

State Sets DDT Rules

Guidelines for disposal of DDT products by Michigan residents have been established and will be distributed throughout the state with the help of newspapers, television, radio, magazines, and a specially prepared brochure.

The guidelines were set up following action by the Michigan Commission of Agriculture April 16 cancelling registration of DDT products in the state. Included are specific directions for homeowners, commercial, agricultural and municipal users of DDT.

Preparation of the guidelines was a joint project of the Michigan Departments of Agriculture, Natural Resources, and Public Health, in cooperation with Michigan State University.

Copies of the booklet, "How to Dispose of DDT Products," will be available from the four cooperating organizations and their regional and district offices.

Cooperative planning for the project is designed to eliminate conflicting recommendations and to coordinate efforts of the public agencies involved. Guidelines had been requested by Governor William G. Milliken.

Homeowners are advised:

1. To get rid of DDT (dichloro diphenyl trichloroethane) products such as aerosol bombs, liquid sprays, powders, and dusts, bury them on your own property. If each homeowner does so, these products will be safely dispersed and will reduce dangerous concentrations of DDT and other toxic materials at public disposal sites. By law, ingredients are listed on the label.

2. Dig a hole deep enough to cover the DDT products and containers with three feet of dirt.

3. Aerosol (pressurized) cans should not be punctured but put in the hole intact.

4. Glass and metal containers should be opened and put in the hole tilted down to allow drainage. The glass should not be broken.

5. Bags and boxes should be buried intact.

6. The hole should not be left open. It should be filled with three feet of dirt immediately.

The only exception to the above recommendations is if the water table on your property is less than five feet below the ground. (If you do not know your underground water level, call your local health department.) If the water table on your property is less than five feet below the ground, your health department will advise you what to do.

The disposal of DDT in larger quantities should be done in one of the following ways:

Bury on Own Property:

1. Select a site at least six feet above the highest groundwater table in an area that is not likely to be used for crops or building purposes. The site should be at least 300 feet from any well or surface body of water including lakes, streams, ponds and drainage ditches.

2. Dig a hole deep enough to cover the insecticide and containers with three feet of soil.

3. Open containers of liquids before placing them in the hole so as to permit drainage of the insecticide from the containers.

4. Place bags or cartons containing wettable powders or dusts in the hole intact.

5. Fill in the hole with soil immediately.

By DON KRUPP

Last winter a small group of Novi Township citizens exercised its right and decided against incorporating within the City of Novi.

And now, several months later, that same group of Novi Township citizens must assume the responsibilities which have accompanied its decision.

The group didn't just act not to become part of a city; it acted to remain a township. Regardless of its size or purpose the group was allowed to act as it did; and now it must assume the responsibilities of government regardless of its size or purpose.

The prevailing attitude has been one of "just give us time because we're new at this and all." But the citizens of the re-organized Novi Township should have studied and understood the responsibilities of government before they decided to assume them.

In order to make an intelligent decision on whether or not to become a part of the new City of Novi, it seems that the alternatives should have been considered. It seems that the decision to remain a township should have evolved from thinking which produced "no" instead of acting as the group did.

But now it becomes obvious that the small group of citizens voted as it did solely because it did not want to become part of the city. The group obviously did not study the responsibilities involved in remaining a township; and therefore, it now finds that it does not understand and is unable to properly assume those responsibilities.

But more discouraging than the township's inability to govern itself properly now is its apparent complacency over the situation. It's difficult living with a neighbor that doesn't do his share of neighborhood things but if he's trying, it's also difficult not to respect his efforts.

But if he doesn't seem to care, then it's difficult to be good neighbors.

The situation in Novi Township, ironically, has grown to be a dilemma for the City of Novi. The township's inability to satisfy the responsibilities of government has hindered the city to a point of frustration in its efforts to make the transition from being a village.

The city has many pressing obligations to meet in order to satisfy the demands of its growing citizenry. The township has few. But the township has an obligation to the city to do its share rather than dragging its feet while its neighbors suffer the consequences.

The whole world cannot stop just because a group of Novi Township citizens decided to assume the responsibilities of government and have so far failed.

City Throws Stalemate Into Court

An apparent stalemate between the City of Novi and Novi Township over a division of assets today appeared headed for court following action taken contrary to Mayor Joseph Crupi's more moderate recommendation Tuesday by councilmen.

The action was proposed by Councilman Edwin Presnell who on August 11 acted establishing a September 1st as a deadline for a property settlement between the two governments.

Presnell's support Tuesday was 6-1 with the mayor the only dissenter. Ironically, Mayor Crupi has acted as the city's representative in negotiations with Novi Township Supervisor Leo Kalota and his legal counsel.

The mayor's proposed alternative was for the council to instruct City Attorney Howard Bond to send a letter to the township requesting a status report.

The division of assets became necessary following a February 24 election, the results of which caused the two governments to re-organize with a majority of the former township incorporating with the city.

A division of assets becomes necessary after such re-organization in order to determine proportion of ownership and responsibility for mutual holdings and debts. The settlement legally is required within 90 days of the election — or by May 24 in the city-township case — although a division has been pending all summer.

But now it becomes obvious that the small group of citizens voted as it did solely because it did not want to become part of the city. The group obviously did not study the responsibilities involved in remaining a township; and therefore, it now finds that it does not understand and is unable to properly assume those responsibilities.

But more discouraging than the township's inability to govern itself properly now is its apparent complacency over the situation. It's difficult living with a neighbor that doesn't do his share of neighborhood things but if he's trying, it's also difficult not to respect his efforts.

Light Erected on Novi Road

Workers from the Oakland County Road Commission last week Thursday installed traffic signals at Ten Mile Road and Novi Road, an intersection for which area residents have appealed regular for stricter control. Formerly, Ten Mile was a stop street. According to City of Novi Police Chief Lee BeGole, citizens have expressed their desire to have the intersection controlled by a traffic light annually since 1955. Traffic controls are regulated for the highway by Oakland County.

Thanks for Being Mine, Gram

As the little grey-haired woman entered the room, the clamor was electrifying: love-languid toddlers and young teens broke out in smiles, some pushing their twisted bodies toward her, shouting "kiss, kiss, Grandma, kiss."

Grandma was "home" again and these youngsters, all patients at the Plymouth State Home and Training School, couldn't be happier. Nor could the "part-time grandmother" who is typical of the aging men and women making up the Foster Grandparent Program at this Northville Township institution for the young retarded and physically handicapped.

"I've only been here a few months," explains 71-year-old Mrs. Edith Bennett of 46950 Six Mile Road.

"So many others have done so much more. All of us feel it's such a grand program — a two-way street where we can add to our old age pensions and help someone in the process."

Mrs. Therese Randall, program director, agrees wholeheartedly but says there are many more tangible benefits, most important of which is that these foster grandparents are "providing the love and attention a child would normally receive at home."

Plymouth State Home marked the first anniversary of the program yesterday with a picnic luncheon for the 25 foster grandparents and their 50 foster children.

The program was made possible by a federal grant from the Department of Health, Education & Welfare's administration on aging and through the Office of Economic Opportunity's anti-poverty program. It's aim, Mrs. Randall explains, is "to help enrich and fulfill the lives of the elderly so that they may supplement their meager incomes and find purpose and meaning in their golden years."

The program employs foster grandparents over 60 who make less than $1,600 annually. It employs couples making less than $2,000 annually. The wage is $1.60 an hour. They "work" five days a week, four hours a day.

Foster grandparents perform as do all grandparents: giving children special attention, encouraging performance, lending understanding through instruction, and providing emotional discipline.

Underlining all of these, says Mrs. Randall, is love.

Says Grandma Bennett: "These children show their love in so many ways — it's so beautiful my problem is you want to hug them and do everything for them and yet you've got to let them do for themselves, too. You take them home in your dreams you love them so much."

Explains a grandpa: "I feel needed and wanted — I feel that my life is worth living and I don't feel so old anymore."

Grandparents live in Inkster, Wayne, Westland, Livonia, Plymouth, and Garden City. Mrs. Bennett is the only Northville foster grandparent

Zoning Request Denied

A zoning request to allow for professional offices (PO) on property adjacent to the Meadowbrook Nursing Home at 24500 Meadowbrook Road was denied by the City of Novi Council, 4-3, on Tuesday.

Proposed by Paul Langwald for change from its existing R-4, indications were that the decision would be appealed through the courts. When Langwald received the R-4 classification, it included use for professional offices although it was subsequently re-defined by the Planning Commission.

At the time he received the R-4 classification, Langwald had submitted plans for the nursing home and the office complex. He said Tuesday that City Attorney Howard Bond had concurred with him that legally he would be able to proceed with the professional offices on his rights through the previous zoning.

Bond was not present at the meeting.

In other business Tuesday, the council instructed Ackley to have the city attorney take court action against landowner Max Sheldon to stop the unlicensed operation of a riding stable on his property at Meadowbrook Road and Ten Mile Road.

Ironically, Sheldon had previously asked that the council act against his tenant but then last night through a letter, he requested that a 90-day extension for operation be granted. A court decision on the issue was expected last Thursday although Ackley reported that he had not been informed on its status.

A request for renewal of a license to operate as a riding stable originally was denied by the Board of Appeals last spring, according to appeals board member Fred Buck. He emphasized that at that time the board had ordered that use as a commercial stable be stopped on the property or that the tenant be evicted.

Cynthia Allen Marries Thomas Bogart

MR. AND MRS. THOMAS ROBERT BOGART

Cynthia Deborah Allen and Thomas Robert Bogart of Northville were united in marriage in the First United Methodist Church of Plymouth on August 16 by the Reverend Paul Cargio.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Donald F. Allen of 21204 East Eastman Lane, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bogart, 46638 West Main Street.

Soloist Bill Cargio provided nuptial music when he sang "O Promise Me" and "The Lord is My Shepherd."

Attired in a floor-length gown of silk organza, the bride approached the altar on the arm of her father. The A-line dress had an empire waist with chapel point sleeves. Chantilly lace appliques and seed pearls were used to trim the bodice, skirt bottom and floating train.

More pearls and chantilly lace appliques were used in making the regal crown which secured a three-layer, shoulder-length veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis surrounding four white orchids.

Alice Keeney of Plymouth was the maid of honor. She wore an empire-waisted gown of green crepe with long full sleeves. White peau de soie was used to accent the Peter Pan collar, cuffs, and skirt. She wore a white bow headpiece and carried a Williamsburg bouquet of yellow and white daisies with babies breath.

Bridesmaids included Nancy Butman of Ypsilanti, and Barbara and Judith Bogart of Northville. They wore outfits similar to the maid of honor's.

Curtis Bridges of Dearborn served as best man. The ushers were Donald and Rodney Allen of Northville, and Richard Barnard and Art Wilson of Ypsilanti.

For her daughter's wedding, the mother of the bride wore a pink worsted silk jacket and dress ensemble with silver braid trim. The bridegroom's mother wore a yellow silk worsted jacket and dress ensemble.

Following a wedding reception in the church parlor, the couple left for a wedding trip on Mackinac Island.

The bride, with a degree from Western Michigan University, will teach in Ann Arbor this fall. Her husband will finish his senior year at Eastern Michigan University. They plan to make their new home in Ypsilanti.

MRS. KENT ROBERT HUNTER

Speak Wedding Vows In College Chapel

In an evening candlelight service at the Concordia Senior College Chapel in Fort Wayne, Indiana, Kent Robert Hunter took Janet Maglene Hasselman as his bride. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Reverend Victor Halboth Jr. and the Reverend Rolland Fritz on August 16.

Kent is the son of Mrs. Dolores Hunter and the late Robert Hunter of West Main Street in Northville. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hasselman of Kendallville, Indiana.

Music for the wedding was provided by organist Diane Rathert of Northville, who played "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" and "The Bridal Chorus." The chapel was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and candles on tall wrought iron stands.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a silk, empire gown with bishop sleeves. Lace appliques with scattered seed pearls were used to trim the bodice and skirt. The gown featured a full-length built-in train with matching lace appliques. She wore a bouffant veil attached to a petal headpiece and carried a colonial bouquet of carnations and daisies.

Serving as maid of honor was Carol Beights, sister of the bride. Other bridesmaids were Cynthia Shaefer, Kim Hunter, sister of the groom, and Debra Hasselman, sister of the bride.

They were dressed in similar floorlength outfits of lavender chiffon. The gowns featured short puffed sleeves and a princess neckline, accented by a lavender and green embroidered ribbon waistband. Each bridesmaid carried a colonial bouquet of lavender net and carnations and daisies, with more daisies and lavender net worn in their hair.

Paul Griebel served as best man. Other groomsmen were Keith Menze, Lynn Hecht, and William Liebig.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hasselman wore a beige linen A-line dress with three quarter length sleeves. The mother of the bridegroom wore a mint green, linen A-line, also with three quarter sleeves.

Following the wedding about 200 guests from Indiana and Michigan attended a reception at the Country Kitchen in Fort Wayne.

A 1965 graduate of Northville High school, the bridegroom recently graduated from Concordia Senior College and is now attending Concordia Theological Seminary. The bride, also a graduate of Concordia senior college, will be teaching school this fall in Florissant, Missouri.

The new couple will make their home in St. Louis, Missouri.

Play Group Nears Start

The Northville cooperative play group will begin its orientation for parents, covering the school program and activities, at the Scout Building, 215 West Cady Street on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, September 10 and 11, at 8 p.m.

The parents of the Tuesday-Thursday morning group will meet Wednesday evening and parents of the Monday-Wednesday-Friday group will meet Thursday evening. All parents are urged to attend. Health forms, Mother's verification of TB tests and tuition fees must be presented at this meeting.

Anyone interested in having their three or four-year-old child placed on the waiting list is asked to call Mrs. Jane Brown, 349-0401.

New 'Farmhouse' Beautifies 144-Year-Old Homestead

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is the second in a series dealing with the houses to be visited September 25 when the Presbyterian Woman's Association presents its annual homes tour.

Hanging in the front hall of the Ross B. Northrop Home is a small framed certificate of great significance. It bears witness to the fact that Northrop's property is a centennial farm, which means that the property has been in the same family for a hundred years. In this case the time of Northrop ownership is 144 years.

Many years ago the original family home came down and after that, the barn. Two years ago Betsy and Blake Northrop decided to recreate the Michigan farm house, circa 120 years ago, and the authentic reproduction is a very fine visible memory of a proud heritage.

Externally, Authenticity is clear, the lines simple and comfortable, the gardens close to the house, natural in color and design, with tiny rustic fences to contain them. The patios are parquetry brick miniature courtyards, located one to the back, one to the front of the house adding all day Michigan charm to the lovely setting.

Internally, Mrs. Northrop—while concentrating on certain collections representing early American pieces of special interest, and skillfully placing antique pieces throughout the house—has manipulated a beautifully coordinated home with room-to-room transition whereby one might make the change from personality to personality, taste to taste, decor to decor without ever really losing the feeling of the original intent—that of being in an old Michigan farmhouse.

The front entrance welcomes the visitor warmly with a long vestibule opening into a comfortable sitting room, embellished with small seating arrangement of country benches, a sweet fruitwood wall arrangement of cadenza and three way mirror cabinetry, original antique bird prints and an original lithograph by Morris, circa 1865.

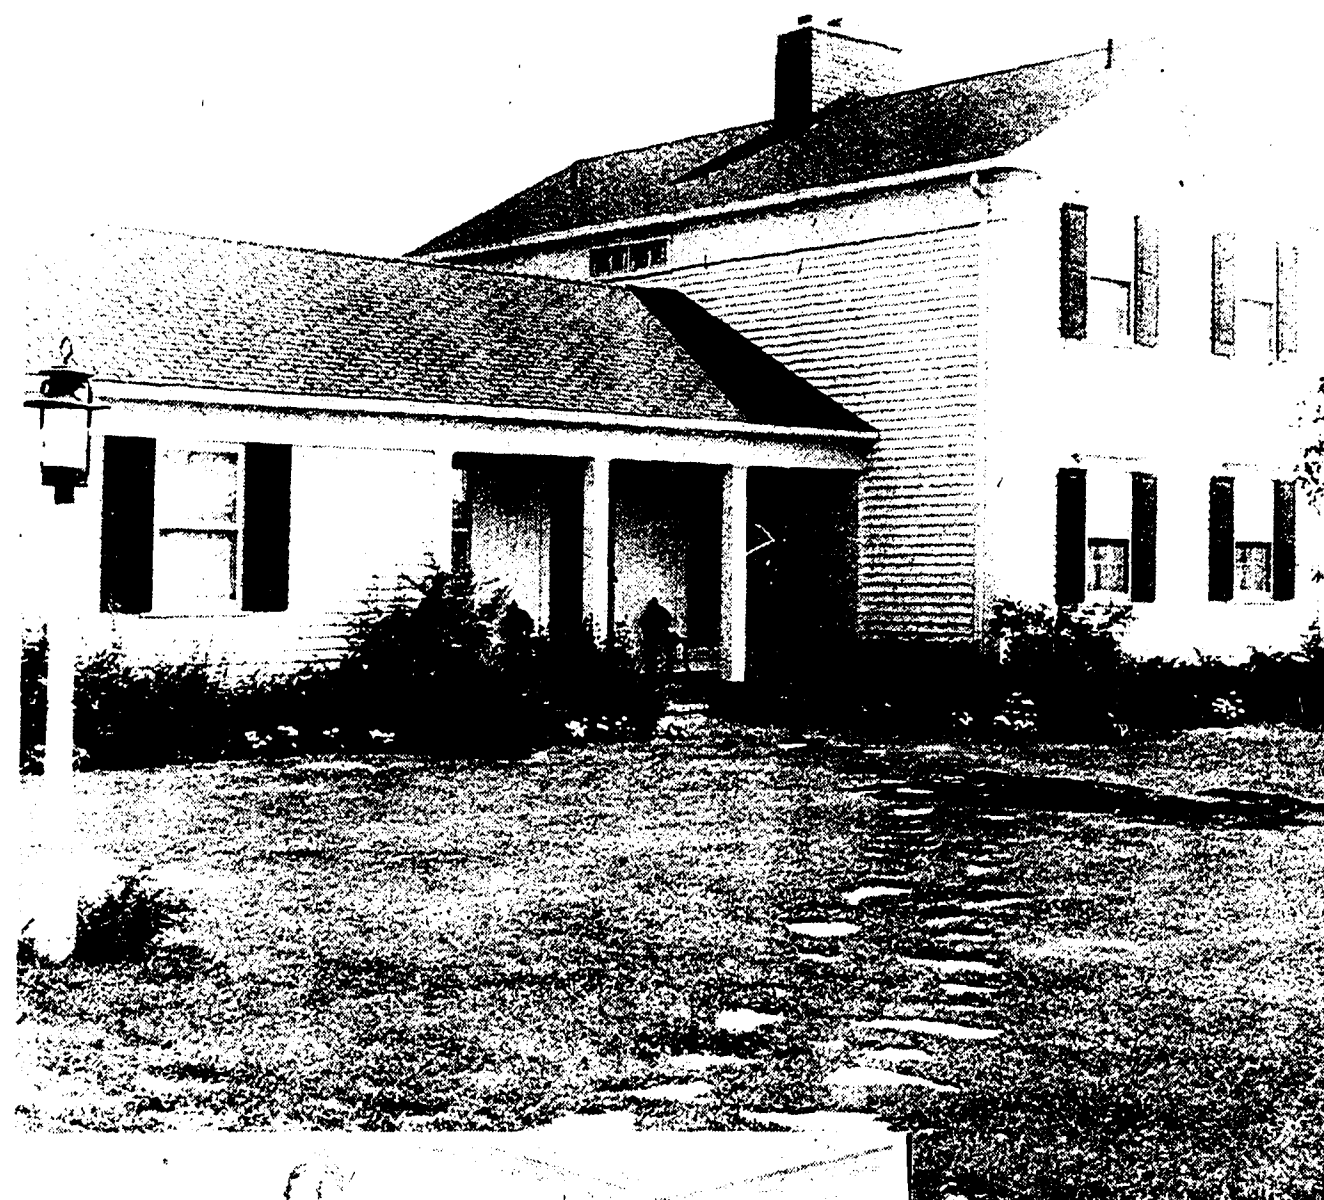

The living room and lower bedroom reflect a colorful later day taste with plush white carpeting, white walls, just the right amount of black and white in the huge matching Williamsburg sofas, touches of red velvet, subtle pastels of the children over the fireplace mantle in the livingroom and two handsome Williamsburg brass and glass light fixtures flanking the fireplace. One wall accommodates Mrs. Northrop's personally prized parchment-tinted antique secretary, with hand painted posies scattered here and there, the effect being one of complete satisfaction.

The dining room houses a fine combination of French and English country pieces, the cupboard being the happy holder of a collection of Bennington pottery and Majolica pitchers and the floor to ceiling white lowered panels open to disclose the front patio—an extension of the feeling within.

Floors are dark and distressed, carefully laid with antique nails and continuing on into a farm cupboard kitchen-breakfast room setting. Here the beams from the original barn are very much in evidence, handsomely used to shape the structure of the rooms. They add to the effect of the old brick fireplace, braided rug, collection of antique copper pieces, the Bennington on the antique dry sink and the use of brick, once again, on the kitchen floor and on the back into the utility area.

There is more to this house to be seen. The library and hobby rooms are both trophy rooms—secondarily displaying endless ribbons and awards for horsemanship, antlers from the Northrop's son's first deer, a fish caught in waters off of Alaska—and everywhere pictures and Mr. Northrop's hunting and fishing trophies.

Two big red Irish setters make themselves happily and playfully at home, very much a part of the family—lonesome, no doubt for both Mandy and Ben, the Northrop children now married and moved out of their handsome and lovely second floor bedroom quarters, each with particular antique pieces, much color and warmth and beautiful views of the great outdoors.

NEW FARM HOUSE—A good deal of planning went into the design and construction of this charming home located on the historic Northrop property. It's a new house made to look like the old farmhouses that stood on the farms in this area more than a century ago.

Coming.

The charge card that works as hard for 500,000 businesses as it does for 20,000,000 customers.

MASTER CHARGE,® the nation's busiest charge card, is on its way. And a Michigan businessman couldn't have better news—because MASTER CHARGE can do as much for you as it will for your customers.

Consider. Your business would already have a bank of more than 20 million MASTER CHARGE users. And soon, 1,200,000 new customers in Michigan will also receive MASTER CHARGE. Your potential for additional sales and new customers is increased by sheer numbers alone.

Speaking of customers, just what is it about

MASTER CHARGE that appeals to so many of them? The big thing is convenience. They can use it in more ways—for more things—than any other charge card around. They pay no membership fees, enjoy once-a-month billing and, of course, MASTER CHARGE is honored throughout the country.

Great, you say, but what about our claim that MASTER CHARGE works as hard for you as it does for your customers? Well, it's not just a claim... it's a fact. With MASTER CHARGE service you'll be faced with fewer receivables. You don't have to prepare statements. You don't have to make collections. You can kiss credit losses good-bye.

In addition, we're going to blanket the state with a major advertising program on television, radio, outdoor and in the newspapers to let people know all about MASTER CHARGE and you, their MASTER CHARGE merchant.

So look. With all this going for you, doesn't it stand to reason that MASTER CHARGE is right for you? Think it over. Our people will be calling on you soon.

Ninth Annual Travel Series To Focus on Six Adventures

"It's going to be one of our finest series—from Michigan to Sweden and plenty of places in-between," said Robert Webber in announcing this week the Northville Rotary Club's approaching travel and adventure program.

The ninth annual series kicks off Wednesday, October 1 with a film trip to Sweden and concludes Thursday, April 23 with an adventure in the Aleutian Islands. Six programs are planned. Each will start at 8 p.m. in the Northville High School Auditorium. The others include:

"Hawaiian Paradise" on November 20, "Welcome to Michigan" on January 21, "We Discover Ontario" on February 26, and "Green Guianas" on March 18.

Season tickets for the always popular series are on sale now, said Webber, and may be purchased from any Rotary or at Northville Drug Company, Manufacturers National Bank, C. Harold Bloom Insurance Agency, Northville Insurance Agency and Northville Camera Shop. Season tickets are $6, with at-the-door cost of $1.50 each for adults and 50-cents for students.

Once again a special "couple" rate is being offered. A single season ticket permits a couple to attend three programs.

Here's a brief resume' of the six programs:

October 1 — Dick Reddy will present a film showing Sweden in her summer best as the modern capital of Stockholm is blended into intriguing farms and camping areas reminiscent of centuries past. Viewers will see the high plateaus, eternal glaciers in the Land of the Midnight Sun and the country's breath-taking fjords.

November 20 — Headlining this program on the Hawaiian Islands will be Julian Gromer, who explores Waikiki, the glittering gateway to this state's four main islands. Other film treasures include the Lei Day Festival, Torch Lighting Ceremony, sugar and pineapple industries, orchid gardens, Lao Needle and a day above the clouds at the Haleakala Crater. Surfing and the Hanalei Reef are also featured.

January 21 — Michigan is the topic of Robert Brouwer's colorful film that shows in an unforgettable style that the "mitten" state has more beaches than does the shoreline from Main to Florida — 3,200 miles — varying from soft, rolling dunes to Main-like, rugged shores. The film portrays the magic of the past through the impressive Forts of Mackinaw and visits scenic timbered valleys, cradled lakes, spring cherry blossoms, tumbling water falls and sculptured rocks.

February 26 — There is a happy blend of the past between the upper Canada village and the dynamic present in Toronto and Ottawa in this film on Michigan's neighbor — Ontario — Leroy Crooks. The film shows graphics that this province is blessed with a wealth of natural resources and is rich in agriculture and industry.

March 18 — Art Erickson traveled eight months and 20,000 miles overland to film a blend of six cultures of the three small countries, Guyana, Surinam and French Guiana in this adventure program. The film portrays the fascinating wildlife of these countries and looks at Devil's Island, a voyage up river by dugout canoe in search of trade with the Wajana Indians and the rare and primitive wasp mat ceremony.

April 23 — Dennis Cooper, in this film program, takes the viewer aboard a rugged fishing boat and sails with them up the Inside Passage to Alaska, passing along the way the beautiful old-world Victoria, Prince Rupert, and Ketchikan. Along the way many humorous incidents occur. Sailing guests see awesome glaciers, catanets, and the towering walls of rock in Alaska as well as the barren, windswept Aleutian Islands.

Another Tourist Record Seen

Mid-season reports indicate Michigan is headed toward another record-clattering tourist year with new seasonal highs already recorded in most sections of the state, according to William T. McGraw, Michigan Tourist Council director.

In his report to the council, meeting at the Hospitality Motor Inn, Lansing, August 25-26, McGraw noted too, that the post-Labor Day business is expected to begin under most favorable conditions.

"According to present indications, 1969 will top the record $1.17 billion tourist spending of 1968, probably by $100 million and conceivably more," McGraw reported.

He said late summer fishing in the Great Lakes has already begun with massive schools of salmon reported running in Lake Michigan. Coho catches have been good, and frequent catches of Chinook Michigan's new game fish have been reported, pointing toward an optimistic fall business outlook.

Throughout most of the lower peninsula, July and August tourist business showed from 10 to 15 percent increases, while the Upper Peninsula is breaking all records with increases ranging from 15 to 18 percent.

Kenneth D. Doy, a secretary-manager, Upper Michigan Tourist Association, Iron Mountain, reported that the month of June was average but that July and August were, "tremendous." He said there were a few soft spots in the U.P., but this could be traced to a lack of local promotion or because there were no attractions in those individual areas to entice visitors.

West Michigan Tourist Association secretary-manager Wesley

Tebeau, Grand Rapids, reported that vacation patronage in west Michigan during August was the greatest ever.

The expanded business in August undoubtedly will result in overall patronage for the summer, greater than in 1969," Tebeau said.

Tebeau cited the flight of Apollo Eleven as a low period in which families stayed home to watch television.

"Once the flight had ended, they fled from the heat of the cities to the beaches of west Michigan," he stated.

James Hall, secretary-manager, East Michigan Tourist Association, Bay City, reported that business was off as much as 25 percent during June, blaming heavy rainfall in the area during the month.

COMMUNITY PARTICIPATION

James P. Thomas Jr., Division Manager, Consumers Power West Wayne Division

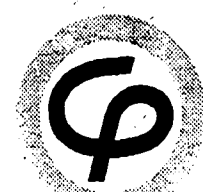

The Consumers Power division manager has a big area to serve. But some of the ways in which he serves it may surprise you. Yes, he manages office operations. Supervises the people who perform their various jobs. Keeps a tight rein on expenses. Troubleshoots in emergencies.

It's an eight-hour day, plus. Plus college foundation and Junior Achievement; plus YMCA and Community Fund; Chamber of Commerce, centennial committee... plus urban problems and rural problems. Study committees, civic projects, advisory groups—all have a claim on this man's time.

The division manager is on the move, participating in community affairs, representing Consumers Power as a good citizen and neighbor. His example is followed by many other Consumers Power people, too. Besides working at their jobs, they work in their communities to help make them better places in which to live.

It's all part of the high standards of service that Consumers Power sets for its people. Plus the recognition of an old truth: what's good for the community is good for the businesses in it.

SPEAKING for The Record

By BILL SLIGER

The soon-to-be-released reform package for financing education in Michigan may answer one of the questions that has been bugging Northville school officials for several years.

As followers of local school affairs know, Northville's board threatened to ban all students residing on tax free land from attending classes unless someone paid their tuition.

Specifically, the threat was aimed at the state-owned institutions where employees reside on the property and send their children to local schools tuition-free.

But the threat was made with a wide broom and also included church-owned residences and the like.

Now the Governor's Commission on Educational Reform is about to introduce a long-overdue package that includes (among other proposed sweeping changes) "state payments to a district equal to property taxes for all publicly owned land and facilities within that district."

If the proposal means what it appears to say, the Northville district would receive property taxes for such facilities as Northville State Hospital, Plymouth State Home and Training School, Maybury and Wayne County Child Development Center.

Under the proposal, however, property taxes would be reduced sharply. A statewide rate of eight mills would be collected by the state (compared to a levy of some 34.9 mills now levied by the local district). In addition the state would boost personal and corporate income taxes and then provide monies to each school district equally on a per-pupil basis. This money would be for operating purposes only. It would be up to the individual districts to finance bond issues for building programs, presumably by means of a local-option school income tax or additional property tax millage.

Another key proposal may be the reduction of the number of school districts from the present 653 to about one-half that number. It has been suggested that each district must have at least 2,500 students — which is about 700 more than the Novi School District, for example. These smaller districts would be divided and combined with a neighboring district or districts.

Undoubtedly, Governor Milliken's reform package will spark controversy. Nevertheless, the fight has been delayed far too long.

Financing public education through local property taxes has become a failure at many levels. It places too heavy a burden on the homeowner; it does not provide an equal opportunity for education throughout the state; and it has turned professional educators into frustrated money-hunters.

There's more than one issue splitting the Northville township board. But the two most important at present are the proposed purchase of a portion of Maybury property for recreation purposes and the appointment of a successor to Trustee Thomas Armstrong, who resigned last month.

While it once appeared that the board stood 4-2 in favor of acquiring Maybury property, it now looks more like a 3-3 split.

Trustee Richard Mitchell is the "swing vote." He's voted both for and against the proposal. Treasurer Alex Lawrence and Trustee Joseph Straub are steadfastly opposed to spending money for recreation purposes, although the township has thousands of dollars earmarked for a township hall site and a future building program — far more than enough to pick up the first year's tab for the Maybury purchase.

Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg, Clerk Eleanor Hammond and Trustee Bernard Baldwin favor the acquisition — and have urged their fellow board members to at least continue investigation of the proposal.

Mitchell is reluctant to endorse anything that might cost tax dollars without voter consent. But he saved the proposal from death last week when he switched his vote thus favoring "continued investigation."

This could lead to a township vote on the proposal and perhaps a request for a special levy of one or two mills.

Meanwhile, the city is seeking to purchase some 250 acres alone, still hoping the township will boost the total area for future open space and recreation facilities to 450 acres.

Another bit of unfinished business that has the board split down the middle is the appointment to replace Trustee Armstrong.

Stromberg, Mrs. Hammond and Baldwin propose James Tellam, a former trustee who was defeated by 17 votes in the last election.

Lawrence, Mitchell and Straub favor William Smith, a member of the planning commission.

Assuming the qualifications of Smith and Tellam are equal, it's difficult to oppose the arguments supporting Tellam.

He's had board experience and could step into the abbreviated term (one year) with a minimum of adjustment; he took the initiative to run for election and placed a close second; his record while a member of the board was good.

Next August those who haven't run for election can challenge the incumbents for a seat.

Speaking for Myself

Are Demonstrations Justified?

NO. . .

The key word to the question is "justified" and if one must give a "yes" or "no" answer based upon performances to date the nod goes to the negative.

Justification for demonstrations, in my view, comes when all other open channels for protest have been explored; when better solutions are offered; and when the demonstration is conducted within the broad provisions of the laws that give us this freedom.

Too often, it seems to me, protest demonstrations are conducted without respect for the rights of the majority — without regard for personal property — without a "better idea."

Demonstrations, it should be noted, are not always "young people", even when the demonstrations are conducted on college campuses. It is not unreasonable to assume that within a group of marching protestors there exists widely-divided objectives.

Certainly, demonstrations can be justified. But the suspicion here is that too often the righteous objectives have been replaced by the fun of raising hell and attracting attention.

William C. Sliger

YES. . .

Student demonstrations generally reflect an interest in society by the young and The Establishment's failure to react to that interest — to take advantage of it by directing it through constructive channels.

I cannot condemn a student for being interested in improving the fate of mankind. I would rather have a young adult be interested and dissatisfied and demonstrative than to be apathetic.

Things can be better and young minds often can provide the means for such improvement. But when we continue to take a write-your-Congressman attitude, young adults will continue to be frustrated by the ensuing delays while problems mount.

And what could be more satisfying, under those conditions, than to rebel against the non-responsive monster that's got you hemmed in?

Donald L. Krupp

"Speaking for Myself" is a new weekly platform for the divergent views of Sliger newspaper staff members who seldom agree on any topic.

Ex-Trustee, Police Study Slapped

To the Editor:

By whose standards will Armstrong determine who is qualified or unqualified to be a Township Trustee? His? His very actions at the Township Meeting of August 12 certainly indicated to me that HE was unqualified. Resigning? If he were concerned about the voters who backed him, he would have remained instead of "picking up" like a petulant school boy grabbing his bat at a ball game saying, "I QUIT!"

My sincere thanks to Mitchell, Straub, Lawrence and Hammond for their stand.

An old quote states, "It is usually easier to hide something than to hide the fact that you are hiding something." That "something" that is so subtly concealed in the Police Study report is the first step in the direction of "UNIFICATION". As was pointed out at the August 12 Township

Meeting, our county and state taxes provide the township residents with the protection of the Sheriff's Patrol and the State Police. Any gradual increase can, as Lawrence indicated, be met by gradually expanding the Township

Police Force AND THIS AT A COST CONSIDERABLY LESS THAN THE $77,000!

Sincerely yours
Bill Chizmar

Who said Labor Day's a holiday?

Showered, shaved and hungry, I sat down for an early breakfast only to find a clean table and a perfumed note. It read: "Good morning! It's Labor Day — time to relax. There's some cereal in the cupboard. Some likes Captain Crunch. Mary wants Cocoa Krispies. Debbie will have Bran Flakes, and the boys will eat Rice Krispies or Alpha Bits. The baby likes Oatmeal with Banana. And I'll have toast and coffee on the patio."

James Watt

How about the dog, I fumed, almost ripping the cupboard door from its hinges. Suppose she's got a favorite, too. Well, if I'm the cook they'll eat what I make and like it!

First, sliced melon, then oatmeal, pancakes, eggs, bacon and toast. That ought to do it, I muttered — mentally scribbling down the menu. And coffee, real coffee, none of that instant stuff. Maybe I'll put some berries in the oatmeal. Yuh, that's what I'll do. It'll be great.

So the Labor Day breakfast was launched. "Whatcha doing, Daddy?" asked the first kid to enter my workshop.

"I'm making breakfast...what's it look like. Get cleaned up. It'll be ready in a jiffy. 'I want Captain Crunch,'" she sniffed.

"You'll have what I cook," I said. "Now get in there and get cleaned up."

As I poured the oatmeal into the pot, another inhabitant of our house appeared. "Ugh, what's that?" she asked.

"That, my dear, is oatmeal. It's just one of many goodies you'll have for breakfast this morning."

"I'm not hungry."

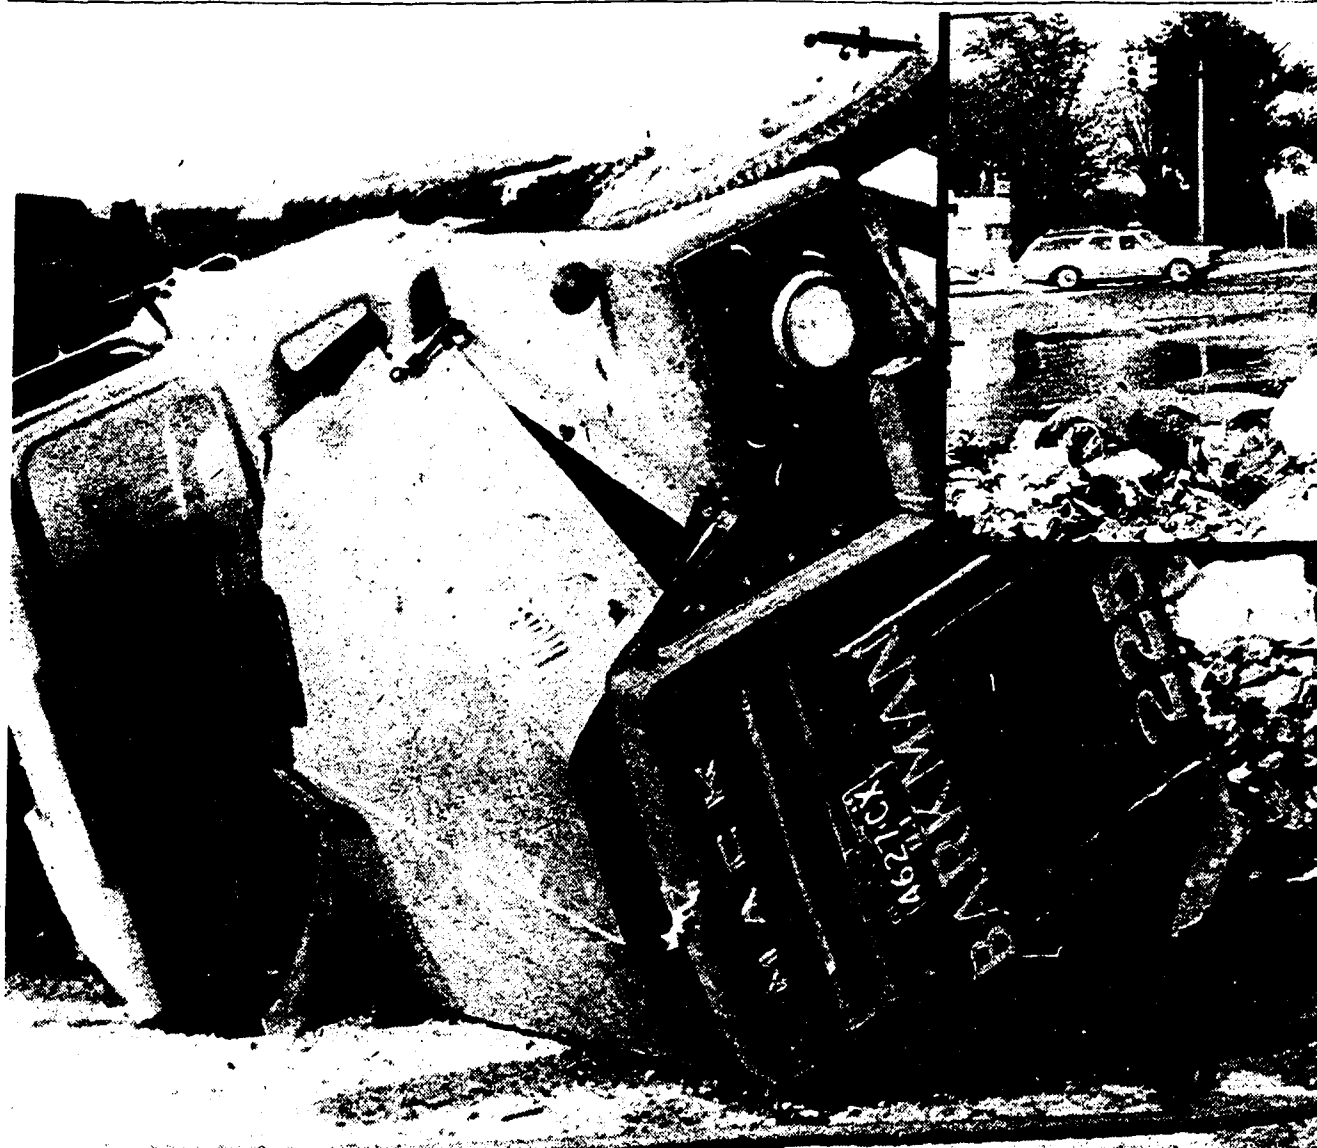

"Hungry or not, you'll eat what I cook. Get washed up."

Whipping up the pancake batter, I was greeted by another sleepy-eyed youngster. "Get cleaned up," I said. "We'll have breakfast in a little while."

"Someone's in the bathroom," he said, sticking his head into the bubbling pot of oatmeal. "What's those little things in there?" he asked.

"Berries," I barked.

"Berries!" Ignoring me, he rummaged through the cupboard and pulled out a box of cereal. "What do you think you're

A GIRL LIES in critical condition at Wayne County General Hospital following an accident August 28. Sherry Hirth, 17, of Plymouth, was injured when the car in which she was riding was involved in an accident with a huge tractor-trailer at the corner of Five Mile and Sheldon roads. Hospital officials refused to disclose the extent of her injuries. The driver of the car, Mary Berg, 17 of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, was treated at the hospital and released. Wayne County Sheriff's Department investigating the accident said the two vehicles collided in the intersection. The truck, loaded with two trailers of garbage, was westbound on Five Mile and the car was traveling south on Sheldon. The driver of the truck, Robert Camp, 33, of Farmington, was not injured. The sheriff's department has the accident under investigation.

Who could think of refurbishing at a time like this?

Seems like a funny time to talk about replacing a furnace, huh? Actually, warm weather's the best time to make home repairs. Like replacing a cranky old heating system with modern electric heat.

And now's an especially good time to convert. Right now, your Edison-Approved Electric Heat Contractor will give you $100 for your old heating system when you change to electric heat.

Why electric heat? It's comfortable—really comfortable. No chill one moment nor blast of hot, dry air the next.

And operating cost is guaranteed. Call Edison for details, and some names of Approved Electric Heat Contractors.

So if your old furnace won't make it another winter, remember now's the best time to refurbish to modern electric heat.

Forum Slated On Proposal

A forum designated for the purpose of discussing the $4.5 million Novi Community Schools' bond issue proposal will be held next Wednesday in the auditorium of Orchard Hills Elementary School.

The program, organized by the Novi Jaycees, will feature school administrators and members of the Board of Education. It is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m.

Voters from the district will go to the polls to decide the request on September 15. The Board of Education proposes using the funds for the construction of an elementary school and a middle school.

Airport Issue Still Unsettled

No action was taken on Ron Shoebright's request to enlarge his airport for use by Michigan Airlines or for the addition of pilot training facilities at Tuesday's Salem Township Board meeting.

However, Floyd Taylor, Fred Verran and Russell Knight who make up the board of appeals considering the matter, will meet yet this week to make some recommendation, it was learned from Knight on Tuesday.

Shoebright's expansion request is not a new issue, but recent indications are that more township residents are in favor of allowing his plan provided adequate safety and noise factors are adhered to.

Four Receive MSU Degrees

Four Northville students were among the 1,339 who earned summer degrees from Michigan State University, officials announced this week. The students and their degrees are:

A canoe trip is planned for the Labor Day weekend on the Muskegon River. They will start at Temple and end at Evert with two days on the water, approximately 80 miles. They will leave on Friday and return Labor Day afternoon.

Word was received here of the death of Norine Erwin Gilman, on Sunday in a San Diego hospital of complications following a major operation.

The parents, Mr. & Mrs. James Erwin, left by plane and arrived in San Diego Sunday evening. Funeral Services will be held in San Diego, California.

Mr. & Mrs. William Rackov and grandson, Brian, spent several days, including the Labor Day weekend, at their cottage in Northern Michigan.

The Willowbrook Community Association will hold a general membership meeting on Tuesday, September 9, at 8 p.m. in the Novi Community building. All residents are urged to attend as election of new officers is scheduled to take place.

Novi Community Schools began classes yesterday (Wednesday) and evening workouts slated for today (Thursday).

"We're trying to get in as many sessions as possible now," the Mustang coach explained. "We're hurting on depth and particularly at tackle."

"I think our backfield is coming along pretty well," he added. "As far as conditioning goes, I think we're in good shape."

Halback Brian Dye and defensive end Steve Uley, both unable to attend the first week of practices because of minor injuries, were at practices this week bolstering the size of Klukach's squad with some experience.

Meanwhile, at Novi Osborne indicated his pleasure over the results of last week's practices although he interjected that the Wildcats had been pretty flat Tuesday after the long weekend layoff.

"Up through Saturday things have been coming along real well," he observed. "We've pushed the kids hard and they've responded real well."

"The spirit has been exceptional," Osborne emphasized.

Novi divided its squad evenly Saturday and had an intra-squad scrimmage which left the mentor impressed with both units' aggressiveness.

"We have seven or eight boys that are playing extremely well," Osborne added. "A number of kids are coming along but we still have holes to fill."

One setback for the Wildcats last week came when it was learned that defensive regular Dave Adams, a halfback, probably will miss the entire season because of a leg injury received in a motorcycle accident.

The Wildcats also elected senior halfback John Davey captain for the season on Friday.

Both Northville and Novi open at home on September 12 with the Mustangs hosting neighboring Plymouth while Hartland plays the Wildcats. Northville last season was 5-3 overall and 3-3 in the Wayne-Oakland Counties' League while Novi, an independent, was 6-2.

The Wildcats will become a member of the Southern Conference beginning with the winter sports season and Osborne, also athletic director, has been able to schedule contests this fall with Dexter, Chelsea, Ypsilanti Lincoln and South Lyon - all members of that loop.

The preview has been prepared by staff members at all four Sliger Newspapers.

Sliger Newspapers' First Annual Football Preview - featuring area high school prospects for the coming season - will be included with next week's editions of The Record and The News, according to an announcement by Jack W. Hoffman, assistant to the publisher.

The special supplement, to be printed in tabloid format using color, will be available at no extra cost and includes stories and pictures on area prep and college football prospects.

Sliger Newspapers besides The Record and The News are the South Lyon Herald and Brighton Argus.

It was also announced today that The Record will honor a Northville High School fall sports participant weekly in its "Mustang-of-the-Week" as selected by the coaching staffs. The News also announced that it will feature a "Wildcat-of-the-Week" as chosen by the Novi High School coaching staff.

The football edition is expected to be 16 pages and, besides stories and schedules on the area high school teams, it will include articles on former prep stars now competing in college along with a brief sketch on the major college teams in the state.

The preview has been prepared by staff members at all four Sliger Newspapers.

Junior Football Association Plans Sale to Raise Funds

For two weeks football will get a sugar coating from the Northville Youth Athletic Association.

Beginning Saturday the 105 players and 12 cheerleaders will be selling boxed candy house-to-house in Northville.

Money raised through the sale will be used to outfit and equip the players and pay for the expense of the games. Children in the program are in age from nine to 12.

The preview has been prepared by staff members at all four Sliger Newspapers.

With Our Servicemen

Ft. Knox, Kentucky — Army privates Paul L. Krauter and Harry R. Sanders have been assigned to units here in the United States Army Training Center, Armor (USATCA). Both are from Northville.

Private Krauter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur O. Krauter of 619 West Main Street, is assigned to Company D, 17th Battalion, Fifth Brigade. Private Sanders, son of Mrs. Harry R. Sanders of 504 North Center Street, is assigned to Company B, 17th Battalion, Fifth Brigade.

They will spend the next two months learning the fundamental skills of the soldier in today's modern, action Army — firing live ammunition under simulated combat situations, learning protective measures and first aid for chemical, biological and radiological attacks, as well as being schooled in the use of modern weapons.

Interspersed with constant emphasis of proper physical conditioning, diet, rest and health habits, will be ample opportunity to utilize USATCA's many and varied recreational and religious facilities.

Following basic training the two soldiers will receive at least an additional eight weeks of either advanced instruction or on-the-job training to qualify them in a specialized military skill.

Private Donald A. Campbell, son of Dr. and Mrs. Stuart F. Campbell, 411 Horton, has completed basic training at Fort Knox, Kentucky and is home on leave for two weeks. Following his leave, he will report to Fort Carson, Colorado for instruction in diesel engine work.

FORCES, Vietnam — Staff Sergeant Charles L. Glaque, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne L. Glaque of Sandra Street, South Lyon, is on duty at Nha Trang AB, Vietnam.

Sergeant Glaque, an aircraft mechanic, is a member of the Pacific Air Forces.

Before his arrival in Vietnam, he was assigned to McClellan AFB, California.

The sergeant is a graduate of South Lyon High School. His wife is the former Darleen D. King.

U.S. ARMY, VIETNAM — Army Private First Class Richard G. Mengyan, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. David L. Mengyan, 2023 West Lake Drive, was assigned August 2 to the 1st Signal Brigade in Vietnam as a teletype operator.

New Dress Code Gets Explanation

Interpreting the board's newly adopted dress code, the Northville administration has issued the following explanations:

Neat Dress — shall be the wearing of articles of clothing in accord with the intention of their design and style.

Neat Grooming — shall be the care of hair in a combed and/or styled manner.

Clean Dress — shall be the wearing of clothing which is free of soil, dirt, and/or unpleasant odor.

Clean Grooming — shall be that of clean body.

Moral Dress and Grooming — shall include personal appearance which is not morally offensive to fellow students, school staff and/or citizens of the community.

Legal Dress and Grooming — shall include personal appearance which is not morally offensive to fellow students, school staff and/or state and federal law.

Distractive in Style or Design — shall mean personal appearance which is not exotic, unusual or, in general, a deviation from student-accepted styles of dress and grooming.

Adherence to Good Health Standards — shall mean personal appearance which does not in any way jeopardize the health and well-being of fellow students and/or members of the school staff.

In addition, regulations specifically prohibit short pants, skirt-tails outside of pants and/or skirts when not designed for such wearing, costumes, bathing suits, sunglasses not prescribed by a physician, piers or skirts which would expose the top of hose or garters, bare chest or midriff, see-through garments, and hip-hugger pants or slacks.

City Approves Drain To Empty Frog Pond

Northville City Council pulled the plug Tuesday on the controversial "frog pond" located behind homes at the north edge of Northville Heights subdivision and the city boundary.

Upon the recommendation of the city manager, the council authorized city personnel to begin installation of a short storm drain that is expected to empty the pond — frequent target of criticism from subdivision residents.

Cost of the project, with utilization of city personnel, was pegged at approximately $2,600.

The council, which approved the installation subject to obtaining of an easement from the Slatkin development company (owner of the Novi property on which the pond lies) had one of two choices: wait until Slatkin develops the property and pays for installation of the drain, which could result in a delay of years, or order the work done immediately at city expense.

Slatkin had declined to foot the bill, despite the fact that the drain would enhance his property and even though the drain will be required for development of the firm's property.

The Northville Police Department was authorized to erect a east-bound Eight Mile Road reflectorized sign, warning motorists of the crossing and traffic light at Center Street. The sign is to be erected at the crest of the hill near the high school's Eight Mile overpass.

Council took their action following a report by Police Chief Samuel Elkins that a two-day traffic survey (August 28, 29) in a marked patrol car resulted in 30 speeding violations, all but three for non-city motorists. None of the violations, however, were for speeds of more than 15 MPH over the posted 40 MPH zone. All were east-bound vehicles.

Using an unmarked car, early this week, police observed the intersection but spotted no vehicles running the stop light.

Despite the large number of speeding violations, Chief Elkins noted that the intersection is one of the least accident prone major intersections in the city. Of the 152 accidents recorded in the city to date this year, he said, three occurred at this corner. He noted, however, that it is a potentially dangerous crossing, particularly in view of truck traffic and the large number of school children who cross at Center.

Charged with drunkenness, James D. McKinley, Garden City, was fined $48 August 26.

James M. Hallahan, Detroit, paid $38 August 27 for a traffic warrant.

Novi Scientist Wins Top Chemistry Award

Three members of the Chemical Engineering Department of Ford Motor Company's Manufacturing Development Office, including one from Novi, have been named to receive the Carbide Award from the American Chemical Society's Division of Organic Coatings and Plastics Chemistry.

The Novi winner is George E. F. Brewer, staff scientist who lives at 28610 Meadowbrook Road. He will receive the award as co-author of a paper titled "Solubilizer Balance in the Electrodeposition of Paint" which was presented at the Minneapolis meeting of the Division last April.

The Carbide Award is given by the organization each year for the most outstanding paper presented during the year.

The award will be given to Brewer at a meeting of the American Chemical Society in New York on September 10.

Sex education in the United States is being branded by some as a Communist conspiracy to undermine the moral fiber of our youth, to promote degeneracy and to weaken the family unit.

Unknown to us in the United States, however, is what is happening in Russia. There, the issue is the same, but with considerably different implications.

"Comrad Bulgunin, we must stop this thing at its evil core. We must root it out as you would a disease, a cancer of the mind and body. It's definitely a Capitalist plot."

"But Comrad Marx. My daughter is a member of the Lutzburg class. I have been in close contact with her teacher. She sends home reports on what is being taught in class. Then I discuss various aspects of the biological facts with my daughter. There are no barriers. The teacher has my permission. If we have any questions, the teacher and other administrators of the school encourage parents to ask questions, to even attend the classes to see what is being taught."

"Only the other day I attended a class. I saw nothing offensive in it. To my way of thinking, it is a much better way of learning about sex than when I was a child. Anyway, my daughter is 17 and hardly ignorant of the fact that she is a woman."

"To your way of thinking..." You fool, Comrad Bulgunin. Teaching sex in the schools, is exactly what the Capitalists want. You don't see it, your daughter doesn't see it. But that class is defiling her mind. You are forsaking your right, your duty as a good Communist parent.

"Ah, Comrad Bulgunin,

Capitalists work subtly. Only the other day, in Molensk, they showed a film in the classroom about animals doing the sexual act. You could tell it was a Capitalist plot. The pigs were fat. They had individual styies."

"Did you see the film, Comrad Marx?"

"No. But Comrad Trotsky, an unimpeachable source, told me about it. He was traveling through Molensk the other day and a good friend of his, a member of the Vladimir Oak Society, told him about it. There is no doubt that the Capitalists are trying to ruin the minds of our young generation. Your daughter, Comrad Bulgunin. Your daughter! I am surprised that you, a loyal Communist, have been duped."

"A friend from the Vladimir Oak Society? Why, that's an extremist group, Comrad Marx. They see Capitalists under every chair. If they don't like

Salem Federated Church

"SOWING AND REAPING"

If a man sows seed in the proper element, he will later reap what he has sown. The farmer's crops are proof of this natural and spiritual law: "Whoever sows seed, shall also reap" (Galatians 6:7).

In man's relationship to God, this law is further carried out to the extent that... if he sows to the flesh, he will reap corruption. If he sows to the spirit he will reap life everlasting.

No farmer would purposely sow thistles, thorns, poison ivy, weeds and briar patches. He would not want such a crop. But many will do this spiritually. They sow to the flesh and reap corruption and hell. Man's spiritual environment is

SMOKESTACKS

All around the world they marvel at American industry. Factory chimneys send great clouds of smoke skyward as we produce more and still more. There seems to be no end to man's progress, whether here on earth or out in the vast mystery of space.

In spite of all we do, there is still so much that we cannot do. For all our power, we are still frail and vulnerable. God has given us many capabilities, but we were never meant to "go it" entirely alone. To think that we need nothing beyond ourselves is not self-confidence; it is brashness.

There are moments when we all need to look into a special kind of mirror, by which we may re-examine our lives. Such a mirror may be found in church where God's word, if we really listen to it, can help show us the truth.

Why not go and listen in your church next Sunday?

Michigan Mirror

LANSING — Hog cholera is a disease which is probably unknown to most urban residents. Yet the dangers presented by it are so great that both the federal government and state governments across the country, including Michigan, are spending money to try and eradicate it once and for all.

Michigan Mirror

The danger it presents to both the rural economy and, in the long run, to the nation's pork supply, has prompted the joint state-federal effort to get rid of it.

Michigan Mirror

Those frightening facts being uncovered about the dangers involved in smoking cigarettes apparently have little effect on Michigan smokers.

Michigan Mirror

The state treasurer's office says cigarette taxes in Michigan brought in a record $81 million in tax revenues last year. That's nearly 10 percent. And that averages about 150 packs per resident for the year.

Michigan Mirror

As expected, the percentage of those dying while on foot in rural areas is much less, but the total, 173, was almost as high as the number of urban pedestrians killed. This means a total of 390 of Michigan's traffic fatalities last year were persons who were on foot.

Michigan Mirror

Pedestrians are much the same as motorcycle riders when it comes to traffic accidents. If they are hit by a car or truck there is nothing to cushion the blow.

New Ideas In Art Form On Display

The artists of today's America are going away from what has traditionally been regarded as painting and sculpture.

To the directions in which 34 contemporary artists are taking us will be shown in some detail in Detroit's first extensive survey of different forms, "Other Ideas," which will open to the public Wednesday, September 10, at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Listing some of the materials which find new use in the opening show of the museum's fall season, Curator of Contemporary Art, Samuel J. Wagstaff describes the selection of more than 100 objects in the South Wing display as a "host of destructions as far as traditional uses of traditional art forms and materials are concerned."

The 5 1/2-week exhibition — from Sculpture Court through stairwells and reception areas and the special galleries in the South Wing — will be a cross-section of what is happening in certain directions throughout the country.

Only 10 of the 34 artists, according to Mr. Wagstaff, have any sizeable reputation among the art public. The majority are young artists practically unknown outside their own locality. Four Detroiters of promise are included in the show.

It is the artists who decide what art is, Mr. Wagstaff states. When the Detroit exhibition was planned a year ago, he says, he did not know that he would be able to find so large a number of first rate younger artists to fit in with his theme of "Other Ideas."

"Something new is always happening in the art world," Mr. Wagstaff believes, "and this show will disclose a lot of what is going on among our artists." "They are going in their own direction. They are taking us away from what we always thought was sculpture and painting and showing us how it can differ from our preconceived notions."

"As always, the artists are expanding the categories of art and leading us into change and different ways of looking at things."

The "Other Ideas" exhibition, which is free to the public, will be on view through Sunday, October 19. Four artists represented in "Other Ideas" — Robert Cumming, Royce Dendler, Georg Ertl, Charles Santon — will participate in a panel discussion moderated by Samuel Wagstaff on Thursday evening, September 11, at 8 p.m. in the lecture hall. This event is open to the public without charge.

Superb examples of American painting, furniture, glass and silver — plus authentic rooms of an 18th century Philadelphia home — highlight the Afternoon of Art luncheon-offers offered for groups by the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Dedicated this June, the Robert Hudson Tannhill Wing of 17 redesigned galleries displaying American art from Colonial times to the early 1900's, is the new focal point for the 1969-70 tour.

Following luncheon in the museum's beautiful Rivera Court at 12:15 p.m., members of the Founders Society Dozent Committee will guide groups on a one-hour tour.

Organizations numbering eight to 80 members are now welcome to make reservations for the Afternoon of Art, presented each Tuesday and Wednesday from October 21, 1969 through April 29, 1970. Clubs and organizations which enjoyed the event in past years are especially invited to participate in this season's completely new tour.

Afternoon of Art is entering its fifth season under the direction of the museum's Education Department, and advance reservations are required. Information may be obtained from Mrs. Carolyn Goodrich in the Art Institute's tour scheduling office (832-3488). The only charge for this program is $2.75 per person for the luncheon.

The Novi Community Schools' election on Monday basically reduces itself to either expanding facilities or reducing enrollments — and in a community growing at the pace of this one, indications are that enrollments will be growing in direct proportion to total population.

It's either a matter of trying to keep up with the growth or falling behind and trying to catch up; the latter usually causing students to suffer because of inadequate accommodations and also usually representing extra dollars in the future as construction costs continue to increase.

And the means of obtaining such funds — through unlimited qualified bonds — is reasonable at this time when limited won't sell on the market. Control in retiring unlimited qualified remains in the hands of the Board of Education — your Board of Education.

But more urgent than passage of the proposal is that a large number of citizens participate in the election. The community needs to strengthen its identity and its schools is a natural area — and a necessary area — for its citizens to rally around.

If a predominantly young-family community like this one doesn't care about its schools, it just doesn't care about anything outside of the realm of the individual.

And that kind of independence weakens communities; and now, under the pressures of growth, is when this community must be strongest.

Just as the need for more schools is a reflection of more youngsters in this community. And more youngsters presents a need for the beginning of an organized recreation program.

Dollars spent now to organize recreation will be dollars that won't have to be spent in the future to enforce laws that youngsters with nothing else to do choose to break. Unfortunately, it isn't a matter of whether we can comfortably afford such a program or not; it's a matter that we can't afford not to have such a program.

New school facilities could play a role in a city-school recreation program. And a qualified director for the summer, at least, probably could be recruited from the schools' faculty if a reasonable salary and budget is provided.

Councilman William O'Brien indicated earlier this summer that he is interested in proposing a millage for recreation this winter. O'Brien's interest in such a program is good and the council and schools, judging from recent indications, are anxious to work together. And recreation is a good common ground that cannot be shelved without forcing the community to suffer the consequences.

Good Turnout Expected

Voters Decide Bond Issue Monday

A moderate to above average turnout is expected Monday to vote on a proposed $4,475,000 bonding issue and decide the immediate future of a Novi Community Schools' building program.

Registration of new voters since the election in mid-August has been steady, according to City Clerk Mabel Ash, while administrators and board members have been active explaining the proposal and apparently stimulating interest amongst prospective voters.

The polls, to be at the Novi Community Building on Novi Road just east of Grand River Avenue, will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. All registered voters — property-owners and non-property owners — are to participate in the election, according to Superintendent Thomas Dale, although machines will be used in order to tabulate results separately.

"Right now we expect an above-average turnout of between 800 and 900 people," the superintendent observes. "Usually, we have about 500 voters."

The bonding election will be only the third in the state in which the general electorate is being allowed to participate, Dale explains. Since it is legally indefinite if state law will continue to support voting on such an issue by a non-property-owner, administrators will record ballots in the two categories to assure a result regardless of qualification.

Dale observes that the significance of allowing non-property-owners to vote.

Dale observes that allowing non-property-owners to vote will allow the community's mobile homeowners to participate and could result in a sizeable difference in totals.

The proposition which will confront voters will be if the district should be allowed to borrow $4,475,000 by selling bonds with the resulting funds to be used to build a new middle school and a new elementary school and to acquire future building sites.

The elementary school, designated for location north of Ten Mile Road between Novi Road and Meadowbrook Road, would be the district's third designed to accommodate enrollments which have doubled over the last five years and which are expected to continue to grow at the same pace in the immediate future.

The middle school, initially for grades six through eight, is being proposed for location on property at the existing high school/junior high site and is designed to relieve enrollment pressures at both elementary and secondary levels while allowing instruction in the new concept.

Two 12-acre parcels, one of which will be necessary for the proposed new elementary.

Cost of acquisition and development of two 12-acre parcels, one of which will be necessary for the new elementary, is also included in the request for bonding.

The superintendent observes that while enrollments increase, property valuations on property presently undeveloped will increase as new homes are built to accommodate new families. Therefore, improved valuations are expected to absorb a portion of the expenditures necessary to build facilities needed to accommodate the growing enrollments. "It will take two years to complete these projects," Dale explains. "By then, we could have some children on half-day sessions or require more portable classrooms."

According to estimates by administrators, school taxes likely will increase by about four mills in 1970 if the proposal is adopted and be at three or four in 1971 after which it is expected to level-off at one or two additional mills.

The board desires to sell unlimited qualified bonds which, if approved, would allow it to determine the annual levy up to 15 mills for retirement. Presently, the district has seven mills for debt retirement which could be raised by six mills to the 13 at the board's discretion.

Council Endorses Revision of Plan

With hopes of attracting lower construction bids, the City of Novi Council on Monday authorized engineers to revise plans for a portion of its joint community sewer project.

Charles Fenske, of Johnson & Anderson — the city's consulting engineers — addressed councilmen explaining that bids on the Walled Lake—Novi Arm of the Huron—Rouge Sewer expansion "came in considerably higher than we had expected."

He reported that engineering estimates on the city's share of the project were $626,000 with lowest bids having totaled approximately $973,000 — representing about a 55 percent increase.

Completion of the project would more than double the city's sanitary sewer connections from the existing 2,900 to 5,900, according to Oakland County Department of Public Works' Director R. J. Alexander.

Alexander explained that the total project had originally been divided into five sections with bids on two having been rejected. One of the rejected sections of bids was for lateral connections in Novi with the cost to be totally assumed by the city.

The DPW director reported that it will probably be five to six weeks before the rejected sections can be re-designed by engineers and re-advertised for bids.

Fenske on Monday reviewed that his firm plans to break the total project into more parts with hopes of attracting smaller contractors and he also asked the council to decide on a proposal to revise the plan by raising the level of the lines.

He said that contractors had explained the high bids on the basis of poor soil conditions, limited right-a-way, difficult clean-up and other factors.

"These prices are unrealistic to us," Fenske observed. "But every contractor told us the same story."

"He explained that by raising the level of the line, the council could reduce the cost of the project because it would reduce the preparation necessary in constructing the sewer. But he emphasized by raising the line, the sewer would not be able to service basement sanitary facilities without the addition of a pump by the resident."

However, Fenske observed that there are few existing basements in the area to be serviced by the proposed new line. The vicinity generally has a high water table, according to the engineer.

"My question here is how many people would be putting a stool in a basement—that would be just asking for trouble," Councilman Donald Young, Jr. stated.

"Generally we don't design for basements," Fenske added. "But this is a decision which we feel must be made by the council."

"We'd like to see these bids cut down about $200,000," he related. "These will be your sewers from now until doomsday but builders of new homes can work around a line at this proposed higher level," the engineer said.

The council unanimously supported a motion to authorize Fenske to re-design the line modifying the depth. Alexander on Tuesday expressed his support for the proposed alternative explaining that he feels it is a workable plan for the area concerned.

Over Novi Sewers County Battling On

Still holding out only "faint hope," Oakland County DPW Chief R. J. Alexander confirmed this week a report that new efforts to secure additional sewer capacity for Novi appear to be gaining ground.

Meanwhile, Northville Township Supervisor Gunnar Stromberg is considerably more optimistic than Alexander, taking the position that both Novi and Northville Township are certain to get more capacity.

Basis for this optimism is a plan now in the contract stage calling for the "rental" of unused sewer capacity from the City of Livonia in the Rouge Valley Interceptor. The plan would, if approved by the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, permit Oakland County to rent 10 cubic feet per second (CFS) for Novi, and it would provide an additional 2 CFS for Northville Township.

Building booms in both communities require additional capacity. However, in the case of Novi, the need is even greater. Cited for pollution by the Michigan Water Resources Commission, Novi is under orders to clean up the problem in the Grand River—Novi Road area. Also, Novi is involved in a multi-million dollar sewer installation plan with the City of Walled Lake, which also has been cited for pollution.

If Novi is able to secure additional sewer capacity (it now owns 4 CFS) the Rouge Valley Interceptor would be extended from its present terminus in the 10 Mile Road area north to Walled Lake. Such an extension would mean the Grand River pollution problem could be resolved and need for a $1 million sewage disposal plant serving the northern part of Novi and the City of Walled Lake would be unnecessary.

David Jones, assistant director of Livonia's DPW, told this newspaper that Livonia has already agreed to rent some of its unused capacity to Novi and Northville. Contracts, through the Wayne County Board of Public Works, have been extended to both communities, he said, and the only obstacle remaining is approval by the Wayne County Board of Supervisors. Originally, Livonia contracted to compensated for any time over eight hours per day at an overtime rate.

Despite the council's order, overtime reportedly has been mounting with representatives of the police association pressing to see that officers are compensated in accordance with the contract.

Last week the council appointed Councilman William Dwyer to meet with Officer Bob Starnes, representative of the NPOA, to resolve the pending overtime.

According to Dwyer, overtime presently is being compiled at a rate of about $500-worth per month.

"We gave him (the chief) very specific instructions," Mayor Joseph Crupi observed. "We would add more men but we couldn't afford any overtime. When we signed that contract, we said we only had 'x' amount of dollars and we couldn't afford any overtime."

Mayor Crupi later interjected the possibility of the council having to eliminate a man on the department in order to have additional funds to meet overtime requirements.

"Gentlemen, you have to come up with some extra money somewhere," he emphasized. "The part that was our fault was authorizing the extra patrolmen without reserving money for overtime."

"I'm opposing this on the principle, more than anything else," the mayor added. "If the money was there, it would be different."
