

Novi-Wixom Area Eyes New Skill Center for Students

If all goes according to schedule, a new dimension in education will be available to high school students in Novi, Wixom and South Lyon at the opening of school two years hence. It will be vocational education in what is to be known as Area Skill Center.

Its location is most likely to be in the Pontiac Trail-Beck Road vicinity, and September 1970 is the hoped-for opening date.

Gerald Hartman, principal of Novi, and William Adams, principal of South Lyon, have acted on a committee with representatives of Clarenceville, Farmington, Huron Valley, West Bloomfield and the operating district, Walled Lake, to decide policies and a curriculum that will give juniors and seniors an opportunity to learn skills in high school that will prepare them for making a living immediately upon graduation, without necessarily going on to higher education.

Students will go to the vocational education building for a few hours of training daily. They will, however, take a number of their classes in their home schools. All extra-curricular activities will be at their home schools; report cards will come from them and graduation take place at their own schools.

"The vocational school will simply be an extension of their own high school education," explains Les Carlson, director of vocational education for the Walled Lake District under whose guidance the new system will take effect.

Oakland County taxpayers have already voted millage for the site and building, and matching funds come from the federal government.

Co-operative decisions by counselors at the Area Skill Center (which will have a principal just like any school) and at the sending high school will determine the percentage of students from each school that may attend the vocational education class of their choice.

Much of the groundwork for the Skill Center has been laid by the Oakland Intermediate School. Three other such centers will service the county with similar facilities, so that one will be open to all Oakland county's juniors and seniors when the one at Wixom is complete.

The Commercial Arts course will include such skills as paste-up, photography, offset printing; "the graphic arts approach," Carlson calls it. Assistants to medical doctors and dentists may learn the chair side manner. X-ray technology and receptionist duties in a broad program to prepare girls to go directly to work in this field from high school.

Study on this extensive area vocational education center has continued for more than a year, and the committee will go on working until it is in operation - and probably beyond, too, as liaison officers from the various sending schools.

The committee has visited other such centers in Bucks County, Pennsylvania, Genesee County, Michigan and Penta County, near Toledo, Ohio as well as Kenosha, Wisconsin to broaden their education and learn from others' experience.

Secretarial training in medical, legal, engineering and executive fields will be offered. Four phases of commercial foods work, including cooks, bakers, waiters, waitresses and some cashiering are on the agenda. So is machine drafting in four stages and architectural drafting that would prepare a boy to work with a senior draftsman.

Auto mechanics' advanced training (in transmissions, for instance, and brake alignment) and marine mechanics, in addition to machine shop, welding and fabricating, will all be available. There will be an electronics course, and a landscaping and greenhouse course that will cover the field, so to speak, from floral arranging to planting.

Cavern Memberships Expire

This could be the last time... this could be the last time... may be the last time...

And it is! In regard to The Cavern, Friday night marks the final round in two respects:

1. It will be the final Friday night dance to end the summer season. 2. Current card-carrying Cavern Members will discover that their cards are void for all dances after Friday night's bash.

Saturday, the 31st of August, marks the expiration of all 1967-1968 Cavern memberships, which can be renewed for the following year of September 1, 1968-August 31, 1969. How does one go about it?

First, patronize The Cavern Bash this Friday night which features a Battle of the Bands. Four bands definitely clashing are: 1. The Label - a rock group from Livonia. 2. The Village - A Cream/Hendrix rendition from Plymouth. 3. The Sensations - A Detroit group uniquely featuring a girl vocalist with a little bit of soul.

4. The Ruins - A rock combo from Allen Park. 5. The Sensations - A Detroit group uniquely featuring a girl vocalist with a little bit of soul.

6. The Ruins - A rock combo from Allen Park. 7. The Sensations - A Detroit group uniquely featuring a girl vocalist with a little bit of soul.

8. The Ruins - A rock combo from Allen Park. 9. The Sensations - A Detroit group uniquely featuring a girl vocalist with a little bit of soul.

Secondly, to secure a new membership one must be under 21 years of age, attend Northville High School, or reside in our fair city.

Third, you must be prepared to shell out two postcard-size greenbacks sporting a portrait of George Washington on the front of each. That's all there is to acquiring a membership card for the upcoming year - just inquire at the door and make your purchase.

However, you mustn't overlook the advantages of becoming a Cavern member for the 1968-1969 "Fiscal Year."

1. You become a card-carrying member of a club which was created with patrons such as you in mind. 2. You're admitted to each bash 50 cents cheaper than non-members which means you break even on the cost of a membership upon attending your fourth Cavern Bash, and in a sense you're making money on each preceding bash.

3. As a bonus for energetic patrons, MEMBERS ONLY have the golden opportunity to work in the refreshment stand or at the front door with the exclusive benefit of free admission for the remainder of the evening.

Once again, inside sources have disclosed that many memberships have been purchased to account for record sales.

Support, Oppose School Millage

Finally, taxpayers have continually been informed that the tax request is for "only" an additional 2 mills. The additional tax would yield a "needed" one hundred thousand dollars, largely we are told, to combat inflation. What happened to a minimum of $120,000 received from the involuntary property reassessment? A total of $220,000 is a considerable amount of inflation! How much tax millage will school officials demand next year without a property reassessment if the same non-responsible fiscal policies are continued?

Ronald G. Hicks

To the Editor: Somehow I have become quite disenchanted by the goings-on in this community regarding the recent school millage vote. Statistically, it has been proven that we drink and smoke too much, although any reasonable person realizes that many people don't smoke, some don't imbibe, and somewhat less do neither. In any case, what has this to do with this millage isn't too clear. Parallel that reasoning with sport cars, chewing gum, television and a host of other items that at various times have been singled out as lacking in virtue.

Why vote yes? Teachers need more money? Is the quality of education proportional to total monies spent? Why does the school administration resort to petty measures to reinforce letters written by parents and people who claim a concern for children, is their lack of compassion for the boys involved. There is no question what they are accused of doing is a very serious matter. There is no question we all ought to be thankful no one was hurt, but can we find no place in our heart to forgive?

the "need for money" theme by cutting out extra curricular activities. Dramatic - yes! Doesn't save anywhere near the money we're led to believe though. It wasn't made clear that the $500,000 public pool was to be administered by the schools when it was voted on. How much chance would the issue have of being passed today?

However, this is just warming over arguments. Most important is the need to completely revise the tax base for financing schools. All the effort and monies expended for the 2 mills would go a long way toward dramatizing to our lawmakers this problem. Public opinion is effective in moving government. Consider our plight in the future; our fiscal problems if we continue as is. Right now it isn't just 2 mills (sounds harmless), it's about $170,000 more annually for schools alone in the past year from me (including the recent revaluation), without so much as adding a coat of paint to my property. Everybody votes but not everybody pays equally or equitably. The three elections in less than three months to force this increase dilutes whatever notions I ever had about democratic processes and fair play always winning out. If we are to hold elections until tax increases pass why bother to vote? Let's give the school board a blank check. Without limitations we might have the world's best school system, but where are the people that can afford it?

One last thought, why should an accident of geography result in tax differentials? Since the state requires a more or less uniform education statewide, why doesn't it provide the funds on an equal per pupil basis throughout the state?

Northville (not Rutgers) Taxpayer

"It is one thing when you are seeking responsibility," he said, "and another when you have it."

The seeker enjoys the enviable advantage of being able to dish out criticism and offer proposals without facing the immediate challenge of putting his ideas into action and bearing the responsibility for the results.

When he makes it into office, he finds his splendid theories facing the hard tests of conditions as they are. He may discover that his information was inadequate, that the problem is not what he thought it was, that his decisions are subject to all sorts of political pressures which he did not feel in his role of critic." (Detroit News - August 23)

Although the preceding editorial comments refer to the nation's political scene, they are strikingly reminiscent of the situation found in Northville today. People with "inadequate information" level unjust accusations at the school board and school administration. Everyone seems to know how to solve the problems, but very few bother to inform themselves of the facts.

It was suggested in a letter to the Editor 2 weeks ago that a superior way of paring the budget would be to cut the cafeteria program, and let children carry their lunches, but the writer did not bother to find out that this year the cafeteria program is expected to support itself. Another suggestion was to cut the transportation program, but when the writer suggests that it is possible for all children to get to school without buses, does he have all the information necessary to make a decision of this magnitude? It is easy to make this kind of suggestion when one does not have to face the immediate challenge of putting his ideas into action and bearing the responsibilities for the results."

In last weeks letters to the Editors a woman decided that there really is no need for remedial reading teachers, if the classroom teacher does a or her job. I'm sure many people read this statement and said, "Yes, that makes sense!" How many of these people (including the writer) have taken the time to talk to a remedial reading teacher and listen to her reasons (based on experience) as to why some children simply are not able to succeed in this area without special assistance.

The people in Northville have the opportunity, regularly, to elect to the Board of Education people they feel are qualified to represent them. Why then do they spend the interim periods leveling constant criticism at those they have helped put into office. Since the Board of Education and its administration are the only ones who have complete picture of the problems facing the Northville school system, it would seem to me that they are better qualified to set policy than the partially informed citizen.

I wish every reasonable voter in town would answer this question: "Do you really feel that someone who knows little or nothing about the complexities of your job, has any right to tell you that you're doing it all wrong?"

NATIONALLY PROMINENT RIGGER Dan Latchford of Novi checks the lines of a parachute in his Grand River loft.

Danny Latchford Top Chute Rigger Has Never Jumped

Novi's world-known master parachute rigger, who has had a hand in the development of the "air umbrella" from a life-saving rig to a jet-age sport, has never jumped from an airplane.

"Closest I ever came to parachute jumping," laughs the genial Irishman, Danny Latchford, who operates the "loft" at 46901 Grand River, "was years ago when I floated down under one of those rides at Coney Island."

Yet, Latchford has personally packed thousands of chutes, supervised the manufacture and packing of a quarter-million chutes for the Army Air Force. Some 12 years later he joined the firm of the Irving Air Chute Company and today it is the world's largest.

Parachuting actually is older than the airplane, explains Latchford. Even before 1495 when Leonardo da Vinci designed a parachute using a pyramid of cloth, the Chinese, who invented the umbrella, saw possibilities of using it as a parachute.

Early parachutists jumped from balloons. During World War I, for example, men traveling beneath reconnaissance balloons were equipped with chutes—crude but occasionally efficient. These chutes were usually packed in a pall or basket so that when the man jumped from the gondola, the canopy tumbled out after him.

Andrew Jacques Garnerin of France is generally credited with making the first jump back in 1797. He jumped from a hot air balloon at 2,000 feet.

On April 28, 1919, Leslie L. Irving was the first human test of a free fall parachute at McCook Field, Ohio. He jumped clear of the plane at 1,500 feet, pulled the cord, and the chute opened. Although he broke an ankle in landing, his first test was hailed a success.

After leaving the service, Irving joined with George Waite, a silk importer and head of the family into which Latchford first married, in developing the all-silk chute. The Army Air Force liked it, ordered 500 of them, and the company was launched.

The first sample chute, recalls Latchford, was made in the hallway of Waite's import store at Buffalo, New York.

Latchford joined the firm in 1935, eventually becoming plant superintendent. Later, he was asked to help set up a Navy parachute plant in Grand Rapids. In 1941, with the nation at war, he was picked to organize the world's largest parachute plant at Detroit - National Automotive Fibers.

He was deferred from active service because the government felt his knowledge of parachutes was more valuable to the war effort, and instead he was accepted by the Air Force as a "civilian procurement parachute technician," instructing rug manufacturers in the art of making parachute canopies.

Following the war, he opened his first "loft" at the Detroit City Airport, serving veterans who were taking flying

January City Charter Vote Seen Proposal Provides For Elected Mayor

It appears that the election on the proposed city charter now being hammered together will take place in January.

At least that's the hope of the commission, according to Chairman Raymond Evans.

"The commission is limited by state statute from holding the city election 60 days before or after a scheduled election (in this case the Presidential election). Because of this requirement, the election could not have been held before the first of the year if the charter had been completed in 90 days," said Evans.

Early indications that the charter would have to be completed within 90 days were scuttled as Attorney Howard Bond and Dr. Louis L. Friedland of Wayne State University agreed that this requirement is not legally valid.

Also scrapped early was the idea that the present charter, with minor changes, would be satisfactory.

As of this date, the commission has reviewed chapters one through 16, excluding chapters 4, 11, 14, 15 and 16. When tentative agreement has been reached on all of the revised chapters, the commission will prepare the charter for final adoption by the commission.

In the interim, the proposed charter will be printed in long form and furnished to all voters of the village for their review prior to the election.

The commission, which has been meeting weekly since their work began in May, will meet tomorrow night at the village hall, beginning at 8 p.m. All citizens of the community are invited to attend.

Never tease a fire - that's a lesson two truckers are not likely to forget overnight.

Last week Wednesday morning, employees of the Harrison Tree Service Company drove two heavy trucks to the rear of the Burton Munro property on Taft Road to unload stumps and tree debris for burning.

Nothing wrong with that because they have a contract with Munro. But they made two mistakes: they emptied their load too close to an already burning pile of debris and they forgot to check the condition of the ground.

Flames rapidly licked up the tree stumps and started hungrily for the trucks. Seeing the danger, the drivers tried to make a hasty escape only to find that both trucks were stuck in the soft earth.

Fortunately, Novi firemen arrived in time to check the blaze and save the trucks and their drivers from everything but a hot sweat.

MRS. RICHARD RUSCHE ROBERT E. METZ

Two Get Top UF Jobs in Oakland

A Novi homemaker and a Novi industrialist have been appointed to positions in the 1968 Torch Drive Campaign.

Mrs. Richard A. Rusche, 22809 Balcomb, was named division chairman for the Oakland County residential campaign, while Robert E. Metz, president of Inter-Lake Window Industries here, was named director of Oakland County community business solicitation for the U-F.

The division chairman will be responsible for recruiting, training and organizing volunteers for the house-to-house canvass in Novi during the 20th annual United Foundation drive set for October 15 through November 7.

Her appointment was announced this week by Mrs. Craig Rockefeller of Farmington, residential chairman for campaign region 44, comprising Novi, Lyon, Commerce and Farmington Townships.

Mrs. Rusche received a bachelor of arts degree from Michigan State University where she majored in history. She is a member of the American Association of University Women.

Metz, a Franklin resident, was named Oakland unit chairman by the tri-county community business campaigns chairman, Edward J. Bianchi, assistant controller for the Ford Motor Company.

The 20th annual United Foundation campaign will be held

October 15 through November 7 to raise operating funds for nearly 200 health and community services in Oakland, Macomb and Wayne Counties.

Metz served in last year's Torch Drive as the region chairman responsible for community business solicitations in Farmington, Novi, Lyon and Commerce Townships.

He was a division chairman and solicitor in earlier campaigns.

Metz received a bachelor of degree in business administration from Wayne State University. He is a member of the Architectural Aluminum Manufacturers Association.

A past president of the Novi Rotary Club, he and his wife, Marjorie, have a daughter, Ellen, 11, and a son, William, 9.

Instead, argued Crupi, of making the decisions for which he has the responsibility the charter provisions leave these decisions up to the council. Specifically, he had reference to the hiring and firing of administrative heads. The matter is still under study.

In other discussion recently it was apparent that the charter would include wording to prevent the practice of nepotism (hiring of employees who are related to city officials), to prevent councilmen from bypassing the manager in directing or influencing employees, and to provide for the ouster of both councilmen and the mayor on grounds of misconduct.

By a 7-1 vote (Burton voted "no" and Commissioner William Brinker was absent) the commission decided to require the city manager to become a resident of the community within one year of his hiring unless the council otherwise excuses him because of special circumstances.

Button argued that such a provision might discourage a good candidate from accepting a position here if, for example, he was unable to find housing.

The council also agreed that the charter should provide that a candidate for an elective office must have been a resident of the community for at least one year and that he be a property owner here.

Upon the advice of their attorney, neither the boy nor his parents would answer questions of police in Novi or Ypsilanti.

Novi police said the parents disappeared from their Dixboro Road home in Lyon Township about the same time the boy turned up missing, thus leading to the warrants.

The parents have been released on $500 bond, while the boy has been turned over to Oakland County juvenile authorities. He may face another hearing, police said.

Back in court today, following adjournment of their examination two weeks ago, are Giles Carl Atkins, 19, Floyd Kirkendall, and William J. Jobe, both 17.

Two hours later, the same attorney appeared at the Novi police department

David Mulligan Takes Bride

The son of a former Northville couple was married recently in an evening ceremony at St. Robert Bellarmine church. David Carroll Mulligan married Diane Margaret Day in a double-ring ceremony performed by Reverend George T. Stronske on July 19.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll J. Mulligan of Westland, formerly of Northville. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Day of Livonia.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of candlelight peau de soie. Her dress featured a 10-foot train of chantilly lace in candlelight tone. She wore a veil of ivory with a headpiece fashioned from more of the same chantilly lace. A floral arrangement of gardenias and Stephanotis over her mother's prayer book completed the outfit.

Serving as maid of honor was Marilyn Day, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Loretta and Donna Vignanello, and Sandra Tschener, from Detroit, with Anne Marie Day serving as bride's flower girl.

Larry Spangler of Westland was the best man. Other members of the wedding party were Ronald Corey, David Day and John Stump.

Following the reception a dinner was held at the Botsford Inn in Farmington. The new couple then departed for a week's vacation in western Michigan. Upon their return they made their new home in Westland.

The new Mrs. Mulligan holds a teaching degree from Wayne State University. Her husband will become a member of the National Teacher Corps in September while attending Wayne State University working toward a master's degree in education.

Both Teens Are Seniors

'Foreign' Children Welcomed Home

Start of school marks two important homecomings for the Willis B. Hunting family of 42865 Seven Mile Road.

Here to spend a year as seniors in Northville High School are two daughters, Nancy Hunting and Nanae Koizumi, an exchange student from Japan.

Nanae, 19, arrived last week by plane with other exchange students as part of the Youth for Understanding program. Although she has not yet had time to see much of the United States, she is already finding it very different from the life she left behind.

The streets are much more colorful (at home everything is grey and brown), and the school system seems quite different, she says.

For Nancy, 18, the switch to Northville High School should be almost as different as it is for her foster sister. She is entering public high school after six years of study aboard the Shimer Beris, a converted tug boat school in Mexico.

Unique in many ways, perhaps the most amazing aspect of the private school was the total independence and rigorous living to which students became accustomed to.

The school offered an unusual program designed to instruct students in the practical adaptation to their environment. Working with Mexicans from the surrounding communities, the students produced almost everything for themselves — from growing their own food to making their own furniture.

A private, co-educational institution, the school had 18 American students of differing ages. Both Teens Are Seniors

'Foreign' Children Welcomed Home

Start of school marks two important homecomings for the Willis B. Hunting family of 42865 Seven Mile Road.

Here to spend a year as seniors in Northville High School are two daughters, Nancy Hunting and Nanae Koizumi, an exchange student from Japan.

Nanae, 19, arrived last week by plane with other exchange students as part of the Youth for Understanding program. Although she has not yet had time to see much of the United States, she is already finding it very different from the life she left behind.

The streets are much more colorful (at home everything is grey and brown), and the school system seems quite different, she says.

For Nancy, 18, the switch to Northville High School should be almost as different as it is for her foster sister. She is entering public high school after six years of study aboard the Shimer Beris, a converted tug boat school in Mexico.

Unique in many ways, perhaps the most amazing aspect of the private school was the total independence and rigorous living to which students became accustomed to.

The school offered an unusual program designed to instruct students in the practical adaptation to their environment. Working with Mexicans from the surrounding communities, the students produced almost everything for themselves — from growing their own food to making their own furniture.

A 61-year-old semi invalid, discovered in a coma at his Novi home Sunday afternoon, was rushed to Boisford General Hospital where his condition was reported as unchanged Monday night.

The Northville Senior Citizens' Club will resume regular meetings starting Tuesday, September 10, at 7:30 p.m. in the Scout-Recreation building.

Officers and committees have planned, for this occasion, a business meeting, program and refreshments. Club members will attend the movie "Dr. Doolittle" in a Detroit theatre on Saturday, September 7th.

Injunction Issued

At the request of Northville township the Wayne county circuit court has issued an injunction against Arthur Jahn, owner of the Northville road A & W Road Beer stand, prohibiting him from further filling in the flood plain area adjacent to business site.

The township maintains that Jahn violated his permit to fill the site by extending dumping beyond the limits and into flood area along the adjoining river.

Novi Accidents Top Labor Day Activity

The Labor Day weekend was just that for the Novi police department, which policed nearly 300 cases including several personal injury accidents.

Six persons from one family were sent to the hospital Sunday afternoon when their car skidded from Novi Road, clipped off a guard post and crashed into a tree between 12 Mile and 12 1/2 Mile roads.

Taken to St. Mary hospital were Lewis Paris of Livonia, his wife Ann, and four children. At least two of the injuries were considered serious by police.

Paras reportedly was north-bound on the newly paved Novi Road, which had been opened temporarily for weekend traffic, when his car hit loose dirt at the end of the pavement. Police said he lost control of the car, traveling at between 40 and 45 MPH, and the crash followed.

Novi police are still investigating an apparent injury accident that occurred Monday morning on Beck Road, south of Nine Mile Road.

Arriving at the scene, police found a car that had skidded from the road and flipped over. Blood was found inside the car, but no one was present.

Later, however, while police were still at the scene, Hugh F. Burns of Southfield appeared to say that the car was owned by his father and that it had been loaned to someone from Northville. No other information was immediately available.

Joseph V. Esser of Detroit and his 14-year-old son, Charles, were injured Sunday afternoon when their car crashed into a telephone pole. They were treated at New Grace Hospital in Detroit.

According to police, Esser lost control of his car on a curve on East Lake Drive near Angel Court and crashed into the pole. He reportedly was driving at 40 MPH.

A motorcyclist suffered minor injuries last week Tuesday night when his cycle ran into the rear of a car on East Lake Drive. Injured but not treated was Thomas Dean of Farmington.

Police said Dean ran into the rear of a car, driven by Jimmy L. Butler of Walled Lake, which was making a left hand turn from the road.

Bite Greet Novi Policeman

Novi Patrolman Frank Barabas isn't too sure that man's best friend is a dog.

Responding to a complaint last week that a German Shepherd dog was harassing children on 11 Mile Road, Barabas pulled up in front of an 11 Mile Road home.

Children were in the yard playing - so was the dog. They ran up to greet the officer - so did the dog. Climbing out of the patrol car, the officer was "greeted" with a bite on the hand - by the dog.

He received a shot and treatment later.

The dog, licensed and owned by Eugene Reske of 24651 Novi Road, was taken to the Pontiac Animal Shelter for observation.

Later, Reske called police to report his dog missing and he, too, was greeted - with the officer's story and a warning.

American Legion

by Hazel Wright Robert Spang

"Fifty Years for God and Country" is the theme of The American Legion's Anniversary. The Lloyd H. Green Post No. 147 and its Auxiliary of Northville are making plans to celebrate this event throughout the coming year.

The American Legion, since its establishment in 1919, has become one of the great bulwarks of the American way of life through its leadership in all movements seeking the preservation of our freedoms and our free institutions.

Members of The American Legion truly live up to their lofty and meaningful motto of "For God and Country."

The American Legion's birthdate was March 15-17, 1919 in Paris; the field of battle of the "Great War" to end all wars. Since then we have grown to 58 departments (states) including Post No. 1 Paris, France, Italy, Panama Canal Zone, Philippines, Mexico and Canada.

The Department of Michigan was founded on May 24, 1919. It has been observed that the fatherhood of the idea or the initiator of the chain of circumstances which led to the formation of the American Legion belongs to Theodore Roosevelt Jr., son of T. R. Roosevelt, President of the United States.

Those battle weary veterans of World War I wanted to continue their comradeship. They felt they owed an obligation to the widows and orphans; they wanted to serve their nation in peace as in war.

They adopted the principle of non-partisanship in politics so that no political party could influence the Legion's undertakings. Every Administration from that time has been blasted or praised according to the Legion's stand on both major and minor issues. The Legion in turn has been blasted and praised, however, it has grown to the greatest Veterans organization in the world.

In the book by Raymond Moley, Jr., "The American Legion Story", there is a foreword written by J. Edgar Hoover. To quote from it, "Legionaires have long been in the forefront in the fight against atheistic communism - Legionaires have taken America's youth to heart - Legionaires have a belief that every person in a free society has not only rights and privileges but also duties and responsibilities."

The picture of the aging Veteran throwing paper bags filled with water from hotel windows, electric cans, and the not too sober gatherings are not the true picture of our Legion. The Lloyd H. Green Post No. 147 and their Auxiliary hope to dispel this picture by bringing our light out from the basket.

COMFORT IS KEY TO INTERIOR OF NEW RESTAURANT

On Novi Road New Restaurant Opens Here Today

A new restaurant featuring 24-hour service opens today on the east side of Novi Road opposite the Village Green Subdivision.

Owner and manager of the new facility, which together with the property and equipment is valued at $140,000 is owned by Robert Ronk of Echo Valley Subdivision in Novi. It is named The Pepper Tree Restaurant.

The restaurant is similar to the Malabu Restaurant near Grand River and Eight Mile Road, which Ronk owned and managed for five years. Mrs. Ida Boudreau of Detroit will manage The Pepper Tree.

Of concrete brick construction, the restaurant combines colonial and modern interior decorations and it features a patio-balcony along the north (entrance) and west sides. Customers enter the low balcony-patio in two locations and from it into the restaurant itself.

Inside walls feature walnut paneling, acoustical ceiling. The floor is terrazzo, with a raised rear dining area carpeted. Stereophonic music is piped in through the ceiling.

A unique feature of the furniture is the "floating" booths and tables. Custom built and reportedly the only ones of their kind in Michigan, neither the table tops nor the cushioned seats are supported by legs. Instead, they protrude from walls or partitions and are reinforced. The design makes for better comfort and easy cleaning of the floor.

Planter boxes and low partitions separate rows of booths as well as offering semi-seclusion for the raised dining area. The back wall, overlooking this dining area, will be used for hanging of oil paintings by local artists.

The restaurant also includes a counter area adjacent to the kitchen. Above this counter is a cedar shake roof.

A blacktopped parking lot will accommodate an estimated 100 cars. The building is situated on a 250 x 350 foot site, large enough to provide for future expansion that may take place. An estimated 20 persons are expected to be employed initially permitting around-the-clock operation.

Holy Cross Episcopal Mission, Novi

Once upon a time, most churchmen stayed discreetly on the sidelines during a presidential campaign. No more. This year, as never before, religious journals, church groups, and individual clergy are deeply involved in, fact, openly involved in the election. There is much public reaction to the involvement of the Church in this area of life, and I am sure that you have sentiments on the subject. Each of us know there is much feeling about it, and that a lot of it is hostile. Let's not deceive ourselves, my brethren. In many quarters this movement by

Green Oak

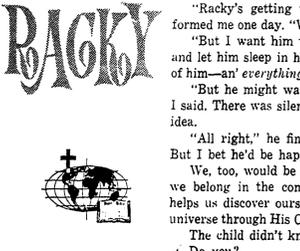

Frightened, its wing broken, the bird was clinging to a rail when Tod found it. He brought it home, and "Racky" became its name. Days passed and the bird mended quickly. "Racky's getting well," the six-year old informed me one day. "Will he fly away?" I nodded. "But I want him to stay here! I'll feed him, and let him sleep in his box-house, and take care of him—an' everything!"

"But he might want to be with his friends," I said. There was silence as the boy pondered the idea.

"All right," he finally said. "I'll let him go. But I bet he'd be happier here with me."

We, too, would be happier if we knew where we belong in the complex pattern of life. God helps us discover ourselves and our place in His universe through His Church.

The child didn't know any better.

Obviously, there is more than one point of view in operation here. This has been true of all the questions raised with respect to the First Amendment. There is a lack of historical consistency in the interpretation of our tradition. The confusion that now abounds concerning church and state is nothing more than a resultant consequence of our failure to deal with what we really mean by the First Amendment. I, for one, am sure that we must "come to grips" with the problem of separation of church and state and end once-and-for-all the confusion and uncertainty which clouds our attitude on the subject.

At the heart of the problem is, I feel, our failure to agree upon what is political and what is not. Unfortunately, even Scripture does little to shed a clear light on the matter.

Let's glance briefly at our present situation, honestly and realistically. It has been a little more than three years since my family and I moved to this area from Evanston, Illinois. This is a fine community of better than average income; a university town; a community greatly concerned with morals... the chocolate sundae was invented here because an infamous women organization succeeded in stopping the use of seltzer water on Sunday because it would prove detrimental to the morals of the community... a "dry" town since the era of prohibition; yet in this community there are two YMCA's, one white and one black; the school boundaries are regularly gerrymandered to insure all white grade schools; and one would be quickly reminded that if a minister or priest should speak out about, say, race relations, that he was bringing "religion" into a socio-political realm. On the other hand, should no clergy appear to testify at hearing concerning liquor laws or Blue laws, they would be reminded, quite vocally, that they were not doing their duty. You see, the problem is that we have never agreed as to what things are Caesar's and what things are God's. There's the rub! At the most we can push that celebrated text of Matthew 22:21 that taxes are acceptable as Caesar's due, but what else? Our Lord said nothing more. As to the content that constitutes the two domains, he was completely candid, leaving that to us, awkwardly standing, as it were, with a foot in each. This makes it impossible to go one way in one and a different way in the other, doesn't it? Could that have been what He really had in mind? Quite vividly he reminds us three chapters later that the manner in which we treat the least of His brethren is the way we treat Him... the way we treat God! It could be, that the question of separation of Church and state becomes a problem when we pray: "Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven," but what we really mean is that "our" will be done.

Out of THE PAST

FIVE YEARS AGO...
...Northville football coaches were waging an record number of hopefuls turned out for opening grid drills. Sixty hopefuls were pushed through twice-a-day practice sessions in preparation for the opening tilt here with arch-rival Plymouth on September 13.

...Initial half-day sessions for first graders, aimed at providing a more sound introduction to the first grade, were approved by the Northville Board of Education. Suggested by the elementary principals and recommended by Superintendent Amerman, the experimental program will mean that all children entering the first grade will attend school for a half-day only for the first full three weeks.

...Supervisor R. D. Merriam reported that discussions have been held with both Plymouth and Detroit officials to determine a source of supply for township residents in the Five Mile and Braden area. Merriam indicated that prospects for Detroit water were somewhat dim.

...A reluctant group of property owners with little alternative consented to action taken by the city council for the proposed improvement of Orchard Drive.

TEN YEARS AGO...
...Northville's city council took definite steps to thoroughly review and map out its water system and undertake a major program of improvements.

...Ten candidates sought five seats on the proposed village council in Novi's special charter election September 2. The candidates were J. Philip Anderson, George Ames, Russell Button, Bert Fisher, David Fried, Dirk Gopenberg, Dixon Tafallian, Leo Harwood, Walter Tuck and Donald Woodard.

...New principal of Our Lady of Victory school was Sister Rose Edmund, O.P., who replaces Sister Anita Marie, O.P.

...Donald A. Knodle was named by the board of education to replace Mrs. George Atkinson as principal of Novi School.

...Based on preliminary estimates more than 1,700 students were expected to attend Northville schools slated to open September 8.

...Novi's slow registration rate for the upcoming village charter election became cause for concern because only 140 of an estimated 2,500 qualified electors had registered.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO...
...The prayers of a former Northville family were answered when their 21-year old son, listed as missing in action in Korea, returned to freedom at Panmunjom. Pvt. Jack Andrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Andrews, was freed after 43 days as a Communist prisoner.

...A three-man committee to "steer" construction of the $200,000 Northville Community Building was appointed by Village President Conrad E. Langfield and the Commission. Named to the committee were Recreation Director Wilson Funk, Commissioner Alton Peters, and Lynn Sullivan.

...The village hall began to take on a new gleam as Roy Hollis and son, James, of 516 Randolph, began putting

$320,000 Package Schoolcraft Inks Teacher Pact

A two-year contract between the faculty and the Board of Trustees of Schoolcraft College was ratified by both sides (August 23-24) as the college prepared to open its doors for its fifty year.

Announcement of the agreement was made jointly by Dr. Eric J. Braden, president of the college, and Walter O. Hoffmann, psychology instructor and president of the Faculty Forum.

The agreement covers 140 faculty members, counselors and assistant librarians this year and represents an economic package of almost $320,000 over the two year period. Salary increases, salary adjustments and fringe benefits add up to a $118,000 package for this year. The total cost of the contract does not include regular increments paid to all members of the faculty bargaining unit during the two year period.

The agreement was approved by the faculty on August 23, on a vote of 69 to 9 with one member abstaining. Trustees approved the pact August 24, on a 5-0 vote. Three members of the board were absent from the special meeting called to ratify the contract in advance of the scheduled start of the academic year on Monday, August 26.

Pertinent terms of the economic package for this year are: across-the-board raises of $500 for all members of the bargaining unit, upward salary adjustments of $700, $550, and $400 for faculty members hired in 1964, 1965, and 1966, and payment by the Board of an additional one-quarter of the cost of dependents group hospital and medical insurance to a total of 75 percent of the premium cost. In addition, the entire salary scale was increased by $500 to accommodate the across-the-board raises.

For the 1969-70 academic year, the contract provides for an across-the-board raise of $600, upward salary adjustments of $300, $250, and $200 for the 1964-66 faculty hires, and the assumption by the Board of 100 percent of the dependents group hospital and medical premiums.

The salary adjustments split over the two years are designed to bring faculty members hired in the 1964-66 period up to scale on the salary schedule.

Also in 1969-70, the salary scale will move up another $600, and upward adjustments in the overload and part-time teaching salary scales will be made.

The final charge of disorderly behavior, this time for profane language, was against William Ernest Lordy III of Detroit, who stood mute upon arraignment. He then changed his plea to guilty and was fined $40 and $4 costs in lieu of an eight-day jail sentence.

On charges of being minors in possession of alcohol, two youths, Randolph Pless, who gave a temporary Walled Lake address, admitted having beer in his possession at a recent Cavern dance in the Community Building. He was sentenced to $30 or 15 days and $3.

John Miller of 8660 Napier Road, admitted having possession of alcohol at the Clark Gas Station, 510 South Main Street and was sentenced to pay $40, three days and $4 costs.

Perez Guerra, living at 18471 Haggerty, pleaded guilty to an added count of driving with ability impaired along the Seven Mile Cut-off. A similar plea for the same charge came from Elmer Smith of Livonia.

Louis Tressa Markom of Inkster was brought to court on two separate counts. A plea of guilty was entered for driving a defective car and for having improper license plates. The combined sentence amounted to 25 or five days.

Finally, John Matayo Jr., of Lansing stood mute when charged with driving while his license was revoked. He later changed his plea to guilty and was sentenced to pay $75 and serve three days in jail.

Municipal Court

Six of the cases heard in Northville Municipal Court last week by Judge Philip Ogilvie concerned charges of disorderly conduct.

Ora Greenhoe of 111 West Main Street, Frances Loux of Detroit and Stanley Dunlop of Hazel Park pleaded guilty of being drunk and disorderly. Greenhoe was sentenced to pay $50 plus $5 or serve 10 days in jail, and Loux received a fine of $30 and $10 cost or eight days. Dunlop was fined $50 or 15 days and was placed on probation for a year.

A charge of disorderly-vagant was brought against John Eads, (no address), for lingering near Rathburn Chevrolet, 560 South Main Street. Eads pleaded guilty and was committed to the Detroit House of Correction for three days.

A plea of guilty was entered by Harold Weiss of Livonia in response to charges of disorderly fighting in Paul's Hamburger Restaurant, 156 North Center Street. He was sentenced to pay $50 or serve 10 days and $5 costs.

Justice Court

A 28-year-old Plymouth man, arrested recently by a Novi policeman who suffered a shoulder separation in the process, was fined $50 last week for being a disorderly person.

Charles B. Hill pleaded guilty before Novi Justice of the Peace Emory Jacques Thursday and was ordered to pay the fine or serve five days in jail.

Meanwhile, Patrolman Jack Grubb, a summer police replacement, underwent surgery Friday and has been placed on three weeks sick leave.

Grubb fell while chasing Hill on foot from near the police headquarters and up Flint Street where he was caught.

The chase started when Mrs. Bert Harbin of Novi stopped at the station early in the morning on August 18 to report that a "drunk" was following her car containing her husband and brother-in-law and was threatening them. Hill followed through his car to the station when Grubb walked out to investigate. Hill jumped from his car and the officer gave chase.

In other Novi Justice Court action last week, two men were fined for speeding.

Robert J. Sullivan of Detroit was found guilty of speeding 70 in a 50 MPH zone on Grand River near Taft. He paid a $30 fine and $15 court costs in lieu of a 10-day jail sentence.

A $20 fine was paid by William F. York of Walled Lake, who pleaded guilty of speeding 70 MPH on Grand River, between Beck and Wixom Roads.

Eldon E. Pell of Dearborn, stopped by police for illegal passing, was fined $10 and $10 court costs for driving with an expired operator's license.

WHAT'S BEST FOR DURABLE PRESS?

Home economists agree that durable press garments look best when dried in a clothes dryer. Housewives who already have a new gas dryer and durable press garments say they were made for each other!

The secret is in the even heat, gentle tumbling action and special cycles of the new gas dryer. Dried in this gas dryer, durable press fabrics bring back their original shape without wrinkles - creases are where they belong.

News Around Schoolcraft

Many building officials and building inspectors throughout southeastern Michigan will be heading back to school this fall to attend a comprehensive course in the application and analysis of building code principals at Schoolcraft College.

Evening College Director Fred Stefanski said the three credit hour course will concentrate on code interpretation as it applies to municipal inspection practices.

The course will meet on Tuesday nights from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., starting September 3, and continuing through December 17.

Instructor for the course is W. J. (Bill) Robinson, code correlator for the City of Detroit and administrative assistant to the commissioner of the Dept. of Buildings and Safety Engineering.

Robinson is a veteran of 32 years experience in the building inspection and related areas.

Textbook for the course is the Basic Building Code of the Building Officials of America, the code used in most communities in this area, according to Stefanski. Copies of the text are available at the college at a special discount for those students who do not have a reference copy.

Although Robinson plans to pattern the course according to the needs of the students, the tentative outline includes sessions covering code administration, definitions, light and ventilation, structural and foundation loads, materials and tests, state laws and regulations and fire protection.

Richard L. Sanderson, executive director of the Building Officials Council of America, Chicago, will keynote the opening session of the course, Stefanski said.

Tuition for the 16-week course is $31.50 for residents of the college district and $55.50 for non-residents. A $10 college registration fee will be charged for all students.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

For at least 10 years planners — both professional consultants and citizen members of planning commissions — have been pointing with concern to the business district facilities in the city of Northville.

They have used various means to plant the same concern in the minds of elected city officials and businessmen holding property interests in the commercial district.

Their principle worry is that the influx of people to the area will surpass the ability of the city's shopping center to serve the demand. Many believe that this has already happened; all agree that little time is left to produce visible evidence that an expanded and improved shopping area is in the offing.

The threat to the future of the city's central business district is that a major developer, unhappy with what he sees in the shopping area, will promote a new center as an attraction (and a profitable venture) to his subdivision.

Both city and township planners have been aware of this threat to the prosperity of the local business district and both have had a hand in attempting to protect it.

City planners have spent many hours designing a "new" central business district. Actually, it's a plan that incorporates what now exists with additional floor space and more convenient parking facilities.

Township planners have adopted the position that the city's commercial area is the major shopping center for the community. They have attempted to protect this position by discouraging any large commercial developments and confining shopping areas to smaller service-type neighborhood centers.

Planners are not alone in their concern; and their warnings have not gone unheeded. Many local businesses have improved and expanded their individual operations. The Northville Area Economic Development Corporation has acquired vacant and deteriorating property in the commercial district and has earmarked for redevelopment. The city council has cooperated by developing more parking and, in many instances, helping the development corporation by purchasing properties it has acquired.

In addition, a number of individual businessmen have donated time and effort to attracting new business to the area.

Right now, for example, a major commercial development has been designed for the Northville central business district. It's just an idea, but it's on the drawing boards and has the backing of the economic development corporation. It still has to be "sold," but it's feasible.

Despite these efforts, however, there's still concern that enough is not being done.

To some extent Northville township planners expressed this concern last week. They're well aware of the awesome number of living units now underway by major developers in the township. And they're feeling the pressures of commercial developers. They know, too, that good planning dictates an attention to good balance between residential and commercial.

Consequently, Township Planning Chairman Leonard Klein proposed a joint meeting of the city-township planning commissions so that each might discuss the future and what must be done to meet its challenges.

The township wants the city to be well aware of what's happening to its vast acres of undeveloped land; and it wants to know what plans are being made in the city to prepare for the influx.

The joint information-exchange meeting idea is a good one that could become a regular practice. Chairman Klein and his planners are to be commended for taking the initiative.

Hopefully, the meetings can provide a clear picture of the area's immediate future both from a standpoint of numbers of dwelling units and the commercial facilities needed to serve the increased demand.

How's the third attempt to pass a two-mill package for school operating funds in Northville going to come out September 14?

Citizens working on an opinion survey will tell you it's a toss up.

"The replies to our house-to-house survey are about 50-50," says Bob Bogart, who is one of 17 captains working with teams of citizens conducting the poll in the city and township.

The pollsters expect their efforts to get out a bigger vote, but they're not sure this means passage of the millage. They've had about as many "yes" replies as "no."

"It's really up to the undecided voters," Bogart noted. He also expressed hope that a "few" of the "no" voters might change their minds.

Readers Speak: 3 R's Not Enough

To The Editor:
Mr. Hicks claims a rational look at the facts is needed in regard to the school millage request. Has he taken a rational look at the facts? He says, "First, money alone does not buy a quality education..." I agree. Money alone does not. But without the money to finance a quality education, one does not receive a quality education. The three R's can be learned at a relatively low cost. But the three R's alone will not get one into college or give one the ability to go out and earn a reasonable living. Unless the three R's are coupled with sciences, languages, social studies, physical education, and extra-curricular activities, all of which cost money, students are unable to receive a decent, or "quality" education to fit in with the times. At the time a three R's education ending in the grade school was fashionable, today's business world did not exist. Now, nearly every young man beginning his career needs a college education to support himself and his family. And colleges want extra-curricular activities! When last year's seniors made out their college applications, they were asked what school activities they'd belonged to. If the students answered "none" do you think the college stopped to consider maybe this school didn't offer any? Of course not! Everyone knows high schools have clubs. And most have the National Honor Society.

Have you ever stopped to think how much this means to an eligible student? Or how much influence it might carry on a college application to be able to state one belongs to NHS? Please voters, reconsider your stands. We students can't vote — we must rely on our parents and friends to do for us. But I know which way the vote would go if it were put to the students. We'd be willing to pay the increase if it were proportionate to our means.

By ROLLY PETERSON

The police crackdown on demonstrators during the 1968 Democratic convention won't soon be forgotten by the American public. For some time to come the controversy will rage as to whether Chicago's finest were indeed within their rights in clubbing the Hippies and Yippies and innocent bystanders into submission.

Some condemn the police as being brutal. Others defend their heavy-handed tactics as being necessary for the preservation of law and order. Surely, there is no easy answer, just as surely as the Democratic process can be a painful experience.

But there is an answer and Abe Fortas, associate justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, zeroes in on the problem in his timely book, "Concerning Dissent and Civil Disobedience."

Fortas is not just another member of the supreme court. If for no other reason he is known because of the recent investigation of his appointment by President Johnson as Chief Justice, Michigan Senator who is leading the forces opposed to Fortas' appointment, admits Fortas' qualifications cannot be questioned. He is readily recognized for his brilliant legal mind.

Clearly, Fortas has more going for him than his brilliant mind. In his book, now in paperback and printed in July, he demonstrates that he also is objective while being sensitively attuned to his times and the needs of his country.

The basic question which he addresses is not whether dissent is legal — for it is indelibly clear that the First Amendment guarantees this right — but what methods of dissent are permitted by law.

He draws the line on dissent, however, when it infringes on the rights of others. The professor, Fortas says, does not have carte blanche to wreck havoc. And "good cause" is no defense under the law.

But just as the individual, the dissident, must abide by the law, so must the government. Police cannot take the law into their own hands, even though they are entrusted with the responsibility of enforcing it.

Fortas says: "The same principals apply to the police and officers of the law. They, too, are liable for their acts. The fact that they represent the state does not give them immunity from the consequences of brutality or lawlessness. They, like the rioters, may be motivated by bold and acute provocation. It may be that their lawlessness was the direct product of fear, or of righteous anger. They may have been moved to violence by more pressure than they could endure. But they, too, are subject to the rule of law, and if they exceed the authorized bounds of firmness and self-protection and needlessly assaulted the people whom they encountered, they should be disciplined, tried, and convicted. It is a deplorable truth that because they are officers of the state they frequently escape the penalty of their lawlessness."

And directly applicable to Chicago is Fortas' statement: "These mass demonstrations, however peacefully intended by their organizers, always involve the danger that they may erupt into violence. But despite this, our Constitution and our traditions, as well as practical wisdom, teach us that city officials, police and citizens must be tolerant of mass demonstrations, however large and inconvenient. No city should be expected to submit to paralysis or to widespread injury to persons and property brought on by violation of law. It must be prepared to prevent this by the use of planning, persuasion, and restrained law enforcement. But at the same time, it is the city's duty under law, and as a matter of good sense, to make every effort to provide adequate facilities so that the demonstration can be effectively staged, so that it can be conducted without paralyzing the city's life, and to provide protection for the demonstrators. The city must perform this duty."

In light of these two pronouncements, where does Chicago stand? What facilities were provided for a demonstration? What evidence was there of planning, persuasion, and restrained law enforcement? Little, if any.

Disappointed Newcomer

To The Editor:
As a new citizen, I have become very interested and concerned about the millage increase dispute. Having lived in Northville only one week, I am of course unable to vote on September 14, but I do hope, for the sake of the children, that the millage increase will be passed this time.

I was very surprised and a little disappointed by some of the letters from citizens which I have read in The Record. The main complaint seems to come from older citizens whose children have already been graduated from school. They are concerned only with the tax increase, and don't seem to realize that their children received the best education which could be provided at the time. It doesn't seem fitting that they should begrudge today's children the same right.

Another rationalization against the increase is the age old statement, "I did not have all that when I went to school." No, but then neither did anyone else. Today's children are going to have to compete with today's children, not the children of the past, and other communities are presently providing those benefits which a millage defeat would take away from the Northville schools. Yes, take away! It is not a matter of stopping progress, or even standing still. It is out and out regression. This year's students will not even have the benefits that last year's students had.

I sincerely hope that this situation will be rectified in September by a vote for the millage increase. Your children are dependent upon the outcome.

Police Brutality

NOTE—Reprinted below is a letter published in the police magazine, The Badge. It was written by the wife of a San Antonio minister.

Dear Sirs:
One of the most common phrases heard in our society and our city today is "police brutality." Perhaps I don't understand the meaning, but I would like to give you one mother's viewpoint on this subject.

To begin, I should first tell you that I have two teen-age sons, and being a mother, I cannot help but want the very best of everything for them. I am a "typical mother" in that I don't want to see them hurt by anyone. I am not a typical mother, for I see things many mothers never hear of, much less become involved in, because my husband is a minister and we see the very best and the sordid worst.

I would like for you to be brutal with my sons. Is that a surprise?

If you find them speeding in a car, please be brutal. I have sat at a hospital holding a grieving mother's hand because of someone's mistake. That was brutal. I have gone with my husband to tell a wife her husband was killed. That was brutal. I have helped nurse a beautiful teen-age girl crippled in a wreck. That was brutal. I have played organ music at funeral services for babies, teen-agers, and adults because someone drove too fast. That was brutal.

If you should catch my under-age sons with liquor in their possession, please be brutal.
I have sat all night by my husband's side trying to help piece together two under-age young men's lives, both broken by drinking. That was brutal. I have listened to the horrors experienced by another man while he was drunk and heard him recall the many jails he had served time in for this. That was brutal. I have helped feed hungry children because a drunken father didn't come home. That was brutal. I have tried to console a mother whose daughter was killed after being struck by a drunken driver. That was brutal!

If you should find my sons with drugs in their possession, please be brutal.
I have tried to help rehabilitate a woman just out of prison for shooting her husband while she was drugged. That was brutal. I have seen a handsome young man turn into an ugly one because of drugs. That was brutal. I have seen a young mother who was addicted to a drug screen and rave for lack of "fix." That was brutal.

If you find my sons committing any kind of immoral act or carrying any pornographic materials, please be brutal! I have listened to the sad cry of a young girl who was pregnant but not married. That was brutal. I have been present when a boy and girl broke the news to their parents that they had to marry. That was brutal. I have tried to comfort a mother whose beautiful daughter was criminally raped. That was brutal. I have seen a promising young man with a brilliant future have to give it up and too young assume the responsibilities of a wife and baby. That was brutal.

If you ever see my sons taking something that isn't theirs or willfully destroying property, please be brutal! I have walked into a hushed, sacred church that was stripped of everything that could be sold. That was brutal. I have seen a lovely, expensive home and yard completely torn up by vandals. That was brutal. I have seen a school and its marvelous equipment torn apart by other vandals. That was brutal. I have wiped a little boy's tears and helped him hunt for his stolen bicycle. That was brutal.

If you should ever catch my sons doing anything illegal, please be brutal! I have come to realize that your kind of "brutality" cannot in any way compare with the brutality that comes from breaking our laws.

My husband and I have tried to teach our sons that their rights end where someone else's begin. We believe they have learned this lesson; but in case they forget, we look to you and others who influence their lives — teachers, coaches, etc. — to see that they remember.

And if you must be brutal to remind them — then please, please be brutal!

I do not want my two sons to grow into two grown-up boys. I want them to become men, able to assume their places in this world and make a good contribution to it. I sincerely hope they won't need your help; but if they do, and if you must, then be brutal.

Top of the Deck by JACK W. HOFFMAN

There was nothing unusual about Hubert Humphrey's picture, although I do remember thinking that it was the first time I'd seen a picture of the Vice-President in a sports shirt.

But the woman who shares the newspaper with me — literally — refused to turn the page until she had carefully scanned the picture.

"Do you mind," I said, "I'd like to turn the page."

"Isn't that strange," she mumbled, completely ignoring my request. "Look at Hubert's shirt. Isn't that odd?"

"So he's wearing a sport shirt. So what?"

"No, look at the shirt. It's flowered or something... see, by his tie and on his collar. But look where it comes out of his coat sleeves. It's white with no flowers."

"Maybe it's a two-tone job. Let's turn the page."

"No, wait a minute. Isn't that odd. There's something wrong. If it's flowered by the tie and collar it should be flowered on the sleeves. Do you suppose it could be the photograph?"

"No, and I really don't care. Forget it. He's just wearing a new kind of shirt. Let's turn the page."

"You're suppose to be a reporter, and you can't even see something odd about that picture.

Taxpayer Revolt Hits Schools

LANSING — Some 2.5 million school children are scheduled to return to Michigan classrooms this month. Many may not attend opening day. By the last week in August about 140 school districts had reached agreement with teachers over new contracts, according to the Michigan Education Association.

This does not mean that teachers in those districts will strike immediately. Some may; others will choose to begin teaching without contracts.

EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS will suffer in those districts where voters have defeated operating millage. Local school boards are in the difficult position of satisfying teacher demands and maintaining academic standards while voters refuse to authorize extra revenue.

Voters in 197 districts turned down operating millage requests this year, while 339 propositions were approved. When operating millage is defeated, school boards face an immediate problem. They must either call for another millage election or reduce expenses. Increased enrollments make cost-cutting difficult, and reductions result in over-crowded classrooms, inferior programs, and loss of qualified teachers. The inconvenience to taxpayers in loss of services is often more costly than the millage.

A number of educators believe that negative votes on millage propositions do not reflect negative attitudes towards schools. They suspect that a millage vote is one of the few places remaining where taxpayers can express dissatisfaction with taxes in general.

No matter what the reasons, school children are directly affected by millage defeats. The problem must be resolved primarily at the local level.

MICHIGAN STATE Police report that 2,123 people died on Michigan highways in 1967, and 151,297 were injured. It was the seventh year in which the death toll exceeded the 2,000 mark.

Col. Fredrick E. Davids, director, comments: "This staggering loss of life, human suffering and financial loss is at once, tragic and unnecessary. While exposure factors of more vehicles, more miles driven and more drivers continue to mount, individual attitudes and responsibilities seem to decay."

Statistics show that the average accident-prone driver in 1967 exhibited the same characteristics as in 1966. He is young, drives too fast for highway conditions, carries nine "points" on his driving record, and was probably drinking.

He caused an estimated economic loss of $405 million in 1967 alone, enough to build four Mackinaw Bridges.

LAWMAKERS introduced about 300 bills dealing with traffic safety during the last two years. More than 10 percent became law.

Jack Green, managing director of Traffic Safety for Michigan, credits the 74th Michigan Legislature with "possibly the most significant record on traffic safety in more than a decade."

Most dramatic of all new legislation is that which: —allows police to impound your car if you're driving with a suspended license.

—makes it mandatory for you to take a "breathalyzer" test if police suspect you're intoxicated, or face license suspension.

—limits the courts' and License Appeal Boards' options in hearing appeals under the implied consent law.

—requires motorcyclists to carry helmets on their vehicles, and wear protective eye glasses or wear windshields when traveling more than 35 mph.

—regulates operation of snowmobiles.

Czech Disaster to Influence US

WELLESLEY HILLS, MASSACHUSETTS — In the aftermath of the Russian sponsored and Russian-led invasion of Czechoslovakia it is clear that this disaster will influence significantly the plans and policies of the next U.S. Administration no matter who succeeds President Johnson.

The emergence of Czech independence and liberalism which culminated in the armed suppression of Czech freedom and sovereignty points up Russian insecurity. However divided the leaders of the Kremlin may be as to what course the Soviet should follow in its relations with its satellites, it is clear that fear has tipped the scales in favor of those who advocate a hard line reminiscent of the Stalin era.

For all her rank and strength as one of the world's two "super-powers", Russia desperately needs to build, with her satellites, an international community. But, through lack of confidence and lack of enlightened leadership, she has failed to knit such a community together. Obviously, her fear of permitting the light of freedom to penetrate the communist bloc is stronger than her desire for truly peaceful coexistence with her own satellites as well as with non-communist nations.

THE retrogression implicit in the Czech invasion is a cruel blow to the Czechs and Slovaks who are among the most progressive and most productive of Europe's peoples. It is also a blow to peace from which Europe and the world will not soon recover. True freedom for the "captive nations" of Eastern Europe and a sensible solution to the "German question" are again pushed into the future.

The thaw in the cold war — intermittent and erratic though it has been — is not replaced by deep-freeze. President Johnson's hopes for "bridge-building" and President de Gaulle's championship of "détente" are replaced by mistrust, scorn, and anger as the Russian Bear licks imaginary wounds.

One of the early effects of the Czech invasion will be a cutback in the flow of trade between Western Europe and the East European communist bloc. During the past couple of years, commerce between the two sectors had been expanding apace. Indeed the promise of much more profitable trade relations with Western Europe was one of the factors in the Czech bid for greater freedom from Russian domination.

It is perhaps too soon to make a meaningful forecast of what this retrogressive step will mean to the economies of both Western and Eastern Europe. But initial curtailment of trade will have some adverse impact on productivity, employment, wages, and general prosperity in both sectors.

Walled Lake Amusement Park Closes Permanently

The 42-year-old Walled Lake Amusement Park has permanently closed its doors.

Park equipment was being removed early this week, and a report that the property is to be sold was confirmed by a real estate agency Tuesday.

According to Mrs. Irene Whitworth of Gordon Williamson's Multi-Lakes real estate company, the park's parking lot has already been sold with plans to turn it into a subdivision. The firm is handling the sale of the property for the owners — including Pauline Clark of Wyoming, who has a major interest. She inherited the property from an uncle.

Removal of the equipment — owned by three brothers, Cy, Al and Milt Wagner who operate Edgewater Park — and sale of the property signals the end of a long and colorful enterprise marked in recent years by poor attendance.

Just a few months ago a new park manager had, in attempts to win another license to operate, promised major overhaul of the park. And, although some of the park's facilities were improved and a license granted, resurfacing of Novi Road, the main artery to the park, slashed attendance and sealed its doom.

Actually, raging fires destroyed much of the park's popularity in 1965 when the adjacent Walled Lake Casino burned to the ground. With the casino's demise the attraction of the park diminished.

The casino predated the park, which reportedly was built in 1926 by Fred Pierce. Pierce sold it to the Wagner brothers, who had a hand in its operation up to Sunday.

Built by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tolettene, the casino passed into the hands of Mrs. Tolettene and her nephew when her husband died in 1936. She operated it until World War II when it was closed.

Following the war, the brothers, Albert and Elmer Tolettene, reopened it in 1946 and it did a booming business for 12 years until the big bands (Hal Kemp, the Dorseys, Glen Miller, Sammy Kaye, Benny Goodman, etc.) stopped coming.

Despite the colorful history, there was little nostalgia around Sunday — the last day of the park's operation. Novi police were forced to battle an exasperating traffic problem at the park because park picnickers failed to provide traffic direction. The picnickers were Detroit metropolitan policemen and their families.

LANDMARK DIES—Walled Lake Amusement Park, a 42-year-old facility with a long and colorful history, closed permanently Sunday.

THE NOVI NEWS

OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER OF THE VILLAGE AND TOWNSHIP OF NOVI, AND THE CITY OF WIXOM

Vol. 15, No. 17, 20 Pages, Two Sections • Novi, Michigan Thursday, September 12, 1968 • 10¢ Per Copy, $4 Per Year In Advance

Charter Commissioners Give Manager More Muscle

One of the controversial sections of the proposed Novi city charter received tentative approval by the City Charter Commission Friday night.

Commissioners are expected to tackle another section in tonight's (Thursday) meeting to be held in the council chambers beginning at 8 p.m. Basically, by its action last week the commission reaffirmed its philosophy calling for a strong manager-council concept, although in reviewing earlier recommendations of Attorney Howard Bond it strengthened the manager's position.

Revision of the section had been assigned to Commissioners Joseph Crupi and David Harrison.

Among the provisions of the section (4) receiving tentative approval were:

—Election of councilmen to four year terms and the mayor to a two-year term, with election of three councilmen to take place every two years following the initial city election.

—The mayor is to be the executive head of the council, but he is to have no more voting power than other members of the council and his powers do not include a veto.

—Granting of a hearing to the city manager, by petition, in the event that he is fired by the council. No other city officials, such as the clerk, are to be permitted such a hearing.

—Firing of the city manager requires an affirmative vote by five council members. Similarly, removal of the clerk requires an affirmative vote of five councilmen.

—Among the powers of the city manager is his authority to hire and fire all city employees, excluding the clerk, attorney, treasurer and assessor. The latter four answer directly to the council.

—The mayor is to appoint the mayor pro tem from the council.

—The city manager is required to live in Novi within a year after he is hired unless otherwise excused from this requirement by the council.

Of perhaps greatest significance was the commission's 5 to 3 decision to provide for three possible alignments involving the police and fire departments. These include:

A director of public safety, answering directly to the council, has the power to remove the police and fire chiefs and the health officer; the city manager acting as the director of public safety, if the council so appoints him, may remove the police and fire chiefs and the health officer; the police chief, acting in the capacity of public safety director, if so provided by the council, holds the same powers of the director as in the first two situations.

In other words, the charter provision allows for three different ways to fill the director of public safety post. In any of the three situations the person holding down the public safety director's post is the "boss" of the police and fire agencies with hiring and firing powers.

Presently, Police Chief Lee BeGole holds the director of public safety position with the village. Although technically he is responsible to the village manager there has been occasions, commissioners noted, when he, as both director and police chief, has answered directly to the council.

He was particularly adamant on the former point, arguing that the commission on the one hand to make the manager's post attractive approved a section giving the manager a hearing opportunity, while on the other hand it dangled an unnecessary, perhaps discouraging requirement over his head. The requirement could, he stressed, discourage fully qualified, ideal applicants who live nearby who may not wish to move.

Concerning the appointment of the mayor pro-tem, Butt's objections apparently stemmed from earlier pleasure with the provision calling for an elected mayor. He supported a provision similar to the one in the present village charter calling for the election of the president by the council from the council. Election of the mayor could result in a political football and governmental breakdown, he suggested.

In one of the other split votes Friday, Commissioner Crupi took a lone position in arguing that firing of the city manager should require only a majority vote of the council and not a five-member vote.

Wixom OK's Boundaries, Council Format for CBD

Boundaries for the proposed Central Business District and establishment of a CBD citizens' council were approved by the Wixom Council Tuesday night.

A proposed zoning change request and tabled it until after further study. Both came up at public hearings in conjunction with the regular council meeting.

The proposed boundaries around the business district were approved on lines roughly corresponding to south right-of-way of Grand Trunk Railroad, the north right-of-way of C&O

Railroad, Pontiac Trail, Wixom Road, and Manistee Street.

Fifteen members, with majority coming from residents of the area and the balance from interested and economically involved businessmen, are to make up citizens' council, with approval of members at the mayor's discretion.

A proposed car wash at Wixom Road and Wainstock Street brought the zoning request. Citizens voiced primary fear that the proposed B-3 zoning would open up the residential area to less desirable businesses. The council tabled the request to investigate the type of buffer zone proposed for the car wash and to review the B-3 zoning.

Approximately 60 persons attended the meeting and provided several lively moments while raising questions about the CBD and rezoning petition.

Gerald Abrams, for example, was concerned about the car wash because of its detrimental effect upon his adjoining home.

Numerous citizens lodged complaints about unfulfilled promises of repairs by Holloway Construction Company following completion of sewer construction in Wixom. Mayor Wesley E. McAtee suggested that complaints be submitted to him in writing to give him grounds for carrying specific complaints to Holloway.

During the new business portion of regular council meeting, City Attorney Gene Schmelz brought up the problem of the necessity of the city owning the land upon which the well is situated for the new Ross Homes development. Land is presently owned by the Detroit Edison Company. A letter is to be drafted by the attorney suggesting to Edison that the property be deeded to the city.

'Spot Zoning' Plan Sparks Opposition

Novi residents need not fear spot zoning.

This appeared evident in second of four public hearings conducted Monday night in joint session of Novi Village Council and Novi Planning Board.

Action that spurred condemnation of spot zoning grew out of a proposed zoning change from Residential R-1 to Residential R-1-E requested by Mrs. John Hetteche as well as a similar request for three neighboring small parcels of unplanned land made by the board itself.

What effect would this zoning change have had? Mrs. Hetteche could have sold her property to someone raising horses (or chickens or rabbits) for personal and family use.

This situation alone caused the major objection by the public. Mike Telischak, owner of Telischak Trucking of Livonia, bought his $100,000 home abutting the Hetteche estate under the written understanding that zoning prohibited raising of any animals whatsoever there, he said. He and others wanted it kept that way.

Spot zoning was the objection cited by board member Robert Wilkins, who felt that not enough care had gone into preparation of public hearing proposals. He moved that the proposal be referred to planning consultant for his consideration and that no further action be taken by board until September 30 meeting.

Wilkins' arguments convinced both board and council and they supported his recommendation.

Three other public hearings were on the agenda, but none excited the wrath of the people as did the other.

The only other zoning change requested was by Baron Oil Company to enable it to build a service station at the corner of Ten Mile and Novi roads. There was some discussion on this agenda-opening hearing, but action was swift and favorable to Baron.

Two pre-preliminary plans were tabled for approval or disapproval at later dates. Willowbrook Estates Subdivision 5 agents have until October 7 to comply with changes required on their pre-plot by Johnson and Anderson, village engineers. Due to more complete nature of their plat, agents for Wood Dale Subdivision 1 have only a week to wait for their approval on September 16.

Adult Classes

An adult education program aimed at meeting the needs of the community is now on the planning boards, according to Richard Hendrickson who heads up the program.

New in the Novi system this year, Hendrickson indicated that the program will emphasize class subjects that can be utilized in the home. Currently, he is working with High School Principal Gerald Hartman and Superintendent Thomas Dale in setting up the classes which will start in mid-October.

Classes will continue for 11 weeks and will be taught by school personnel.

Additional information about specific classes and registration procedures will be available in October.

HAPPY TRIO—These three smiling police officers have plenty of reasons for exuding happiness. South Lyon Patrolman Donald Fletcher (left) and State Police Detective Paul Palmer (right) were honored at a banquet Thursday, sponsored by the Novi Police Association, for their heroism in saving the life of Novi Officer Robert Starnes (center) who was held at gunpoint this summer by kidnapers. Fletcher and Palmer were presented plaques by the police association and the South Lyon City Council presented a special citation to their officer. A capacity crowd turned out for the dinner program in Saratoga restaurant. Guest speaker was Justice Emery Jacques, who earlier in the day had concluded the examination of three young men accused of kidnapping the officer.
