises at Harvard university June 15. Bachelor of arts degrees were bestowed on 1,200 men, while 2,900 men and women received advanced degrees at the exercises.

The traditional ceremony was held in the yard adjoining the Memorial church. It was followed by a series of small, informal commensals in the Harvard Houses and graduate schools during which each student received his degree from officials of the House or school.

Boyd is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Boyd of 44180 Durson, Novi.

Boy, 8, Donates Raking Job to City

Eight-year-old Billy Hartmann completed his own project to help beautify Northville recently, spending an afternoon industriously raking the city-owned grass court in Ely drive.

A third-grader at American elementary school, Billy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hartmann III of 950 Jeffrey drive in Northville Heights subdivision.

Mrs. Hartmann says the project was entirely her son's own idea. In fact, she said he went ahead and did it without telling anyone of his plans. His mother thought he was at a neighbor's house at the time raking their lawn.

Billy often rakes lawns to earn money toward the color television he dreams of buying.

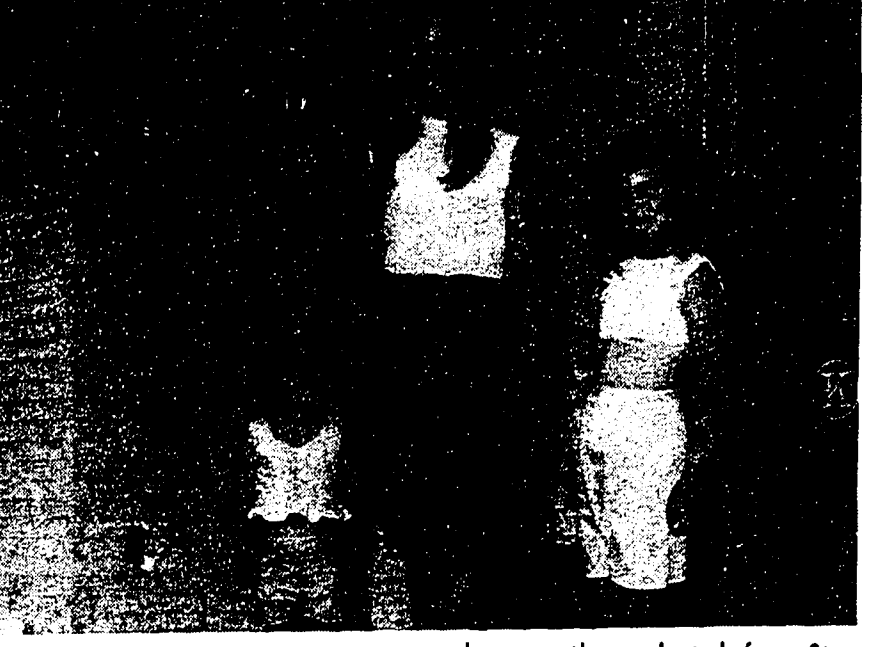

This was one job he did for free, however, as his personal contribution to Northville's annual beautification campaign, sponsored by the Beautification commission.

The commission, headed by Mrs. Beatrice Carlson, appreciated his efforts so much they invited him to be of Trenton, and Mrs. Arthur H. Heme Jr. of Northville. Mrs. Anaya is Western Wayne recruitment chairman and Mrs. Heme is the area's residential campaign chairman for the 1967 Torch Drive.

AUF WIEDERSEHEN - A seven-month stay at the home of the Eugene Kampmanns, 47100 Stratford court, came to an end Sunday for Petra VanderWerf of the Hege, Holland. An exchange student, she recently graduated from St. John's high school in Ipsilanti. Upon return to Holland she will complete two remaining years of high school in hopes of returning to study at an American university. Petra is shown here getting a helping hand from eight-year-old Kelly (right) and four-year-old Katie, two of the Kampmanns' six children.

from the PASTOR'S STUDY

Rev. R. A. Mitchinson
New Hudson Methodist Church

Someone has said, "The best argument for Christianity is a Christian." Recognizing that as Christians many of us are in different stages of growth in the Christian life, this statement need not always be true. Yet, when individuals have taken the faith seriously and lived it for many years, their very lives influence and guide others without them ever speaking, I personally agree with the statement "I'd rather see a sermon than hear one."

It might be well to take a look at the man of faith as compared to those who lack faith. Many points of interest can be seen between the man of faith and those who live without faith in God. People of faith have certain peace and peace about them, and in face of trouble and death stand steady and unafraid. They do not allow bitterness to engulf them. If you don't believe this, take a look at people who are genuinely Christian... and who have had their tragedies and disappointments to bear.

Those who live without faith in God are quite all right, or so they would have you think until tragedy strikes. Then you hear the shouts of bitterness and despair which come when there is nowhere to turn. Many of these people denounce the church and the Christian faith, all their lives, but for some strange reason, a clergyman always walks on ahead of them to the grave.

Love and concern are marks of a Christian. Without counting the cost, people who have a living faith move out into the pain and suffering of the world. They possess an outgoing love which demands that they do something about the sad plight of other people. On the other hand, people who have no faith in God are insensitive to the needs of others. In fact, they quite often turn their backs on people that are crying for help. Let a lad break a law or a girl get in trouble and for the most part there is no redemptive attitude on the part of those who have no faith in God. They merely stand on the sidelines and condemn. If approached to help, they turn a deaf ear. Or occasionally they might shrug their shoulders and exclaim flippantly, "It happens in the best of families."

When a man lives by faith he has a message to proclaim. It may be through what he says or through the way that he lives. In short, these people are able to point to a sustaining power outside themselves. They are able to remind others of the abundant love of God experienced in their own lives through a consciousness of past sins forgiven. They can proclaim the way of Jesus Christ works, because they dared to follow. Men who lack faith have nothing constructive to offer to those who have been broken and defeated by the circumstances of life. They are unable to point to any strength outside themselves. They have no sense of their own shortcomings and feel that they are self-sufficient.

So the best argument for Christianity is a Christian. We are called into this life for a purpose. This purpose is made clear through Jesus Christ. We go to address ourselves to persons; to those who are lonely, afraid, sick, persons in need. Men everywhere seek courage and wholeness and meaning for their lives. The Christian's responsibility, above all, is to express the love of God, which takes in even the unlovable, you and me.

Ray 'Poppa' Collins

wave to a German pilot as we pass by and then try to drill in on his tail before he'd pull back his hand. Parachutes? We didn't know what they were."

After the war and with the rank of captain, Collins trained pilots out of Selfridge. It was here that he had his only serious accident in more than 10,000 hours in the air. With a student at the controls of his Curtiss on April 8, 1924, the plane went down in a "flat spin" when the student fainted and his foot slipped under the rudder bar. Only the fact that it was spring and the field was covered with mud saved their lives. Even so, the student broke both his legs and Collins suffered a skull fracture and was unconscious for 14 days.

Two years later Collins retired from active military service to accept a position as director of the aviation department of the Union Trust company of Detroit. "A sort of public relations job with the bank."

When Collins arrived at Ford Airport (now part of Greenfield Village) with the bank's first plane, he was greeted by the bank president, Frank W. Blair, Rickenbacker, Detroit's flying-record holder William Brock, who piloted the "Friede of Detroit" in its world flight, and Edward Schiele.

"Mr. Blair did more for aviation than most other Michigan men. His interest showed the country that airplanes were important, not only as a sport but as a commercial enterprise. But that grand old man, Bill Mayo (Ford engineer), was right beside him."

Blair loaned Collins to the Ford Motor company where he became referee and later manager of the world-famous National Air Tours that gave the nation's airplane manufacturers a chance to "show their stuff" in competing for the Edsel Ford trophy. It was in this capacity that his close friendship with Stinson developed. It was here too that he became acquainted with the speed kings and record flight pilots of the world.

Stinson, who manufactured his record-breaking airplane at Northville, flew one of his own planes in winning the 1927 National Air Tour sponsored by Ford and directed by Collins.

"About three months before each tour, I'd take a plane across the country on what we called Pathfinder flights, landing on little air fields and even in farmer's pasture. I'd ask if they had room for planes and a gasoline truck, put it on the map and take off for the next. If the Tours did nothing else, they helped develop airports across the country. But, of course, they did a lot for the manufacturers in trying out new gadgets."

While with the bank and the Ford Tours, Collins teamed up with other famous pilots in lecturing on aviation throughout the country. His nine or 10 scrapbooks are stuffed with articles and pictures concerning these talks. Throughout them his name is linked with the "real greats" of early aviation.

"With new airstrips popping up everywhere he was in constant demand in the United States and Canada as a dedication speaker. At Port Huron, for example, he was greeted by song in 1925 as he stepped from his plane.

"We're for you Collins, Yes Brother Collins. That's why we welcome you into our country. We know you're game in an airplane, and as a speaker we have confidence you'll say the same thing to us, just what we want to do, as an aeronautic man we know your fame. We want the world to know that we're not so slow — for a LANDING FIELD in Port Huron is our aim."

His assistance in lending professionalism to aviation led to his appointments as chairman of the Michigan Aviation School Advisory Committee, which included Rickenbacker and E. E. Krump, and later as the state's first director of the Michigan Aeronautics commission, and a chief officer of the Aero Club of Michigan.

Throughout his career Collins maintained an interest in the Air Force, serving for many years as the deputy chief of the production division of the Detroit Air Procurement district. He retired from this post and other aviation activities in 1958.

He moved to Northville nearly 20 years ago, father of two children and grandfather of modern air travel.

Today he lives alone with his wife in a home stuffed with mementos of the past. One wall of the living room is covered with personally autographed pictures of the early pioneers.

But his most prized possession is a half-century old globe on which are traced the routes of pilots in setting early flight records. And each of them is autographed by the men who set them, including Orville Wright who with his brother made history at a place called Kitty Hawk.

Autographed GLOBE—On October 20, 1928, Ray Collins presented his autographed globe (see picture, Page 1) to Frank Blair, president of Union Trust. Following Mr. Blair's death the highly prized globe was returned to Collins.

NOVI CUB SCOUT NEWS

Den 3 with Mrs. Laverly den mother, Steve Clark was presented with a wolf badge and a good arrow at the last pack meeting. (Sorry his name was omitted last week). Den 3 will have a meeting every other week during the summer months. They will meet at the homes of each of the Cubs.

For Father's Day the Cubs made attractive handpainted paper weights and they expect their fathers to make good use of them.

The Novi Tee Ball league is making fine progress. They were issued the shirts and caps two weeks ago. The boys were then grouped into 4 teams namely: Red Hots (red caps), Green Hornets (green caps), Yellowjackets (yellow caps) and Burgundy Braves (maroon caps).

Since a small group showed up the teams doubled up for a game. The Red Hots and Burgundy Braves played against the Yellowjackets and Green Hornets. The final score 16-10 in favor of the yellow and green.

It is hoped more boys will show up Saturday for another game. Last weeks game was rained out.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

It looks like a long, hot summer for members of the teacher contract negotiating teams in Northville.

Tomorrow night they'll meet to attempt to settle a dispute that consumed all the time at last week's session — when to meet during the summer.

The teachers proposed eight dates that included four Sundays. The district team balked at Sunday meetings and offered a list of 22 June-July weekdays.

A short debate followed on why Sundays were labor, if everyday isn't family day and whether meetings can't be scheduled before or after the church hour.

To an outside observer the teams appear to be about as close to agreement as the Israelis and the Arabs. They're not quite as hostile, however. It's more like the Mayor Cavanaugh-Mary Beck relationship.

In any negotiation matter there's a great deal of early jockeying for position. It takes time for both sides to get down to serious bargaining.

But if there's such a thing as being "on schedule" in teacher contract negotiations, it would have to be admitted that Northville is behind.

Last year (the first time state law permitted teacher bargaining) talks got underway in November and agreement was finally reached August 20.

Probably because it was assumed that anything is easier the second time you do it, serious talks were three months later in opening this year.

On August 29 new teachers report for orientation. A week later classes begin.

Negotiators must now accomplish in 2 1/2 months what required four times as long last year. And it doesn't even look as though they have the advantage of a running start.

The picture has been painted here bleaker than it is. Some progress has been made. Some non-economic matters have been settled. But many more remain to be pounded out, letter-by-letter and sentence-by-sentence. At the rate of last week's meeting, when the only agreement was that another meeting should be held, school bells will be ringing in Northville before salary discussions get to the bargaining table.

One of the deterrents to money talk is the amount available. No one knows this figure for sure. The state aid formula is tied to the tax package, which still hasn't come out of the legislature.

It's a waiting game: teacher representatives want as big a slice as possible from a cake of unknown size; administrators want to know that there will be a little cake left over to feed the entire family throughout the year.

The school board is left in the difficult position of approving a budget without full knowledge of either income or expenditures.

The whole procedure is a poor way to run a railroad and someday, because of the strain placed on teacher-administrator-board member-student and taxpayer, the system will be changed. It's inevitable.

Meanwhile, a responsibility that should not be taken lightly rests upon the shoulders of negotiators for teachers and district alike.

Negotiations are a serious business that should be concluded as orderly and rapidly as possible. The stakes are more than another dollar in a paycheck or a mill saved for a taxpayer.

Involved is the most important project conducted in any community — the education of our children.

Straight talk should replace stalling and the ingredients for an agreement should be out on the table well before the call to recess.

The sudden revelation that a deadlock exists on the eve of a new school term is a poor way to win public support or understanding.

It is hoped that Northville negotiators will work toward an agreement that will extend more than one year and that can be accepted and supported by the taxpayers of the district.

Bargaining effort can then be diverted to new and improved programs of education.

Our Legislators Report

Esch...

There are some welcome signs of light at the end of the tunnel. The federal fiscal responsibility. The voice of the people was last November called for sound spending policies is finally beginning to be heard and reflected in our nation's capitol.

Most significant of recent steps in this direction was the refusal of the House to raise the national debt ceiling, as requested by the President, for the second time this year. This time he asked for an increase of $29 billion bringing our total national debt to an all time high of $365 billion. The House defeated this request by a vote of 197-211 — a vote which reflected the concern of the parties and the people over the continued lack of fiscal integrity in national spending practices. My own vote was with this new majority against the increase.

This action did not come as a complete surprise. Actually it was preceded by several cuts in the President's budget — the total reductions now amount to nearly $2 billion. There has been a real failure on the part of the White House to recognize the growing economy trends and to realize the fiscal mood of Congress and the people.

The reasons given for raising the national debt ceiling basically revolved around the costly war in Vietnam. To the contrary, however, two-thirds of the increase in federal expenditures in the last three years are accounted for by non-defense spending. And of the projected increase from 1966 to 1968 over half is to be in non-defense programs.

In the light of these facts, it is just not honest to blame the need for increased indebtedness entirely on the war. What we need is an intelligent recognition that you can't have both guns and butter at the same time. And as long as we are involved to such a great extent in Vietnam, we must be more frugal here at home. However, we must also recognize that some non-defense spending is necessary and that a structure should be developed so that after the war we can begin to rechannel expenditures for needed domestic improvement.

What to do about crime in our streets is the number one domestic issue before the Congress these days. The Federal Bureau of Investigation reports that there was a 11% increase in serious crimes in 1966 over 1965. Serious crimes include murder, up 9%; aggravated assault and forcible rape, up 10%; and robbery, up 14%. The situation, almost daily, becomes more serious.

On the other side of the coin, the weapons to fight crime are becoming less permissible with each new court decision. The police can no longer "stop and frisk" suspicious characters. Any evidence obtained through questioning may be ruled inadmissible. And now, the Supreme Court has ruled out wiretapping — at least in any broadscale use.

He hopped from his bug of a car, peering at the flash light on my face and asked, "Are you all right, friend?"

What's a guy to say? I'd just extracted myself from an upside down truck and was standing next to its exposed belly wondering where Lowell Thomas' voice was coming from.

"Oh, it's the truck radio ... still playing," I said.

"What's that?"

"The news broadcast," I said, becoming a little irritated. "I couldn't figure out how Lowell Thomas got out here."

By now the Good Samaritan was sure he was playing with dynamite. "Let me take a look at your head. You probably got a good crack."

"No, no, I'm okay. But what happened to me, I hit him. No, I hit two of 'em. The truck skidded, hit the culvert and flipped over."

He played the light up and down the truck a minute or two and then shot it back at me. "There's snakes around here, friend. Sure you didn't have a drink or two?"

What's the use, I thought. He'll never believe me.

"Look, I hit a horse. That's right. How about walking down to that farmhouse with me. I'll talk to the farmer. He's probably the owner."

He declined my invitation, saddled up and departed while I jogged the quarter mile to the lighted house.

I knocked several times. No response. A few more times but still no answer. I switched from knuckles to fist and then added emphasis with a toe. Reply was instantaneous.

"Little boy," I said, "can I speak to your father? I think I hit one of your horses."

"He knows it. He's outside now looking for him."

I spotted the farmer behind the barn. He spotted me too and retreated around the corner. I followed, caught a glimpse of a shotgun or rifle in his hand and quickly decided neither of us had much to say to each other.

Turning around, I snatched into a giant of a man behind me. I nearly dropped my pants. He wasn't much steeper.

While we are engaged in preserving freedom abroad, we must also escalate the war against the criminal community at home to assure safety for our citizens before the Congress these days.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation reports that there was a 11% increase in serious crimes in 1966 over 1965. Serious crimes include murder, up 9%; aggravated assault and forcible rape, up 10%; and robbery, up 14%. The situation, almost daily, becomes more serious.

The Senate last week shelved, and then revived, a trio of House bills designed to promote cooperation among local governmental units.

The bills had been sent back to the Senate Municipalities Committee where they would have been dead for the session. At the last minute, however, the Senate reconsidered the action by a razor-thin one vote margin.

Law Permits Election by Computer

WHEN WILL you vote electronically? Several workable systems exist. The law has been changed to utilize the advantages; all it takes is the decision by your local voting authority.

Small, electronic voting devices can replace the conventional voting machine. A computer card is positioned in a voting "booklet" and voters read the booklet much as they do items on a voting machine. Votes are cast by punching the card in each appropriate square. Punches are made either with a sharp stylus or, depending on the model, by pushing a button.

After the polls close, election inspectors seal the "ballots" in a counting center and deliver them to a central computing center for tabulation. This

Farm Land Price Hike Seen

BABSON PARK, Mass. — Prices for farm land are still trending up. The question is: Will they continue to rise, and if so, how fast? At this writing, the odds favor higher prices on average, but no sharp boosts from current levels.

For the nation as a whole, demand for farm land continues fairly strong, buttressed by rising food needs here and abroad as well as by the trend toward larger, highly mechanized farms. Although the national birth rate has declined considerably in very recent years, the number of people reaching marriageable age is rising rapidly.

Hence, although the current tendency is toward smaller families, there will be a greater number of families and our population will continue to grow. Perhaps the most important bullish factor in the farm land picture is the limited availability of such land. During the past 20 years, there has been a tremendous outpouring of our people from urban areas to the outer suburbs. Industry, too, has moved from the inner cities and their immediate environs to establish itself in what were once rural areas devoted chiefly to farming. Farm land has also been encroached upon by expanding highways, and the end of this is not yet in sight. As farm acreage becomes further compressed — other things being equal — the line of least price resistance ought to be up.

However, in business as in life, "other things" are not always equal and so it is necessary to examine the other side of the coin. Most observers agree that farm land values — though seemingly well supported at present — would give ground in time of general economic recession. We also believe that, in the next year or two, the upward in prices of and demand for agricultural real estate will be slowed appreciably because of rising taxes and other costs, the likelihood of smaller capital gains, and the probability that crop yields may not continue to increase at recent rates.

Of course, you can expect sporadic weakening of farm land values in selected areas, either because of local economic conditions or because the land itself is of poor quality, and from time to time there will be distress sales of farm property, occasioned by the effect of sharp competition or uncontrollable circumstances.

When prices of farm land moved up or down pretty much in sympathy with changing trends in farm income — the land price movements usually lagging a bit behind changes in income. But the steady whittling away of farm acreage and the move toward larger, more efficient production units has changed all that so that today farm land prices are not tied so closely to farm income.

No matter what happens to farmers' income in the next couple of years, agricultural land prices should be at least well maintained. And the probability is that we shall see a gentle upswing, reflecting the steadily declining supply of such land and the continuing trend toward larger farms.

This does not mean that all who are now farming will profit if they hold their land. It does mean, however, that in the long run you should sit tight ... if you now have a going farm operation, sufficiently large to permit you to make profitable use of modern mechanized equipment, and if you are in good health and happy on the land.

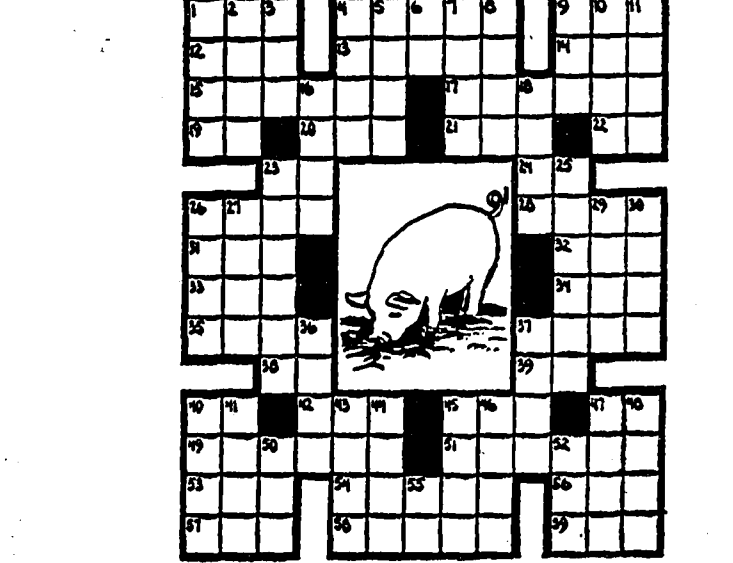

Those who no longer feel equal to the still harsh demands of farm management and large-scale soil tilling might consider leasing the bulk of their land. Demand for long-term farm leases on a cash basis is expanding rapidly. Such cash leases can provide the landlord a steady income that will not vary with the management ability of the renter or with the vagaries of the weather.

2 Receive Diplomas At Valpo

Two area young men were graduated with a class of 600 graduate and undergraduate students from Valparaiso (Indiana) university on Sunday, June 11. Bachelor of arts degrees were awarded to Hal J. Farah, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Farah of 4650 Grand River, and to Harold C. Schmidt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Schmidt of 2017 Woodhill.

Farah majored in English and Schmidt majored in economics. Commencement speaker was Dr. Oswald C. Hoffmann, speaker on the international Lutheran Hour radio program.

Dr. G.P. Kretzmann, VU president, conferred the degrees. He also was speaker for the Baccalaureate Service in Memorial Chapel Sunday morning. Valparaiso University has an overall enrollment of more than 4,000 students in the college of arts and sciences, the college of engineering, the school of law, the college of business administration, Christ college, and the nursing divisions in Fort Wayne, Cleveland, and St. Louis.

The university offers 13 degrees including the Master of Arts in Liberal Studies from its various colleges. Located 45 miles southeast of Chicago, the campus of 365 acres is the scene of a rapidly expanding building program. The $1,517,000 first unit of the Julius and Mary Nellis Science Center was dedicated in May. Construction is in progress on a mathematics engineering building and on a modern foreign languages building.

2 Boys Graduated At Military School

Two Northville boys were graduated May 27 from Kemper Military School and college in Boonville, Missouri. They are Cadet Sergeant Paul D. Lorenz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Lorenz, and Cadet SSG Richard M. Milne, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Milne.

Cadet Lorenz, a high school senior, received a secondary school diploma, while Cadet Milne, a college sophomore, received an associate in arts degree in the school's 123rd commencement exercises.

Kemper is the fourth oldest military school in the United States, presenting a four-year high school academic program and two years of junior college.

Fully accredited by the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, it also offers a full six-year R.O.T.C. program and has been designated an honor military school by the Department of the Army every year since 1914 when the rating was established.

Kemper's 1966-67 enrollment of 560 cadets was the largest in its history, which dates to its foundation in 1844. Cadets from almost all 50 states and more than 12 foreign countries follow a complete schedule of academic, military, athletic and recreational activities.

Parade, Barbecue, Fireworks to Highlight Fourth

Fireworks are scheduled for 10 p.m. at Northville high school.

It'll be a bang up time, literally. That's the word from the Northville Jaycees as they make plans for the annual Fourth of July parade, festivities and a climactic display of fireworks next Tuesday.

Here's a sampling of what is on tap: --Parade of 20 or more floats, bands and marching units beginning at 10 a.m.

--A chicken barbecue from about 11 a.m. until 8 p.m.

--A warding of prizes to the Little Miss winner and the runnerup.

--Free rides for children on the "Redford Locomotive".

--Giant fireworks display at the high school beginning at 10 p.m.

There's still time to enter antique cars, old buggies, or floats in the parade, Jaycee parade officials emphasize. They may be entered by individuals, groups, or business places. Trophies will be awarded for the best entries.

Persons who wish to enter are urged to call either T. J. Schaal, 349-5686, F. J. Zillich, 349-4042, or R. P. Norton, 349-2467.

Theme for this year's parade is "This is Our Country".

The parade will assemble at the Northville Downs parking lot at 9:30 a.m. or earlier, move along Beal to Main street, on Main west to Rogers, turn right onto Rogers to Dunlap, and Dunlap to Center street and the Kroger parking lot where it will disband.

The judges stand will be located at Dunlap and Center streets in front of the American Legion hall.

Immediately following the parade, the Jaycees will begin operation of their chicken barbecue kitchen in the park behind the city hall. Kitchen diners for the entire family will be available until approximately 8 p.m.

Rides for children on the locomotive will be available at the same time starting in the vicinity of Wing and Cady streets. Awarding of prizes to the Little Miss winner will take place during the barbecue.

One of the features of the parade this year, will be a float sponsored by the Jaycees auxiliary. The Little Miss winner will ride on the float as will Lynn Tiilikka, who won the Jaycees' Junior Miss title several months ago. The Little Miss winner will be crowned prior to the parade. A penny vote contest to determine the winner ends Saturday. Persons wishing to vote for one of the 10 entries in the contest may cast penny ballots at Del's Shoe Store today and at Cloverdale Farms Dairy tomorrow and Saturday.

Contestants include Susan Bailey, Marianne Balala, Lisa Fendi, Lori Ann Hammond, Stacey Lynn Lusk, Kelli Anne Meyer, Susie Roberts, Cindy Sue Stowe, Kristin Valentine, and Cory Westphal. Spectators may watch the fireworks display from the high school and American elementary parking lots and from the Swim Club.

School Chief Loses 'Rocky' Northville Job

A two-year rocky tenure as superintendent of Northville schools came to an end Monday night with the termination of Alex Nelson's contract by mutual agreement of Nelson and the board of education.

Nelson, who had another year to serve under his first three-year contract, will be replaced by Assistant Superintendent Raymond Spear, who assumes the title of acting superintendent on an interim basis "until such time as the board makes a definite decision on the superintendency."

The termination agreement, apparently reached last week, was officially ratified by a 6-1 vote of the school board at its regular Monday meeting. It calls for separation payment of $16,200 "in full settlement" of his contract.

Nelson, who was not present at Monday's meeting, could not be reached for comment following the meeting and on Tuesday.

Board President Wilfred Becker, who perhaps was Nelson's closest ally on the board, cast the lone "no" vote. But, ironically, he said he opposed the agreement because of the $16,200 separation payment. He told The Record later that the money represented two and one-half teacher salaries and that he opposed pouring this money "down the drain."

While termination of his contract was made official this week, The Record learned several weeks ago—prior to presentation of petitions calling for his removal in May—that the board had decided, at least informally, to terminate the contract.

The board kept the matter private, however. Thus, when the petitions were presented to the board, it had already made its decision, and several members indicated privately that the petitions came at an inopportune time. They feared termination of the contract would appear to have been sparked by the petitions which they found ungratified and valueless, particularly because they contained no specific charges.

As superintendent here, Nelson came under fire frequently in private—mostly, in widely circulated rumors—and less frequently in public. Criticism initially centered around his support of a proposed ungraded school system and later was sparked by a number of resignations by administrators and teachers.

Most vehement of these criticisms was voiced by E. V. Ellison, administrative assistant, upon his resignation earlier this year.

Loophole Stymies Wixom Final Action

A legal loophole forced postponement of final action on a proposed huge industrial subdivision at Tuesday's meeting of the Wixom city council.

A special meeting will be held at 8 p.m. tonight at the city hall in hopes of resolving the legal problem, brought about by wording of the zoning ordinance.

The 342 acres now under consideration for rezoning to light manufacturing are located on the south side of Pontiac Trail, west of Wixom road. About 284 acres comprise the planned industrial subdivision.

Specifically, the ordinance that came under fire calls for a 180-foot "yard setback" for all industrial property on Pontiac Trail. The ordinance language could be circumvented, however, if the developers constructed an access road with buildings facing it. In this event, only a 40-foot side yard setback from Pontiac Trail would be required by ordinance.

Bringing the loophole to the council's attention was City Attorney Gene Schmeitz. Before taking final action, he said, the council, Schmeitz, the planning consultant and the planning commission should review ordinance language to arrive at a solution to the best interests of Wixom citizens.

A petition submitted to the council and requesting a 300-foot green belt between the proposed industrial property and adjacent residential land stimulated the council's decision. Eleven signatures, representing five families living on West Pontiac Trail, appeared on the petition.

Novi village's total tax role is $263,398.39, with $161,641.25 of this total pegged for operation and the remainder represents special assessments. Novi levies a total of 5 mills for operation and 1 for capital improvement.

On August 1

Fluoride Water Coming

Northville and parts of Novi will begin receiving fluoridated water on August 1, Gerald J. Remus, general manager of the Detroit Department of Water Supply, announced this week.

Nearly all users of Detroit water, Remus told this newspaper, will receive water at a ratio of one part fluoride to every million parts water. The exception, he explained, is in the southwest section of the county, where changing pressures will mean users will receive fluoridated and unfluoridated water intermittently.

Mixing of liquid fluoride to water, he said, will be done by licensed chemists in a new $550,000 building near Dearborn.

"We expect the building to be operational in late July," Remus said. "Laboratory facilities at our Springwells, Water Works Park and Northeast stations will provide a continuous check of the fluoride content. In addition, water samples will be taken throughout the system at regular intervals."

The northern boundaries of Allen Park, Lincoln Park and Ecorse, plus Van Born road to the western limit of Wayne county, form a line along which fluoridation will fluctuate, he said. This area, he added, does not include Northville or Novi.

DWS currently supplies water to 3.5 million residents of 65 communities in southeastern Michigan.

Township Approves $96,400 Budget

A 1967-68 budget calling for an outlay of $96,400 against an estimated income of $104,100 was approved by the Novi township board Monday night.

The budget was approved as proposed except for switching of $500 from election expenditures to a newly created departmental expense for recreational purposes.

The new budget represents an increase of some $5,000 over the budget approved last year. It represents a decrease of $2,500 in all but non park expenditures, but an increase of $7,500 in park expenditure.

Much of the latter increase results from earlier salary hikes granted to all park officials.

Last year's budget called for a $10,000 fire department expenditure which included construction of the fire hall addition, while this year's budget sets aside $9,000 in capital outlay for asphaltting of the parking lot at the township hall. This work is expected to be done this year.

Salary disbursements for major positions remains the same. These include $6,000 for the supervisor; $3,600 each for the clerk and treasurer; and $2,400 for an assistant assessor. Estimated salaries for the trustees, who are paid by the meetings they attend, were pegged at $400.

Other major expenditures in the new budget include:

Office salaries, $1,500; attorney fees, $2,900; insurance and bonds, $3,500; elections $1,500; service agreement with the village of Novi, $1,800; community building, $1,500; fire expense, $2,500; veterans exemptions, $3,000; senior citizens, $5,500; and social security costs, $2,000.

The lone change in the budget was sparked by a request for funds by the recreation committee, sponsored by the Novi Youth Protective association.

Because Township Attorney Emory Jacques advised the board that it was not legally empowered to grant monies of this kind, officials then established a township department called the Novi township recreation board and set aside $500 to be used by this new body in aiding the recreation committee's summer program.

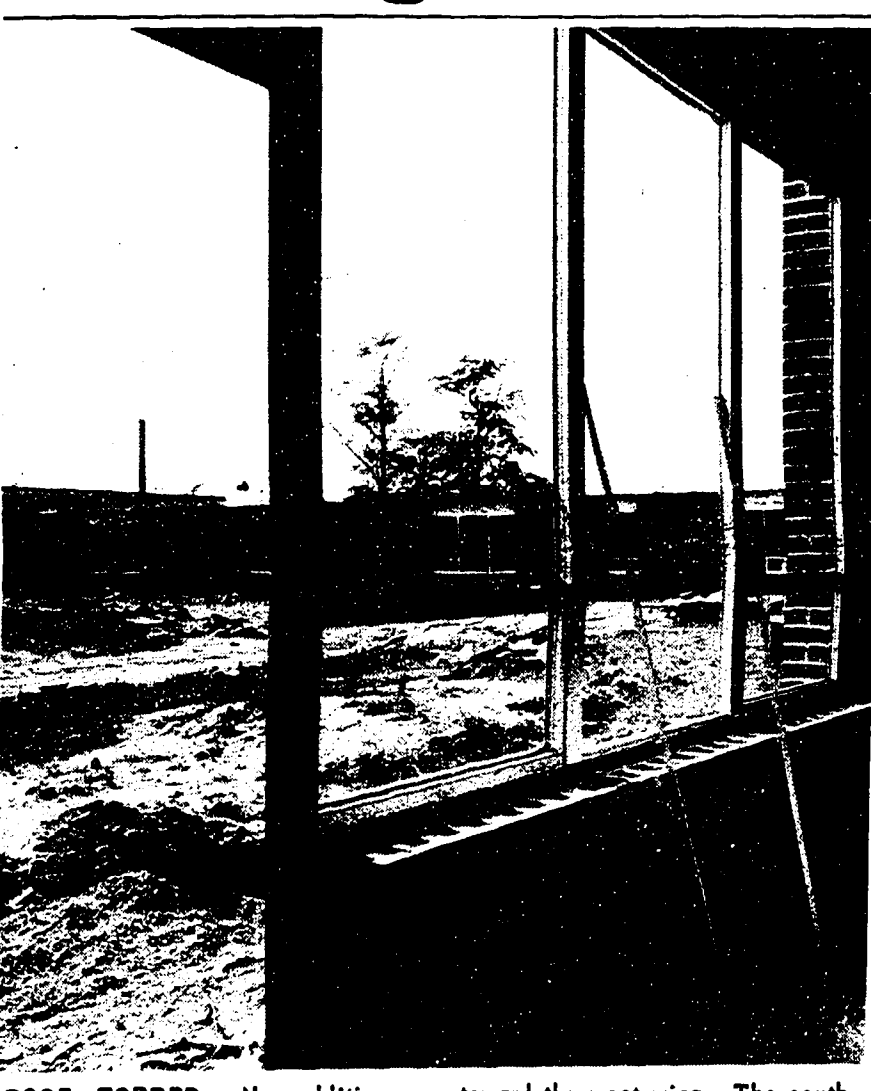

It was simply a matter of the law preventing the township from making a donation of money for a worthy community cause, Supervisor Hadley Bachert explained, so the new department was established to accomplish the same ends.

Named to the new board immediately were Mrs. Herbert Farrah, Charles Comito, and Richard Faulkner, who also are members of the recreation committee.

An estimated increase of some $3,300 will come into township coffers from taxes this year even though Novi's share of the county millage allocation was cut from 1-mill to .98. Last year's budget estimated taxes at $26,000 and the new budget pegs them at $29,300.

Reason for the increased tax receipts despite the drop in millage, Bachert explained, is because of a substantial increase in the valuation of the township.

State equalized valuation of the township this year is $32,893,100—up from the $25,501,236 figure of last year. This increase, he said earlier, represents growth in business and residential development together with the state required increase of assessments up to the 50-percent level.

ROOF TOPPED—New additions to the Novi high school are on schedule for the fall opening of school. This is the way construction looks, eyed through a window in the south wing and looking toward the west wing. The south wing will house primarily vocational shops and class rooms, while the west wing is made up of academic classrooms.

In Recreation Program

Now Everyone Wants to Join Fun

What a difference a week makes. To Novi's Recreation committee, it made all the difference as 153 children registered Saturday for the summer program and 46 additional signed registration forms came through the mail.

Last week, during a two-day registration, only 23 children signed up. The sudden response to an all-out publicity effort now has pushed expectations to 400 children when the recreation gets its baptism July 10.

"We're really tickled," Mrs. Herbert Farrah, secretary-treasurer of the recreation committee, said. "We've been swamped with calls."

And there were other reasons for optimism. The Novi township board Monday approved a $500 outlay, with the village's contributions of over $700, plus 50 cents for each registration, the township donation helped the committee to reach its goal of $1,500 for operating capital.

Furthermore, employees are coming into the fold and parents have been offering their services. Hired as the Novi school site director was Hal Farrah, and Diane Conley of South Lyon, a qualified Red Cross swimming instructor, has agreed to terms.

Easily, 25-30 mothers have volunteered to help in any way possible, Mrs. Farrah said. One person, for instance, has offered to teach dramatics.

But there's still an urgent need for arts and crafts instructors and play leaders, as well as a qualified site director for the Orchard Hills school. Time is of the essence at this point, Mrs. Farrah pointed out. Only 10 days remain until the program opens. It's scheduled to run through August 17.

To ensure that children will have the opportunity to register, a get-acquainted morning registration will be held on opening day at the two recreation sites.
