

Henry Schnute

Local Musician Keeps Going At 91

Slowly the gentleman hobbled into the room and eased himself into a chair. "I bought that piano," he mumbled, indicating the baby grand lodged in the corner of the Presbyterian Fellowship Hall.

"We got it second hand for $125. Yes, we found it under a pile of chairs in a junk shop in Detroit—Reverend Fredell and a couple other church members. They asked me to go along. It didn't look like much but I saw the numbers on the strings and knew it was a good year."

If anyone in Northville is qualified to judge the worth of a musical instrument, it must be Henry Schnute. Northville's popular music man who Saturday celebrated his 91st birthday.

Friends gathered recently at the church to see a movie concerning the life of this still active musician. The photographer, Percy MacKenzie, and the narrator, Felix Lorenz, had worked with Schnute's daughter, Selma, to compress nearly a century of the man's life into the 45 minute film. The result is a fascinating documentary entitled, "Four Score and Ten."

Henry Frederick William Schnute was born June 22, 1877, in a log cabin in New Newton, Illinois.

When he was five his mother bought an autoharp, and the boy immediately learned several tunes including, "Home Sweet Home." Recognizing her son's talent, Mrs. Schnute enrolled him in music lessons—and he continued to study until he was graduated from college in 1898.

Following graduation he taught school in Detroit and on August 2, 1902, he married Matilda Wagner. Three sons were born, Milton, Arthur and Alvin, and the couple lived together until Mrs. Schnute died in 1912. Later, he married Augusta Kathryn Meyer, who died in 1960. A daughter, Selma, was born with this second union.

For a while, Schnute continued teaching in Detroit, but eventually teaching 80 students in a one-room classroom became too much and, upon his doctor's advice, he moved to the country—purchasing a Northville farm home now owned by Dr. and Mrs. R. G. Wetterstrom.

Except for 10 years in Monroe, he has lived in Northville since then. It is here that his children grew up. Milton graduated from Michigan State University with a major in zoology and Alvin followed his father to Concordia Lutheran College. Arthur served as Northville's assistant postmaster until his death in 1962. Selma, the youngest, is living at home giving music lessons along with her father.

Throughout his life, Schnute has been immersed in music.

Years ago he organized the Northville Community Orchestra and sometime later the senior choir for senior citizens. He has directed numerous church choirs and was, for a while, organist in one of the local churches.

In his life-time he has mastered more than 15 instruments—all of which he has taught from time to time. More than 1,000 students have taken lessons from him and the number continues to increase. At present he has approximately 15 students.

Although he has never performed in public himself, some of his students have become quite successful. He recalls one student in particular "who used to live on the corner of Rogers and Cady." The student, whose name he cannot remember, moved away and lost touch with his Northville teacher. One day, turning on his radio, he heard the announcer state that his former pupil would be conducting the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra in Chicago.

Life has not been too easy. He has suffered several heart attacks and had cancer of the lip. And soon after his 90th birthday he suffered a serious illness which doctors presumed would be fatal.

But the colorful old man lives on, teaching music and doing the things that have made him, in his own way, a living Northville legend.

C. W. Waidelich To Be Ordained

Carl W. Waidelich, former resident of Northville and a 1968 graduate of Concordia Theological Seminary, Springfield, Illinois, will be ordained on Sunday, June 30 at 4 p.m. in a special service at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, High and Elm Streets, Northville.

Pastor Charles F. Boerger will serve as the officiant in the solemn rite of ordination and the Rev. Eugene Krentz, assistant to the president of Concordia Lutheran Junior College, Ann Arbor, will deliver the ordination sermon.

Mr. Waidelich was born in Saginaw, received his elementary education in Lansing, attended high school in Saginaw and then attended Concordia College, Milwaukee, Wisconsin for pre-theological training before entering the Seminary in Illinois. After two years there he discontinued his education to serve the country as a military security agent. After his service years he graduated from Michigan State University and eventually became territorial manager for Wyeth Laboratories, a drug firm and became a resident of Northville in 1963.

In 1965, receiving encouragement and financial assistance from the members of St. Paul's, he returned to the seminary to complete his training for the ministry. As part of his required course of study, he served a year of internship as assistant to the pastor of Immanuel Lutheran Church in Crystal Lake, Illinois.

Rev. Waidelich was married to Diane M. Kay of Worcester, Massachusetts, on December 31, 1956 in Trinity Lutheran Church Wahkiakum.

Hawaii. They have two daughters, Shell and Fawn, and one son, Eric.

Rev. Waidelich will assume his pastoral duties at Grace Lutheran Church, Killeen, Texas in July.

The public is invited to attend the service at St. Paul's. A reception for the Waidelichs is planned, following the service of ordination.

State Approves Novi School Bonds

Attorney General Frank J. Kelley, Chairman of the Municipal Finance Commission, has announced that the Commission approved $480,000 of "1968 School District Bonds" for Novi Community School District.

Attorney General Kelley said, "The proceeds will be used to defray the cost of erecting, furnishing and equipping an addition to the Orchard Hills Elementary School building, remodeling school buildings and improving the sites thereof (including sewer connection), and acquiring a site for future school construction."

"These bonds were authorized by the electors of the school district on April 1, 1968, are unlimited tax bonds and will run until 1993. The school district is authorized to levy whatever taxes are necessary to pay principal and interest. These bonds are also qualified by the Superintendent of Public Instruction under the School Bond Loan Program."

Other members of the Municipal Finance Commission are Allison Green, State Treasurer; and Ira Polley, Superintendent of Public Instruction.

Diane Westphall Wins BJU Honor

Forty-one students, including one from Northville, is included on the Dean's List of Bob Jones University at Greenville, South Carolina. Students listed earned at least a B average during the second semester.

The local student is Mary Diane Westphall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Westphall of 227 North Rogers Street. She is a senior in the school of religion.

RESCUED—For more than three hours, nine-year-old Steve Elody, son of Dr. Marty S. Elody, 392 Welch Road, shivered and cried in 2½ feet of muddy water in a basement excavation at Westridge Subdivision as more than a dozen Novi policemen, firemen and village employees worked feverishly to free him. Detective Sergeant Richard Faulkner and Water Department Superintendent Roy Marr worked for an hour to remove the boy, whose foot was painfully impaled on a long, crooked nail and wedged awkwardly in framework and mud beneath the water. Because of the pain and the uncertainty of how his foot was caught, they called in a fire truck pumper and two portable pumps to first remove the water. Then with the ambulance on the way and Dr. Lorne Dyer on hand, his foot was pulled free. Treated and released from St. Mary Hospital, the boy had been wading in the basement. Township Okays 1968-69 Budget

Novi Township's 1968-69 proposed budget—calling for a total outlay of $101,500—was approved last week Monday.

(The Novi News erred in reporting that the budget hearing was to be held last week Wednesday.)

According to Supervisor Hadley Bachert, the approved estimated budget differs from an earlier proposed budget in that the "in and out" income from veterans exemptions are not included (receipt of these funds from the state and their dispersal is a clerical matter only and no longer required to appear in the budget).

Last year the total budget called for an estimated expenditure of $96,400 and it included the veterans exemptions.

Furthermore, he said estimated cash on hand actually totaled $54,200, as revealed in the completed audit, rather than the estimated $46,000 as reported two weeks ago.

Most line item expenditures remain the same as the earlier budget estimate, although a couple categories have been reorganized, an assessor salary of $3,000 has been eliminated, and the total outlay for the park has been hiked from $29,000 to $31,600.

Here's the expenditures as approved:

Supervisor, $6,000; clerk, $3,600; treasurer, $3,600; office salaries, $2,000; trustees, $800; building inspector, $300; electrical inspector, $300; heating inspector, $300; board of review, $300; zoning, $500; attorney fees, $3,600; auditing fees, $1,500; office supplies and expenses, recording tax collection, microfilm, $2,100; insurance and bonds, $3,600; election expense, $1,800; official expense, $1,500; and assessing expense, $1,500.

Park operation, $19,000; park expense, $2,500; welfare, $1000; cemetery care, $1,000; miscellaneous, $600; sewer taps, $1,500; recreation, $1,000; Community building, $1,500; service agreement with Novi Village, $2,000; tax rebates, $1,000; social security, $2,000; hospitalization insurance, $1,000; capital outlay (buildings, township hall, library), $1,000; park improvement, real estate, $10,100; furniture, fixtures, equipment, $1,000; Asphalt parking lot (township hall), $15,000; annexation settlement with Northville, $3,000.

Township Race Locked Up Primary Election's A Puzzler

The August primary and the November election are sure to be beauty-ful of puzzling legal ramifications and wallpaper ballots almost as long as your arm.

Redistricting of the local court system together with the new county supervisory district helps create the big question marks.

But the election of township officials is no less puzzling. As things stand now it appears the two-party primary election of township officials, here in Novi, has already been decided.

Up until a few months ago, township officials had been told they were to serve "bonus" terms to rectify the lame duck sessions resulting from changes in the new State Constitution. Officials elected in November of 1966 did not officially take office until the following spring, so in reality their terms do not expire until next spring—not in November when they stand for re-election.

Lake last year the Attorney

General of Michigan ruled unconstitutional that part of the act extending the four-year terms of trustees elected in 1964. "No doubt, the Legislature will have to enact something to correct (the law)," probably call for an election in 1968," his office told this newspaper.

While the Attorney General's ruling concerned only those trustees elected to four-year terms in 1964, his office told The News at the time that it probably would affect, too, the four-year terms of trustees elected in 1966 whose terms had been extended to November, 1972.

The ruling would not, his office said, affect the extension of terms of township officers, such as supervisors, clerks, and treasurers.

Recently, Oakland County Circuit Judge William Beer handed down a decision that in effect challenged the Constitutional authority of the state legislature to extend the terms.

Each time the question of extended terms has arisen, challenges—including the Attorney General—have pointed to the Constitution.

Here's what the Constitution says: "In each organized township there shall be elected for terms of not less than two nor MORE than four years as prescribed by law a supervisor, a clerk, a treasurer, and not to exceed four trustees, whose legislative and administrative powers and duties shall be provided by law."

The Constitution very clearly supports the challengers. But what about the other half of its provision? "...shall be elected for terms of NOT LESS than two..."

Township officials elected in November of 1966 did not officially take office until the following spring. Therefore, if it is unconstitutional for them to serve longer than four years it is not unconstitutional for them to serve less than two?

OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER OF THE VILLAGE AND TOWNSHIP OF NOVI, AND THE CITY OF WIXOM

Vol. 15, No. 7, 36 Pages, Three Sections, • Novi, Michigan — Wednesday, July 3, 1968 • 10¢ Per Copy, $4 Per Year In Advance

Area Population Hits 22,740 in '67

Population of the Northville, Novi, Wixom communities increased by 3,115 persons between the 1960 and July 1, 1967, according to the latest count by the planning division of the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments.

The head count climbed from 19,625 in 1960 to 22,740 last July. This total, explained planners, includes the large non-household population of the institutions in Northville Township.

Biggest jump in population occurred in the Oakland County section of Northville where figures climbed from 985 to 1,490—a 505 increase or 51-percent jump.

The Wayne County portion of Northville increased from 2,982 to 3,800 for a jump of 818 people or 27-percent. Altogether, Northville's city population was put at 5,290.

Novi—including both the village and the township—showed a population increase of from 6,454 to 7,200, a jump of 746 or 14-percent.

Population increased from 7,673 to 8,400 in Northville Township of an increase of 727 or nine percent.

In Wixom, the population increased by 319 or 21-percent, from 1,531 to 1,850.

Population estimates of the seven-county area, according to SMCOC, show an increase of 541,646. As of July 1, 1967, the region grew to 4,723,000 persons—a gain of 13-percent over the seven year period.

Greatest percentage growth occurred in Macomb County which had a new high of 577,000 residents for a 42-percent increase since 1960. Two communities, Warren and Sterling Township, accounted for most of this gain with about 111,000 additional persons. This represents a growth of 94-percent for Warren and 181-percent for Sterling Township.

Oakland County had the greatest numerical growth with 465,000 residents for a gain of 25 percent of almost 175,000. Leading communities include: Royal Oak with 96,000; Pontiac with 85,300; Southfield with 65,000; and Waterford Township with 56,200.

For Wayne County the population totaled 2,772,000 for an increase of 105,700 since 1960. Livonia and Westland recorded over 50-percent of this gain with new highs of 101,000 and 78,500, respectively.

Other counties reported on included Washtenaw with a total of 225,000 persons; Monroe with 121,000; St. Clair with 116,000; and Livingston with 47,000.

Population increases of other neighboring communities include: Brighton, from 2,282 to 2,500; Green Oak Township, from 4,631 to 5,550; Farmington, from 6,881 to 9,600; Farmington Township, from 25,526 to 38,200; Lyon Township, from 2,880 to 3,780; South Lyon, from 1,753 to 1,970; Milford, from 4,323 to 4,700; Milford Township, from 1,548 to 1,950; Walled Lake, from 3,550 to 4,200; Commerce Township, from 9,608 to 12,500; Wolverine Lake, from 2,404 to 3,350; Northfield Township, from 3,279 to 3,710; Salem Township, from 2,097 to 2,420.

Livonia, Northville Officials Debate Government Here

A strong manager and a strong mayor recommended and defended their respective forms of government in a sparring match before the Novi City Charter Commission Thursday night.

Neither could claim a victory. Commissioners expect to hear others talk about the two basic forms of government before deciding which type of government they will choose for Novi.

Thursday's contestants were Harvey W. Moelke, mayor of Livonia, and Frank Ollendorff, city manager of Northville. While the two espoused opposite viewpoints, they were agreed on two fundamental issues:

Whichever form of government is picked, give the mayor or the manager sufficient powers to carry out the duties of his office, and in writing the charter make it a clear-cut document that does not mix strong manager-strong mayor charter provisions.

Here are the basic points of the two sides:

Moelke—

"The strong mayor-council form of government provides a check and balance system not provided under the city manager form.

"It offers a healthy public forum, resulting in better public awareness of the issues.

"With both the mayor and the council being elected, the people know where the responsibilities belong and they can act accordingly.

"The city manager cannot exercise authority as can the mayor who is elected by the people; furthermore when the elected mayor goes to Lansing or to Washington, D.C. for some request he carries with him a good deal more authority.

"A mayor usually has been a resident of a community for a considerable time and knows first-hand many of the problems and the citizens of the community.

"The mayor can express his own opinions and fight for his position whereas the city manager does not often express differing points of view. How can the manager be held responsible for council action where its decision may have been made by a split vote?

"The strong mayor system provides organized groups with an opportunity to advance a candidate and to have some influence in capturing the mayor's seat.

Ollendorff—

"The lines of responsibility under the manager system are clear-cut and the people know it. A manager who fails to do his job can be disciplined or dismissed.

"In local government there are two distinct functions: policy-making and administrative. A manager, trained in administration, can do this job best; leaving policy-making to the council.

"If the council erases it cannot 'pass the buck' to the mayor or vice-versa as is the case under the strong mayor form of government.

"If your citizens voice little interest in local government, then perhaps the strong mayor form is preferable. But if the people have a real interest in their government, the city manager form has the edge because here the people, not the mayor, represent the 'check' on the council."

Ward System Considered

Should Novi's new city charter contain provisions for council representation by the ward system?

If Thursday's discussion is a clue, this question is certain to weigh heavily upon the City Charter Commission's future deliberations.

As a matter of fact it may have been a key point of discussion in yesterday's meeting (Tuesday), which was moved ahead two days because of the Fourth of July holiday.

Last Thursday, two citizens attending another lively meeting of the commission urged its members to consider the district or ward system to guarantee equal representation on the council. They were Donald Woodward and Mrs. Jean Colleen.

Woodward, who has repeatedly argued in the past that Novi's government neglects the northern portion of the community in the Walled Lake section, took the position that if the new charter does not contain a district provision it will not be approved by the voters.

Mrs. Colleen said she had no personal interest to satisfy but that in her opinion the ward system would give the community's various sections better representation.

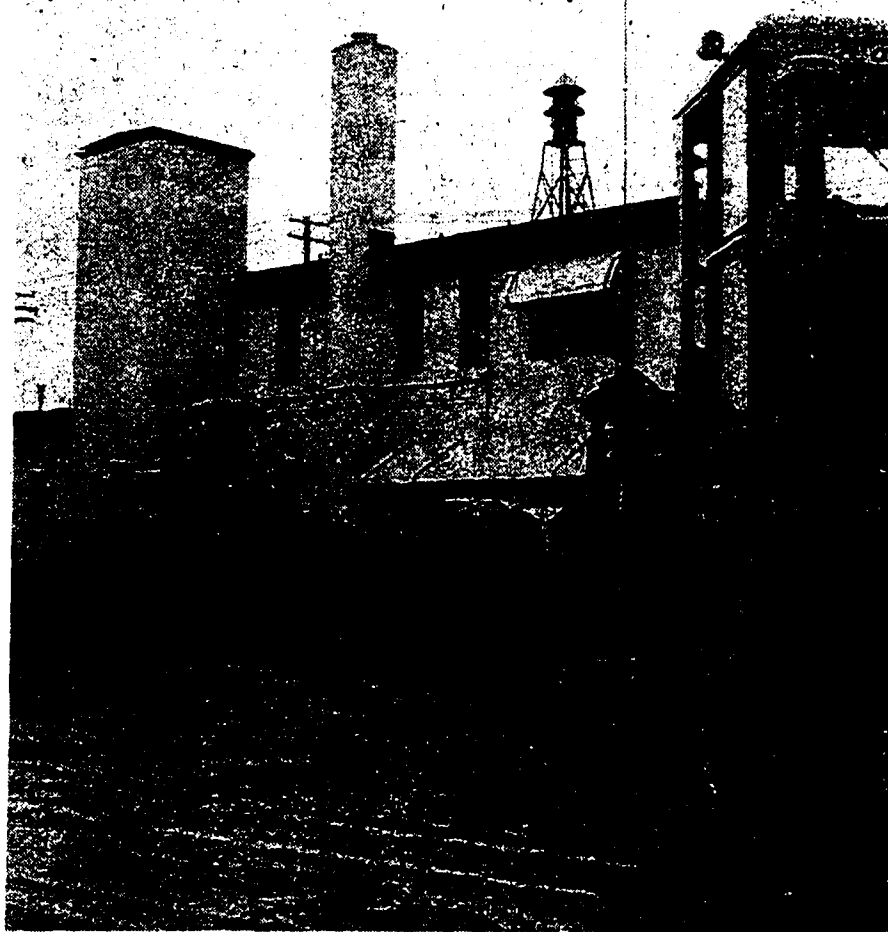

Commissioner Russell Burton, who first suggested the ward system to fellow members, said he is not yet fully convinced that it should be written into the charter. However, he urged fellow members to study it thoroughly before reaching a decision.

One of the problems with a ward system, it was noted, is that because of recent landmark rulings of the United States Supreme Court and the Michigan Supreme Court districting by equal population must certainly would also apply to local government.

This being the case, a charter provision for the ward system would necessarily require periodic redistricting because of changes in populations, thus necessitating periodic charter revisions—a costly, complicated procedure.

The question is expected to be explored, however, with attention given to a ward system provided through ordinance rather than by charter provision.

PARKING LOT IMPROVEMENT—Last week's rains upset plans for early completion of asphaltting of the Township Hall parking lot, but hopefully the project will be completed yet this week, according to Supervisor Hadley Bachert, who said the new hard surface will be a special Deep Strength type of blacktopping.

June Wedding Bells Chime for Four Brides

MR. AND MRS. WALTER E. CLARK

MRS. DENNIS TUTTLE

Mary Jackson - Walter Clark

In a morning ceremony at the St. Luke's Episcopal Church in Allen Park, Mary Joanne Jackson became the bride of Walter E. Clark. The Reverend Ward H. Clabush officiated at the June 15 double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Jackson of Allen Park. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clark of 10650 West Seven Mile.

The floor-length gown of the bride was fashioned of peau de soie with features of Alencon lace applique. The neckline was scooped and adorned with clusters of seed pearls. A bouffant skirt with similar Alencon lace fell from a fitted bodice. The illusion veil was elbow-length and secured by a Dior bow. The bride carried a white prayer book centered with an orchid, stephanotis and ivy.

Appearing as matron of honor was Mrs. Robert Quandt of Allen Park, whose street length A-line turquoise dress featured a high bodice bow which secured the veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations centered with turquoise daisies.

Donning similar ensembles were Mrs. Richard Juchartz of Wyandotte and Miss Mary Low of Highland Park, who carried a colonial arrangement of yellow carnations and daisies. The flower girls, Danielle Juchartz and Kimberly Quandt, wore identical pale yellow dresses and carried baskets of yellow and white daisies.

Jerry Baker of Plymouth assisted as best man. Escorting the guests to their seats were Richard Clark of Northville, brother of the bridegroom, and John Jackson, Jr., the bride's brother. The bridegroom's nephew, Gerald Watson, of South Lyon, was ring bearer.

Out-of-town guests attended the wedding from Stoney Creek and Hamilton, Ontario, and Port Huron. Following the nuptials, the newlyweds were feted at a luncheon reception in Seabury Hall. They will reside in Lincoln Park following a honeymoon in Northern Michigan.

Jean Findlay - Dennis Tuttle

Jean Findlay pledged her vows to Dennis Tuttle in a wedding ceremony on June 22 at the Methodist Church in St. Johns, Michigan. The marriage took place at 2 p.m., with the Reverend Homer officiating.

The new Mrs. Tuttle is a first-grade teacher at Amerman Elementary School. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Loree Findlay of St. Johns. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Farice Tuttle of Dearborn Heights.

The bride was given in marriage by her father under altar arrangements of daisies and roses. The two songs sung were "Oh Perfect Love" and "Our Wedding Prayer".

The bride's gown was made from organza and characterized by straight, simple lines. The belted sleeves were made of lace, with matching lace motifs scattered down the front panel of the skirt. Another panel, the back fell into a floor-length train. More lace motifs formed the headpiece, which secured a fingertip veil of silk illusion. The bride carried a bouquet of white daisies and roses intertwined with baby's breath and ivy.

Serving as maid of honor was Janet Findlay, a sister of the bride. Other attendants were Lynda Goss, and Eileen Herbst. All three wore empire gowns of aqua organza. The dresses were trimmed with borders of white daisies.

Carol Tuttle, a sister of the bridegroom, acted as junior bridesmaid. Lynn Burk, friend of the bridegroom, assisted as best man. Other men in the wedding party were Larry Rhodes and Carl Regis.

Both mothers of the couple wore tailored jacket dresses. Mrs. Findlay wore a dress of light green satin material and the bridegroom's mother wore an aqua colored outfit.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the church parlor for approximately 120 guests. The newlyweds made a wedding trip to Mackinac Island and settled in Fairbrook apartments upon their return.

Jill Rockefeller - Robert Steeper

Jill Ethel Rockefeller and Robert Lorne Steeper exchanged marriage vows on June 7 at the First United Methodist Church of Northville. The Reverend S. D. Kinde performed the evening ceremony.

Candelabrum and standing bouquets of yellow fiji mums and white gladioli decorated the church, with white ribboned mums trimming the pews. The music was provided by organist Arthur Fropok with Donald Valentine singing "I Love Thee" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Jill is the daughter of Mrs. Stuart Rockefeller and the late Mr. Rockefeller of 43450 Reservoir Road. Her husband's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Steeper of 19320 Marlin.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother Craig Rockefeller. Her gown, made of imported silk organza, had an A-line silhouette. It was enhanced with a panel of embroidered Alencon Lace along the front bodice and the skirt. The dress had a portrait neckline and long sleeves fastened at the wrist with tiny buttons. A Dior bow of matching fabric held a shoulder length illusion veil. The flowers carried were a colonial bouquet with yellow roses fashioned with a detachable going away corsage.

Serving as maid of honor was Deborah Hines, a long time friend of the bride from Western Michigan University. The other attendants were Patricia Hicks, Mary McMannis, and Leanne Steeper.

They wore similar costumes of pale yellow Georgette with a floating panel in the back. The gowns were trimmed with imported French Gupiere braid. Their flower bouquets were yellow daisies with a yellow rose in the center.

Mike Homer, a long-time friend of the bridegroom from Rutgers University, acted as best man. Serving as ushers were Fred Steeper, Dale Dedich, David Chabut, Pat Templeton, and Clifford Smith. Two nephews of the bride, Stuart and Britton Rockefeller were junior ushers.

Mrs. Rockefeller, the bride's mother, wore a beige lace sheath with blue accessories. The mother of the bridegroom, chose a pink lace sheath with a matching coat.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held at the Mayflower Meeting House in Plymouth. About 200 friends attended from Florida, Ohio, Canada, Michigan, and New York. Among the guests was Mrs. Fred Steeper, grandmother of the bridegroom. Mrs. Steeper, who is in her eighties, traveled all the way from Canada to attend the wedding.

For a wedding trip, the new couple traveled to New England. The bride's going away outfit was a navy silk worsted suit.

Previous to the wedding ceremony, the new Mrs. Steeper was honored with three showers. One, a family shower, was given by her aunt Mrs. Brown. Mrs. Lanning in Livonia, and Patricia Hix and Debbie Hines also gave showers in her name.

Both newlyweds are 1965 graduates of Northville High School and seniors at Western Michigan University. They plan to make their new home in Kalamazoo Michigan.

A new daughter, Beth Anne Marie, was born to Mr. and Mrs. John H. Walasky, of 979 Allen Drive. The eight pound baby was born June 20 at St. Joseph's Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The baby's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Joseph and Mr. and Mrs. John Walasky, are residents of Plymouth.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Hoffman of 45085 Mayo Court announce the birth of a son, Mark Robert. The baby, born Saturday, June 29, at Mount Sinai Hospital, weighed eight pounds and three ounces. He is joined at home by a sister, Karen, who is two and a half.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Wyman of Northville announce the birth of a new daughter, Jill Annette. The baby, weighing 6.4 pounds, was born June 19 at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia.

Northville Cheerleaders Win Again!

Nine wins in nine years isn't bad... in fact a trophy a year is pretty nice tradition. But when you bring home a first place for the fourth time, well, that's something to be excited about.

For the fourth time in nine years, the Northville High School cheerleaders won first place at Camp All American at Hartland in Walden Woods. In competition with 30 other high schools, some much larger than Northville, the girls emerged victorious.

They returned Friday with ribbons and a trophy to display in the high school.

One of the cheerleaders, Sandy Schwendemann brought back added honors when she topped second place in the individual cheering competitions.

Since tryouts on the first of April, the Northville cheerleaders have been practicing for the cheerleading camp. The girls, coached by Miss Patricia Dorrain, are all seniors except for one. They are seniors Vicki Elkins, Sandy Schwendemann, Kim McCormick, Donna Bissa, and Pam Witzke, and junior Jane Forrer.

From their departure Tuesday 'til their return three days later, the girls lead about 20 cheers and chants. They also performed a few unrequired entertainments such as a pom-pom routine to the tune of "A Little Help from My Friends" by the Beatles.

On the morning before their return they presented a skit viewing football through the eyes of different spectators.

The results were spectacular. On the first night when judged on leadership and total appearance, the girls won first place. The next evening they performed two cheers for a first and a second. The last night they won two seconds to knot the title.

Camp All American, run by Miss Polly Hess of Michigan State University, is one of three such camps in the country. Later this summer, winners from all three will come together to compete for a national title. Previously Northville has done well in this competition winning two firsts from other national winners. This August the squad will try again, and the girls are keeping their fingers crossed.

Style shows, golf tournaments and luncheons highlighted the Michigan State Pharmaceutical Convention in Traverse City last week. Attending from Northville were the owners of the Gussell Drug Store, Mr. and Mrs. R. Douglas Lorenz of 19640 Clement.

The Lorenzes left on June 23 for a five-day trip into northern Michigan. Their vacation itinerary included a tour of the Interlochen art academy and a series of lectures by Lieutenant Governor William Milliken and Zoltan Ferency. The convention also offered entertainment with a dancing and musical review by Bobb Charles and Kenny Gordon.

Lynn L. Spietz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Spietz of 536 Orchard Drive and a graduate of Northville High School, was graduated from Montclair College of Wayne State University on Tuesday, June 18.

The Northville Senior Citizens Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 9, in the Scout Recreation Building. The regular monthly business session will be followed by a program and social hour with refreshments.

70-Percent of '68 Class

Most Northville Graduates To Return to School in Fall

Freedom is not an easy thing to come by. When 247 graduating seniors walked up the aisle last month, over 70 percent realized the end of study was not yet in sight. A total of 176 of them are going back to school this fall, most of them to colleges and universities, some to specialized career institutes such as beauty schools.

This is significant rise over last year's students to indicate that students are coming to realize that you just can't always get a satisfactory job with a high school education.

Perhaps equally significant is the fact that of the 176 college-bound students only 59 graduated with honors. This means that more than 66 percent of those going on to college graduated from high school with less than a 3-point (B) average.

Around the first of June a poll was taken by the high school counseling department to determine the future plans of the '68 high school seniors. Although several of the students were not positive about their intentions, it was evident that most of them were planning to continue their education.

Following is the list of schools and local students who will be entering them as freshmen:

Adrian—Sue McSevany; Albion—Karen Stefanski; Alma—Jane Jerome; Art Institute of Pittsburgh—Detroit Branch—Laurie Kilhearn; Bob Jones University—Celia Schuchard; Renee Westphall; Bronson Nursing School—Janet Ogilvie; Bryan College—John Main; University of California—Bob Hempe; Central Michigan University—Ron Barnum; Richard Fisher, Sandra Fritz, Daryl Holloman, Robert Howe, Charles Keegan; Clearview College—Cathy Berner; Concordia Lutheran Jr. College—Ken Boerger; Cosmopolitan Schools—Connie LaRoque; Janice Funtaine, Karen Tack; Jackson—Bob Armstrong; Detroit College of Business—Linda Ackert; University of Detroit—Ray Booms, Joe Donner; DeVry Institute of Technology—Tim Stone;

Reveal Schedule For Summer Band

The summer band schedule for the Northville public school system was announced this week by band director Mr. Robert Williams. Climbing the program will be four concerts presented on Wednesday nights beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The schedule is as follows:
Monday, from 1 p.m.-2 p.m., sixth grade band; 2 p.m.-3 p.m., junior high band; 3 p.m.-4 p.m., senior high horns; 4 p.m.-4:30 p.m., senior high cornets; 4:30 p.m.-5:00 p.m., junior high cornets.

Tuesday, from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m., theory arranging composing; 2 p.m.-2:30 p.m., senior high baritone; 2:30 p.m.-3:00 p.m., junior high baritone; 3 p.m.-3:30 p.m., senior high percussion; 3:30 p.m.-4 p.m., junior high percussion.

Wednesday, from 1 p.m.-2 p.m., sixth grade band; 2 p.m.-3 p.m., junior high band; 3 p.m.-3:30 p.m., senior high trombones; 3:30 p.m.-4 p.m., junior high trombones; 4 p.m.-4:30 p.m., senior high basses; 4:30 p.m.-5 p.m., junior high basses.

Thursday, from 1 p.m.-2 p.m., theory arranging composing; 2 p.m.-3 p.m., individual projects; 3 p.m.-4 p.m., resource person.

Friday, from 1 p.m.-2 p.m., sixth grade band; 2 p.m.-3 p.m., junior high band; 3 p.m.-4 p.m., stage band; 4 p.m.-5 p.m., stage band.

To avoid confusion Williams notes that the sixth grade band is this year's fifth graders. The junior high band is composed of new seventh and eighth graders, and this year's eighth graders are now considered senior high freshmen.

As per last year, Warren Liljergren will take all flutes, oboes, bassoons, and saxophones in the school system. Richard Neal will take all Clarinets.

CORRECTION
In the PEA Theatre ad on Page 7-B of this issue of The Record-News-Herald, the feature starting Wed., July 10 in color, should be corrected to read, "Coming July 10—'Devil's Brigade'."

FIX-IT TIP Serious damage to furniture, such as gouging, dents and large blemishes and stains, usually require professional repair work. But light scratches often may be remedied by the homeowner, using a coloring crayon closely matching the color of the wood finish. Simply rub into the scratch, wipe away excess wax and polish the entire surface.

DR. E. GORDON YUDASHKIN

Of Mental Health Department

Dr. E. Gordon Yudashkin Named Assistant Director

Dr. E. Gordon Yudashkin, medical superintendent of Northville State Hospital for the past two years, has been named assistant director of the Michigan Department of Mental Health.

The appointment was announced by Dr. William H. Anderson, director of the Department, who said Dr. Yudashkin will begin his new duties in Lansing upon the appointment soon of his successor here.

"Dr. Yudashkin has established an excellent reputation for his work in developing hospital programs in the metropolitan area of the state," said Dr. Anderson, "and in furthering community relationships with mental hospitals."

"He has broad administrative and clinical experience in both in-patient and out-patient agencies. I am confident he will be of great help in the development of Michigan's mental hospital services."

Dr. Yudashkin, who replaced Dr. Philip N. Brown here, will take up the direction and coordination of operations in Michigan's nine hospitals for the mentally ill in his new capacity. More than 14,000 patients are residents of these hospitals. He will be administratively responsible to Dr. Anderson.

Certified by the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology, Dr. Yudashkin is a diplomate in psychiatry. He was an assistant director of the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene from 1954 to 1960, and he was founder of the Brooklyn Aftercare Clinic—one of the nation's first.

Dr. Yudashkin also founded the Psychiatric Consultation Clinic in Nassau County, New York, where he was medical director at the time he accepted his appointment as medical superintendent at Northville State Hospital. The Nassau Clinic provides consultation, education, treatment, and diagnostic service to the courts and the county departments of Health, Welfare, and Probation.

He received his medical degree from the University of Toronto in 1946 and completed his residency in psychiatry at Central Islip State Hospital, New York, in 1950.

He remained at Central Islip for seven years directing several of the hospital services and advancing to senior staff psychiatrist.

Dr. Yudashkin was on the faculty of Nassau County Academy of Medicine and the New York School of Social Work. He has assisted with community mental health planning in New York and Michigan and served an interim appointment in the former state as medical director of a community mental health board.

FLOAT CENTERPIECE—A month in the making, this scale model of the Northville Township Hall—one of the oldest buildings in the community—will be the centerpiece for the Northville Historical Society float in tomorrow's Fourth of July parade. Built by C. A. Chapman, with the assistance of John C. Burkman and Eural F. Clark, the wood model contains thousands of tiny shingles and siding.

"LAUGH LINES"

A doctor told her she had acute appendicitis and she snapped indignantly, "Look, Doc, I came here to be examined, not flattered."

Board to Elect Officers Monday

The annual reorganizational meeting of the Northville Board of Education will take place Monday night at 7:30 p.m. in the board meeting room.

At this meeting members of the board will elect their officers for the 1968-69 session and decide the day and time of their meetings.

Board members and their current positions are: Eugene Cook, president; Stanley Johnston, vice-president; Glenn E. Deibert, secretary; Richard Martin, treasurer; and Robert Froelich, Andrew Orphan and Dr. Orlo Robinson, all trustees.

Dr. Robinson is the only new member of the board, having replaced retired Trustee James Kipfer. Cook is the senior member of the board.

Sparkling Fourth

Colorful Fourth of July festivities are best enjoyed by children, who see the flags, the floats and the dazzling fireworks as a glorious holiday unmarred by wars, nagging social and economic questions and national unrest. Written in their eyes, as it is in those of seven-year-old Jimmy Snook, it is a beautiful world, full of excitement and challenges.

Northville Crime Rate Up in May

Either local crime is really on the upsurge or people have become a lot more concerned about calling their police department. This is the conclusion drawn from the Northville Police Department's activity report for the month of May.

The report shows that during the month police received about 618 calls compared with 475 for May, 1967. The report also indicates that the total number of calls for this year totals 251 more than the same time a year ago.

One assault and battery charge brought the total for this year up to 20. This is almost three times the figure for the same crime a year ago. Vandalism, too, has increased nearly 24 percent over this time last year - 35 complaints compared to 27 calls in 1967. Fortunately, however, murder charges have remained the same: zero.

Other problems such as the number of automobile accidents and the number of persons injured show a disturbing increase. The total number of accidents, although down three for this month, were up five from the same period last year. This year 25 percent more people have been injured in traffic accidents.

Reports of drunk and disorderly persons, more than doubled and charges against minors in possession of alcohol, from 19 to 43.

Invitations to crime have increased, as reports of open windows jumped to 79 - over 23 for the same period a year ago.

Finally, one common complaint has dropped significantly. The number of stray dogs decreased by 33 from the 132 calls made for this offense last year.

County Gets Aid

Wayne County has received a $15,996 Federal grant to help finance planning of a comprehensive crime prevention program involving both local and county agencies throughout the county, it was announced today.

The grant, the first of its kind in Michigan, puts Wayne County in line for substantial additional funds to implement the program under the new Federal "Safe Streets" program.

Approval of the grant resulted from groundwork laid by the Coordinating Committee on Crime Control, a committee established last year by Detroit Councilman Mel Ravitz while he was chairman of the County Board of Supervisors.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

One of Northville's biggest industries is celebrating its 25th anniversary.

A special section of this edition pays tribute to the industry... Northville Downs.

In ordinary day-to-day parlance race tracks are rarely referred to as industries. But that's exactly what they are.

Some 25 years ago a group of men interested in horse racing had an idea that night harness racing would be a profitable venture. Another group of men owning the local fairground property liked the idea and were willing to rent the track to the racing group.

Thus a new industry was born locally.

Like any other private enterprise undertaking it has had its problems, and they are the same as any other industry. At first the product must be made attractive to the customer. With this hurdle achieved the customer demand must be satisfied. And finally, after the success of the product has been established, improvements to match the inevitable competition must be made.

In business whether it be manufacturing automobiles, sewing machines, mousetraps or staging horse races, there's never time to stand still and say "this is it, we've got it made".

Fortunately, there's always the challenge. And fortunately there are men who are willing to accept the challenge, to risk the time and the investment, because they have an idea and they believe in it.

Really, that's the story of the success of our country. And despite the introduction of hundreds of social programs that offer lifetime security, the strength of our nation will always be contained within the corps of individuals who believe enough in their ideas that they are willing to sacrifice guaranteed security for satisfaction of accomplishment.

Northville Downs has become a successful industry, and it is looking forward to an even more successful future.

Further, its officials have demonstrated a desire to be good citizens of the community—to improve the appearance of their facility, to participate in programs for the good of the community, to contribute both time and money in their behalf.

We salute Northville Downs and the men with an idea and a conviction. May their success in recognizing and meeting the challenges of the future continue.

Here's an idea for a pleasant way to cool off and be entertained at the same time.

Start the Fourth Holiday by attending Northville's community band concert tonight at the rear of the high school.

You can sit in your car or take along a few lawn chairs and relax as you listen.

Director Bob Williams promises plenty of volume from his 100-piece aggregation as they play familiar and popular show tunes and marches.

Next Wednesday (July 10), incidentally, the concert will be moved to the park behind city hall. The Mothers Club will add to the entertainment by sponsoring an ice cream social.

Outside of baseball, hotdogs and apple pie, how many traditions can you think of that better portray Americana than band concerts and ice cream socials?

Most modern youngsters have never experienced the fun of these occasions—so why not make it a family affair.

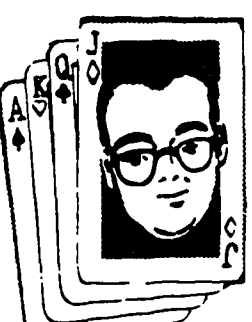

Then someday they can tell your grandchildren about "the good old days" with Mom and Pop at the park eating ice cream and listening to the community band play "76 Trombones".

Northville Downs and The Northville Driving Club deserve thanks from the community for sponsoring the band concerts this summer.

And to the Northville Jaycees also should go equal thanks for staging the Fourth of July celebration.

The event marks the beginning of our nation as we know it, and further, it provides entertainment at home that could very well save the loss of lives on our highways.

Have a happy Fourth—and if you do travel this weekend, drive carefully. The computers have already predicted the number of deaths. Don't be one of the statistics.

It was the biggest print shop in the world. It employed more manpower, utilized more equipment, and churned out more printed material in seven days than most businesses can match in a life-time.

Yet, despite its massive production, it folded in just a week. Today it's dead, just a fascinating memory of nearly 100,000 people.

They called it Print 68, the largest collection of printing equipment ever assembled under one roof in history, and it marked the 82nd annual convention of Printing Industries of America.

Benjamin Franklin, one of our earliest printers, wouldn't have been any more awed by the immensity of it than were The Record's plant superintendent and myself. In two days we managed to see less than half of the acres of machinery spread out and operating inside Chicago's stockyard neighbor, the International Amphitheatre.

Quite frankly, it was the size of the show and not the equipment itself that interested me most. Not so with Bob Blough.

In less than an hour, selecting only essential pieces of equipment, we figure we "bought" a half million dollars worth of machinery for the owner of The Record. Fortunately, for him, our checks bounced.

One firm alone—and manufacturers from throughout the world were represented—took up more than 22,000 square feet of space with its 33 pieces of equipment.

More than 3,500 tons of equipment, or about one-third of the total collection, were shipped to Chicago for the show from overseas alone. Altogether, the equipment for this world's largest printing exposition was valued at $1 billion.

It took 1,200 men and women, working an average 14-hour day for 10 days, just to set up the show. Hundreds more from all over the globe sweated over the machines that printed, cut, bound and then destroyed newspapers, books, magazines, stationery during the show.

Paper run through the machines and then scrapped was estimated at 3,000 tons. Five-hundred companies exhibited products, including 100 European and Japanese firms. Thirty companies showed web offset equipment (like that used by The Record at Novi); over 25 companies showed typesetting and composing equipment; more than 40 firms displayed bindery equipment; and at least 50 companies showed camera and platemaking equipment.

All this—and yet the most important printing industry of all was missing: Not a single dollar bill was produced.

Speaking of size, another behemoth bowed in last week in neighboring Livonia with the dedication of the nation's largest and Michigan's newest dairy.

The 115,000 square foot Kroger Dairy, located at 29600 Industrial Road, will serve an estimated million and a half families in Michigan and northern Ohio. It is the largest combined milk and ice cream plant in the United States.

According to statistical information distributed to newsmen who got a sneak preview, it will take 20,000 cows a day just to keep the plant's shining stainless steel pipelines filled. Dairy capacity of the plant includes 600,000 quarts of milk, 32,000 pounds of cottage cheese and 50,000 gallons of ice cream.

Four three-story high silo-type tanks from which raw milk is drawn into various lines have a total capacity of 100,000 gallons at a time.

The ice cream hardening tunnel is so cold (40-degrees zero) that employees will work in North Pole-type parkas all summer long. Ice cream is hardened in five hours compared to 36 hours in old-fashioned dairies.

In the bottling area, 52,000 quarts are filled with milk hourly; 120 cups of cottage cheese and sour cream are whipped out each minute; and the batching equipment will weigh and blend ice cream ingredients, with the aid of a computer, at a rate of 4,000 gallons per hour.

That's a heap o' lot o' milk in anyone's language. But strained by the five guzzlin' kids in our family, Kroger, I'm sure, had little choice but to build the giant.

Teachers Slap 'Prejudiced' News Story

To the Editor:

The Northville Education Association was greatly disappointed to learn that Superintendent Spear had "informally" cited 17 non-voting teachers for the failure of the June 10th. millage proposal. Obviously, the 17 teachers should not be blamed when 80 per cent of the eligible voters in the community did not vote. Mr. Spear must have understood this as did the Northville Record. Consequently, we would first ask why the number of non-voting teachers was reported to the Board and published in The Record? Secondly, we would ask Superintendent Spear and The Record to consider their ethical responsibilities in this matter. Is it proper, not to say fair, to check voting records of private citizens? Furthermore, is it good journalism to report such obviously prejudiced "informal" remarks? Must a citizen vote to avoid public castigation by his employer and the news media? Many other such ethical considerations come to mind, but the point has been made. We would only add that the Northville Education Association worked hard to pass the millage. Our efforts included a written reminder to every teacher of the election date and a request that each teacher vote "yes". The Administration offered no such reminder to the staff. We are both disappointed, but the Association does not feel "after-thoughts" of the nature reported in The Record last week are constructive or responsible. They could even prove to be illegal.

They don't make 'em like that any more. Perhaps this comment has been overlooked by old timers, but it seems especially appropriate when applied to horror movies. The likes of Dracula, Frankenstein, the Mummy series and most notably, The Picture of Dorian Gray and Phantom of the Opera, no longer are being produced.

Now the focus has shifted to science fiction and the future, rather than the mysterious past. Now, it seems, fact, at least the illusion of it, is necessary before any movie can reach box office proportions.

Gone are the Gothic tales, those wonderful stories that basically have no or little anchor in reality, yet stir the imagination and fear of the unknown. Now our only hope is to see these classic horror movies on the late, late show, or occasionally during the summer, when network TV is floundering for prime time movies.

Such was the case Friday night, when NBC blew the dust off a venerable old classic, "Phantom of the Opera." Seeing it again reaffirmed my belief that Gothic tales are far from dead, that time has not tarnished the Phantom's lustre as a horror movie of the first rank.

The setting for "Phantom" is typical - foggy London town sometime in the past, probably the late 19th century. Mystery clings to the damp, night air, lit faintly by flickering lamps as people move like shadows through the night. Evil has to lurk somewhere in this dank hole of a city.

Yet, the people of London are not discouraged by the cloying night air. Although the atmosphere is foreboding, they're out in numbers, attending the premiere of a new play in one of London's historic, musty theatres.

Suddenly, from behind a picture that swings aside, an eye appears, glaring straight at the viewer. It's a hideous thing, this eye, enough to make Sherlock himself tremble in his tracks. Somewhere within the bowels of the theatre, hidden by a century-old labyrinth under the city, a madman lives and casts a veil of fear over the festive gathering.

We know he will strike, but when and where and against whom we do not know. A janitor is killed, a rat collector is knifed to death, an attempt is made on a girl's life. Voices emanate strangely from unseen places, organ music swells from an unknown source.

The police are baffled, and to give credence to the impossible, the inspector speaks, amid skeletons and waxed figures in a criminology museum, of hideous, unsolved murders.

All comes out well in the end—if the two murders can be overlooked, and the death of another person. But by this time, we have been extruded through the eye of suspense and still there is the fear of dark places and the mysterious past.

TROGLODYTES Cavern Plans An Open House

By DARYL HOLLOMAN

During the past year The Cavern board, members, and other interested parties alike have been putting an immense amount of time and effort into a working situation resulting in the atmosphere of the Cavern clubroom.

Sue Jarvis, president of The Cavern, has been quoted in the past as describing The Cavern clubroom as having "An Old-English Tavern effect."

Two weeks ago, in second Troglodytes column, Albie Curry stated that "It has an ale house atmosphere."

Both statements are a far cry from any description of The Cavern clubroom you would have encountered prior to the 1968 school year.

Most of the changes and face lifting of The Cavern Club Room came about under the administration of former Cavern president L. Paul Cheme who was in office actively from September until mid May.

Before describing some of the many changes which have occurred both during and after The Cavern's Cheme administration, I wish to inform the public of all ages that The Cavern is scheduling an open house this Sunday, July 7, from 2-5 and 7-9.

The open house is being staged to acquaint citizens of this community with the results of the efforts put into the redecoration of The Cavern clubroom by members and their adult supporters who are openly interested in the entertainment welfare of this community's youth.

Cavern personnel are willing to show you around, answer questions, and possibly supply you with an idea

Novi Names New Police Patrolman

Twenty-five year old Frank A. Barabas of Detroit has been named to the Novi Police Department, Police Chief Lee BeGole announced this past week.

Barabas replaces Patrolman George Biggs, who has joined the Tucson, Arizona Police Department. His appointment brings the department back up to eight officers and the chief.

BeGole also announced that Gerald Burnham, a graduate of Northville High School, has been appointed temporary Novi patrolman during the summer to fill in while regular policeman take their vacations.

Barabas and Burnham were upon the top five candidates for the open full-time position from a field of 50 applicants for the position. Their scores in tests conducted by Novi High School and the Ann Arbor Police Department gave them first crack at the job.

Barabas, married with one child, is a graduate of St. Gabriel High School in Detroit. He was discharged from the United States Air Force last year after serving four years with the Air Force in Germany.

Prior to joining the Novi department he was employed by Detroit Diesel.

Northville Municipal Court

An Inkster man who escaped from the Detroit House of Correction was brought before Judge Philip Ogilvie's municipal court Monday. Philip M. Bates pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six more days in the Detroit House of Correction.

Six of the other nine cases coming up in court involved illegal use of alcohol, and four of these charges were made at the Dows.

Willie Hamilton of Ypsilanti pleaded guilty to being drunk and disorderly. He was sentenced to $40 or eight days.

Others fined for the same offense were Vernon Rood, Detroit, whose fine was suspended but who was sentenced to pay $35 or serve seven days in jail; William McKina of Detroit, fined $40 and $4 cost or eight days;

Oliver Morrison of Dundee, Morrison also pleaded guilty and sentenced to pay $40 and $4 cost or 8 days;

Leonard Lee Lopez of Detroit was charged with being a minor in possession of alcohol. At arraignment on June 5 he pleaded innocent, but was found guilty at his trial and fined $30 and $3 cost or six days.

Joseph Kozlowski of Detroit, stood mute upon arraignment and a plea of innocent was entered on his name, found guilty at his trial, the fine suspended, but ordered to pay a cost of $35 or eight days.

Eddie Cook of South Lyon, sentenced to pay $40 and $4 or eight days.

Elizabeth Miller of Detroit pleaded guilty for failure to stop in an assured clear distance. She was sentenced to $10 or two days.

Charles Harrison of 373 Linden Street was charged with causing a property damage accident by not having his car in control. He pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $20.

Justice Court

Eighteen-year old Chris R. Morris of Detroit, charged with larceny of a billfold from a trailer home at 25659 Lincoln, pleaded guilty in Novi Justice Court last week and was fined $50 and placed on six months probation.

In other court actions: Paul P. Hanis of Livonia, charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor at 11 Mile and Haggerty Roads, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 and $10 court fees.

Calvin F. Cadreau of Ecorse was sentenced to three days in jail and fined $100 in lieu of an additional 30-day jail sentence upon pleading guilty of driving with a revoked, denied or suspended license on Novi and 12 Mile Roads.

Henry L. Gloss, Jr. of Pontiac was fined $35 upon pleading guilty of reckless driving at Novi Road and 196 Expressway.

A $15 fine and $5 costs were assessed against Mark S. Stephens of 41681 13 Mile Road for careless driving on East Lake Drive.

Found guilty at his trial by Justice Emery Jacques, Dayton C. Smith of Garden City was fined $35 for reckless driving, also at Novi Road and 196 Expressway.

A $25 fine also was assessed against Lonnie Coburn of Walled Lake upon pleading guilty of speeding 70 MPH in a 55 MPH zone.

Art Lutz and George Rattenbury A Couple of 70-Year-Olds Still Going

For 32 of his 70 years Art Lutz has been training and driving Standardbred horses and driving. "I'm still not ready to hang up my tack," the wiry little fellow from Ceresco (near Battle Creek) tells you. "I'm only training three head and that's enough to keep me busy and out of trouble."

Lutz, who sold his dairy in 1952, admitted as how he couldn't figure out the eight-year-old trotter Pick's Choice. "Now he used to be a pretty decent sort of trotter," Lutz said rubbing his brow, "but last year he was so bad I was ashamed to take him out of the stall."

Pick's Choice warmed up well and the old man kept his trotter in contention all the way. He finished fourth but beaten only by a couple of lengths.

Lutz' best year was in 1952 when Victoria's Guy won 24 dashes. This horse brought him his biggest thrills in 32 years of racing.

Wally McMurray About the Cover

Wally McMurray, the lean Livonian who practically learned how to drive and train standardbreds at Northville Downs, will go after his second straight driving championship when this year's meeting opens.

Wally won the Northville crown last spring, beating out veteran Tommy Winn in the final three nights with a winning percentage of .394 contrasted to .373 for Tommy.

Wally had 18 wins, 16 seconds and 15 thirds in 81 starts and Winn had 12 firsts, nine seconds and six thirds.

McMurray has one of the better stables and expects to have every one of the speedy pacers and trotters under his direction again at Northville.

He can expect trouble from Ted Taylor this time for the veteran from New London, Ohio boasts one of the most useful stables over to ship into Northville. Taylor has horses for every possible type of race and has his eyes set on the crown denied him a year ago.

As it was, Ted had the most wins with a total of 37 and received a trophy at the end of the year for that feat — but he wants the driving championship and will be gunning for it.

Rattenbury is a gentleman trainer-driver these days. He handles only three or four horses and hopes to win a share of the purse once in a while to make ends meet.

OUT OF THE FEEDBAG: Ed Novak, a transplanted Pennsylvanian, has five head at Northville Downs where he's the trainer for Orin Gettenberger of Okemos. Novak was second trainer for Mac McQuarrie last year when the former Fowlerville driver was hospitalized with a hip injury. McQuarrie is still in the Merchant Marines.

They put a towel over Fanny Will's face in the paddock before the fourth race the other night. "It keeps her from getting nervous," a groom explained. Towel or no towel, nerves or no nerves, Fanny finished a badly beaten sixth. Doug Yerkey, the Chevrolet dealer from Grand Blanc, has two fine three-year-old pacing fillies in May Dee Dew and Pixie Dew. When Yerkey isn't in the sulky Chris Boring does the driving.

OUT OF THE FEEDBAG: Sweet Sailor is a kook, according to trainer-driver Dave Haines of Fowlerville. "If he feels like running he'll come right out of the stall and climb up into the van without hesitation," Haines says. "But he's a balky cuss on days when he doesn't want to go to the races. It takes some doing to get him to the track." Haines is in partnership with Laurel French of Royal Oak.

Drivers Recall Those Early Days

On this silver anniversary year of harness racing at Northville Downs drivers took time out of the paddock to pause and talk of the humble beginning of this pioneer parimutuel meeting in 1944.

"I think there were 28 head on the grounds that night when the first eight-race card was run," mused the veteran Tommy Winn. "I recall how they went out to the farms and talked owners into entering their horses just to fill out the programs."

"You know somewhere in my home over on Merriman Road, I've got some old Northville programs which would answer many of your questions."

It wasn't long before there were 150 head stabled at Northville and stable space was at such a premium that many horses were stabled in tents.

That first meeting a $70,000 handle a night was a rarity and a crowd of 2,000 was considered excellent.

Only Winn and George Rattenbury are still driving among the reinsman who took part in that memorable meeting. Wally McMurray and Don Hall were only 17 and McMurray was headed for the army.

Oldtime drivers who were standouts in those pioneering days who are still remembered included: Francis Rousseau, Jim and Earl Carrievau, Bert Brennan, Joe March, Sr., Mel Stine, Pat Harvey, Archie Niles, Sr., and Ernie Swartzworth.

The current 54-night meeting ends Wednesday, July 31.

Favorite State Pacer's 'Loafing Like Everyone'

Everett Hammell, the gentlemen farmer from Pinckney, was discussing the fortunes of horse racing in the paddock at Northville Downs.

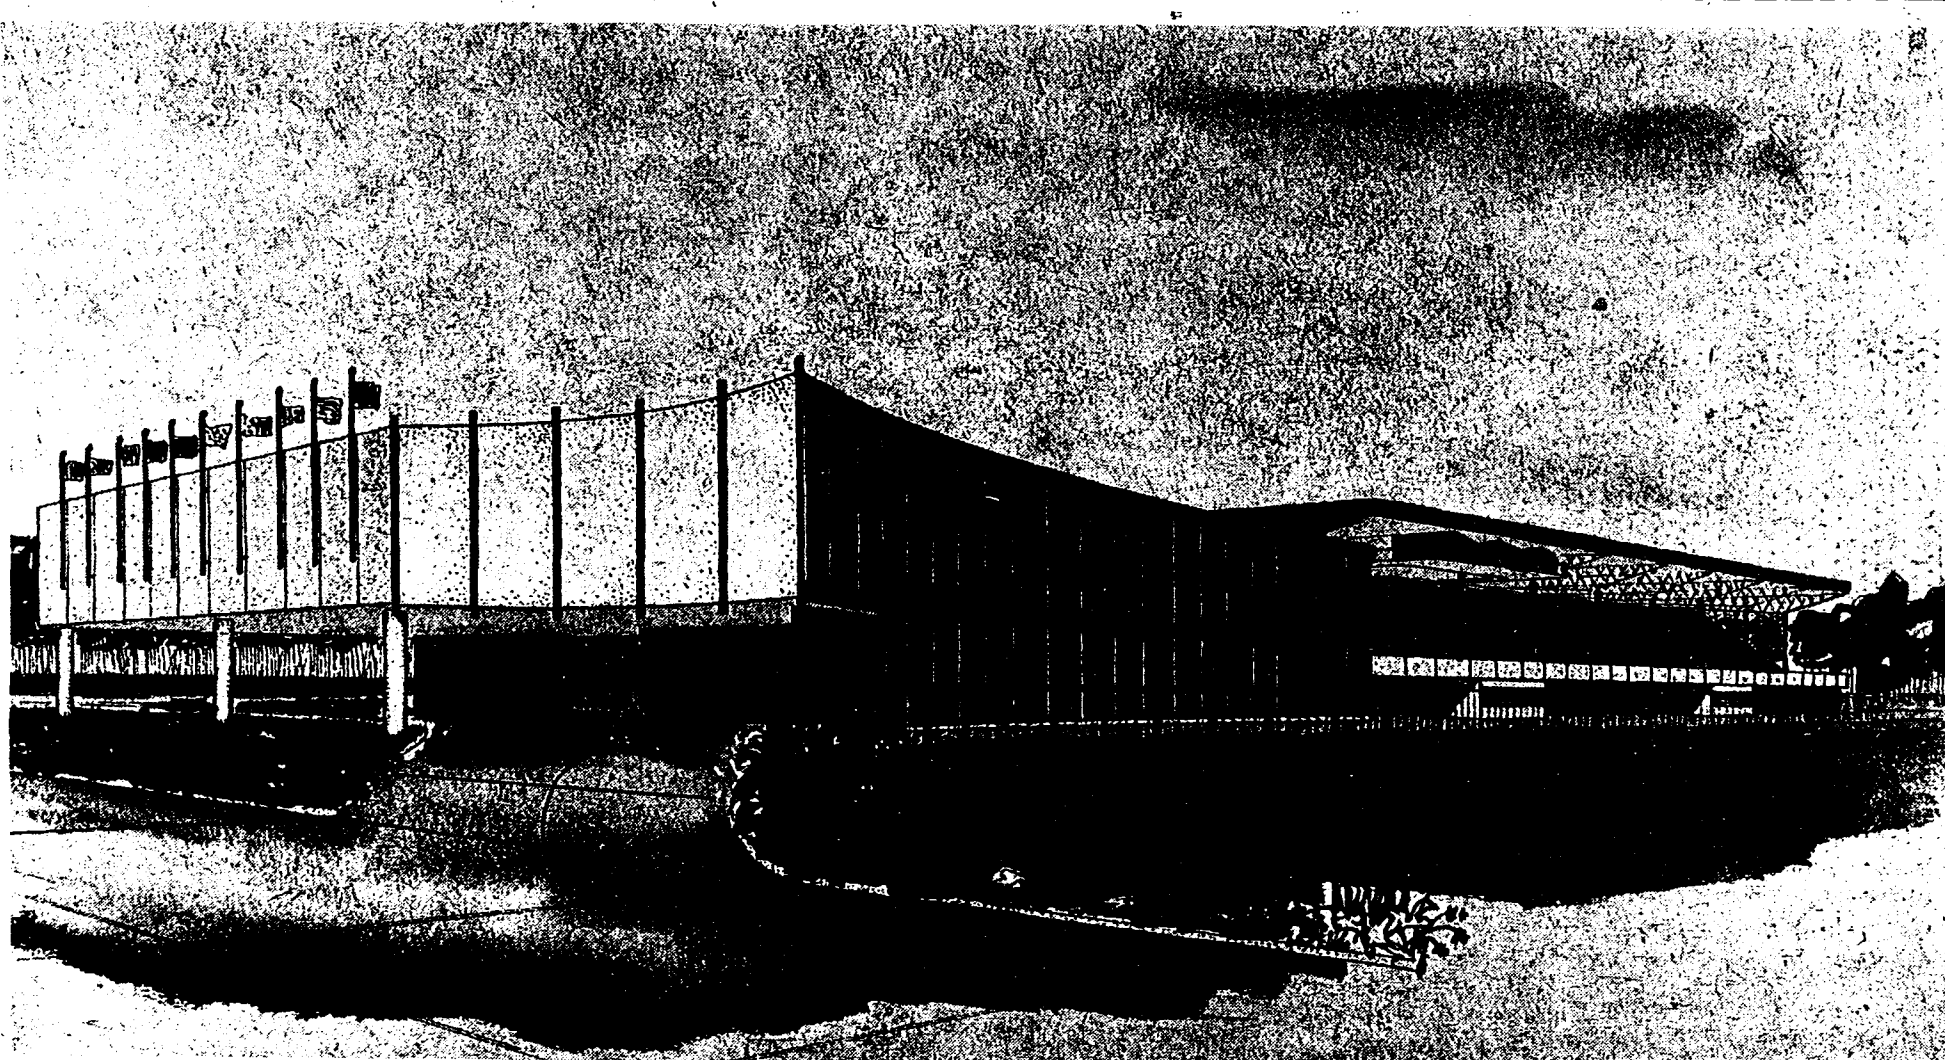

Hammell has come up with two of Michigan's favorite pacers during the past 10 years. Billie Ellamar, now retired, and Cold Sunday, in his final year of racing, have earned Hammell a cool $158,000.

"Wish I could tell you I had another horse like Billie or Sunday down on the farm," Hammell said with a shake of the head, "but it just wouldn't be true. I don't know where my next bread and butter horse is coming from."

Hammell said that he would buy "a good horse" if he could find one. "But the fellows who have got the good ones are holding on to them."

"What's Billie Ellamar doing these days?" the reporter asked the country squire.

"He's loafing, just like everyone else," shot back Hammell. "Now there's a horse that's got it made. He has acres of pasture and the same stall he's owned all his life."

COMING SOON—This modern triple-deck clubhouse is in the Downs' future. Executive Manager John Carlo expects work to begin on the $1½-million project this fall. The lower level will be a continuation of the present grandstands and will provide general admission space. The second floor will have seating, bar and lounge area, tables and light lunch service. The third floor will contain complete and modern dining facilities. Entrance to the clubhouse will be gained off Center Street (Sheldon Road). Carlo predicts the new clubhouse facility will make Northville Downs one of the finest harness racing tracks in the country and boost the mutuel handle far beyond the present $300,000 per night average.

LIGHTNING IGNITES BLAZE—Lightning set ablaze a Nine Mile Road barn during the height of Tuesday afternoon's thunder storm, completely destroying the large wooden barn. Called to the scene by a neighbor, firemen of Northville and Lyon Township were unable to save the barn but poured water on an adjoining building to prevent it from catching fire. The barn, located on Nine Mile near Currie Road, is owned by Dr. Robert Lehmann, who was not home at the time. The barn, containing only straw and hay, was partially insured.

Wixom Breezes Through Agenda

Wixom's city council breezed through a brief agenda Tuesday night in an hour-and-a-half, but still managed to take action on, or at least discuss the following matters:

—A letter from State Senator George Kuhn urging the council to ask its state representative to vote to override Governor Romney's veto of a bill that would have given local officials the right to declare emergency conditions and set curfews.

—An appointment of a local building official as the representative of the city to the Oakland County Department of Health;

—A letter to the state tax commission regarding the establishment of assessment regulations;

—A request from the Oakland County Road Commission for support of the proposed one mill levy for road improvements.

The council decided to "receive and file" the Senator Kuhn letter. Councilman Ray Lahti noted that the Governor's veto was not without reasonableness and he suggested that the numbers of metropolitan communities setting their own curfew regulations could lead to confusion.

Ralston Calvert was named as the city's representative to the Oakland county department of health after the latter urged the council to appoint the building official to work with the county in assisting in enforcement of the city's housing ordinance.

The council also approved the drafting of a letter to the state tax commission calling for the setting of property assessments on a five-year spread of sales with a tolerance of from 47.5 to 52.5 per cent in valuation, rather than the proposed three-year spread with a narrower tolerance of from 49 to 51 per cent.

A request from the Oakland county road commission calling for support of a one-mill levy for road improvements that will appear on the August 6 primary ballot was tabled until the next regular council meeting.

Councilman Lahti, the city's representative on the county board of supervisors, discussed some of the pros and cons of the road commission's appeal for funds, but said he felt that the decision to vote "yes" or "no" was one each individual councilmember had to reach.

Mayor Wesley McAtee suggested that more time for consideration was needed, and added that a full council should be present for any body action.

Law Coy, president of the Wixom Civic Association, posed several questions for Mayor McAtee including why newly installed curbs and gutters on a portion of Flamingo were torn out to install sewer leads to homes, and whether or not the new DPW garage is insured. He referred to the loss of the previously constructed garage that had burned down without insurance.

Mayor McAtee explained that the county had inadvertently installed the curbs and gutters thinking all leads had been made. Later it was discovered four homes did not have leads and therefore cuts had to be made in the newly constructed curbs and gutters.

He said the new DPW garage was insured, admitted that the old one should have been, and further stated that legal action was being pursued to help recoup some of the loss of the previous fire.

Pioneering Dr. W. L. Howard

Maybury Director to Retire

Dr. W. L. Howard, one of the nation's pioneers in the field of tuberculosis, has announced his retirement next month as director of Maybury Sanatorium in Northville Township.

The 67-year-old physician will be officially retired at the end of August but because of accrued vacation time, he will leave his post during the first week of August.

He and his wife will move from Northville to North Muskegon where on August 19 he will become medical superintendent of the Northshore Hospital, formerly the Muskegon County Tuberculosis Hospital.

The City of Detroit, which operates Maybury, has not yet announced a replacement for Dr. Howard. It is conceivable, because of the steady decline of patients at both Maybury and Herman Keifer Hospital, that a single director will be named to supervise both TB hospitals.

Father of two married children and grandfather of three, Dr. Howard has been director of Maybury since June of 1947. He replaced Dr. Henry S. Willis.

Since joining Maybury as director, the number of tubercular patients has decreased considerably, and the disease itself, which at one time was one of the three top killers in the nation, has nearly been conquered. So few people die of TB today that medical journals no longer list it separately but lump it together with other diseases at "the bottom of the list."

A decade ago Maybury had a patient census of 807 patients. Today the sanatorium houses only 280 patients, most of whom will spend only a fraction of the time in the hospital as once was required.

The death rate dropped from 22 percent in 1946 at Maybury, to 17.9 percent in 1950, to 6.3 percent in 1953, and to 3 percent last year. No child has died at Maybury since April, 1952.

Average length of stay at Maybury dropped from 16 months in 1950 to five months in 1967. It may very well drop below five months this year, according to Dr. Howard.

Aside from giant advancements in medication, major reasons for the successful combat against tuberculosis has been more accurate case findings, earlier diagnosis through X-rays and TB tests, and more effective therapy, he said.

When Dr. Howard first entered this field in 1924, the chief treatment for the disease was "bed rest and prayer." Rest meant up to three years in bed; prayer meant just that, as 25 to 30 percent of the TB patients were doomed.

Beginning his TB work at the Muskoka Hospital for Consumptives at Grandview, Ontario, Dr. Howard moved to the Michigan State Sanatorium at Howell. Later, he went to New York City, returning as chief resident at Herman Keifer Hospital. Except for a brief period at Maybury while in Michigan, Dr. Howard spent most of those early years as director of the TB Sanatorium at Battle Creek and of the American Legion Hospital in the same city.

Over the years, he has won many accolades from professionals in and out of the TB field for his work in helping stamp out the disease. Most recently, he took pride in early successes with an experimental alcoholic treatment program at Maybury.

Simmons to Head School Board Roads, Flooding Lap at Council Door

Bruce Simmons, who served as acting chairman of Novi Board of Education meetings for several months during the absence of the late Arthur Heslip, was elected president of the board at last week's reorganizational meeting.

The meeting also marked the official start of an expanded board from five to seven members. Newly elected members are Vern DeWaard and Gilbert Henderson.

Others elected to office last week were:

Elwood Coburn Sr., vice-president; Russell Taylor, who was re-elected last month, secretary; and William MacDermid, treasurer.

In other annual action, the board re-established the second Wednesday of each month as the regular meeting date of the board of education, and designated the National Bank of Detroit as the depository for school funds.

The board also ratified the sale of 1968 building and site fund bonds for July 17, authorized the purchase of a football scoreboard which the Novi Athletic Boosters will underwrite, and gave permission to the Novi Chamber of Commerce for use of the Novi Elementary School grounds during the 1968 edition of Gala Days on August 24 and 25.

Simmons, 41, was elected to a three-year term on the board in June of 1966. Part owner and operator of Simmons Orchards on 10 Mile Road, he was elected treasurer by fellow board members last year—the same post he held during his first year on the board.

MacDermid, who also was elected to a three-year term in 1966, had previously served three terms on the board—two of which were before consolidation of the district. Prior to 1966 he had served for two years as president.

Coburn, who served several months as a board appointee before losing an election bid in 1966, was elected last year. He and MacDermid were named to the board's auditing committee a year ago.

Taylor, who has served on the board longer than any other member, won a four-year term in June. He is now serving his fifth term. His role as secretary marks the fourth time he has held this post.

BRUCE SIMMONS

Road conditions, flooding in the Walled Lake and Meadowbrook Lake areas, guaranteed ambulance payments highlighted deliberations by the Novi Village Council last week Tuesday night.

The road conditions—particularly along Thirteen Mile—and the flooding problems were tossed on the council table by disgruntled homeowners.

While no specific action was taken by the council, the matter was referred to the village manager, Harold Ackley, who is to report on his findings and make recommendations at the next Monday's meeting.

A suggestion by Councilman Raymond Evans that the council hold a special meeting to consider the road problem on Thirteen Mile was considered but no action was taken.

Concerning the on-again, off-again improvement of Pioneer Meadows subdivision roads, Ackley reported that the matter was last discussed on December 4 when Raymond Warren was asked to give estimates in bringing ditching up to standard—a preliminary but essential necessity before road improvement can be considered.

Ackley is to contact Warren and report his cost estimates to the council Monday.

To flooding problem, which reportedly is causing a health hazard in the Lashbrook area, southeast of Walled Lake, was brought to the attention of the council by Quenton Ovens of East Lake Drive. This matter, too, will be taken up Monday.

Lynn Matthews also complained of the flooding problem.

The Oakland County Drain Commission reportedly has investigated the flooding and has reported that all drains are open. However, President Raymond Harrison suggested that Fraser Siam, chairman of the Oakland County Road Commission, be contacted to determine if the county road department can do anything to alleviate the situation.

George Athas brought up still another flooding problem—this one in the Meadowbrook Lake area northwest of Meadowbrook and Nine Mile Roads. He claimed the problem is being caused by logs and debris plugging the stream at the lake.

This matter is to be referred to the Oakland County Drain Commission.

Athas was one of three men named to the Novi Planning Commission last week. A new member, he will join Willis Miller and Olin Green who were reappointed.

Concerning plans and specifications for improvement of roadway under consideration, the council authorized soil borings to be undertaken by the Michigan Drilling Company at a cost not to exceed $750.

A problem facing Novi's charter commission was resolved as the council voted to appropriate $500 for expenses incurred by the commission.

Commission members have on a number of occasions decided to pay for charter expenses out of their own pockets because of the uncertainty as to what might be paid for by the village.

Among others, the money appropriated will cover purchase of model city charters furnished by the Michigan Municipal League at a cost of $22.50.

The question as to who is charged with the responsibility of enforcing regulations of the Appeals Board concerning the gravel pit off Garfield road was referred to Village Attorney Howard Bond, who is to report on the matter Monday.

In question is the Appeals Board's demand that operation of the pit not be permitted until all regulations are met. One of these, which has not yet been met, includes complete fencing of the excavation site.

Vern DeWaard, representing the Willowbrook Civic Association, sought assurances from the council that an occupancy permit for the convalescent home at Meadowbrook Road not be issued until a brick buffer wall is built. The council, noting that action on this matter has already been taken, took no further action.

The controversial request of Casteline Ambulance service that the council guarantee payment of delinquent ambulance calls originating with the Novi Police Department, generated a second lengthy debate among councilmen. This time the matter was referred to Attorney Bond, who is to report on the proposal's legality Monday.

Wixom Commands Supervisor Race

LEW L. COY

R. W. LAHTI

Two of the four men seeking the Oakland County supervisor's post for the 27th district hail from Wixom.

One, Councilman R. W. Lahti, the only Democrat seeking nomination for the district, has his nomination in the bag.

The other, however, Lew L. Coy must battle Marshall E. Taylor of Walled Lake and Clifford K. Cottrell of Wolverine Lake for the Republican nomination in the August primary.

The two top candidates of each party will square off in the November Presidential election.

The 27th district includes Novi, Walled Lake, South Lyon, Lyon Township, Wolverine Lake, and two-thirds of Commerce Township as well as Wixom.

Lahti, Taylor and Cottrell have each been active in the governments of their respective communities.

Lahti, who is a veteran Wixom representative on the present Oakland County Board of Supervisors, has been a councilman of that community since its inception as a city. Taylor has been a councilman of Walled Lake almost continuously since its incorporation, and Cottrell, Wolverine's Lake present village administrator, was the first president of the village.

Coy, a retired captain of the Detroit Fire Department, lives at 2942 Loon Lake Drive. Lahti lives at 2240 Nalene.

Tax Bills Out In Wixom, Novi

Summer tax bills have been mailed out in both Wixom and Novi—and taxpayers have until August 31 to pay them without penalty.

The total levy in Novi is $279,788.50, which includes $180,853.50 in general taxes and $98,935 in special assessments.

In Wixom, where an estimated 1,300 tax bills have been mailed out, the total levy is $435,824.08.

Gala Days Fun Planned

Preliminary plans are underway for the annual Novi Gala Days festivities— slated for August 24 and 25.

For the second consecutive year, the colorful event will be co-sponsored by the Novi Chamber of Commerce and the Novi Jaycees.

According to James Cherfoli and Peter Alcalá, publicity chairmen, this year's two-day event will be kicked off with a beard contest. Rules and applications for it are still on the drawing boards.

The usual favorites are promised again this year, including sky diving, booths, rides, a teenage dance, and a raffle. Still more activities will be added as preparations continue.

Ackley, BeGole Speak Tonight

Village Manager Harold Ackley and Police Chief Lee BeGole are expected to discuss their departmental roles for members of the Novi City Charter Commission this evening beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Last week the commission met earlier than Thursday because of the Fourth of July holiday. Members reviewed the first two chapters of a charter suggestion by Attorney Howard Bond.

All meetings of the commission are open to the public.
